REFUSE TO SETTLE COLORADO STRIKE

Operators Won't Treat with the Miners' Union Even on Basis of Non-Recognition.

QUIET IN COLORADO CAMPS

Strikers and Militia Welcome Federal Troops, but Demur at Giving Up Their Arms.

PICKET ROCKEFELLER HOME

Night Watch Set There by I. W. W. —John D., Jr., Ill in Tarrytown —Sinclair Hunger Striking.

Acting on a telegram yesterday from Chairman M. D. Foster of the House Committee on Mines, suggesting a settlement with the strikers in Colorado without recognition of the Mineworkers' Union, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., referred it to the Colorado Fuel & Iron Company in Colorado. Eighteen coal companies, practically all in the State, joined in a reply to Dr. Foster in which they refused absolutely to treat with the Mine Workers' Union officials because of the attacks on mine property and loyal employes, but said that the Mine Workers' officials could end the trouble instantly by calling the strike off.

While the "Free Silence" movement in sympathy with the Colorado strikers was being extended by I. W. W. pickets in this city from the Standard Oil Building on lower Broadway to the homes of John D. Rockefeller and his son in West Fifty-fourth Street, the battling miners at the Rockefeller camps in Colorado were welcoming with open arms the United States troopers sent to quell their insurrection.

And while I. W. W. men were marching up and down in front of his home in this city John D. Rockefeller, Jr., from his father's estate near Tarrytown, was issuing a statement in denial of the mine workers' counter charge that he had misrepresented facts and that his company had not granted to its men before the strike all the advantages named by him in a previous statement. Mr. Rockefeller is said to be ill at his father's home at Pocantico Hills and it is now asserted has not been near his Broadway office or his home in this city for some days.

The arrival at Trinidad, Colo., of 300 troopers of the Fifth United States Cavalry, under Major W. W. Holbrook, was welcomed by citizens and strikers alike, but the attitude of the miners on the question of surrendering their arms is uncertain. William Diamond, their organizer, said the weapons were the individual property of the men and they would be averse to surrendering them unless the State troops and mine guards were also disarmed.

There were no further battles in the disturbed area yesterday, and last night the newly arrived troops were being distributed to expected danger points.

REFUSE TO SETTLE STRIKE.

Nineteen Colorado Coal Companies Reject Foster's Suggestion.

DENVER, April 30.—Nineteen coal operating companies of Colorado—practically all within the State—refused today to consider a suggestion made by Chairman M. D. Foster of the House Mines Committee that negotiations for settlement of the Colorado coal mine strike be entered into on the basis that the recognition of unions had been formally waived by the United Mine Workers of America.

This refusal was announced after a telegram which Dr. Foster had sent to John D. Rockefeller, Jr., in New York, calling on him to settle the strike without recognizing the union, had been referred to the mining companies of this State.

The following is a copy of the complete correspondence:

Telegram from Dr. Foster to Mr. Rockefeller:

> William Green, Secretary-Treasurer of the International Mine Workers' Union, makes public statement that mine workers will waive any recognition of union or unionizing camps. Are you will to enter into negotiations for settlement of strike on that basis and stop killing of men, women, and children? I strongly urge you to do so, and believe the strike can be ended without recognition of the union and all the other differences can be amicably settled. In my judgment, it is your duty to do so.

Reply of Mr. Rockefeller to Dr. Foster:

> Your telegram last night received. I am forwarding it to the officers of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company in Denver, who, with officials of other mining companies in Colorado, are the only ones competent to deal with the question therein referred to.

Reply of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company and eighteen other coal operating companies to Dr. Foster:

> Answering your telegram of last night addressed to Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and referred to Colorado coal mine owners for reply: When, on April 16, the Governor withdrew all except a small detachment of militia from the field, law, order, and quiet prevailed in this State. There were employed by the operators of Colorado coal mines more than 10,000 apparently contented men. On the morning of April 20 the strike miners in the Ludlow tent colony, two miles from the nearest coal mine, placed their women and children in what they considered places of safety, and made an armed attack upon the militia, encamped near by.
>
> The fight continued throughout the day and several men were killed. During the battle the tent colony was destroyed by fire. Next day the bodies of

SENATE PLEA FOR DR. COOK.

Poindexter Would Recognize Him as Discoverer of the Pole.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook of Brooklyn is expected to book himself for a new tour of lectures when he learns that Senator Poindexter of Washington, the only Roosevelt Progressive in the upper Chamber, to-day introduced a resolution recognizing the doctor as the discoverer of the north pole.

The resolution would extend to Dr. Cook the thanks of Congress and appropriate $300 for the purchase of a gold medal for him.

"I have followed very closely the so-called polar discovery," said Mr. Poindexter, "and am firmly convinced that a grievous wrong has been done to Dr. Cook. Congress investigated the claims of Admiral Peary, and should do the same for Dr. Cook."

Senator Poindexter declared it was generally accepted that Dr. Cook had reached a point of high latitude, and contended that it was unreasonable to suppose he had spent the Winter in the frigid north without attempting to reach the goal of his search, the north pole. He contended that Rear Admiral Peary's report on his trip to the pole corroborated all Dr. Cook's data.

No action was taken on the resolution.

COLOMBIA TREATY DELAY.

Document Not Likely to be Sent to the Senate Soon.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Pending settlement of difficulties with Mexico the Administration has practically decided to abandon any attempt to press for immediate ratification the treaty designed to end the ten-year-old dispute between the United States and Colombia over Panama.

This treaty, negotiated after years of steady diplomatic effort both in Colombia and the United States has been signed by representatives of the Colombian State Department and by the American representative to that country Thaddeus A. Thomson, and is now before the State Department here.

It was understood to-night that Secretary Bryan did not contemplate sending the treaty to the Senate at the present time. If he should take such action, however, the document would go to the Foreign Relations Committee, there probably to lie for many weeks. In the opinion of many Senators the opposition to ratification is so strong that the Senate's approval can hardly be obtained at the present session of Congress.

The treaty provides for a restoration of the friendly relations between the two countries, carries an indemnity of $25,000,000 to be paid to Colombia, six months after ratification and gives that country's warships free use of the Panama Canal. It also contains an expression of regret on the part of the United States, that anything has arisen to disturb the friendly relations between the two nations.

BANISH SALOONS—GIBBONS.

Cardinal Wants Maryland County to Go "Dry" at Coming Election.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 30.—In a signed statement issued to-day to the Anti-Saloon League, Cardinal Gibbons expresses the hope that Charles County will go "dry" at the special election on May 16. The statement is as follows:

> I believe that the right of the people to determine by the operation of a local option law whether saloons shall or shall not be closed within their respective communities is in harmony with the American principle of self-government, and I congratulate the people of Charles County in that they will have the right to settle this question by ballot on May 16 next, and, realizing the damage which has been done by the liquor traffic in this county, I sincerely trust that at the coming election they will banish forever the licensed saloon, as I believe that it will be to the best interests of their people.

The statment was issued by Cardinal Gibbons when told that his interview on prohibition, given in New Orleans, was being used by the "wet" advocates as an argument against the county going "dry."

The Cardinal issued a statement some time ago declaring "local option" to be in harmony with the American principle of self-government.

VAN WRECKS SMALL AUTO.

James Kauffman Probably Fatally Hurt on Dark Highway.

A small automobile owned and driven by Dr. Samuel L. Scheiner of 155 Springfield Avenue, Newark, and an automobile moving van containing two tons of furniture, met in a head-on collision at a dark part of the Lincoln Highway, near Kearney, N. J., at 10 o'clock last night. The car was wrecked. Dr. Scheiner was thrown out, but escaped injury.

A friend who had been riding with him, James Kauffman, of 77 West Street, Newark, was thrown through the wind shield, landing on his head and fracturing his skull. At the St. James's Hospital, Newark, to which Kauffman was conveyed in a passing automobile, it was said he probably would die.

The van was owned by Charles Donohue of 1,321 North Fifty-ninth Street, West Philadelphia, and was driven by George Hough of 32 West Sixtieth Street, West Philadelphia. With him on the driver's seat was Frank Foster of 632 North Fifty-fifth Street, Philadelphia.

Hough, who was arrested, admitted, according to the police, that he had been driving on the wrong side of the road.

Receiver Named in Proceeding Against Owners of Continental.

Henry M. Carpenter was appointed receiver yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Lehman in a $350,000 mortgage foreclosure proceeding brought by Florence L. Mabee against the Forty-first Street Realty Company, which owns the Hotel Continental, formerly known as the Hotel Albany, at Forty-first Street and Broadway. The application for a receiver was made by both parties in the proceeding, who said it was in the interests of economy. Mr. Carpenter has also been appointed a receiver in similar proceedings against the hotel by Judge Mayer of the United States District Court.

ROOSEVELT NOW HOMEWARD BOUND

Arrives at Manaos, Will Quit Exploring, and May Be Here in a Month.

RIVER NAMED AFTER HIM

Colonel Reports the Castanha Put on the Map as the Roosevelt.

HAS BEEN ILL; BETTER NOW

But Inconvenienced by Boils—Has a 900-Mile River Trip to Coast to Get to New York.

MANOS, April 30.—Col. Roosevelt arrived here this evening from his expedition through the hitherto unexplored portion of Brazil. He was greeted with an enthusiastic reception. The Colonel and the members of his party came on board a steamer sent to meet them by the Governor of the State of Amazonas.

Col. Roosevelt was suffering from boils, but was not seriously affected, although they caused him much inconvenience and made it impossible for him to stand up. He was in excellent spirits. All the other members of the expedition were in excellent health.

Col. Roosevelt, with Kermit Roosevelt and Col. Rondon, Chief of the Brazilian Mission, which accompanied the expedition, took up their quarters at the International Hotel. The former President intends to leave immediately for the United States.

The journey made by Col. Roosevelt and his companions was carried out under particularly favorable conditions. The party explored the River Castanha, which was renamed the River Roosevelt. The River Duvida, or "River of Doubt," was found to be unquestionably the River Gyparana. The party followed this river from the end of the telegraph line to its junction with the Madeira, a distance of about 630 miles.

The results of the expedition are considered here to be of splendid service to Brazil and to science.

MADRID, April 30.—Col. Joseph E. Willard, the United States Ambassador to Spain, whose daughter is to marry Kermit Roosevelt, received a cablegram to-day from Col. Roosevelt dated Manaos, Brazil. The dispatch stated that all had arrived safely, but that Col. Roosevelt was suffering from a slight illness.

The first news was received by Mrs. Roosevelt in a cable dispatch from Manaos by way of Rio de Janeiro. Frank Harper, Col. Roosevelt's private secretary, who for a time was with the Colonel on his South American trip, but returned to this city about a month ago, made the first announcement that Col. Roosevelt had been heard from, at The Outlook office yesterday afternoon.

"Mrs. Roosevelt has received a cable from Col. Roosevelt saying that he has arrived at Manaos with his party, safe and in good health, and that the expedition has been a great success," said Mr. Harper.

As far as Mr. Harper knew there was nothing in the message received by Mrs. Roosevelt regarding her husband's illness. But a message received by W. Emlen Roosevelt, his uncle, left no doubt on the subject. Mr. Roosevelt declined yesterday to make the text of the cable message public, but it was learned that it contained among other things this language:

"Have had hard trip. Have been pretty sick, but am better now. Kermit all right."

Of the other messages from Col. Roosevelt one was for Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and another for George W. Perkins, Executive Chairman of the Progressive Party. This was forwarded to Chicago, where Mr. Perkins was yesterday attending a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Progressive National Committee.

President Henry Fairfield Osborn of the American Museum of Natural History received the following cablegram from ex-President Roosevelt:

> Manaos, Brazil, April 30, 1914.
> Hard but very successful trip. Cherrie is best man possible for such a trip. Miller doing admirably. They have collected 1,500 bird skins, all told, and 500 mammals. We have also put on map river running from north of thirteenth degree to south of fifth degree, the largest affluent of the Madeira, the upper part hitherto utterly unknown to any one, and lower part utterly unknown to cartographers. Inform Mrs. Cherrie.
> ROOSEVELT.

Cherrie is George K. Cherrie, attached to the staff of the museum, and in charge of the bird collection on the expedition. Miller is Leo F. Miller, also attached to the museum, and the man who collected the skins of mammals. Miller left the Roosevelt party near the new river and did not accompany the exploration party, sailing down the Madeira to Manaos, which place he reached two weeks ago.

Theodore Douglas Robinson, Chairman of the Progressive State Committee and nephew of Col. Roosevelt, said that the messages received from the Colonel yesterday contained the first word members of his family and friends had had from the Colonel since a letter dated Feb. 2.

"How long the Colonel has been ill and the nature of his illness are things regarding which we have not been enlightened," said Mr. Robinson. "I assume that the Colonel fell victim to another attack of malarial fever. He suffered in a similar way immediately after his campaign in Cuba, but soon got over it. I feel certain it is nothing serious. The friends of Col. Roosevelt believe that he will return to this country by the most direct route. If he does, he should be here about the beginning of June."

Manaos is a commercial town on the outskirts of civilization and on the threshhold of a practically untrodden wilderness. It is near the confluence of the Amazon and the Rio Negro, one of its tributaries. It is 900 miles from the coast, and at the ordinary rate of speed in river navigation it will take the Colonel and his party nine or ten days to reach Para, the nearest seaport on the Atlantic, where they can embark for home.

RHEUMATISM LAMES TAFT.

Touch of It in One Foot Keeps ex-President Indoors.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, April 30.—William H. Taft is suffering from a touch of muscular rheumatism in one of his feet. It is painful for him to walk, and it is expected that, by advice of his physician, he will keep to his house on Prospect Hill the rest of the week. He has canceled two engagements to speak and has given up his Yale law classes until next Monday.

It was reported, but erroneously, that Mr. Taft's lameness was due to a slight injury to a toe.

BIG TAXES PROMPTLY PAID.

Checks for Large Sums Received on Day Before Payment Is Due.

Large checks were received yesterday by the Receiver of Taxes in payment of real, personal, and franchise taxes which are due to-day for the first half of the year, and on Nov. 2 for the second half. If the realty taxes due in November are paid now a rebate equal to 4 per cent. interest a year is allowed. No rebate is allowed on personal taxes.

The largest check received yesterday was from the Pennsylvania Railroad for $845,478.97. The next largest came from Waldorf Astor for $507,457.15. A check from George Ehret for $239,357.91, covering the taxes on his real estate was also received. John D. Rockefeller sent a check for $117,000, in round figures, for taxes on personalty. It is expected that the Interborough Rapid Transit Company will send a check today for about $1,500,000.

SAYRE AFTER FUNDS.

President's Son-in-Law Going West to Raise Money for Williams.

Special to The New York Times.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., April 30.—Francis B. Sayre, son-in-law of President Wilson, will leave here early in May on an extensive trip through the West, to lay before the Western Alumni Association of Williams College plans for raising a two-million-dollar endowment fund for the college.

The urgency of the need for money will be explained first at Pittsburgh. Mr. Sayre will then address the alumni of Kansas City, Denver, Colorado Springs, and Salt Lake City. His route will be continued to Los Angeles and up the Pacific Coast to Seattle. His only stop on the return journey will be at Minneapolis.

Mrs. Sayre will remain in the East during her husband's absence.

MRS. LADENBURG INJURED.

Arm Broken and Face Cut When She Is Thrown Out of Vehicle.

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y., April 30.—Mrs. Emily Ladenburg, well known for her skill at cross-country hunting, was severely injured to-night when driving to her home at Hempstead Plains from the Westbury railroad station.

Her horse took fright a short distance from the station, and while she was making frantic efforts to stop him the bridle broke, throwing Mrs. Ladenburg and her coachman to the road. The coachman escaped with a few cuts and a severe shaking up.

As Mrs. Ladenburg struck the stone road, her arms was broken near the shoulder, and she suffered cuts and bruises on the head and face.

She was taken to her home, where her condition was said to be serious. Dr. Louis M. Lanehart of Hempstead set the broken bone.

Mrs. Ladenburg had come down to Westbury to open her country home. She is well known in New York society and abroad.

MYSTERIOUSLY SHOT, DIES.

Young Man Fired on in Crowded Street, But Slayer Escapes.

Vincent Machesi, 23 years old, a glazier, was shot fatally last night when walking in East Thirty-ninth Street, near First Avenue. He was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where detectives asked him who fired the shot. He said that he didn't know. He died half an hour later.

Machesi moved into a flat at 305 East Thirty-ninth Street yesterday with his brother Angelo. The brother was questioned by Patrolman Ryan of the East Thirty-fifth Street Police Station, but he shook his head and said that Vincent had no enemies.

The street was crowded at the time of the shooting, but the police were unable to find any one who would admit that he knew anything about the affair. Three bullets were fired by Machesi's assailant.

J. H. HOLMES DIES OF WORRY

Wife Also Dying After Burglaries and Black Hand Letters.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 30.—John H. Holmes, Grand Keeper of Records and Seals of the Knights of Pythias, and known to secret society officials throughout America, died to-day after worrying for two months over Black Hand letters which he had received at intervals of a few days. His wife is in a dying condition, and physicians said to-night she probably would not live a week.

A burglar has visited the West End residence of Col. Holmes on three occasions and stolen jewelry and other treasures valued at several thousand dollars. When the first robbery was reported to the police the family received threatening letters. These letters continued after the second and third burglaries.

"Call off the police or we will dynamite your house," was the tenor of the Black Hand notes.

Col. Holmes, who was 65, became ill and sank rapidly. His wife also was prostrated.

Following the report of his death today and the critical condition of Mrs. Holmes, detectives and Post Office Inspectors renewed the search for the letter writer.

Holmes was Secretary of the Humane Society of Missouri for thirty-two years and an officer of the Grand Lodge of Knights of Pythias for twenty-seven years

State Department Grants Permission to Many—Praises Work of Foreign Officers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Hostilities between the Mexican Federal forces and the United States forces on Mexican soil have ceased. Late to-night Secretary Bryan announced that he had been notified by the "A B C" mediators that Gen. Huerta had agreed to an armistice.

While a formal truce has not been effected, the fact that both the United States Government and the de facto Government of Mexico have agreed to the proposal of the mediators that hostilities cease binds them to observe the spirit of that agreement. Gen. Carranza, to whom the proposal was telegraphed last night by the mediators, has not been heard from.

After Mr. Bryan's announcement it was explained by one of the diplomats having knowledge of the mediation proceedings that the agreement of Gen. Huerta to suspend hostilities applied only to the American and Mexican Federal forces and did not apply to the proposed armistice between the Huertistas and the Constitutionalists. "No other construction can be placed on it," he said.

The understanding that Huerta's agreement to an armistice applies only to the United States and the failure to hear from Carranza affords cause for worry, but there is also cause for optimism in the fact that real progress is being made. Should both Huerta and Carranza agree to the armistice proposal, peace will come to Mexico for the period of the mediation negotiations at least.

According to some observers here, Carranza is hesitating to assent to the armistice on account of the likelihood that the Constitutionalists will capture Tampico soon. Furthermore, there are reports that Carranza and Villa, who are together at Chihuahua, are making active preparations to attack Saltillo, where the Federal forces are concentrating. It is suggested that if the attack is not made without delay the Federals will be so strengthened in their position at Saltillo that postponement will be to the great disadvantage of the revolutionary army.

Hopeful of Favorable Outcome.

Hope of a favorable outcome of the movement to bring about Mexican mediation continued in Administration circles throughout the day, although the note of pessimism was dominant among most of the diplomatic body. In the opinion of well-informed observers, the greatest danger of failure will arise from a continuance of hostilities by the Constitutionalists at Tampico and the insistence of the United States Government that Gen. Huerta shall be eliminated from the Presidency of Mexico.

As an earnest of the desire of this Government for a peaceful settlement, Secretary Bryan has notified the mediators that the United States assumes there will be no hostilities during the mediation negotiations, and that, so far as the United States is concerned, a cessation of fighting has already been effected without waiting for Huerta and Carranza to adopt the same attitude. In making known that he had taken this action, Secretary Bryan said that it would not be fair to speak of the course of the United States as a "cessation of hostilities." The point made by Mr. Bryan was that as far as the United States was concerned there had been no actual hostilities in Mexico except to the extent that it was found necessary to defend the American forces in taking and holding the Custom House at Vera Cruz.

In an effort to stop the fighting between the Federals and Constitutionalists at Tampico for the period of the mediation negotiations, at least, Secretary Daniels has telegraphed Rear Admiral Mayo at Tampico that Carranza Huerta's Position Now Desperate; Reports of Plans for Flight Persist.

Special Cable to The New York Times.
From a Staff Correspondent.

VERA CRUZ, April 30.—Word came to-day to the commander of the French armored cruiser Condé, which is lying off this port, that President Huerta's position had become desperate as a result of the capture of San Luis Potosi by the rebels.

The dictator is said to be seizing the drinking places in the capital to get supplies of liquor for his soldiers, hoping thus to keep them loyal to his cause.

Huerta's friends, according to rumor, are becoming afraid that the steady approach of the rebels to Mexico City marks the end of his régime and that he may yet share the fate of Francisco Madero.

From various sources comes the persistent report that public sentiment in Mexico City is steadily turning against Huerta and that the latter is seriously considering the question of taking flight. Officials here refuse to discuss the possibility of Huerta trying to make his escape by way of Vera Cruz.

Funston Tells Fletcher He, Too, Is Proud of Them — Admiral Praises His Men.

Special Cable to The New York Times.

VERA CRUZ, April 30.—Transfer of the control of Vera Cruz from the United States Navy, represented by Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, to the United States Army, represented by Gen. Frederick Funston, took place this afternoon on the Sanidad wharf, near the Naval Academy, which was the scene of the hottest fighting last week when the marines and bluejackets took possession of the city.

American and foreign refugees gathered in force to witness the simple but impressive ceremonies, while a crowd of interested Mexicans fringed the scene.

At the formal exercises of transfer, Rear Admiral Fletcher was attended by his staff which included Capt. Huse, Commander Stone, Lieut. Rowan, and others. Rear Admiral Badger was also present with his full staff.

Gen. Funston was attended by his staff and a guard of infantrymen, drawn from each of his four regiments.

The naval guard consisted of bluejackets from the Florida, Utah, Arkansas, and New Hampshire, the four ships whose men had the hardest fighting here.

Seamen in Impressive Parade.

A review by Admiral Fletcher and Gen. Funston of all the bluejackets and marines that took part in the capture of Vera Cruz followed the ceremonies. About 4,000 men were in line and the parade was perhaps the finest spectacle of the sort ever witnessed in Vera Cruz.

Rear Admiral Badger was not present, but Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the Chargé at Mexico City, and Consul Canada, in addition to the staffs of Fletcher and Funston, were in the reviewing party.

Thousands of residents of Vera Cruz witnessed the review, which took place in the great open plaza on the beach opposite the fortress of San Juan de Ulloa. Near by was the Naval Academy, and in the distance the cocoanut trees of the Alameda. To the right was the great lighthouse of Vera Cruz.

The marines of the fleet, about 1,500 in number, headed by Major Albertus W. Catlin, led the march past. The men were in khaki, with their full equipment. The marine band of the fleet was in front, playing sprightly American airs.

Following the marines came three regiments of bluejackets.

The first regiment, commanded and led by Capt. John H. Gibbons of the Utah, was made up of bluejackets from the battleships Florida, Utah, and Arkansas. They were all in white.

In Coffee-Dyed Uniforms.

The second regiment, under Capt. E. A. Anderson of the New Hampshire, comprised men from the battleships New Hampshire, Vermont, and South Carolina, and the cruisers San Francisco. These were all in the coffee-dyed uniforms which they wore in action.

After these came the Third Regiment, Capt. Albert P. Niblack of the Michigan commanding. This was made up of battalions from the battleships

DR. RYAN TO BE SHOT AS SPY, BRYAN HEARS

Report That American Is Condemned by Huerta Stirs Secretary to Action.

APPEAL TO SPAIN'S ENVOY

Message Telling of Physician's Peril Is Unofficial and Is Doubted at Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Unofficial reports reached Washington late tonight that Dr. Edward Ryan, an American in the service of the United States Government looking after refugees, was to be put to death as a spy in Zacatecas to-morrow morning

The reports caused Secretary Bryan to make urgent representations in behalf of Dr. Ryan to the Spanish Ambassador, Gen. Huerta's representative here.

Secretary Bryan said that no news of Dr. Ryan's reported plight had reached him through official circles, and that he was not inclined to credit the story. However, he requested Ambassador Riano to inquire into the matter at once, and, if he found that Dr. Ryan actually was under arrest, to insist upon his immediate release. The matter also was brought to the attention of Señor Da Gama, Brazilian Minister, who communicated with the Brazilian Minister at Mexico City, in charge of American interests there.

Officials here said any accusation of spying or improper conduct against the doctor would be absurd; that his activities had been confined solely to efforts to relieve suffering humanity.

The man under arrest is believed to be an American physician, who for two years has devoted himself to aiding Americans in distress in Mexico. Last Summer, during the siege of Torreon, when there was an outbreak of fever there, he went up from the City of Mexico with a large supply of medicines and set up a field hospital, where scores of the sick were treated. In this trip Dr. Ryan rode more than 400 miles in an automobile. He arrived just in time to avert an epidemic.

Many of the Americans in the vicinity came out in a wagon train and finally got through to Juarez. All spoke in the highest terms of the heroism of Dr. Ryan.

Dr. Ryan originally came from New York City, where he was attached to one of the hospitals. He was in the City of Mexico during the ten days' siege in February, 1913, and performed some excellent rescue work. He made friends of Mexican officers on both sides of the affray. His work at Torreon last Summer was done under the auspices of the Red Cross Society, with which has been connected regularly since then.

Dr. Ryan was in Washington last Winter, and left here to return to the City of Mexico in February. He is described as a ruddy-faced young fellow with blue eyes. He had a hearty manner, and was well educated. He proved to be a good mixer among the Mexicans and got along well with all classes.

It was said here to-night that he had at no time subjected himself to any charge of being a spy, and that he had always acted with great discretion. But it was said also that he had made friends who were regarded as enemies of Huerta.

SCRANTON, Penn., April 30.—Dr. Edward Ryan, who is reported to have been condemned to death in Mexico City, is a native of Jessup, near here. He has been in Mexico for several months as an attaché of the Red Cross, and formerly was a newspaper reporter. For several days Dr. Ryan's brother-in-law, Henry V. Lawler, has been trying to get in communication with him through the State Department.

Dr. Ryan went to Mexico soon after his graduation from Fordham. In a letter, written from Torreon on April 10, he informed his sister, Mrs. Lawler, that he was fighting an epidemic of fever.

"When Madero was deposed as President Dr. Ryan was imprisoned and sentenced to be shot," said Mrs. Lawler, "but strong pressure was brought by Henry Lane Wilson, former American Ambassador, and he was released."

Mrs. Lawler said that when she received the report to-night that her brother was to be executed she telegraphed Secretary Bryan urging quick action to save his life.

VERA CRUZ, April 30.—Rear Admiral Mayo, commanding the United States ships at Tampico, reports to Rear Admiral Badger that Tampico was the scene last night of a fierce battle between the rebels, attacking the city, and the Federal forces, defending it.

Admiral Mayo says the rebels are intrenched at Arbol, outside the city, and that they have much artillery, while more guns were expected today.

From the rebels' position near the mouth of the Panuco River last night their artillery opened fire on the steamer Antilla, which flies the Cuban flag but is owned by the Ward Line, then lying in the river and supposed by them to be loaded with ammunition and equipment for Huerta's troops. One of the helmsmen on the Antilla was wounded by a shell.

Rebels Defiant to Protest.

The situation of the Antilla became so desperate that she sent out an "S. O. S." signal to all the ships in the neighborhood. The Federal gunboat Vera Cruz responded and began shelling the rebel intrenchments. Under the protection of the gunboat's fire, the Antilla steamed up the river seven miles to Tampico.

The fighting became so furious that Capt. Doughty of the British cruiser Hermione went up to Tampico and notified the leaders on both the rebel and the Federal sides that firing on merchant vessels was in violation of international law and must stop. The rebel leaders sent word back that they knew nothing about international law and would continue to fire on all ships that were known to have on board arms and supplies for Huerta.

Owing to the conditions in the city the surgeon from the United States gunboat Dolphin accompanied a British officer to the city to aid in the care of the wounded.

The firing from the gunboat Vera Cruz continued most of the night, and it is reported that its shells set afire two oil barges, the property of the Waters-Pierce Company.

Oil Fields in Great Danger.

Clarence A. Miller, United States Consul at Tampico, has left the city and turned over the Consulate to the British Consul. He boarded the Dolphin under the protection of the Mexican gunboat Zaragoza. The American Consular Agent at Tuxpam, with the consular employes and seven Chinamen, escaped to the steamer Waieta and are now on their way to Galveston.

The oil fields near Tampico and at Tuxpam are in serious danger owing to the continued fighting. The same is true of all American property at Tampico.

Admiral Mayo, who reported that conditions were grave, said he intended to send a note to-day to the belligerents reiterating his demand that full protection be given to the lives and property of foreigners.

Threat to Stop All Merchant Ships.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—This story of the firing on the Antilla at Tampico was given in a Navy Department bulletin, issued to-night:

Admiral Mayo reports from Tampico that on Wednesday the Ward Line steamer Antilla, flying the Cuban flag, while passing up the river to the city, was stopped by the Constitutionalists and forced to anchor in the vicinity of Arbol Grande. Apparently it was necessary to fire upon the boat before she stopped, as the Antilla reported her helmsman wounded and requested medical assistance. Admiral Mayo sent a boat with his aid and medical officer on board.

Later a number of foreign officers, headed by Capt. Doughty of the Hermione called on the commander of the Constitutionalists for an explanation of the incident. The Constitutionalist commander explained that they could not let the boat proceed to Tampico, as it was necessary for them to stop all stores from reaching the Federals and that they would be obliged to stop all merchant vessels in the future.

Shortly after this the gunboat Vera Cruz, in the river, opened fire, setting on fire two big oil lighters tied up at the Waters-Pierce refinery pier. Under cover of this fire the Antilla got under way and proceeded up the river to Tampico.

It is stated by the Constitutionalists that reinforcements of artillery are momentarily expected.

The Hermione is a British cruiser which has been stationed at Tampico for some time.

In an earlier bulletin the Navy Department said:

Admiral Mayo, reporting 4 o'clock this afternoon, says that he is informed of a sharp engagement yesterday between the Constitutionalists and Federalists at Tampico, in which the Federals are reported as suffering considerable losses. Admiral Mayo reports the burning of an oil barge and the pier of the Waters Pierce Company, which was still on fire at the time of his dispatch. There was also a fire burning, apparently in the vicinity of the Booster Pumping Station, near Tajahus.

Additional refugees were received to-day on the Des Moines, and fifty-four refugees left Tampico to-day on the Flusser and Preston.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt said late to-night that the dispatch from Admiral Mayo about the firing on the steamer Antilla at Tampico was received at the department at 1 o'clock this morning. It had not attracted attention, and for that reason had not been given out.

It was said here to-night that the incident was considered of international consequence. It was explained that if the Constitutionalists were undertaking to establish any blockade at Tampico it could not be done without giving notice of such a blockade. No such notice had been given, and until it was given neutral ships would have a right to enter the river at Tampico with supplies. It was also pointed out that since the Constitutionalists had not been recognized in their belligerency they could have no dealings with nations of the world and could not communicate notification of any blockade to them. However, their intention to shut out neutral shipping could be made known in some formal and public way, so that shippers and the world might know the purposes of the Constitutionalists.

MORE SHIPS FOR TAMPICO.

Two Reported Ready to Sail for Vera Cruz at Any Minute.

VERA CRUZ, April 30.—Reports were current here to-day that in view of the continued fighting at Tampico the battleships Utah and Florida were being held in readiness to sail, and that the Dixie was loading with marines for that port.

It is generally understood in official circles that some ships may go to Tampico, now that the crews are full with the complete withdrawal of bluejackets from shore.

NO ARMS ON THE ANTILLA.

Ward Line Agent Denies Vessel Carried War Munitions for Huerta.

The officials of the Ward Line in New York, said last night that they had not received any official report from their agent at Vera Cruz that the Antilla had been fired on by the rebels at Tampico on Wednesday night. It was their theory that the report grew out of the fact that the steamer, passed up the river, when the rebels were exchanging shots with the Federal forces, and that some of the shells might have gone over the Antilla.

There is no direct communication with Tampico from New York, but there is wireless communication between that port and Vera Cruz.

Henry E. Cabaud, one of the managers of the Ward Line, said: "If anything serious had happened to the Antilla Capt. Cornell would have communicated with Mr. Robertson, our agent at Vera Cruz, who has charge of the situation down there, and he would have cabled to the New York office at once. The ship is under the Cuban flag, but her captain is an American."

"The rebels were reported to have declared their right to fire on the Antilla because she had arms and ammunition for Huerta. Is that correct?" Mr. Cobaud was asked.

"That is not true," he replied. "There were no arms nor ammunition of any kind whatever in the Antilla's cargo when she sailed from this port for Tampico direct on April 18."

The majority of the crew of the steamer are Cubans and Spaniards.

VILLA SPURNS ALLIANCE.

Huerta's Officers at Saltillo Ask Him to Join Forces.

Special to The New York Times.

JIMINEZ, Mexico, April 30.—Efforts made by Huerta's commanding officers in the north to persuade Villa to join forces with Huerta against the United States have failed. A courier was sent from Saltillo under a flag of truce with a round-robin from all of the commanding officers of the Saltillo garrison asking Villa to join with them to repel the invaders. The message was signed by Gen. Joaquin Maass, Gen. De Moure, and other Federal commanders.

The answer was sent back by the courier as soon as Villa read the document. He told the Federals that while he appreciated their patriotic stand, there was no danger of the Mexican race being extinguished, and that the only danger of a war with the United States would be by taking such action as they proposed. Villa added that he was confident that the United States did not intend to make war on the Mexican people and that the Federal commanders could best serve their country by urging Huerta to stop his insulting tactics toward the United States, retire, and allow a constitutionally elected President to govern the people.

The Provisional Cabinet and headquarters of Carranza will be established at Torreon as soon as possible. Piedras Negras, opposite Eagle Pass, will become the chief port of entry, instead of El Paso, and Carranza's Consul at El Paso has been ordered to Eagle Pass.

FRANCE NOT APPROACHED.

Report That It Was Asked to Influence Wilson's Course Denied.

PARIS, April 30.—The Foreign Office is authority for the statement that none of the three South American Republics engaged in efforts at mediation has made any representations whatever to the French Government with the object of influencing President Wilson to name conditions which, in their opinion, would render the success of the negotiations possible. This statement contradicts the report from Berlin yesterday, originally printed in the Lokal Anzeiger.

The French Government, as J. J. Jusserand, the French Ambassador at Washington, has already informed Secretary Bryan, hopes that the proposed mediation will be successful.

The Temps publishes a dispatch from Mexico City, dated to-day, saying that Provisional President Huerta, as an indication of his good will toward France, has announced that May 5 will not be observed as a holiday this year. The day has been observed in the past in Mexico to commemorate the recapture of Puebla from the French.

NO REBEL TRUCE; PLAN NEW ATTACKS

Villa Strengthening His Forces for a Hard Campaign Against Saltillo.

OTHERS MASS AT TAMPICO

Carranza Orders 12,000 Men to Lay Siege to Port—Torreon to be Made the Capital.

Special to The New York Times.

EL PASO, Texas, April 30.—Gen. Villa announced to-day through his confidential secretary here that he would not consider an armistice under any circumstances and that he was pushing his Saltillo campaign forward with all the means at his command. The "A. B. C. Powers" have indicated that they intended to include the Constitutionalists in the scope of the armistice which has been proposed by them. But Villa will have none of the armistice, and he did not know what the word meant until it was explained to him. When he grasped the meaning of the proposed agreement he shook his round apple-like head, pointed to Mexico City, and said that any armistice he entered into would be made there in the National Palace, with Huerta dead or in exile.

All the troops are being sent to Saltillo, including Villa's personal brigade, which he ordered to Chihuahua recently. Headquarters will be established at San Pedro and the field base will be Ciudad Hipolito, east of San Pedro. Villa is massing all of his forces including the dissatisfied ones of Maclovio Herrera and will send them into the first engagement at Saltillo to make them forget their troubles in fighting.

While Gen. Carranza has not replied officially to the proposition of the South American mediators for a Federal-rebel armistice, his answer is said by officials here to be plainly forecast in orders promulgated to-day for a concentrated attack on Tampico.

The Federal gunboats and the land defenses of Tampico have proved too big a task for the troops of Gens. Cabellero and Gonzales, and orders were issued to-day for the mobilization of 12,000 troops from the States of Coahuila, Tamaulipas, and Nuevo Leon. It is reported also that Gen. Francisco Villa, the first soldier of the revolution, may lead the attack.

Rafael E. Musquiz, a son-in-law of Gen. Carranza and a leader of the Junta here, is among the authorities for the declaration that the armistice in Northern Mexico is impossible.

Will Wait for Recognition.

It was rumored that acceptance of the proposal would have to carry with it some form of recognition of the belligerency of the rebels, but Gen. Carranza is said to have commented that he did not care to attain it in that way, as it was bound to come in due time with the complete victory of his forces.

George C. Carothers, Special Agent here of the State Department, is working night and day, but concerning the important affairs passing through him he is silent. Telegrams are said to be flying between Washington and Chihuahua. Carothers and Roberto V. Pesqueira, Carranza's confidential agent here, are in frequent conference. The latter holds daily and nightly conferences with his chiefs by telegraph.

Villa's present itinerary, it is said, will be arranged so that he can accompany Carranza into Torreon next Sunday, when he is to review the troops. It is reported that he will visit Monterey also to congratulate his forces there on the capture of the city. It is said the rebel capital will be moved to Torreon with the first chief, and that after the expected capture of Saltillo that city will have the honor.

Musquiz has been authorized by Gen. Carranza to proceed to Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, (Piedras Negras,) Laredo, and other cities recently taken by the rebels to install civil officers. Work of repairing railroads will be pushed with great energy, it is stated.

Refusal to Join Huerta.

A letter to Gen. Felipe Angeles, chief of the rebel artillery, from Gen. Maass, the Federal commander at Saltillo, and signed by a number of other Generals and lesser officers, asking Angeles to join the Federals against the United States, was received here to-day. Angeles's reply also was given out to the effect that he would not compound Huerta's crimes by joining him.

Gen. Villa has asserted that the best of feeling exists between himself and Carranza.

En route to Torreon to assume command, Villa visited a number of towns and obtained a large number of recruits for his army. With prospects of a big fight with 10,000 Federals at Saltillo he is finding no trouble in raising men to replace those killed at San Pedro and Torreon.

At Chihuahua Carranza has made an explanation of his sending the President his first message on the Vera Cruz incident. His justification of this message is that he was not fully informed as to the intentions of the State Department, and when informed by his own commanders that the battleships and marines were preparing to take possession of the port he supposed that the United States intended to make war upon the entire Mexican people. He says that had he been fully informed as to the good intentions of the Americans there would have been no protest so long as Constitutionalist territory was not violated.

TO WITHDRAW MILITIA.

Regulars to Take the Place of Texas and California Troops.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—As a result of correspondence between Secretary of War Garrison and Gov. Colquitt of Texas, the State troops placed along the boundary by the Governor will be withdrawn and as many regulars sent there. Secretary Garrison called to the attention of Gov. Colquitt the difficulty in having two bodies of troops stationed in the same territory, but acting under different authorities.

Gov. Colquitt agreed to the change and a regiment of Coast Artillery will be sent to the boundary within a few days. The citizens of Brownsville and vicinity had appealed to Secretary Garrison to give them more troops because they were afraid that sooner or later there might be a bandit raid across the border and their banks and property looted.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 30.—Adjt. Gen. Forbes of the California National Guard was in conference with Brig. Gen. Murray of the Western Division yesterday, and it virtually was decided to recall the militia from the Mexican border to-day. Gen. Murray assured Adjt. Gen. Forbes he had a sufficient number of United States soldiers to protect the border.

Badger Reports Dutch Steamship Would Not Wait to Discharge Cargo.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—M. Jusserand, the French Ambassador, the other day called the attention of Secretary Bryan to a report that the Holland-America steamship Andyk had been refused permission to discharge her cargo at Vera Cruz, but to-day Rear Admiral Badger, in answer to an inquiry, cabled details of the matter which put a different face on it. The Navy Department gave out the message from Badger, which read thus:

Steamer Andyk arrived April 23. Berthed promptly, but unable to discharge promptly, due to military necessities interfering in obtaining stevedores. Agent was unwilling to delay steamer longer. Had agent chosen to await arrangement with stevedores she would have been discharged about twenty-four hours after she left. Steamer's manifestations not presented to Custom house, as cargo was not landed. Permission to land cargo was not refused and no compulsion of any kind was used.

All the tracks, wharves, warehouses, cranes, and other facilities for unloading freight at Vera Cruz were controlled by the Terminal Company until the arrival of the American forces. Admiral Fletcher negotiated with the manager of the company for the use of the terminal, but on Monday night when the manager threatened to call off his 200 employes Admiral Fletcher seized the property. Reports from Admiral Badger indicate that the terminals are in full operation and that every facility will be afforded to vessels desirous of discharging their cargoes.

The War Department to-day announced that the staff of Gen. Funston at Vera Cruz was as follows:

Aid de Camp—First Lieut. William O. Ball, Second Infantry.

Adjutant General—Col. Benjamin Alvord.

Quartermaster—Capt. Harry D. Blaseland.

Quartermaster for Base Duty—Capt. William H. Noble.

Quartermaster for Field Battery Duty—Capt. Ernest S. Wheeler.

AMERICANS CAN RETURN.

Bryan Lifts Ban on Sonora Mining District.

EL PASO, Tex., April 30.—Roberto V. Pesqueira, diplomatic agent for the Constitutionalists, who has been in correspondence with Secretary Bryan, was notified to-night that American consuls had been instructed to permit Americans who had been ordered out of Cananea, El Tigre, and Nacozari, Sonora, to return to those places in order that they might reopen the large mining properties there.

Señor Pesqueira had requested Secretary Bryan to permit the Americans to return, as the shutting down of the properties had thrown 30,000 Mexican laborers out of work, and they had no means of subsistence.

Screary Bryan said that the Americans wuld be permitted to export such materials as were not barred under the arms embargo. This covers oil, gasoline, powder, and dynamite.

ARMY FLYERS AT GALVESTON.

Aviators Wait Orders to Take a Transport to Mexico.

GALVESTON, Texas, April 30.—The corps of army aviators, with Lieut. Foulois of the Seventh Infantry in charge, reached Galveston early to-day on a special train from San Diego, Cal. The aviators are prepared for scouting duty in Mexico and expect to be sent to Vera Cruz on the next transport.

Besides Lieut. Foulois and two other Lieutenants there were forty-one men. There were three biplanes on board the train, and three additional machines are on their way here from the factory. The air craft were unloaded at once and taken to Fort Crockett, where they will remain until orders to go to Mexico are received.

HUERTA CONSENTS TO AN ARMISTICE

as well as Huerta has accepted the principle of mediation in his response to the tender of good offices made by Argentina, Brazil, and Chile. Mr. Daniels sent this news to Admiral Mayo last night with the object of having it communicated to the Constitutionalists who were attacking the town, which is still held by a strong Federal force under Gen. Zaragoza. This afternoon Mr. Daniels telegraphed an inquiry to Admiral Mayo as to what effect Carranza's attitude had produced on the Constitutionalists.

Trying to Neutralize Oil Districts.

Meanwhile the effort to restore peace in Mexico is being carried on in a direction apart from the mediation proceedings. Secretary Daniels has instructed Rear Admiral Badger, commanding the United States naval forces on the east coast of Mexico, to urge Rear Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock, commanding his Britannic Majesty's squadron in the same waters, to endeavor to effect an arrangement between the Federals and the Constitutionalists for the neutralization of the Tampico oil district. Efforts will be made also to neutralize the oil districts of Northern Mexico.

Secretary Bryan, in spite of the hopefulness credited to him, declines to admit that he is full of the spirit of optimism. In fact, he will not admit anything as to his view of the probable outcome of the peace negotiations. When he was asked to-day if he was hopeful, he responded with Pope's couplet:

> "Hope springs eternal in the human breast,
> Man never is, but always to be, blest."

Other Cabinet officers, not so chary as Mr. Bryan of telling what they thought on the subject, showed by their comment that the Cabinet circle felt greatly encouraged over the prospect of a successful termination of the negotiations.

Although rebuffed in the effort to obtain the assistance of France, Germany, and England in making representations to President Wilson and Secretary Bryan that this Government should not insist upon the elimination of Gen. Huerta from the Presidency of Mexico as a provision precedent in the mediation proceedings, the A. B. C. negotiators are apparently still seeking the interest of these three powerful European nations to promote the success of the mediation undertaking.

Much surprise was shown yesterday when it became known that the mediators had sought the help of France, Germany, and Great Britain. This surprise was due to the fact that the A. B. C. diplomats were said to have been displeased over the action of Secretary Bryan last Sunday in asking the French, German, and British Ambassadors in Washington to request their Governments to urge Gen. Huerta to accept the tender of good offices made by the Ambassador of Brazil and the Ministers of Argentina and Chile. The three European powers responded promptly and affirmatively to Mr. Bryan's suggestion, and it is believed here that Huerta's formal acceptance of mediation in principle was due largely to the representations made to him in a personal interview by Sir Lionel Carden. But when a request came from the mediators that representations should be made by their Ambassadors in Washington to President Wilson and Secretary Bryan in the direction of withholding the proposed stipulation that Huerta be eliminated, France, Germany, and Great Britain felt obliged to decline.

Anxious Not to Offend Wilson.

Their reasons for this caution are well understood here. The Mexican question is regarded by the Wilson Administration as a matter of domestic concern, and the Ministries at Paris, Berlin, and London did not care to run counter to American official sensitiveness by appearing to take too prominent a hand in the attempted settlement. It is true that they had encouragement through Secretary Bryan's direct request that they bring pressure to bear upon Mexico's Provisional President, but that was somewhat different from reversing the process and telling President Wilson what, in their opinion, his course should be. It was obvious that to make the representations suggested would involve the risk of offending the President. Huerta's case was evidently regarded as of a different character.

Observers find it worthy of note that the entire diplomatic body in Washington does not share the view that the negotiations will fail, and that peace will not come to Mexico until the United States Government intervenes. One of the most prominent European diplomats expressed the opinion that the light of success had begun to appear on the mediation horizon, and there is a strong feeling of optimism among the mediators themselves.

Danger in "Elimination" Proviso.

It is felt pretty generally among members of the local diplomatic corps, however, that insistence by this Government that any agreement must include the retirement of Gen. Huerta from office and power carries with it the risk of a disastrous ending of the negotiations. This proposal has not been put forward formally because no stipulations have been laid down, but enough has been said by those who have the confidence of the White House to show that the Administration will virtually demand the elimination of Huerta.

In some quarters the opinion is advanced that this will be a help instead of a detriment to Mexico's case. The theory behind this opinion is that if the negotiations should fail on account of the unyielding attitude of the United States, Gen Huerta could make a strong point before the world in the allegation that it was not his fault, but that of the American Government, that the effort to effect a peaceful settlement had failed, and that he was not responsible for the bloodshed following the resumption of hostilities. And a resumption of hostilities, it was suggested, would make American intervention certain.

Besides, it is contended that Huerta would be likely to win the sympathy of Latin America if he felt obliged to go to war again because a condition to which he could not assent had been laid down by the United States in the mediation preliminaries.

This Government is very anxious to keep the good-will of Latin America, and it has been bending its energies to that end. The news of the American landing at Vera Cruz created a bad impression in some South American countries, in the capital of one of which there was a hostile demonstration against the American Legation, and the State Department sought to counteract this by cabling the full text of President Wilson's address of April 20 to every American Minister in South and Central America, with instructions to have it published in newspapers.

The spirit of friendship for the people of Mexico which the President showed in the address and the distinction he made between Mexico as a nation and Huerta as an individual were quickly understood when the President's expressions were read in translated form. Since then the edge has been taken off of the first feeling of resentment against the American attitude toward Mexico, and encouraging messages on the subject have come from the American diplomatic representatives in Latin America. The Administration would go far to preserve the good feeling that has been revived through the publication of President Wilson's address on the Tampico incident. But the elimination of Huerta is the cornerstone of the Administration's Mexican policy, and there is no reason yet known to give ground for the supposition that Huerta's retirement as a preliminary to the conclusion of peace will be less strongly insisted upon by this Government than heretofore.

Latin America is said to be interested in the matter chiefly on the assumption that this Government may attempt to apply a phase of its Mexican policy to the republics to the south. That assumption involves the theory that if the United States Government is to say at least who shall not be President of Mexico and that no Government of Mexico will be recognized that does not conform to the letter of the American requirements in the selection of a President, the application of this policy to the rest of Latin America is likely to follow. For these reasons, therefore, the southern republics are watching with intense interest the developments in the Mexican mediation proceedings.

But in their present aspect the efforts for mediation are receiving the approval of South American and Central American countries, and the acceptance by the United States of the principle is regarded as likely to bring about a more substantial pan-American union than has hitherto existed.

To-day the State Department received assurances of approval from Cuba, Nicaragua, and Honduras. The Governments of Brazil, Argentina, and Chile have forwarded enthusiastic expressions of satisfaction at the attitude of this Government.

Mediation Popular in Mexico.

All indications point to the popularity of mediation among the Mexican upper classes. They are tired of the guerrilla combat that has been going on unbrokenly for the last four years. Admiral Howard, in his dispatches to the Navy Department to-day, said that the better classes in Mazatlan, on the Pacific side of Mexico, were pleased with the news of mediation. Messengers were sent through the lines to carry the news to the Constitutionalists, who also received it with satisfaction. Consul Hanna, at Monterey, reporting a return of quiet, said that, as a result of the new outlook for peace, business was again occupying the attention of the people; that the city was being cleaned up, and that the railroads were beginning to operate trains.

To-day the State Department advised a large number of American Consuls that they might remain at their posts, in their discretion. This appeals strongly to those stationed in Northern Mexico, and none of the American Consuls along the Atlantic Coast have abandoned their posts, their presence being demanded by the necessity of assisting refugees out of the country.

All reports received here to-day by the Navy and the War Departments indicated that under the quieting influence of the news the excitement in the City of Mexico and the towns along the border had subsided. Americans everywhere are allowed to make their way out of the country without molestation. On both coasts, according to official reports from American naval officers, there has been the most generous co-operation of British, German, and French naval officers and Consular officials—in fact, of the representatives in Mexico of all nations—to assist Americans to safety.

Daniels Praises Foreign Officers.

"It is a fine exhibition, the noblest impulses of brave men," said Secretary Daniels to-day, commenting on the advices from Admiral Badger of the efforts of the various foreign officers in the vicinity of Tampico and Vera Cruz.

Mr. Daniels, like Mr. Bryan, emphasized the fact that the United States had ceased all hostilities.

"We have taken the Custom House at Vera Cruz," said Mr. Daniels, "and there are no hostilities whatever anywhere that our forces may be found. All reports of operations of any kind should be stamped at once as without foundation. Instructions have been sent to Admiral Badger at Vera Cruz, Admiral Mayo at Tampico, and Admiral Howard, commanding on the west coast, to inform the Mexican people as far as possible of the fact that mediation has been accepted in principle, and that there has been a cessation of hostilities pending the results of the effort to compose all the difficulties in dispute between the United States and the Huerta Government. Similar representations have been made to Senhor Oliveira, the Brazilian Minister at the City of Mexico, who is acting for the United States in the absence of our own diplomatic representative."

The notes exchanged between the mediators and Gen. Carranza, which THE TIMES printed to-day in a dispatch from Chihuahua, show that the task undertaken by the A. B. C. nations embraces "all parties at interest in the problem of the pacification of Mexico" and the "adjustment of the differences between Mexico and the United States."

This three-cornered quarrel presents more difficulties than the mediators would encounter if they were called upon to settle the difficulties between this Government and Huerta or Huerta and the Constitutionalists. The perplexity that besets the three mediators may be understood from the reply of one of them to the question as to what rules of procedure would obtain in the deliberations of the commission of mediation.

"Oh, you won't find this case in the books at all," said the South American diplomat with a grim smile, as he proceeded to back away from the zone of newspaper importunity.

MANZANILLO FIRE FALSELY REPORTED

Telegraphic Error Twisted an Incendiary Blaze Into a Story of Bombardment.

NO ATTACK ON WEST COAST

Federals and Rebels Fighting at Mazatlan and Acapulco—Refugees for San Diego.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—There was no truth in the report which reached this country from Mexico City soon after midnight this morning to the effect that the Mexican west coast port of Manzanillo had been bombarded by an American warship.

Secretary Daniels formally denied the rumor to-day after the receipt of a message from Rear Admiral Howard denying the reports of a bombardment. Admiral Howard is Commander in Chief of the American naval forces on the Mexican west coast. By wireless from his station at Mazatlan he communicated with Capt. Thomas P. Magruder, the commander of the cruiser Raleigh, who reported that a serious incendiary fire at Manzanillo probably gave rise to the report. The Raleigh arrived at Manzanillo yesterday.

A telegraphic misplacement of a preposition, according to a story told here to-day, was responsible for the alarm in two continents last night caused by the report of the bombardment of Manzanillo. Secretary Daniels did not believe the report when it was received last night. At that time he denied it on the basis of his understanding of the situation, and his knowledge that Admiral Howard had not been ordered to make any landing or to bombard. He was aware that if such a bombardment or landing had occurred, it could only have been predicated upon some sudden emergency impelling the commander of the Raleigh to land under authority of his general orders.

Word "On" Misplaced.

According to the story circulated here a telegraphic dispatch was sent to Mexico City last night saying that "Manzanillo was on fire," the innocent little word "on" got twisted and the dispatch was distorted into "Manzanillo was fired on." This, coupled with the fact that the Raleigh arrived at Manzanillo yesterday from San Blas was believed to have resulted in the story that the town had been bombarded.

Secretary Daniels issued this statement concerning the incident to-day:

"Newspaper reports of a bombardment at Manzanillo, which were published in some of the papers this morning without confirmation, and in spite of a positive assurance from the Secretary of the Navy last night that the rumor could not be true, have been entirely disproved by a telegram received from Admiral Howard in charge of the ships on the west coast of Mexico.

"Mr. Daniels this morning made a personal request to the press to regard all reports of a sensational nature with extreme suspicion if not confirmed by dispatches received at the Navy Department. Every happening of the slightest interest is being given out promptly by the department, and the Secretary hopes that unconfirmed rumors will be carefully investigated and confirmed before being published.

"The Secretary desires to thank the press for the care they have exercised so far, and wishes to explain that a failure to hear from the west coast of Mexico during the day does not indicate either that anything is being suppressed or that anything serious has happened. Communication with the west coast is largely by wireless, and unless something of a startling nature occurs dispatches are held until after midnight when the atmospheric conditions are favorable.

"The telegram from Admiral Howard, after positively denying the reports of a bombardment, says that the Raleigh reports to him that there was a serious incendiary fire at Manzanillo which probably gave rise to the report."

More West Coast Ships.

An additional dispatch was received to-day from Admiral Howard reporting conditions on the Mexican west coast as they existed yesterday. It announced the arrival of the armored cruiser South Dakota at Acapulco and of the third-class cruiser Raleigh at Manzanillo, as well as of the gunboat Annapolis and the torpedo boat tender Iris at Mazatlan. In this dispatch Admiral Howard said:

"The American steamers Columbian and Nebraska left Salina Cruz on the 24th. All available steamers on this coast are crowded with refugees. Only three or four small steamers able to make trips to San Diego. I have asked Pacific Mail to have all their steamers stop at Mazatlan in passing. The steamer Benito Juarez sailed for San Diego full of passengers. Madre islands, about 100 miles south of Mazatlan, have been evacuated. Prisoners and wireless have been sent to Manzanillo.

"The Federalists and Constitutionalists are fighting at Mazatlan and Acapulco. The news of mediation through A. B. C. is favorably received by the better class of citizens of Mazatlan. Messages were sent through the lines to the Constitutionalists."

As soon as the United States accepted the offer of the South American powers Secretary Daniels sent to Admiral Howard the text of the offer and the acceptance. Admiral Howard was instructed to give it the widest possible publicity, not only among the men on the vessels under his command, but to the Mexicans ashore. His dispatch shows that he has succeeded in getting the news of mediation through the lines to the Constitutionalists engaged in the Mexican west coast campaign. The purpose of this was to make the truth known, to avoid misunderstandings, that might lead to incidents precipitating some untoward action during the progress of the negotiations.

FIGHTING ON WEST COAST.

Federals and Rebels Clash at Mazatlan and Acapulco.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Federalists and Constitutionalists are fighting at Mazatlan and Acapulco, according to a dispatch received here from Admiral Howard, commander of the Pacific fleet. Admiral Howard reported further that the news of mediation through A. B. C. was favorably received by the better class of citizens at Mazatlan. The message was sent through the lines to the Constitutionalists.

Traveler's Report of Mexicali Garrison—Rancher Fired On.

CALEXICO, Cal., April 30.—Samuel Vastbinder, an American rancher, was chased across the line six miles west of here to-day by three Mexican rurales, who followed him to American soil and discharged their revolvers at him, according to the rancher's story.

A traveling salesman who entered Mexicali to-day brought back the report that Japanese were manning the Mexican field guns.

Bryan Is Asked to Help an American Engineer and Family.

HANFORD, Cal., April 30.—Gov. Johnson received word last night that D. H. Harroun, an engineer, formerly employed by the California State Railroad Commission, is being held with his wife and daughter by the Mexican Federals at Aguascalientes. Gov. Johnson immediately telegraphed to Secretary of State Bryan asking him to make an investigation and obtain the release of the Americans.

VERA CRUZ WONDERS AS OUR TROOPS LAND

Michigan, Louisiana, Minnesota, North Dakota, and New Jersey, and the scout cruiser Chester. These were all in new white uniforms.

Particular enthusiasm was shown by the crowds over the men from the Florida, Utah, New Hampshire, Arkansas, and Chester, and especially over those from the Chester, whose gunners destroyed the Naval Academy.

Behind Gen. Funston and Admiral Fletcher during the parade was massed the Twenty-eighth Infantry, under Col. Plummer. At the end of the parade Gen. Funston turned to Admiral Fletcher and said:

"I never saw a finer body of men, and I am as proud of them as I know you are."

As the bluejackets were embarking in their boats, the soldiers gave cheer after cheer. When the last boatload got off, the Twenty-eighth Infantry band played "Auld Lang Syne."

In anticipation of the event, which marked the close of the efficient naval régime in Vera Cruz, the troops of Gen. Funston's brigade disembarked early in the morning from their transports, where they had been held for two days, and marched off by battalions and companies to their posts in the city and outlying districts.

As the soldiers moved through the principal streets of the city with their full field equipment American civilians cheered them and waved handkerchiefs, while the natives gazed upon the members of this new garrison with wonder rather than with excitement.

Commanders Praise Bluejackets.

Prior to the transfer of authority from the navy to the army, the bluejackets who had been doing service on shore were massed in front of the zone headquarters. There they were briefly addressed by the zone commanders, Capt. John H. Gibbons of the battleship Utah, Capt. Albert P. Niblack of the battleship Michigan, and Capt. Edwin A. Anderson of the New Hampshire.

All three commanders complimented the men on their courage and good behavior and their kindness and consideration for the natives. Capt. Gibbons in his speech said that by the co-operation of officers and men a splendid example of efficiency had been set before the world.

After these exercises, the bluejackets formed and marched by the commanding officer. In their parade the battalion of Rear Admiral Badger's flagship Arkansas, who had been on guard at the orphan asylum, were led by a band composed of youngsters from that institution.

Fletcher to His Men.

In signal of the close of his service on shore, Rear Admiral Fletcher issued this order to-day:

HEADQUARTERS UNITED STATES NAVAL FORCES ON SHORE.
Vera Cruz, Mexico, April 30, 1914.
DIVISION ORDER.

The naval forces, occupying the City of Vera Cruz, will at 2 P. M., April 30, 1914, withdraw and turn the command of the city over to the army.

The navy landed at 11 o'clock A. M., April 21, 1914. From shortly after landing our men were under an almost continual fire until 8:30 o'clock on the morning of the 22d. At that time, when all organized authority in the City of Vera Cruz had ceased to exist, the order was given to advance through the city.

The brigade under the command of Capt. W. R. Rush, U. S. N., had to fight their way from street to street against a stubborn rifle fire from house tops, windows, steeples, and from places of concealment in all parts of the city. At 11 o'clock A. M. the city was in their possession.

The splendid advance of our men in the morning after being under fire all night was deserving of the highest praise, and the accurate and timely gunfire of the Chester, Prairie, and San Francisco in the harbor showed effective co-operation ashore and afloat.

The praiseworthy conduct of our men in establishing and maintaining good order and restoring confidence among the inhabitants of the city after the fighting, reflects the greatest credit upon the discipline and resourcefulness of the men of the navy and marine corps.

In nine days' work the city of Vera Cruz was occupied by the navy, lawlessness and disorder suppressed, 11,000 firearms taken possession of, and a line of defenses established around the city against an army threatening to recapture it. Business was resumed and normal conditions restored. The municipal government of the city has been re-established under the control of its people, a civil government formed to carry out the laws of the State and Federal Government, and all preparations made for the landing of the army and for the relief and withdrawal of our own forces.

The officers and men of the naval forces deserve the highest commendation for having done this work completely and having done it well. The highest honor is due to those who gave their lives in the service of their country.

In withdrawing my command from Vera Cruz, I wish to extend to the officers and men who took part in its occupation my deepest appreciation of their gallant conduct and support. In turning our work over to the army, the navy extends its best wishes and good will.

F. F. FLETCHER,
Rear Admiral U. S. N., Commanding United States Naval Forces on Shore.

Mexicans Would Fight for Us.

Mexican business men of Vera Cruz with whom THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent talked to-day said that the American occupation had been a blessing. The people of the city had never made so much money before, they asserted, and never before had such a chance to keep what they had made.

One of the Mexican merchants commented:

"If the Americans stay a month longer the people of Vera Cruz and the vicinity will be so pacified and happy that if necessary we can raise an army to defend the Americans right here against our own people."

The reports of the excellent deportment of the American garrison and the full security of life and property in the city under their control is spreading rapidly into the surrounding country, and the farmers are beginning to come in with supplies of vegetables, fruits, and other products. Little girls with baskets of flowers go about selling bouquets to the sailors and soldiers.

There have been reports that the British merchants here had expressed disapproval of the American landing in Mexico. THE TIMES correspondent has heard no such comment, and there seems to be no basis for the story. All the foreigners doing business here, with whom THE TIMES correspondent has talked, have said that they were glad we came.

Aeroplanes were scouting again over the outlying territory this morning.

All was quiet on the advance lines nine miles outside of the city.

Refugees Reach Puerto Mexico.

Four hundred and twenty-seven American refugees from the City of Mexico arrived at Puerto Mexico today. They will be brought here on the transport Hancock and thence will be taken to the United States.

The French Consul, J. Brouzet, conferred to-day with Gen. Maass and arranged to have a special train run tomorrow to Mexico City, flying the French flag. The Consul goes on an important secret mission.

Two British subjects, H. Y. Blake and Stephen Bettley, have obtained passports from the British Consul to accompany M. Brouzet.

Gen. Maass has given assurances that the train will be protected by Mexican troops.

Americans Cheer as Troops Pass.

By The Associated Press.

VERA CRUZ, April 30.—The troops of Gen. Funston's Fifth Brigade began their disembarkation from the transports at the docks soon after sunrise. Once ashore they were lined up along the docks and in the railroad yards and rapidly marched off to the posts assigned to them in various parts of the city and its suburbs.

As the various detachments swung into the streets with their bands ahead playing martial airs and their flags flying in the breeze, the natives of the city appeared on their balconies or came out on the sidewalks and gazed with undisguised wonder at the solid ranks of brown-clothed men. The people seemed to marvel at the precision of the military movements and the sturdy appearance of the men.

Many American civilians, who had been taking their breakfasts outdoors, left their tables and watched with pride the passing of the troops, at the same time shouting volleys of hurrahs and waving hats and handkerchiefs.

Soon after the last of the troops had passed through the main streets of the city Brig. Gen. Funston with several aides drove by in a carriage and was greeted with an outburst of applause. Gen. Funston established his headquarters in the building deserted by Gen. Maass.

This structure was designed for military use, and Funston thinks it will be more convenient for his purposes than the Federal Building, as a large part of his men will be garrisoned in barracks adjoining.

All the troops had taken up their stations by noon, and reports to that effect had been received by Brig. Gen. Funston. Then official calls were exchanged between Rear Admiral Badger, Gov. Kerr, and Gen. Funston.

After the ceremony of transferring authority from Rear Admiral Fletcher to Gen. Funston had been completed, the retiring naval forces passed in review before the naval and military Commanders. Beside the commanding officers stood Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American Chargé d'Affaires, Consul General Shanklin and Consul Canada, with several members of their staffs. The review over, soldiers, sailors, and marines exchanged hearty cheers for each other, the spectators joining in.

As the small boats began moving from the shore toward the warships with the bluejackets returning to their vessels, one of the ship's bands struck up "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here."

While the boats carried the seamen to their ships Gen. Funston was forced to hold a little informal reception on the pier. Americans, men and women, crowded about him to greet him as an old friend or to be introduced.

Rear Admiral Fletcher was the last man of the naval force to leave the shore. As he did so Gen. Funston's troops presented arms in most impressive style.

Hundreds of refugees, together with a throng of natives, were on the piers, and most of them took off their hats and cheered for the sailors, who had borne the brunt of the fighting.

In turning over the health service of Vera Cruz to Surgeon Guiteras of the United States Public Health Service Fleet Surgeon L. W. Spratling, who has been medical inspector since the American occupation began, disposed of rumors of a possible danger of pestilence. He reported less than twenty cases of smallpox in the city, only two of which were not in the pest house or the hospital before the Americans landed.

Among the sailors there has been no illness except heat exhaustion of a trivial nature, and not even a malarial patient has been reported.

For the present the men of the fleet are to be denied shore liberty, as they will have much work to do in claning their equipment, and the doctors want them to have a change in the cool air of the outre harbor.

When liberty is granted them, Lieut. Alfred M. Cohen of Arkansas, an athletic officer, who has been ordnance officer on Rear Admiral's Fletcher's staff, hopes to start a baseball league, and will issue challenges to army teams. This may result in giving Vera Cruz a championship series as its first introduction to the Ameriman national game.

While martial law continues in force the actual municipal government is being conducted by Gov. Kerr, who has enlisted the aid of Mexican officials to act under superintendence and in accordance with Mexican laws.

Prison Term for Blackmailer

The first serious case to come before the Provost Marshal, Commander D. F. Sellers of the Arkansas, indicated the efficacy of the naval service.

A man, giving the name of J. R. Mulcahy, who said he was an American reporter, told the Provost Marshal last Monday that he had information of the whereabouts of a quantity of arms in the hands of Mexicans. Three men were sent with Mulcahy, who led them to a gambling house, where, in Spanish, he demanded money instead of arms, and represented himself as a police official.

The marines, not understanding the transaction, watched Mulcahy compel the opening of safes, which proved to be empty, the cashier explaining that the funds had been turned over to his employer, Pedro Nau.

The cashier was thereupon forced to conduct the party to the residence of Nau, from whom money was demanded. Nau handed over 5,000 pesos, which Mulcahy carried to his hotel, dismissing the marines.

On the following day Nau complained to the Provost Marshal, after which detectives traced Mulcahy, who was arrested and put in jail. The money was recovered and returned to Nau.

To-day Mulcahy was sentenced to five years' hard labor. This was the last act performed under the administration of Commander Sellers as Provost Marshal.

Wireless From Train to Ships.

Ensign Maddux, wireless officer of the battleship Utah, who has been connected with the signal service ashore since the landing of the Americans, has succeeded in sending wireless messages from a train. With his apparatus, he went on one of the trains which was being operated to the point where the track was torn up and exchanged dispatches with the ships and shore stations.

The Cuban gunboat Cuba is now anchored with the American fleet. Her last visit here was made when she came to take away Francisco Madero after he was deposed from the Presidency by the Huerta-Dias agreement, and it was expected that he would be allowed to leave the country.

REFUGEES WANT TO RETURN.

Cananea Fugitives Say Bryan Is Willing, but Consuls Oppose.

NOGALES, Ariz., April 30.—Advised by mine owners that Secretary of State Bryan had sanctioned the return of Americans to Mexico, and at the same time warned by United States Consuls that they should not return under any circumstances, Americans on the border to-day said they were in a quandary.

About 400 Americans recently were ordered to leave the copper mining camp at Cananea and were forced to take refuge at Naco, Ariz., after they had been subjected to a hostile demonstration by rebel leaders at Cananea. Despite this, copper mine operators to-day exhibited telegrams purporting to come from Secretary Bryan, saying there was no objection to Americans returning to Cananea.

Most of the Americans were penniless when they reached the border, and they were anxious to return to their Mexican homes if they could do so safely. When they appealed to consular agents they were told to remain out of Mexico despite all assurances to the contrary.

Telegrams also were sent to Secretary Bryan asking him whether the State Department had sanctioned the return of any Americans and advising him against their return.

Consul Frederick Simpich at Nogales and Consular Agent C. L. Montague at Naco, said they had no instructions other than to help Americans to get out of the Southern republic.

FIGHT AT VERA CRUZ AS SEEN FROM SHIP

Printer Beardsley of the Esperanza Had a Clear View of Two Days' Operations.

SHELLS WERE WELL PLACED

Quickly Reduced the Lighthouse and Cleared Housetops, While Rapid-Fire Guns Routed Mexicans.

An account of the first two days' fighting at Vera Cruz by an eye-witness has been sent to THE TIMES by Lawrence V. Beardsley, ship's printer on the Esperanza, which was chartered by the Government as a refugee ship. Mr. Beardsley had a clear view of all the water front and the main streets, and he adds details which have not been carried by cables.

ON BOARD WARD LINER ESPERANZA, April 27.—The Esperanza arrived in Vera Cruz on her regular trip on April 10, and, as usual, discharged her cargo, after which she started to load. One hold was full when suddenly everybody working it quit, and the huge steam cranes stopped.

The following day the cargo put in was taken out, and all sorts of rumors filled the air. We heard we were going to carry troops, refugees, &c. That afternoon a corps of signalmen came on board, and the navy wigwag was put into use for communication with the rest of the fleet.

We lay at our dock for three days, when we began to take on refugees. The ship's white bands were taken off the stack, and the Government commission flag was hoisted. We were "shanghaied and thrown into the navy," as one member of the crew aptly expressed it. All Americans had been ordered out of the country, and the Esperanza, as well as several other ships, freighters, warships, &c., were being rapidly filled up with them.

On Thursday, the 16th, we were ordered away from the dock because the Ward Line steamship Mexico was due the next morning. We were empty, and had considerable difficulty manoeuvring around the small inner harbor, as a "norther" was blowing up and the harbor was full of warships, &c. We dropped anchor right at the Spanish warship Carlos V.'s stern, or else we would have rammed her.

Perfect View of Fight.

It was because of this that we had the premier grand stand position of any vessel or building at the battle of Vera Cruz. We could see all the harbor front, docks, buildings, forts, &c., and, looking up Miguel Lerdo Street, could plainly view the city's central plaza, which is near the waterfront. The British cruiser Essex was to the starboard side of us. The Prairie was on our bow, alongside the Spaniard. The Ward liner Mexico pulled away from dock the morning of the 21st and anchored in the outer harbor.

At 10:45 A. M. of the 21st we saw the Prairie's boats being lowered, and they were soon filling up with khaki-clothed marines. The people on the huge sanitary wharf, off which we lay, and all along the waterfront started for the objective point of the Prairie's boats, Ward Line Dock No. 4. It looked as if our boys were going to receive a peaceful reception. The Prairie's detachments had been augmented by the Florida's marine crew, and lined up along the dock in formation.

The crowd which had gathered there suddenly began to scurry in all directions, and we saw the Mexican soldiers in blue uniforms emerging from the quartel further along the waterfront. They marched up a side street and were followed by several wagons of artillery and a regiment of cavalry. We saw them enter the Plaza and halt there, while some companies of infantry marched down Avenida Independencia to the railroad yards, up which our boys were coming, about 500 strong.

They got there ahead of our men and hid in the sheds, rolling stock, &c., of which the terminal was full. When about where Avenida Independencia crosses the terminal tracks the Mexicans opened on our boys, dropping six of them. Our lads broke formation, and a guerrilla warfare ensued in which the Mexicans had decidedly the worst of it and were driven into Avenida Independencia, the city's main thoroughfare, pursued by the Yankee marines. They broke into the houses, virtual fortresses, and fired on our men from every window, housetop, and doorway.

Rapid-Fire Guns Rout Mexicans.

The enemy in the Plaza were seen advancing to reinforce their infantry, but broke and fled in all directions when a couple of Colt automatic rapid-fire guns were let loose up the street. The enemy now adopted the guerrilla method, and fired from every commanding point at our men. Our boys could do no effective work against the foe while they were themselves in the open. They accordingly "battle-axed" the buildings and drove the foe from one housetop to another. The din by this time was tremendous. The crackling of Springfield and Mauser was occasionally punctuated by the sharp staccato of the rapid-firer pouring forth a rain of death. The enemy were now intrenched in all parts of the city in houses, towers, &c., and were firing on our boys from every side.

They had mounted a couple of three-pounders in the old lighthouse tower and had fired a couple of shots when the transport Prairie let loose with her three-pounders. The first shot took the top off the tower. The second banged amidships, cleaning out men, guns, &c., while the third landed right at the base, completely gutting the building and making it useless for a fortress. The Prairie also landed two shots in the Quartel and one in the icehouse. Every shot fired by the Prairie took effect. It was fine marksmanship.

By 4 o'clock in the afternoon our men had possession of that part of Vera Cruz running from the terminal to the plaza, and had been strongly reinforced; about 3,000 of our lads were engaged by that time. The Mexicans had pressed prisoners into service, as well as civilians, men and women. The firing ceased almost entirely as nightfall arrived and all the city was in darkness. Our men rested "on their arms" in the quarters they had captured. At 8 o'clock that night the San Francisco came in and tied up at the Custom House or Sanitary Wharf.

Shoot at the Ship.

The wharf was full of the enemy, who persisted in taking pot shots at the Esperanza and every other ship in the harbor. The San Francisco is a mine layer, and we thought she was going to dynamite that wharf. But she came away from it without firing a shot, and dropped anchor to windward of the Prairie. About 10 o'clock the Minnesota, Arkansas, New Hampsihre, New Jersey, and Delaware arrived, also the transports Dolphin, Hancock, and Panther.

The scene that night is one that I will long remember. The lights in the city were out because the electric light plant was in the enemy's territory. Not a glimmer came from the town, and all was in pitch darkness. The Florida was the first ship to open up her searchlights, then the others broke out. Each ship played from eight to sixteen lights apiece on the town. The night was one streak of circling beams of dazzling light, brighter than day.

The Chester came in about 12 o'clock with her lights all out. She dropped anchor just astern of the Esperanza. We could even hear the orders shouted to the crew, "All up! Prepare for action!" repeated continuously for half an hour or so. The Chester had dropped into a position that suited her purposes admirably. She commanded the fort, Quartel, Naval Academy, and two of the principal streets.

At 5:30 A. M. the Chester fired two loads of shrapnel up one of the streets, completely filling it with dead Mexicans. The fort attempted to fire on the Chester, but about three shots silenced it, from the Chester's fore and aft five-inch guns. Sharpshooters located on the Chester's decks fired in all directions ashore, dropping Mexicans in their tracks. It was sure death for a Mexican to show his head down the streets commanded by the Chester or to show himself on the wharf front. Our jackies had dyed their white shirts a khaki color, and advanced along the harbor front, covered by the Chester's fire.

The Mexicans poured a rain of bullets from the Quartel and Naval Academy buildings. The cruiser shelled these buildings repeatedly; the character of the walls, though, allowed the shells to pass through, only making a hole where they struck. After firing a few times against the walls of the Quartel, barracks, &c., the cruiser put her shells in through windows, took the tops off the houses, and made all kinds of fancy shots.

Our khaki-colored bluejackets advanced along till opposite the Government buildings. Orders were slightly bungled here on signals, but were quickly rectified without any harm being done. The Chester ceased her shelling temporarily, while her sharpshooters helped our lads from her decks.

American Forces Charge.

Our men advanced on the double quick and made a splendid charge, driving the enemy out of the barracks and out of their forts. After this maneouvre they charged on the Consulate Building of the Colombian, Venezuelan, and Ecuadorian Governments, which the enemy had occupied in force. Our lads poured in a murderous fire at all windows, doors, &c., while the Chester banged huge breaches in its walls with her five-inch guns. That building was completely wrecked and its human occupants, or almost all of them, died at the first charge.

The jackies then advanced around to the southern side of the enemy, and they were jammed in between our lads, hemmed in on three sides. It was at this period that the Mexicans took to the open country. A detachment of them, however, had mounted a couple of three-pounders on the hospital roof under the Red Cross flag. The Chester took this bunch off the earth with half a dozen good shots.

The Mexicans had begun to get enough of this business, and when they found that the "gringoes" were really in earnest and not bluffing, they took to the hills outside the city in a rather hasty manner.

The refugees who returned on the Esperanza from both Vera Cruz and Tampico criticised the Administration at Washington severely when they heard that war had not been declared, saying, "If they fall down now, our possessions are done for." That was the opinion of the majority.

Some awful stories were told of torture, pillaging, &c., which one could scarcely believe.

The Esperanza left Vera Cruz en route for Galveston, on the 23d, stopping at Tampico. When we arrived at Galveston we were met by a tugboat loaded down with reporters, who offered large sums for stories of the different actions at Vera Cruz. Some of our crew got considerable money by disposing of their photographs.

RUSH WORK ON GUNBOATS.

Navy Yard Hurries to Get Them Ready for Sea Service.

Orders received at the Navy Yard in Brooklyn have caused the authorities there to push the work of getting the gunboats Machias, Marietta, and Isla de Luzon ready for sea service as soon as possible. The armored cruiser Tennessee is due at the yard on Sunday to act as receiving ship in place of the Washington, which is on the way to Mexico. Pending the arrival of the Tennessee, the Wyoming is acting as receiving ship.

The superdreadnought Texas, a sister ship of the New York, now on her way to Mexico, went into drydock yesterday. The ship's hull will be scraped and painted. The vessel went into drydock on the same tide that let out the battleship Wyoming, which has been undergoing an overhauling preparatory to sailing to join the Atlantic fleet in Mexican waters. The Texas will be ready for sea in two weeks.

TO INSPECT CAMP SITES.

Gen. Evans Off for the South—Estimate of Water Required.

Gen. Robert K. Evans, commanding the Department of the East, left late yesterday afternoon for Washington, where he will confer with Major Gen. James F. O'Ryan, commanding the New York National Guard. He will also inspect camp sites of the militia in the Southern States of the department.

The water supply for the camp site on Staten Island is still receiving the attention of the officers here. Officers of the regular service believe that the militia overestimated the amount of water daily required. A half million gallons, they argue, would be a good estimate if the camp site were not on shore.

The officers on Governors Island say that in the event of mobilization on Staten Island, a water supply of from five to ten gallons a day for each man would be sufficient. The water required for the daily consumption of units of the State Militia is estimated thus: For one regiment of infantry, 10,000 gallons; a squadron of cavalry, 6,000 gallons; a battery of field artillery, 2,500 gallons; a company of engineers, 1,500 gallons; a signal corps company, 2,000 gallons; a hospital company, 1,300, and an ambulance company, 1,000 gallons.

Seven companies of the Coast Artillery Corps, under Col. Cronkite, will leave Fort Totten on Saturday morning for drill and target practice at Hempstead Plain. They will stay there a week. This is part of the regular programme of the corps, and is not a "war" move.

Battery D of the First Field Artillery, N. Y. N. G., under Sergt Fred Peterson, will leave the armory, Broadway and Sixty-eighth Street, on Sunday for a forty-mile ride. The troop will ride down Broadway and to Staten Island, where it will visit the proposed camp sites on Staten Island. The start will be made at 7 A. M.

FIRST PENSION APPLICATION.

Filed by Mother of Seaman Killed in Action at Vera Cruz.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The first pension application of the "second war with Mexico" was filed to-day in the office of G. M. Saltzgaber, Commissioner of Pensions. It was presented by Mrs. Jennie Smith of 2168 Sargeant Street, Philadelphia, whose son, Charles A. Smith, a seaman of the battleship New Hampshire, fell in the first day's action at Vera Cruz last week.

Young Smith was born Jan. 11, 1894, and enlisted in the navy on Aug. 22, 1911, at Philadelphia. The application sets forth that Mrs. Smith was a "dependent of her sailor son," and that he "fell while in the service of the United States and in the line of duty."

The pension to be granted will be $12 per month.

DEATH 15 MINUTES AWAY.

Refugee Awaited Execution When Rebels Routed Federals.

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, April 30.—Twenty-seven American refugees reached Brownsville last night from Monterey on the way to their homes in the United States. The party included J. C. Townsend and wife, Racine, Wis.; M. T. Montgomery, Pittsburgh, Penn.; N. K. Archer, Youngstown, Ohio; J. F. Jones, wife and child, Omaha, Neb., and O. P. Thomas and wife, Cleveland, Ohio.

Mr. Montgomery, who was Superintendent of tramways for the Monterey Railway, Light & Power Company, said that he was sentenced to be shot at 2 o'clock on the morning of April 24. It was fifteen minutes before the time set for the execution when the rebels entered the city and his guard fled. Montgomery was accused of having aided the rebels.

Brooklyn Guardsmen Get Ready.

National Guardsmen in Brooklyn are getting ready for war service in case of emergency. It is understood that the two Brooklyn regiments which are likely to be called upon for service are the Twenty-third and the Fourteenth. Every night companies from these regiments leave the armories for hikes of from ten to twelve miles to get in shape for the hardships of war service.

10,000 HAVE FLED FROM MEXICO PERIL

Whole Mormon Colony in Sonora Seeks Safety, Our Consul Reports.

TAMPICO DISTRICT DESERTED

Practically All the American Inhabitants Are Out—Some Consuls May Return to Their Places.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—An analysis of various official reports received here shows that approximately 10,000 refugees, mostly Americans, have left Mexico in the past week. Reports from Consular and naval sources show that 8,399 refugees have reached the border from various points in the interior of Mexico in that period, and that many more refugees have come out of other districts, but official figures as to the number of the latter have not been received. It is estimated that altogether 10,000 persons have sought places of safety.

Many women and children are included in all the lists that have been received here from Consul W. W. Canada at Vera Cruz, from American Consuls at points opposite El Paso, Eagle Pass, Laredo and from Consulate and naval officers on both the Gulf and Pacific coasts of Mexico.

Congress last week appropriated $500,000 to be used in getting refugees out of Mexico. This fund is being expended under the direction of Secretary of State Bryan. Part of the money has been used in chartering steamships on both coasts to convey the refugees from Mexican ports to American ports. Naval transports and auxiliary vessels are also being put to this use.

The commanders of British and German warships in Mexican waters have aided in the work of rescuing the refugees. Their courtesy has been appreciated by the American Government. According to official reports received here, the following refugees have been brought from the interior and either are now in the United States or are journeying to this and other countries.

Mormon Colony in Flight.

From Nogales the State Department to-day received word that ninety-one persons, comprising the entire Mormon colony in the Bavispe River district in the State of Sonora, have arrived at Douglas. The same report said that the railroad bridge over the Yaqui River Valley was partially destroyed by fire on Tuesday night. No serious disorders are reported in the Nogales district, and out of about 900 refugees coming out of Mexico through Sonora only 20 have thus far asked for Government transportation.

Consul Miller to-day reported that practically all Americans in the Tampico district had departed. A number of refugees from Oaxaca, employes of the Alvarado Construction Company of Pittsburgh, have arrived at Vera Cruz, having traveled by way of Alvarado. A fishing schooner took them to Vera Cruz. Other travelers leaving Oaxaca said that they did so upon the advice of the Governor, who furnished special trains and military escort as far as Mexico City.

Consul Canada has reported to the State Department the arrival at Vera Cruz of the following persons from Oaxaca:

P. W. Weber, wife, and four children of St. Louis; R. H. Grimshaw, wife, son, and daughter, of Johns Island, S. C.; Eugene Kniggo of Yorktown, Texas; Henry Brenwals of Oregon; Frank Adams, Walter Schwachow and wife; Dr. H. A. Monday and wife of Terrel, Texas; A. E. Place and wife of Boston, Mass.; William Fernandez and wife of Brownsville, Texas; L. O. Cook and J. E. Snyder of Tierra Blanca.

Consul Canada also reported to-day the safety of these Americans:

Guy P. Merian, wife, and three children; W. F. Dinkins and Mrs. H. C. Dinkins, on the way from Mexico City for Puerto Mexico; Mrs. L. L. Lamarx, at Jalapa; Carlos Lamar, at Vera Cruz; S. M. Emery and wife, C. I. Grigsby, W. F. Kunz, Mr. Hart, bound from Mexico City for Puerto Mexico; Charles C. Dupar, Claudia Haggard, R. W. Lee, W. L. Walker and wife, William A. Parker and wife, William E. L. Parker, W. B. Parker, Mrs. Fay Parker, Mrs. Betty Parker, Hal Brennan, F. E. Townsend, W. A. Wayland, and Jay Fry.

Americans at Guanajuato.

There are still some Americans left at Guanajuato, the capital of the Mexican State of that name, situated northwest of Mexico City, about half way between Queretaro, where the Emperor Maximilian was executed, and Aguascalientes. Consul Canada reported to-day that he was making every effort to communicate with these Guanajuato Americans, and expressed the conviction that they were unharmed.

From Durango to-day Consul Hanna reported that, although the civil and military authorities were doing all in their power to prevent disturbances, conditions still were unsettled. Consul Hanna said that conditions at Monterey were improved, that the city was quiet and was being cleaned and put in order. Rail communication, he said, had been resumed between Monterey and Matamoros.

Burton Wilson, who was taken from the train that took the American Chargé d'Affaires, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, to Vera Cruz from Mexico City, according to a report received by the State Department to-day, is now safe in Mexico City. Alfred Rubel and Jacob Loeb also are reported to be safe in the Mexican capital.

The State Department has instructed certain of its Consuls in Mexico that, according to their personal discretion, they are authorized to return to their posts and resume their official duties.

REFUGEES FLEE WEST COAST.

The Glacier Carrying 150 to San Francisco—Others at San Diego.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 30.—With 150 refugees from various ports on the west coast of Mexico on board, the navy supply ship Glacier passed San Diego to-day, bound for San Francisco. The collier Justin arrived to-day with sixteen refugees from Mazatlan. Of these eleven landed here, the others going to San Francisco.

Those landed here were A. Lictenwaller and wife, Henry Cohen, wife, and son; Jacob Montis, wife, and son; G. D. Kislingburry, C. W. Beach, and H. Haker.

Conditions at Mazatlan were reported serious, with the rebels investing the town and the water supply inadequate.

BOTH SIDES GUARD SMELTERS.

But Operations in Mexico Are Nearly at a Standstill.

S. R. Ritchie, associated with the Guggenheim enterprises in Mexico, said yesterday at the Guggenheim offices, 165 Broadway, that the only losses thus far sustained by their smelters in that country were due to the suspension of operations.

"Both sides have protected the smelters," he said, "as they realize that when the troubles end they will be a source of revenue. We have had no demonstrations against our properties.

"Of course, the smelters are either running at a minimum capacity or are shut down. This is because mining is practically paralyzed, and if we had the ores we could not get fuel, owing to the breaks in the railroads.

"These conditions, however, must soon end, and mining will be resumed to a greater extent than before."

WILL DEMAND REPARATION.

Galveston Refugees to Send a Committee to Washington with Demands

Special to The New York Times.

GALVESTON, Texas, April 30.—In a mass meeting this afternoon American refugees from Mexico decided that they would send a committee to Washington to urge the Government authorities to demand reparation because they, American citizens, were driven from their homes and property near Tampico.

Refugees have complained bitterly because American war vessels were withdrawn from Tampico harbor just at the time that Vera Cruz was taken, and feeling against the Americans was running highest.

Circulars published by the Refugee Association have been distributed about the city in the last two days.

Many of the refugees have accepted clothing and railroad tickets and departed for their destinations, but to-day the battleship Connecticut landed 750 and the City of Tampico, 35, so the number of refugees in the city is larger than at any time.

The members of the committee which will go to Washington will be selected at a meeting to be held to-morrow. The leaders among the refugees who feel themselves aggrieved assert that President Wilson has not been well informed as to the real conditions in Mexico or they would never have encountered so many hardships.

A committee made up of Mmes. A. S. Votaw, Samuel Hodgson, A. R. Bushnell, and Dr. W. M. Turner and Frank Hamrick is caring for the destitute among the refugees.

Several British subjects who arrived here with American refugees have complained to the British Consul that they were deluded and practically shanghaied. They said they went on board the ships for safety, not knowing the vessels were going to Galveston. They demand that they be returned to Tampico.

Among the refugees who arrived to-day on the City of Tampico were the Rev. L. B. Newberry of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, who was in charge of the Guadalajara district; Miss Case, principal of the Mary Keener Institute, Mexico City, and the Misses Massey, Booth, and Varner, missionaries in the Institute Colon, of Guadalajara. Dr. Newberry said that on the trip from Guadalajara his party had to walk ten miles.

CONSUL RETURNS TO POST.

Rebels Promise Protection and Keep Order in Piedras Negras.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—American Consul William P. Blocker sent this message to the State Department from Eagle Pass, Texas, to-day.

After a personal conference with Gen. Murgia, Commander of Carranzistas in Piedras Negras, I have returned to my post and am carrying on consular duties. The best of order prevails there. Murgia has assured me that all foreigners and their property will be given absolute protection within Constitutionalist lines. Murgia says he will occupy Sabinas as soon as the railroad is repaired and will endeavor to secure the stolen property of foreigners that was confiscated by Federals, as was reported in department dispatches of April 28, 5 P. M.

CALEXICO, Cal., April 30.—A detachment of the coast artillery, part of the Sixty-first Company stationed here, was ordered to-day to Andrade, Cal., where the Hanlon Heading Intake from the Colorado River is situated. The coast artillery will take the place of regulars of the Tenth Cavalry. Forty Mexican Federal soldiers are stationed at Algodones, just across the line from Andrade.

It developed to-day that the rumored execution of Pascual Vasquez at Mexicali did not take place. It was believed he will be shot to-day.

Vasquez killed Delbert Wardlow at Talbert, near Santa Ana, Cal., several months ago, and then enlisted in the Mexican Federal Army. He was recognized at Mexicali by Juan de Lafuente, whom the soldier stabbed to death. Both the men were American citizens.

SEEK REFUGE IN GUATEMALA.

Foreigners of All Nationalities Flee from Mexican Mobs.

GUATEMALA CITY, April 30.—A large number of refugees of all nationalities from Salina Cruz and the Isthmus of Tehuantepec arrived on Wednesday on board the English steamer Acajutla at San José, a small Guatemalan port on the Pacific.

Fugitives who have crossed the Mexican frontier into Guatemala from the Mexican town of Tapachula report that riots have occurred there, during which the American flag was insulted grossly.

Some of the refugees assert that attempts to massacre foreigners regardless of nationality were averted only by the prompt action of the Mexican military commander of Tapachula, who placed the foreigners in prison and guarded them from the mob.

Several large estates owned by foreign capitalists were abandoned by their managers, who fled for their lives into Guatemala, where they found hospitable welcome.

MAIL FOR MEXICO CITY.

Letters Addressed to Americans Being Handled at Vera Cruz.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—In response to an inquiry from the Navy Department in regard to mail facilities, Rear Admiral Badger at Vera Cruz cabled the Navy Department to-night as follows:

"The officer appointed as temporary Postmaster reports that he has sent mail for Mexico City and Mexican towns outside of Vera Cruz to Mexico City, but does not attempt distribution to Mexican towns, preferring distribution to be made in Mexico City. There are no facilities for handling mail for southern ports in the Yucatan district because no steamers are running. He has mail for northern Mexico, but it is impossible to send it, as that portion of the country is in control of Carranza.

"Mail for Americans here and at Mexico City should be sent in Vera Cruz bags on account of many refugees from Mexico City being now in Vera Cruz. Registered mail and parcel post packages for other points than Vera Cruz should not be sent to Vera Cruz."

HUERTA GENERAL RECALLED.

Velasquez Sails from Japan for Mexico—Was Buying Arms.

TOKIO, April 30.—Gen. Velasquez of the Mexican Army, who has been in Japan on Government business, has left Yokohama on board the steamer Seiyo Maru for Manzanillo, Mexico. He has been recalled by President Huerta, ostensibly to render assistance in the present crisis. The General left Yokohama very quietly. Under the name of Valero he purchased arms in Japan from private firms for his Government.

The Seiyo Maru carries a consignment of provisions for the Japanese cruiser Idzumo, which is to remain in Mexican waters.

Japan, there is good reason to believe, is anxious to hold aloof in the Mexican question. It is asserted among diplomats here that she declined to represent Mexico at Washington in the fear that acceptance might be misinterpreted abroad as an indication of unfriendliness to the United States, or of special friendliness to Mexico.

The officials of the Oriental Steamship Company, which owns the steamer Seiyo Maru, said to-day that the vessel had no arms on board.

Army Telegraphers for Border.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Twenty-five men attached to the Signal Corps of the Central Department of the army have been ordered to San Antonio, Texas, in an order received to-day at Department Headquarters here. The men, most of whom are expert telegraphers, are now at various points in the department.

PARAGUAY BOYCOTT ON OUR PRODUCTS

Labor Unions to Make Reprisals for the Invasion of Mexico.

"MONROEISM" MODIFIED

La Prensa of Buenos Aires Says That It Has Now Become Pan-Americanism.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES

BUENOS AIRES, April 30.—All the Bolivian newspapers censure the American policy in Mexico.

From Asuncion, Paraguay, comes a cable dispatch saying that the labor unions will boycott American products on May 1, (Labor Day,) on account of the invasion of Mexico.

La Prensa of this city says that the "A. B. C." mediators must realize the solemn and grave responsibility they have undertaken, in view of the delicate and grave complications of the American dispute with Mexico, and must favor neither America nor Mexico, but seek a solution under the grand Pan-American banner. Powers whose citizens have Mexican investments must regard the Mexican drama only with the eyes of creditors.

Roosevelt's Monroeism, says La Prensa, has been modified in the process of the evolution of the doctrine into pan-Americanism. Mediation undertaken in accordance with pan-American principles is not Monroeism. If Huerta has asked for the appointment of mediation from European Powers in addition to the Latin-Americans, it is evidence, in the opinion of the editor, that he lacks confidence in the latter.

La Prensa thinks it best for the three South American powers to work by themselves for the settlement of the dispute.

BUENOS AIRES, April 30.—The newspapers of Buenos Aires continue to comment favorably on what may be described as the evident desire of Washington to show a spirit of fairness in its relations with the republics of South and Central America.

Referring to the convening of the Colombian Congress to consider the new treaty with the United States for a settlement of the Panama dispute, La Nacion says that this course of action will result in re-establishing on a lasting basis the friendly relations of the two countries. All South America will rejoice at the conclusion of an amicable and equitable solution of the Panama difficulty. The proceedings at Bogota, La Nacion continues, together with President Wilson's acceptance of mediation in the Mexican difficulty by Argentina, Brazil, and Chile, are convincing proofs of the spirit of conciliation and fairness which the Washington Government evidently is desirous of showing in its relations with neighboring republics.

La Prensa says that the mediation of Argentina in the Mexican difficulty makes it incumbent upon the Argentine people to observe complete neutrality and to co-operate, by an attitude of perfect impartiality, in this noble work of peace.

Commenting on the mediation now proceeding between the United States and Mexico, La Razon to-day says:

"The acceptance by the United States of the mediation offered by Argentina, Brazil, and Chile signifies a great step taken by President Wilson and the Democratic Party toward Pan-Americanism."

The newspaper adds:

"We believe the partisans of Theodore Roosevelt desired war, and President Wilson saw the importance of the historic moment and thus ratified Pan-Americanism."

PARIS, Friday, May 1.—The Franco-Paraguayan Club of Paris took the initiative to-day in calling a meeting of all the South American colonies here to decided on the best method of recording their protest against the American occupation of a section of Mexican territory in violation of the sovereignty and independence of the country.

DIAZ LEAVES MONTE CARLO.

His Friends Say He Will Not Return to Mexico—Won't Talk.

MONTE CARLO, April 30.—Gen. Porfirio Diaz and Señora Diaz left Monte Carlo this afternoon for Paris. Friends of the ex-President say they do not believe he will return to Mexico.

Gen. Diaz declined to make any statement regarding the Mexican situation.

The General has sent an answer to Gen. Rafael Reyes concerning the latter's recent effort to compose the Mexican difficulty. Gen. Diaz says:

"I have received a copy of your dispatch to President Wilson, Provisional President Huerta, Venustiano Carranza, and Francisco Villa. I am profoundly touched by the generous impulse of your noble heart in favor of the cause of Mexico, and I am grateful for your flattering, although unmerited, appreciation of me personally. I hope to see you in a few days."

Gen. Reyes, a former President of Colombia, has been devoting his energies of recent years to strengthening the union of Latin-American countries. Four days ago he addressed a dispatch to President Wilson and the Mexican leaders—the one referred to by Gen. Diaz—suggesting that recourse be had to Porfirio Diaz for a solution of the present crisis.

Paris, Friday, May 1.—Gen. Rafael Reyes, former President of Colombia, in an article to-day on the union of the Latin peoples, says they are still young, but have rid themselves of mediaeval ideas. He says the Mexican crisis, which is now nearing its end, is helping their progress. It gave rise, he says, to the splendid initiative of the intermediation of Argentina, Brazil, and Chile.

The United States, according to Gen. Reyes, renders homage to the growing power of the Latin-American nations, and does not look down like a haughty, contemptuous conquerer on the union which is in process of formation.

The recent treaty between Colombia and the United States, he asserts, proves that the "North Americans," and notably their very noble-minded President Wilson, know how to appreciate neighbors who have sprung from a different civilization with a past no less noble than their own.

The readiness with which many North Americans welcomed his suggestion of Gen. Porfirio Diaz as arbitrator, he concludes, emphasizes their desire to have close harmony with the South Americans.

MEXICO HOPEFUL OF PEACE.

Thinks Mediation May End Civil Strife, London Hears.

LONDON, Friday, May 1.—Special dispatches from Mexico City to the London newspapers to-day say that although little is known there of the course of the mediation negotiations now proceeding between the United States and Mexico, many cablegrams have been received by the Mexican Foreign Minister from the Spanish Ambassador at Washington. The contents, however, have not been made public.

It is said that President Huerta is about to issue a manifesto to the Mexican nation, explaining the situation.

According to advices received by the Mexican newspapers from Saltillo, Gen. Joaquin Maass, the Federal commander, is advancing to the frontier of the United States with the intention of occupying some point in American territory.

The English correspondents say the hope is growing stronger in Mexico City that mediation will effect a settlement of the internal troubles of Mexico as well as of the difficulty with the United States, but Gen. Huerta's supporters assert that if his elimination is insisted upon mediation is bound to fail.

FOR MEXICO CITY GUARD.

Huerta Approves a Plan for Civilian Defense Organization.

MEXICO CITY, April 30.—A plan for organizing a civil guard for the defense of the Federal capital was submitted to the Minister of the Interior to-day by the City Council and approved by him as well as by President Huerta.

Sir Lionel Carden, the British Minister, said to-night that he had received a report stating that the refugee train carrying more than 500 Americans to Puerto Mexico had arrived at Santa Lucretia this morning at 4:30 o'clock without incident, and was due to reach its destination at 10 o'clock.

A committee of members of the American colony called on the Brazilian Minister to-day to perfect plans for co-operating with him. The arms remaining at the American Embassy after the recent seizure by the Mexican Government have not been removed, as the Brazilian Minister protested against such action. The American committee requested the Brazilian Minister to thank the Mexican Foreign Minister for the protection afforded to American citizens remaining here.

A crowd of 8,000 pilgrims this morning knelt before the shrine of the patron saint of Mexico, the Virgin of Guadeloupe, and prayed for peace. Many of the pilgrims walked barefooted to the top of the hill where the shrine is situated, while others accomplished the journey on their knees. This was the first ceremony of the kind celebrated here since the rupture of Mexican and American relations.

The Government this morning issued a list of rebel leaders in the north who, it was alleged, had announced their adhesion to the Government in the event of the invasion of Mexico. It was said they would bring with them 10,000 men.

Dispatches from Jalapa assert that Mexican soldiers have fired on American Army aviators reconnoitering in the vicinity of Tejera. The dispatch adds that numerous American aerial scouting expeditions have been observed at several inland points.

Another dispatch from Carrizal, Vera Cruz, gives the alleged details of a skirmish near Santa Fé, in which it is declared that a party of American scouts encountered an outpost of Mexicans and after half an hour's firing retreated, carrying two wounded with them.

SAN JUAN ULLOA AN ARSENAL.

All Prisoners to be Removed and the Place Renovated.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Navy Department announced to-night that Mexico's famous old fortress and dungeon, San Juan Ulloa, would be utilized as a naval arsenal and used with the dry dock moored alongside its wharves. Admiral Fletcher said in his dispatch that when the prisoners were removed the place would be thoroughly renovated. A guard of sixty marines was put in charge, and orders given that all prisoners be taken out of the dungeon.

The 325 prisoners against whom there was no charge were released as fast as disposition of them could be made without turning them loose in the city. Two hundred had been taken care of when Admiral Fletcher turned over his command to the army. All of the 116 prisoners, against whom there were charges, were taken to Vera Cruz.

CAMP FOR COAST ARTILLERY.

Army Prepares to Mobilize 3,000 to 5,000 Men at Boston.

BOSTON, April 30.—Work on the temporary camp that is being prepared for the possible mobilization of the coast artillery, was hurried by army officers to-day. The grounds have been surveyed and are being piped for the water supply. Plans have been made for the accommodation of between 3,000 and 5,000 artillerymen.

The camp is near the site of the historic Maypole, which brought about the expulsion of William Morton and Anne Hutchinson from the Massachusetts colony near three centuries ago.

Women Indorse Wilson Policy.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 30.—President Wilson's Mexican policy was indorsed here yesterday in resolutions adopted by the Executive Board of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs and approved by F. Dorothy Blount Lamar, President General of the Georgia Division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, representing that organization. The two organizations represent 30,000 women in Georgia.

"BIG TIM'S" LOANS $137,485.

C. J. Sullivan Advertising Company Files Its Schedules.

The estate of the late T. D. Sullivan was named yesterday as a creditor for $137,485, on account of money loaned, in the schedules filed in the Federal District Court on the assignment of the C. J. Sullivan Advertising Company of 158 West Sixty-fifth Street. Cornelius J. Sullivan, the head of the firm, was a cousin of the Bowery Congressman, and the firm recently made an assignment to Emanuel Blumensteil.

According to the schedules the liabilities of the concern were $180,425 and the nominal assets were $127,134. The actual assets, however, were only $18,495, consisting of office furniture, accounts, horses, wagons and advertising fences. These fences cost $40,000 to erect, and are now valued at only $7,500.

Oliver B. Goldsmith, attorney for Lawrence Mulligan and Patrick Sullivan, executors of the will of "Big Tim" Sullivan, obtained an order in the Surrogates' Court yesterday which directs the attorneys of William Fox, the theatrical man, to show cause why the appraisers of the Sullivan estate should not be granted more time in which to file an inventory. The executors were adjudged in contempt of court last Friday because of failure to file the inventory, which had been demanded by Fox, who is one of "Big Tim's" creditors for a large amount.

WOODS REVIVES OLD PLAN.

Two Police Officers in Charge at Headquarters at Night.

Police Commissioner Woods yesterday re-established the system of having a police officer in charge at Headquarters at night. Capt. John Wiegand, of the Amity Street station, who formerly was at Headquarters at night under Commissioner Bingham, and Capt. Stephen McDermott, of the Tremont station, will be at Headquarters. They will serve six-hour shifts.

The Commissioner designated three lieutenants to be acting captains. John J. Collins takes charge of the Amity Street station and James Brady of the Elizabeth Street station goes to the command at Tremont. The third acting Captain is William A. Bailey, of the Madison Street station. The Commissioner announced he soon would appoint two Inspectors.

HONORS FOR WORK HORSES.

Their Parade This Year Designed to be the Largest Ever Held.

Preparations are under way to make the eighth annual work horse parade on Decoration Day the largest ever held. The silver medals, which are presented by Mrs. James Speyer to the winners of first prizes, will be a feature of the affair. Mrs. Speyer, who is President of the New York Women's League for Animals, is personally superintending the entries as far as possible.

Last year more than 3,000 teams and horses, including those of city departments, with the entries of private owners, were in line. The entries are to be closed on May 10 to give time for the final arrangements.

The officers and members of the New York Women's League for Animals include, besides Mrs. Speyer, Mrs. John Dyneley Prince, Mrs. F. W. Vanderbilt, Mrs. C. C. Cuyler, Miss Ella M. Clark, Mrs. Russell Sage, Mrs. F. W. Whitridge, Mrs. Edith Wharton, Mrs. John Astor, Mrs. Cadwallader Jones, Mrs. M. Orme Wilson, Ogden Mills, Robert Goelet, Adolph Lewisohn, Douglas Robinson, Stuyvesant Fish, M. Taylor Pyne, Henri P. Wertheim, and others.

WANTS MORE PLAYGROUNDS

Mgr. Lavelle Pleads for Children Before Chelsea Association.

Mgr. M. J. Lavelle, of St. Patrick's Cathedral, argued in favor of a large number of children's playgrounds in New York in an address to members of the Chelsea Neighborhood Association, at the Grand Opera House last night. He said he hoped that New York soon would be teaching girls domestic science in public schools so that they would be prepared to meet the duties of the housewife in later years and husbands or brothers could "sit down to a meal without feeling that they were about to try to eat leather."

George A. Hall, Secretary of the New York Child Labor Committee, the second speaker, asked if child labor paid the State from a viewpoint of economics. He said that one out of every four wage-earners was a child under 16, and that the number of girls under that age who were going to work was increasing more rapidly than the number of boys. The average wage of children under 16, he said, was $3.46 a week. Investigation of pleas that the children had to work to help support their families, he said, proved that not more than 25 per cent. of them were true.

MRS. ETTLINGER IN WANT.

Daughter of Atlantic Garden Owner Petitions Surrogate.

Mrs. Ida K. C. Ettlinger, whose father, the late William Kramer, owned the Atlantic Garden and the Thalia Theatre, filed a petition in the Surrogate's Court yesterday, asking that the executors of her father's estate be compelled to pay $4,500 to her out of a sum the executors received from the sale of certain property.

Mrs. Ettlinger says that, although her father left an estate of more than $500,000, she ahs only received $1,500 annually from the estate, although under the will she was to receive one-sixth of all. She says she has been in want and that her children are in need of suitable clothing in which to attend school.

"Arson Trust" Prisoner in Confession Implicates Chicago Adjuster.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 30.—What is described as a "complete confession" of his dealings with the "arson trust," made by David Korshak, now a prisoner in this city, is in the possession of State's Attorney Hoyne. Korshak is regarded as the most important witness against the incendiaries, whose operations in Chicago, New York, and other large cities caused consternation.

Korshak was arrested in London after a search of two and a half years. The confession, it is said, implicates Joseph Fish, the head of Joseph Fish & Co., well known fire insurance adjusters. Others are named whose identity the Public Prosecutor has decided to keep secret for the time being. Mr. Fish, who is a wealthy and well-known business man, at the present time is under indictment for arson.

Korshak, it is alleged, confessed to having set more than thirty fires in Chicago, in which he implicates Fish. Korshak was arrested by a private detective of the name of Flannigan. On arriving in New York the prisoner was taken to a hotel where it is asserted he made the confession.

In an adjoining room at the time when Korshak made the confession was Mrs Korshak, who, it is said, previously had confessed to acting as intermediary between her husband and Fish. It was on her testimony that Fish was indicted and her testimony also was used to get the confession from her husband. Fish made a sweeping denial to-day of all the charges made against him.

Dr. Paul Ehrhart Dead.

Dr. Paul Ehrhart, 59 years old, for many years a well-known physician of the Chelsea district, died yesterday at his home, 351 West Twenty-ninth Street. Dr. Ehrhart was born in Pennsylvania, and was graduated from New York University in 1878. He then removed to Lauden, Iowa, and commenced practice, but in 1883 returned to this city. He was noted for expert diagnosis. He wrote for many magazines, and his articles were regarded as authoritative on the subjects they treated. Dr. Ehrhart was a member of the Medical Society of the County of New York, the Physicians' Mutual Aid Association and was visiting physician to several hospitals. He is survived by his widow, two sons, and a daughter.

CITY BREVITIES.

The annual meeting of the Civil Service Reform Association will be held at the City Club on Wednesday evening, May 13. Addresses will be delivered by Henry Moskowitz, President of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, and Police Commissioner Woods.

The biennial meeting of the Hebrew Sheltering Guardian Society will be held at the asylum, Pleasantville, N. Y., on Sunday, May 10. Addresses will be given by John H. Finley, State Commissioner of Education, Marcus M. Marks, President of the Borough of Manhattan, and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise.

The sixth anniversary entertainment and drill of Company G, Seventy-first Infantry, New York, will take place at the armory to-morrow evening. A picked squad from St. John's School of Manlius, N. Y., will compete in the interscholastic drill tournament. They will be quartered in the armory until Sunday evening, when they will leave for Manlius by night boat. Two years ago St. John's won first prize at the drill. In addition to St. John's, the Randall Island Cadets will give a bayonet drill, and girls from the John Wanamaker institutions will give a musical club drill.

Only April Gain in Sunday Advertising

In April, 1914, THE NEW YORK TIMES was the ONLY New York newspaper to record an advertising gain in the Sunday edition.

During the four months of 1914 the Sunday edition of THE NEW YORK TIMES gained 53,780 lines over the corresponding period a year ago—the only New York Sunday newspaper to show a gain.

The advertising rate of THE NEW YORK TIMES—45c per agate line—with circulation, daily and Sunday, far exceeding 200,000, makes the cost less than 1c a line for each 5,000 circulation—the cheapest, as it is the best, newspaper advertising in the world.

REVOLVER IN GIFFORD CASE.

One Found in Northampton, Mass., Pawned in Student's Name.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., April 30.—A revolver which the police of Albany, N. Y., believe may be a clue to the mystery of the murder of Frank J. Clute, a chauffeur, near Albany a year ago, has been discovered here, it was learned to-day, in a pawnshop by a local policeman.

Malcolm Gifford, a student at the Williston Seminary, was arrested recently in connection with the case. According to the police, the revolver was placed in the pawnshop in Gifford's name.

ALBANY, April 30.—District Attorney Harold D. Alexander, who will prosecute Gifford when he comes to trial, declined to-night to discuss the finding of a revolver by the Northampton police.

"I don't care to talk about that," was all he would say. It has been said that the revolver with which the crime is alleged to have been committed is in the hands of the District Attorney.

LAWRENCE, Mass., April 30.—The striking dye workers at the Pacific Mills, who are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, refused to-day to join forces with the strikers belonging to the Industrial Workers of the World. The Industrial Workers had proposed a union in the belief that the strikers would have a better chance of getting their demands for increased wages.

Detachments of United States Soldiers Sent to Points Where Trouble Was Threatened.

Special to The New York Times.

TRINIDAD, Col., April 30.—Apparent peace prevails throughout the southern coal fields to-night. Federal troops are in charge of the "terror zone," and since their arrival at 8 o'clock this morning not a shot has been fired.

The battles of Forbes and Walsenburg yesterday, which resulted in the killing of fifteen men—ten at Forbes and five at Walsenburg—ended, at least, temporarily, ten days of tragedies unparalleled in the West since the Redskins and the whites battled for supremacy in the very mountains where capital and labor now are struggling for mastership.

The strikers to-day welcomed the Government's fighters with open arms. They believe it means recognition of their union, yet they are not willing to take too long a chance. This is evident from their attitude in regard to the surrender of their arms.

William Diamond, organizer for the United Mine Workers, in charge of the Trinidad office, stated what seemed to be the general position of the strikers.

"The strikers will comply with every command of the Federal authorities," he said, "provided we are assured that the mines are to be closed, and that the Federal troops are to remain in the field until this difficulty is settled.

"If the Government troops will disarm the mine guards and the State troops and give us assurance that there is to be no recurrence of the events which have marked the militia's occupancy of the strike zone, the miners will surrender their arms, I am sure.

"If, on the other hand, the troops are to remain here only a little while, until the present State Government can reassert its authority and re-establish the order of things that have marked the past, I am sure the men will conceal their weapons and preserve them as the only friends they have.

Guns Men's Own Property.

"In any event the surrender will be made by the men as individuals. The guns belong to them and are their property. They are not the property of the United Mine Workers of America and the United Mine Workers, as an organization, has nothing to do with them."

John Lawson, International Board Member of the United Mine Workers of America, said:

"Men in all walks of life fought with the miners in this conflict, but they will not oppose the Federal troops. They would not have opposed the militia had it not been for the gunmen affiliated with them. Now they are returning to their homes, those who have any left. The tent colonies at Ludlow and Forbes will be rebuilt. The guns are the property of our men, and so far as I know they will keep them."

The train on which the Federal troops arrived this morning, consisting of sixteen cars, including coaches, stock cars, and equipment cars, entered the city in a drenching rain.

The soldiers were greeted at the station by Acting Major M. J. Kahn, Directors of the Chamber of Commerce, and a committee of business men. The troops remained in the coaches while Major Holbrook talked with the committee relative to a location to establish permanent camp in the strike district. Afterward he issued the following statement:

> The President has sent us here to carry out the provisions of his proclamation. It is not the purpose of the United States to inject itself into the controversy now existing between the miners and their former employers in this State. The President and those acting under him desire that the return of normal conditions be brought about without further bloodshed, and in order that this may be accomplished we ask all lawabiding citizens to carefully read the proclamation and comply with it.

Conference with Leaders.

Later a conference between the strikers' chiefs and Major Holbrook was held at the latter's suggestion. "General" John R. Brown, commandant of the strikers' camp at San Rafael Heights, with Diamond, Frank T. Miner, President of the Trinidad Trades Assembly, and Armando Pelizzari, chief of the Italians at the new tent colony, visited the troop train. Major Holbrook received them at once and the conference lasted about an hour. At its close Major Holbrook gave out the following statement:

> Major Holbrook met Diamond, Brown, and Pelizzari and Miner in confidence on the subject of existing conditions in Las Animas County. It is believed that as a result satisfactory relations have been established and that acts of violence will at once cease in said county. The conferees of the strikers expressed themselves as very willing to give all the assistance in their power toward bringing about normal conditions.

When questioned, the Major admitted that negotiations had been opened in connection with the disarmament of the strikers. He declined, however, to reveal the exact nature of the negotiations or the success with which they had been attended.

Asked if the mine guards would be disarmed, he replied:

"The guards, of course, cannot be disarmed just at present, with the property of the companies under their protection. The strikers, however, will be assured that the use of arms by the guards will be restricted. The guards must confine their activities strictly to protecting the property of their employers. They will not be permitted to molest the miners or their tent colonies."

The Major said he would visit the site of the burned Ludlow tent colony in company with leaders of the miners to determine whether or not the strikers should be allowed to rebuild it. The strikers encamped near San Rafael Hospital, on the edge of Trinidad, will not be disturbed.

Troops at Critical Points.

The main camp of the regulars and the headquarters of their commander are on the fair grounds, north of the city. Troop G, sixty-five men, under Capt. C. C. Smith, was sent to Walsenburg late to-night. Thirty men under Lieut. Wheeler went to Segundo to protect a district in which numerous reports of activity on the part of the strikers were received throughout last night.

Major Holbrook said he expected to send one troop to Ludlow to replace the State militiamen now on guard in that region.

The inquest into the twenty-five deaths at Ludlow, which was to be resumed to-day, was postponed until to-morrow. The jury, however, inspected the Ludlow battlefield again and examined the safety pit in which two women and fourteen children died.

DENVER, Col., April 30.—At the Governor's office to-night it was said that an appeal for help had been received from Sheriff McAfee of Weld, Col., who feared an attack by strikers on the mines in the vicinity of Frederick. A detail of 120 militiamen is still at Louisville.

Three miners from Routt County reported to Gov. Ammons to-day that every man employed at the Oakdale Mine, near Steamboat Springs, had received a threatening letter. No troops are stationed there.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The War Department announced to-night that Major Holbrook, in command of the United States Army troops at Trinidad, Col., had reported that he had sent Capt. Smith with troops to Walsenburg, where the situation appeared to be bad. The State authorities had reported to Major Holbrook that conditions at Ludlow were critical. Major Holbrook, the department announced, would take charge of the situation there.

MARTINE CRITICISES WILSON.

Calls His Action in Colorado "Tardy Almost to Sluggishness."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—A lively discussion of the Colorado strike situation in the Senate to-day served to bring out again the wide divergence between President Wilson and Senator Martine of the President's own State of New Jersey. Mr. Martine already had declared openly against the President's bill repealing the tolls-exemption clause of the Panama Canal act, and to-day he said the President's action in sending troops to Colorado was "tardy almost to sluggishness."

The reading of a telegram about the strike situation precipitated the debate, and Mr. Martine urged that conditions in Colorado were a strong argument in support of his bill to punish the employment of mine guards by a fine of $5,000 and imprisonment for one year.

"I am opposed to employing armed thugs as mine guards," said Mr. Martine. "Ever since I had the honor to be on a committee to make an investigation in the coal fields of West Virginia I have considered such practice a disgrace to this country. I have introduced a bill providing a fine of $5,000 and imprisonment for one year for anybody who employs such thugs as mine guards. But that bill sleeps the sleep of the righteous and just in the Committee on Labor and Education.

"If it had been passed I believe that the shameful tragedies now being enacted in Colorado would have been avoided. To-day in Colorado the people are deprived of their constitutional rights. The Senate ought to do something to stop forever this evil of employing armed thugs to shoot down men and women like dogs in a kennel. This is a monstrous proposition—the shooting down of men and women like cats and dogs."

Federal troops, interrupted Mr. Warren of New York, are now in the coal strike field in Colorado for the purpose of restoring peace.

"Yes," said Mr. Martine, "but action has been tardy almost to sluggishness."

"Mr. President," replied Mr. Chilton of West Virginia, "there was a coal strike in West Virginia last year, and it was like any other clash between mine operators and miners. I think that the Senator from New Jersey is extreme in his statements. I do not think the situation in West Virginia was half as bad as the strike troubles in Paterson, N. J., the Senator's own State. There was nothing different in the West Virginia strike from what occurred in the great city of Paterson.

"I deny that the State of West Virginia was in any state of lawlessness, for a great majority of the people had no sympathy with the decisions of the courts in the cases growing out of the Paint and Cabin Creek situation."

The discussion ended when Mr. Sutherland of Utah called for the regular order.

MEDIATORS IN WASHINGTON.

May Start for Colorado To-day in Effort to End Trouble There.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Secretary Wilson of the Department of Labor is to have his informal conference to-morrow with the Kentucky coal operator and Alabama mine workers' official, whom he asked to come to Washington in a tentative effort to bring about mediation of the Colorado miners' war.

The conference, which will be wholly unofficial, since there is no Federal law under which mediation can be undertaken, will be with Hywel Davies, President of the Kentucky coal operators, and William Fairley of Alabama, of the Mine Workers' Union. Mr. Davies arrived here this afternoon and Mr. Fairley to-night.

It is understood to be the purpose of Secretary Wilson to ask Messrs. Davies and Fairley to go to Colorado in the capacity of mediators. Mr. Davies will be requested to confer with the Colorado operators, and Mr. Fairley with the Colorado miners. They will ask each side to set down their demands, and will then endeavor to seek some common ground upon which the contending forces can be brought together. Secretary Wilson hopes that the mediators may be able to start for Colorado to-morrow afternoon.

REGULARS ARREST MILITIA.

Six Men Accused of Looting Turned Over to National Guard Officers.

WALSENBURG, Col., April 30.—United States regulars under Capt. G. Smith, commanding Troop G, Fifth United States Cavalry, arrested six militiamen to-night. A complaint had been made that a saloon near the Walsen mine had been looted. The prisoners who are privates, were turned over to the militia officers. Fifty bottles of liquor and twenty-five boxes of cigars were recovered.

The saloon said to have been robbed was used as a fortress by strikers during the recent fighting. Strikers in the saloon, it is alleged, fired on the militiamen.

ITALY TAKES ACTION.

Instructs Ambassador to Protect Italian Subjects in Colorado.

ROME, April 30.—Marquis Cusani-Gonfalioneri, Italian Ambassador to the United States, received instructions from the Italian Government to-day to take measures for the protection of Italian subjects and their interests in connection with the Colorado mine troubles.

Many exaggerated reports on the subject have been received here by way of London, one of them stating that 200 Italian children in the mining district have died of starvation. An official dispatch was issued to-day stating that the total number of deaths during the trouble has been only eight.

NIGHT PICKETING AT ROCKEFELLER'S

Young John D. III at Tarrytown and I. W. W. Scouts Arrested at His City Home.

ISSUES A REPLY TO GREEN

Downtown Patrol Kept Up While Upton Sinclair Hunger Strikes in the Tombs.

The I. W. W. took a hand last night in the Free Silence movement that was designed for the purpose of giving John D. Rockefeller, Jr., "a Social Chill." Arthur Caron, a veteran of the Tannenbaum church raids and of the riots in Union Square, in which he was badly beaten in company with "Wild Joe" O'Carroll, led a force of seven I. W. W. agitators against the homes of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and John D. Rockefeller at 4 and 10 West Fifty-fourth Street.

Two of the I. W. W. men were arrested at the door of the younger Mr. Rockefeller after parading for hours and attracting much notice from members of the University Club, near which they established one point for turning about as they paraded to and fro in front of the Rockefeller homes. These two men were Ralph Simon and Morris Rudomie, both of whom named as their home the Ferrer School in East 107th Street. They were arrested by Detective Ward of the East Fifty-first Street station on a telephoned complaint from the younger Mr Rockefeller's home.

When Detective Ward arrived, in response to the telephone message, he rang the door bell at the Rockefeller home to ask if any one there would appear as a witness against the I. W. W. men, since they were not attracting a crowd, using abusive language, spitting on the sidewalk, or doing anything that the detective felt was contrary to the law.

The servant who answered the door bell told him that no members of the Rockefeller family were at home. The servant said he would not appear as a complaining witness, and had merely wished to notify the police that the I. W. W. men were there. Mr. Rockefeller, the servant said, was and had been in Tarrytown for several days, and was ill with a cold.

Detective Ward sent for reinforcements and soon the street contained more policemen in plain clothes than there were men in Caron's crowd. Detectives Barney Deitch and Ward remained on duty at the front door of the Rockefeller home after notifying the servant to fasten it well on the inside.

Women living in West Fifty-fourth Street leaned from automobile and taxicab windows to laugh as they caught sight of the I. W. W. men, each one of whom, in addition to a black band of mourning furnished at the Free Silence headquarters, near 26 Broadway, also wore a printed sign reading: "Thou Shalt Not Kill."

Detectives Ward and Deitch several times were upon the point of taking in Caron and his entire band, but they decided finally to ask for instructions direct from Police Headquarters. It was clear from their actions afterward that their instructions were to let the I. W. W. men alone so long as they were merely walking up and down the street. The two detectives resumed their station in the Rockefeller doorway and remained there for an hour more before taking action. Finally a man dressed in evening clothes asked the detectives if they would mind stepping out of sight around the corner, while he "took on the Caron pack of neighborhood disturbers."

Detective Ward said he suspected he would do all the "taking on" he could allow around that vicinity. Then he asked Caron what he wanted in that neighborhood and ordered him to move on. Caron replied that he was there to walk up and down and wouldn't move on at all.

Rudomie and Simon, in front of the University Club, paused in their marching to roll cigarettes. Detective Ward nabbed them at once and registered a charge of loitering against them at the East Fifty-first Street Station. In the Night Court Detective Ward was unable to convince Magistrate Nolan that he had personally warned the two men to move on, and both were discharged from custody.

Upton Sinclair, who yearned to go to prison with Mrs. Sinclair and share the comforts of a hunger strike with her as a protest against conditions in Colorado, had his wish partly gratified yesterday when he was sentenced to three days in jail by Magistrate Simms in the Tombs Court.

The sentence was imposed in place of a $3 fine for disorderly conduct which Sinclair refused to pay. While he did not have the consolation of Mrs. Sinclair's company, she immediately issued a statement in which she told how badly she felt that she had to remain out of prison and away from him while continuing his Free Silence picket guard in front of the offices of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at 26 Broadway.

Sinclair went to the Tombs prison asserting that he would stay on hunger strike every minute he was in jail, but as he has a record for fasting twelve days for no other purpose than to improve his health his friends had no fear that the three days' fast would prove harmful to him or that he would break his word. It was said that he already had made a good start on the fast, as he had not touched food since deciding on Monday night that he would either have to horsewhip John D. Rockefeller, Jr., or inaugurate some public demonstration against him to ease his "aroused sense of moral responsibility."

There were two companions to share Sinclair's joy as a hunger striker in jail. They were Elizabeth Freeman, the English militant suffragette, and Mrs. Donia Leitner, an artist, of 210 East Fifty-third Street, who with Mrs. Belle Zilberman and Mrs. Margaret Carter were arrested with him for disorderly conduct in causing a crowd to collect in front of the Standard Oil Building on Wednesday. Sinclair blamed Mrs. Zilberman for causing his arrest since she joined his line of picketers without an invitation and carried a flag with a bleeding heart on it which attracted the crowd. Mrs. Zilberman paid her $3 fine and departed. Mrs. Carter wanted to join Sinclair on a hunger strike in the Tombs, but her husband would not hear of it and paid her fine in spite of her protests.

Sinclair made a speech in court before going to a cell in the Tombs. He said:

"My wife is the daughter of a distinguished Southern Judge and the cousin of a notable national legislator. We did this thing because we had faith in the institutions of our country. Why must all the work of reform be left to forces outside of our established institutions? Why is there no lawful way to protect, even as mildly as we tried to, in a peaceable manner according to the law?"

He urged Magistrate Simms to consider that he had in no way broken the law, so that the Magistrate could have no real right to imprison him. But Magistrate Simms was obdurate.

At the usual supper hour in the Tombs the regular prison fare of the evening meal was taken to Sinclair's cell. He told the keeper who brought it that he did not want it. The food was untouched and he maintained the fast all night. Elizabeth Freeman and Mrs. Leitner also refused to eat.

Miss Ganz Makes Threat to Kill.

The police and the courts had a busy day of it handling the Sinclair Free Silence forces in addition to the task of getting the leader and his two women associates safely started upon the hunger strike in the Tombs.

In the first place the reserves of the Old Slip Station had to handle an unruly crowd of from 500 to 1,000 idle and curious men and boys who marched down to 26 Broadway from the Franklin Statue with "Beautiful Marie" Ganz, Alexander Berkman, and Becky Edelson at their head, Miss Ganz shouting at the top of her lungs, "Kill Rockefeller! Shoot him down like a dirty dog!" as the paraders approached.

Miss Ganz later succeeded in making her way up to the fourteenth floor of the Standard Oil Building, at that number, and there crying out in the outer office of Mr. Rockefeller:

"Tell Rockefeller that I come on behalf of the working people, and that if he doesn't stop the murders in Colorado I'll wake this town up. I'll shoot him down like a dog."

The excitement of getting Miss Ganz and Alexander Berkman, who followed her to the Rockefeller offices, out of the Standard Oil Building had hardly subsided when Becky Edelson arose on a sand box near the Bowling Green Subway station, close to 26 Broadway, and commenced an oration which made her the centre of a crowd bent on mobbing her and gave the police plenty to do in the way of protecting her.

Charles Mastrode of 284 Smith Street, Brooklyn, was fined $1 by Magistrate Simms in the Tombs Court after policemen had testified that he stuck his tongue out at Becky Edelson during her Bowling Green speechmaking. He was one of a group of several hundred men and boys who threw paper bags, hooted, and otherwise tried to discourage Miss Edelson, Marie Ganz, and Alexander Berkman when they tried to denounce Rockefeller and the Standard Oil Company as the cause of both the trouble in Mexico and in Colorado.

Leonard D. Abbott took charge of the Free Silence Movement headquarters at 8 Trinity Place after finding that Sinclair had decided to spend three days in jail. Mr. Abbott had with him as recruits to the Free Silence crowd practically all the students of the Ferrer School, of which he is the head master. There were also volunteers from the ranks of the I. W. W. and the Anarchists, including Alexander Berkman, who said he wanted to join as a protest against sending Sinclair to jail.

Mr. Abbott said that the public would be startled if he could give out the names of well-known citizens who had telephoned to the headquarters during the day offering large money subscriptions and assuring him that the movement "to send the social chill" to Mr. Rockefeller had their full moral support.

"The movement," he said, "is for exactly the same moral purpose that members of a Western mining community feel when they ride a man out of town on a rail. It is to let Mr. Rockefeller know that his conduct is not approved by the moral sense of the community."

Mr. Abbott's office was up four flights of rickety stairs, in what had been at some time a bedroom. On the wall he scrawled this bit of advice to all recruits:

"If you want to brawl or fight, go to Colorado, but don't hurt our movement by trying it here. We want only men who will pledge themselves to speak to no one and go quietly with the police if arrested."

Mr. Abbott visited Police Headquarters for a conference with Police Commissioner Woods. The visit, he said, was made upon the invitation of the Police Commissioner. When he returned to his headquarters he made this announcement:

"I am authorized by the Police Commissioner to inform you that the city administration considers this a period of intense public feeling, due to the killing of men, women, and children in Colorado. It is the intention of the administration in this crisis to permit the fullest possible play of public emotion through free speech, free assemblage, and free passage through the streets of all persons not engaging in organized parades. So long as we only wear crape on our arms and do not display banners, we may walk up and down in front of 26 Broadway as long as we want to."

The Sinclair Free Silence mourners marched up and down in front of the Standard Oil Building until 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon without molestation, in spite of the near-riot that occurred upon the stormy arrival of Marie Ganz, Berkman, and their followers from the Franklin Statue.

Mrs. Upton Sinclair did a few turns in the line of those on picket duty, and for a time presided in the Trinity Place headquarters.

Deputy Commissioner of Corrections Burdette G. Lewis intimated last night that the surgeons on duty at the Tombs might be called upon to foribly feed the hunger strikers.

"The department must keep safely property committed to its care," he said, "and physicians are employed especially to look after the physical welfare of all inmates of institutions. Commissioner Davis and myself are working night and day to bring up to date a department heretofore conducted along lines twenty years behind the times. We sincerely trust Mr. Sinclair and his associates will not force us to abandon this work to take their cases in hand. If they force us to act, we shall certainly do our full duty. If they really choose to harm themselves we shall prevent them from doing so."

ROCKEFELLER, JR., ANSWERS CRITICS

In Additional Statement Quotes Letters to Refute Green's Assertions.

NO "ROCKEFELLER WAR"

Calls Reference to Colorado Trouble as Such Infamous—Is Ill at Country Home.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., did not go to his office yesterday. He was at his country home at Pocantico Hills, near Tarrytown, ill in bed with a severe cold. It was represented to him by telephone, however, that the position of the Rockefeller interests in the Colorado strike situation would be made clearer by a more explicit statement of the causes that brought on the conflict. Mr. Rockefeller dictated the greater portion of his statement over the telephone, and approved the entire matter when read back to him.

"The deplorable loss of life in Colorado," the statement reads, "especially that among the women and children, which has so much aroused public feeling, did not occur in conflicts between the owners of the mining properties and the strikers, but in conflicts between the strikers and the troops of the State of Colorado. Concerning the events in the Trinidad district, the Lieutenant Governor of Colorado said:

"'My investigation of the riots near Trinidad have disclosed the most terrible conditions—conditions which have never been equaled in this or any other State, not even West Virginia. Even granting all of the strikers' claims concerning the actions of the militia, it is not justifiable that the strikers themselves should murder women and children, as they have done to-day and are doing, nor for them to burn and destroy hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of property.

"'They have no justification for murdering men whose only offense is that they are seeking to earn a living without a permit from the United Mine Workers of America.

"'The trouble was started by the strikers killing a non-union man, whose only offense was in walking to his work without their permission. They waylaid him and shot him down, riddling his body with bullets. There was no excuse, no reason, no justification for the precipitation of a civil war.

"'And that is a situation which I will not tolerate so long as I am connected in any official manner with the State of Colorado. It is terrible to contemplate this merciless slaughter, and it must end.'

"To describe this condition as 'Rockefeller's war,' as has been done by certain of the sensational newspapers and speakers, is infamous. Our interest is solely in the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, which is simply one of a large number of coal operating companies in the State of Colorado. Mr. J. C. Osgood, President of the Victor-American Fuel Company, one of the other large coal companies in Colorado, made the following statement to-day:

"'The idea that Mr. Rockefeller is responsible for the strike is absurd, for the other coal companies would not have recognized the unions regardless of what action he took with the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company. The latter company does only about 30 per cent. of the coal business in Colorado.'

"This shows that our interest in the coal business of Colorado is only about 12 per cent. of the total.

"William E. Green, Secretary-Treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America, has issued a statement saying:

"'Nor is it true, as Mr. Rockefeller says, that the question in contention is the unionizing of the mines. This has not been and is not now the issue.'

"In this connection I desire to quote the following letter from the Governor of Colorado, dated Nov. 27, 1913, and the reply of the operators of the same date, showing that the recognition of the union was the only issue that presented any difficulty, and that the operators accepted in full the Governor's suggestion:

> "Denver, Col., Nov. 27.
>
> "Messrs. J. F. Welborn, John C. Osgood, D. W. Brown, operators, and Messrs. T. X. Evans, Archie Allison, David Hammon, miners, Denver, Col.
>
> "Gentlemen: Having listened to your conference throughout yesterday, and believing from representations made that there is no material difference between you sufficient to warrant a continuance of the present difficulties, I desire to make a suggestion for the termination of the present industrial dispute.
>
> "The one apparently insurmountable obstacle to a settlement was the recognition of the union, and almost every other material difference between you hinged about that question, or is covered by existing law.
> "There is no law compelling the operators to recognize the union nor to permit the employes to exact that recognition. The statute does provide, however, for the right to join a union if the miners so wish, without coercion or interference. This law has been read to all the conferees and its provisions agreed to by each conferee. It reads as follows, and I suggest to you that its provisions be made the basis of a conclusion on this point:
>
> "'It shall be unlawful for any individual, company, or corporation, or any member of any firm, or agent, officer, or employe of any company or corporation, to prevent employes from forming, joining, or belonging to any lawful organization, union, society, or political party, or to coerce or attempt to coerce employes by discharging or threatening to discharge them from their employ or the employ of any firm, company or corporation because of their connection with such lawful labor organization, union, society, or political party.'—Section 3,925, Revised Statutes of Colorado, 1908.
>
> "Bearing in mind the discussion on the other points involved, I suggest the following as a satisfactory solution:
> "The employment of a check weighman as provided by law, giving the miners themselves the right to choose their own check weighman.
>
> "The carrying out in good faith the statute making it unlawful to use or employ, directly or indirectly, the so-called 'truck' or 'scrip' system in the payment of men.
>
> "The enforcement of the law for an eight-hour day in all underground mines and coke ovens, as provided in Chapter 95 of the Session Laws of 1913.
>
> "That all employes shall have the right to buy where they will, without interference or coercion of any kind whatsoever.
>
> "That all employes shall have a semi-monthly pay day according to the custom now prevailing in coal mines over most of the State.
>
> "That all employes shall have the right to board where they please.
>
> "The enforcement of all the provisions of the coal mine inspection law of 1913, providing for the safety of the mine and the protection of the life and health of the employes.
>
> "That all employes now on strike shall be given employment except where their places have been filled or where they have been guilty of violence or other unlawful acts, and that where places have been filled, other work will be furnished as soon as practicable.
>
> "Respectfully submitted,
> "E. M. AMMONS, Governor."

"The operators' letter of acceptance is as follows:

> "Denver, Col., Nov. 27, 1913.
>
> "Hon. E. M. Ammons, Governor of Colorado.
>
> "Sir: We are just in receipt of your letter of this date, and hereby accept your suggestions for a termination of the strike of our former employes.
>
> "We invite them to return to work on the terms mentioned by you, and assure you and our former employes that we will conform in good faith to all the suggestions contained in your letter. Sincerely,
>
> "J. W. WELBORN,
> "D. W. BROWN,
> "J. C. OSGOOD."

Mr. Rockefeller desired to add nothing to the statement concluding with these letters.

GENERAL STRIKE URGED.

Western Miners Offer $200,000 Defense Fund for Colorado Men.

PEORIA, Ill., April 30.—The Illinois District Convention, United Mine Workers of America, adopted to-day a resolution asking the international organization to request the American Federation of Labor to call a general strike throughout the United States in protest against the Colorado labor troubles.

PITTSBURG, Kan., April 30.—The entire defense fund of $200,000 belonging to District 14, United Mine Workers of America, was placed in the hands of John P. White, International President of the Mine Workers, to-day, for use in helping the Colorado strikers.

two women and eleven children were discovered in a hole under a tent where the strikers had placed them when the attack upon the soldiers was begun. They had all been suffocated. None of these children and no woman was killed by rifle fire nor did the soldiers know of, or have reason to suspect, the presence of non-combatants where the strikers had concealed them.

On April 23 Lawson, international board member, United Mine Workers of America, and the leader of the strikers, in an interview published throughout the State, asserted that a war of extermination would thenceforth be conducted by the strikers, and Doyle, Secretary of the United Mine Workers of America, by wire, instructed the officials of local unions to watch for the approach of the militia, which had been ordered back again into the field. The meaning and purpose of such language was obvious.

Since that time the strikers, in armed bands varying in number from 50 to 400, have attacked the town of Delagua from the hills and killed three men. They have dynamited and burned the buildings and equipment of the Empire, Southwestern, and Green Canon mines at Aguilar. They have driven men, women, and children into the Empire mine and sealed the entrance with explosives. After the declaration of truce agreed to between the Governor and Hawkins, attorney for the mine workers, they drove the Postmaster and others away from the Sunnyside mine and took possession of it, as well as the Pictou mine.

They dynamited the tipple at the McClaughlin mine and fire many shots into the buildings at Maitland. They forcibly entered the store building at Rockvale and carried away guns and ammunition. They attacked the buildings and dwelling houses at the Chandler mine and kept up a merciless fire from the hills for nearly forty hours, killed one man, and finally took possession of the camp by slipping in a number of men under a white flag.

They have burned, dynamited, and completely destroyed the McNally mine in Huerfano County, kept up an almost continuous fire from entrenchments for fifty hours upon the Walsen mine, wounded one woman, killed and wounded four men and killed a surgeon wearing the Red Cross insignia while attending a wounded soldier on the field.

They viciously attacked the Hecla mine in Boulder County, killed one and wounded three men, and drove all employes and their families to cover for many hours. They attacked the Forbes mine in Las Animas County with a force of 400 armed men, killed seven miners, including four Japanese, and burned everything in sight, including a stable and thirty-three mules.

In the prosecution of the campaign of extermination, the foregoing are some of the things those men have done during the past few days, with the tacit consent, active co-operation, and under the personal direction and control of officers and paid agents of the United Mine Workers of America.

Will Stand by Their Men.

As stated before, the coal mine operators of this State now have in their employ about 10,000 men, who are satisfied with the conditions of their employment. We promised these men protection from personal violence when the strike was called, and they have stood loyally by their employers under most trying circumstances, disregarding the dangers and privations incident to the recent armed attacks of strikers upon them and their homes. With these men we will always treat concerning matters of their welfare.

But we cannot enter into negotiations of any character with the officers and agents of the United Mine Workers of America, who alone are responsible for the terrible reign of disorder and bloodshed which has disgraced this State. Instead of it being our duty to do so, we conceive it rather the duty of the officials of the United Mine Workers of America, who called the strike, now to call it off. They can do so if they see fit, and by so doing they will within an hour in a great measure restore industrial peace and prosperity to this State.

In no event will the American people, when fully advised, permit 1,200 or 1,500 armed strikers to continue their unlawful efforts to prevent 10,000 law-abiding and industrious men from working for whom, when, and upon such terms as they see fit.

POSTMASTER FILES ANSWER

Mr. Morgan Says He Was Threatened After Holding Up Mail.

Postmaster Edward M. Morgan, who is being sued for $100,000 for libel by the Metropolitan Magazine Company, filed his answer to the suit yesterday with the County Clerk. The suit is directed at Mr. Morgan as a private citizen, and not in his official capacity, but his answer was entered by United States District Attorney Marshall. The trouble began by the holding up of bags of mail containing the February issue of the magazine, on the ground that the publication contained obscene matter.

President Wilson was communicated with by the publishers and Mr. Morgan got into touch with the Postmaster General. The result of this activity was an order to release the mail. Then Mr. Morgan gave a newspaper interview in which he bore heavily upon the publishers for sending such matter broadcast throughout the country.

The picture complained of by Mr. Morgan was a photograph of the "Wood Nymph's Dance," a piece of sculpture by Paul Manship. It was part of the works of art displayed in an exhibition of the National Academy, and was afterward bought by John D. Rockefeller, Jr. In ordering Mr. Morgan to release the mail the Postmaster General wrote that the "illustrations referred to are not of a character which the law contemplates should be excluded from the mails under the circumstances of the case."

In his ianswer Mr. Morgan covers all the points in the case connected with his official action, but says nothing about anything he did as a private citizen. He includes in the answer copies of the correspondence between his office and the Washington office, and says that after he had notified the publishers of the magazine that their mail was detained the "plaintiff and his attorney" called upon him and 'made various requests, statements, and threats.'"

NAMES HISTORICAL LIARS.

Prof. Hart Addresses Sons of Revolution at Delmonico's.

The one hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of the inauguration of George Washington as first President was celebrated by the Sons of the Revolution at Delmonico's last night. On April 30, 1789, Washington was inaugurated at Wall and Broad Streets in the then Federal Hall, now the United States Sub-Treasury Building.

Albert Bushnell Hart, Professor of Government at Harvard University, read a paper on "Some American Historical Liars," in which he enumerated and exposed historical fakers of the early years of the Republic, including as chief liar Parson Mason Locke Weems, inventor of the cherry tree myth.

Clarence Winthrop Bower, President of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, reproduced on a screen a miniature picture, recently found in Montreal, of Col. David Salisbury Franks, one of the six Marshals or "assistants" at the inauguration of George Washington. Portraits of the five other Marshals were found twenty-five years ago. These were Col. Nicholas Fish, grandfather of Stuyvesant Fish; Col. Samuel B. Webb, grandfather of Dr. W. Seward Webb; Col. William S. Smith, son-in-law of John Adams; John R. Livingston, brother of Chancellor Livingston, and Major Leonard Bleecker, for eighteen years Treasurer of the Cincinnati Society.

Robert Olyphant, First Vice President of the Sons of the Revolution, presided at the meeting.

ALIEN INSANE A BURDEN.

State Medical Society Asks Congress for Stringent Laws.

Congress was appealed to yesterday by the Medical Society of the State of New York to provide more stringent measures for the enforcement of the immigration exclusion law against insane and mentally defective immigrants. The physicians who ended their annual meeting in the Hotel Astor said that the present system of admitting immigrants was a menace to the public health of the country and placed an unjust burden upon the State for the care of the mentally defective.

The physicians adopted unanimously a resolution urging congress to provide for the mental examination of all arriving immigrants by physicians in the United States Public Health Service; for adequate facilities for the detention and mental examination of immigrants by experts in the diagnosis of insanity and mental disease at all the large ports of entry, with a detail of American medical officers on all immigrant ships, and for an equitable share by the Federal Government of the cost of maintenance of insane immigrants who are now cared for by the State. Expeditious deportation methods are asked for to relieve the State institutions of the care of insane aliens.

Dr. Thomas W. Salmon of the National Committee on Mental Hygiene, speaking for the resolution, said there were confined in the State hospitals for the insane last year 9,244 aliens, whose care cost the State $2,500,000.

DOUBTS DIVORCE EVIDENCE.

George Schlegal, Wealthy Lithographer, May Seek Reconciliation.

George Schlegal, a wealthy lithographer of Seventy-second Street and Second Avenue, Brooklyn, who obtained a divorce in 1910 on evidence collected by Benjamin J. Colvin of Shelton, Conn., whom he had retained as a detective, announced yesterday through his counsel, John S. Carew, that he would seek a reconciliation with Mrs. Schlegal if it was shown that she had been wrongfully accused. Steps would also be taken against the men who had submitted false evidence, he said.

The statement was made in the trial of an action before Supreme Court Justice Crane, in which Colvin sought to recover $5,986 from Schlegal for his services in obtaining evidence for the divorce action. This evidence was submitted to Robert H. Roy, referee, and he recommended the decree.

The principal accusation against Mrs. Schlegal was that of misconduct with Adolphus Perris, a farm hand, in 1910, at her husband's estate at Westwood, N. J. Mrs. Schlegal indignantly denied the allegation.

It was reported that a letter which had been written by Colvin to Schlegal following the granting of the decree prompted the talk of reconciliation.

RAGSDALE ALLEGES AN OFFER OF $200

Swore to Frank Affidavit Involving Conley in W. J. Burns's Presence, He Says.

DETECTIVE MAKES DENIAL

Doesn't Know Pastor, He Asserts—How Affidavit Was Made—Frank Issues New Statement.

Special to The New York Times.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 30.—To-day's developments in regard to the Rev. C. B. Ragsdale, the Baptist preacher who made an affidavit for Leo Frank's attorneys that he heard the negro Conley confess to murdering Mary Phagan, have been of such a sensational character as to throw into the background the fact that to-morrow will probably witness the conclusion of the hearing on the extraordinary motion for a new trial, when the fate of the man convicted of slaying the girl will be left in the hands of Judge Ben. H. Hill.

The committee of six appointed by the Plum Street Baptist Church, of which Mr. Ragsdale is pastor, to investigate the alleged signing of a false affidavit by him, made their report to the church to-day in conference. In the report were charges of the offer of money, and the names of Detective W. J. Burns and several lawyers were mentioned.

The report declared that the committee had gone to the home of their pastor and he had admitted to them that he was guilty of swearing falsely in the matter, and thereupon tendered his resignation.

The committee also reported that Mr. Ragsdale stated to them that the affidavit was obtained from him in a moment of pressing temptation upon an offer of $200 in the presence of his lawyer, Col. Arthur Thurman, and Detective William J. Burns, Detective Tedder, and R. L. Barber, and that he did not realize what he was doing. But, continued the report, when he did realize what he was doing he went to Solicitor Hugh Dorsey and told him of the affair. He did not tell the committee who offered him the money. He said this conference took place in Col. Thurman's office. Several of the members testified that Mr. Ragedals had not possessed his full mental powers since he was attacked by apoplexy some time ago, and that his family had often spoken of spells that he suffered, during which he was not at himself. The pastor is about 60 years old and has a grown-up family.

The publication of the report brought denials from the men mentioned in it as present when he accepted $200 to make his affidavit.

Another development was the report that members of the Board of Police Commissioners were planning to introduce, at their next meeting, a resolution to revoke the license to do business in Atlanta held by the William J. Burns National Detective Agency on the ground that several conditions on which the license was granted had not been complied with.

Mr. Burns, now in Chattanooga, denounced as an "unmitigated lie" the statement of Mr. Ragsdale to members of his church that $200 was offered to him in the presence of the detective and others to make his affidavit. Mr. Burns was enroute to Oklahoma when he heard of Mr. Ragsdale's story and got off at Chattanooga, from which he telephoned to the Atlanta Journal.

"Ragsdale is an unmitigated liar," he said, "and I never saw the man in my life."

"Just as soon as I heard of his outrageous story I decided to come back to Atlanta and I will be there on the first train. All I know about his afidavit is that he came to our office and Mr. Lehon conducted him to the office of Attorney Rosser. I have never seen the man."

Denies Money Offer.

Arthur Thurman, the lawyer who was charged by Ragsdale with being present when the alleged $200 offer was made and accepted, characterizes the preacher as a liar and perjurer.

It was charged by Ragsdale that Thurman threatened him with criminal action on a business deal if he did not make the affidavit and this the attorney denies.

"Several months ago Ragsdale, who has been coming to my office frequently," said Mr. Thurman, "told me this story which was embodied in his affidavit. He said then that he did not want it made public until he could find R. L. Barber, who had left town, in order that the story might be corroborated by him.

"While I didn't take much stock in the story, I communicated with Dr. B. Wildauer. About three weeks ago the Burns people started working on it.

"Last Thursday, C. W. Tedder dropped into my office. About that time Ragsdale and Barber, with whom I had an engagement, came in. Then Ragsdale told the story to Tedder. Later I took him and Barber to the Burns office, where we met Mr. Lehon, and he took the two men over to the offices of Frank's attorneys.

"The story that he offered money is ridiculous. As to the story that I threatened him because of a business transaction, I can only say that it, too, is utterly false. In April, 1913, Ragsdale sold to the Rev. J. W. Foster (who was in the limelight when arrested recently with his affinity, a Mrs. Ruth Dean) a saw mill, a grist mill, and a cotton gin and land at Holly Springs, Cherokee County. More than two months later Foster sold the property to me, and I assumed a $500 machinery mortgage on it. The transaction was perfectly regular, and there was nothing criminal in it, for Foster knew that it was incumbered when he bought it from Ragsdale, and I knew that it was incumbered when I bought it from Foster."

The attorney showed the two deeds to the property, and in both of them the debt was mentioned.

C. W. Tedder admitted meeting Ragsdale and Barber in Thurman's office, but emphatically denied that he heard money offered to the preacher, and also declared that so far as he knew Detective Burns had never seen the preacher. He also denied that, acting in the interest of Smith or any one else he "planted" the Ragsdale-Barber matter in an effort to trap Burns or other agents of the defense.

This is the story Tedder tells:

"I had heard four months ago that a Baptist minister, a client of Arthur Thurman's, had a story to tell in connection with the Frank case. I had been searching unsuccessfully for the preacher until last Thursday, when I was in Thurman's office, and this fellow Ragsdale came in. I asked Thurman if he was the Baptist preacher, and on receiving an affirmative reply I tried to pump him. He got wise and walked out of the office.

"Half an hour later I heard he had made an affidavit to the defense in the offices of Attorney Rosser. He came back to Thurman's office, where he then talked to me. He told me about the affidavit. He said he had the matter on his conscience for a long time, but hesitated to speak because he didn't want to get mixed up in the case. He told me, however, that he had read a newspaper story about Frank in the Tower, gripping the bars of his cell and proclaiming his innocence, and that he decided then to tell the story."

Tedder said further that after his first conversation with the preacher Thurman took Ragsdale and Barber down to the Burns office, where they met Dan S. Lehon of the Burns forces, and he took them to the office of Attorney Rosser, where the affidavits were made.

This is borne out by a statement made by Detective Burns before he left the city. Mr. Burns then told reporters that he did not see Ragsdale. He was informed, he said, by Lehon, his aid, that Ragsdale would make an affidavit, and he instructed Lehon to take the preacher to the offices of the attorney.

How Affidavits Were Made.

Luther Z. Rosser, leading counsel for Frank, explained his connection with the Ragsdale affidavit, and told how Ragsdale and Barber were brought to his office. Rosser said: "When they came in with the Burns agent," he said, "I was absent, and my partner, Mr. Brandon, who is not especially familiar with the case, commenced an interview.

"I was summoned from the court and relieved him of the task. I put both men through a very vigorous cross-examination, and was particular to ask the names of his associates, and he named several of the most prominent men in the city.

"The affidavits were dictated almost in the language of the two men. Then I had a notary public, a young man named Callahan, who is with another law firm in the city, summoned to the office to take the affidavits.

"I was in an adjoining office dictating the amendment when the two men swore to the affidavits, but Mr. Callahan, I understand, read every word to them before the affidavits were signed.

"Mr. Ragsdale told how reluctant he had been to enter the case, and how he hoped to avoid publicity. I had never seen him or Barber before they walked into the office. I had heard, however, various vague rumors to the effect that some person could give the sort of testimony that Ragsdale did in the affidavit. Long before the men came into the office I had given up hope of securing the evidence."

F. P. Callahan, a notary public in the office of Smith, Hammond & Smith, was the man before whom the affidavits of Ragsdale and Barber were sworn.

"Burns was not there, neither was Tedder," said Callahan. "I read the affidavits over to the men word for word. I was unusually cautious because of the many mix-ups that have come in the Frank case.

"I asked each of them if they understood everything that was contained in the affidavits and if every statement was the truth. Then they raised their right hands and swore to the truth of the affidavits.

"The affidavits were taken in the private office of L. Z. Rosser on the seventh floor of this building. There were present when the minister and his companion swore to the affidavits, Dan Lehon, John K. Tippett, a stenographer for the Rosser-Brandon firm, and myself. Mr. Rosser was in the building, but not in his private office at the swearing of the men. Stiles Hopkins, erroneously reported to have been the notary public before whom the affidavits were taken, was not present."

Tippett said that the two men came to Mr. Rosser's office and professed to have information of value to Frank. They were questioned closely by the lawyer, who was impressed by the fact that Ragsdale was a minister and that he gave high references as to his probity and good standing.

After Mr. Rosser had the essential details of their story he dictated affidavits to Tippett, who transcribed them on the typewriter. They were then read to the two men and Callahan was called in and again went over the affidavits with the men.

At the Ragsdale home more efforts were made to shield the pastor, who was forced to resign his charge as a result of the sensation. No one has been allowed to see the minister. In fact, every statement published about Ragsdale's mysterious connection with the case has been made through third parties. An astonishing veil of mystery has been thrown about the entire affair.

Hint of a Police Plant.

One strange aspect of this development is that C. C. Tedder, who is involved in the Ragsdale charges, is attached to the office of William M. Smith, attorney for Jim Conley and a close friend of Chief of Detectives Lanford. He denied to-day that the alleged money offer was a police "plant," and that he had helped to induce Ragsdale to make the affidavit telling of the alleged Conley confession.

The son, W. A. Ragsdale, said to-day that his father's mental condition was not sound. He was inclined to believe that money was offered, and said that threats to expose a land deal in which the minister was concerned had evidently figured in the alleged effort to make him swear falsely.

Solicitor Dorsey refused to comment other than to say that "this whole matter will be shown up and the parties responsible will be dealt with."

In Court House circles it is rumored that the new Grand Jury to be chosen next week, will be asked by Solicitor Dorsey to investigate the case.

Solicitor Dorsey will appear before Judge Hill to-morrow morning, when the hearing for a retrial for Frank will be resumed, and will begin his fight to baffle the move of the convicted man's attorneys.

A strong fight will be made to have Judge Hill revoke the order he gave Frank's defense cancelling the amendment to the motion presented last Friday, by which the Ragsdale affidavit was taken out of the record.

It is reported that Mr. Dorsey has obtained an affidavit from Anna Maud Carter, the negro woman who made an affidavit for the defense swearing that Conley, while she was in prison with him, confessed to murdering Mary Phagan to her.

It is known that the negress has made an affidavit to the detectives at Police Headquarters who have been investigating the Frank case. This document, it is said, was attested by her on the day before she made the "Conley confession" affidavit.

Another Appeal by Frank.

Stating that the people of Atlanta and of Georgia have too great a love of justice to want to see him hanged on the evidence of a negro, Leo M. Frank gave out the following signed statement to-day:

To the people of Atlanta:

I have been advised not to make further appeal for justice to the people, but I cannot bring myself to believe that the people would deny me the small privilege of pleading my case before thm.

I am told there are many people who do not hesitate to say that I ought to be hanged, whether I had a fair trial or not, or whether I am guilty or not; but I cannot bring myself to believe they represent a majority.

I have had no trial in the Court House—only the pretense of one. The question put up to the jury in my case was not "Is Leo M. Frank guilty?" but it was "Whose life shall it be—Frank's or yours?" and they decided accordingly.

I do not so much blame the courts and jurors for denying me justice and a fair trial. It is the people themselves who are responsible. It is they who have compelled the Judges and the jurors to decide as they have. I feel that I have a right to appeal to the people, because they are the last court of this State, higher and more powerful than all the other courts.

Was there ever a case in a Georgia Court House when the jury rejected the testimony of eight good white women in favor of the word of a degraded negro? Conley not only contradicted me, but also Miss Corinthia Hall, Mrs. Emma Clarke Freeman, Mrs. J. A. White, Miss Rebecca Carson, Miss Helen Kerns, Miss May Pick, Miss Dora Small, and Miss Julia Fuss.

It was a part of Conley's monstrous lie that after he had carried the dead body to the basement he and I were talking in my office and were interrupted by the appearanceof Miss Corinthia Hall and Mrs. Emma Clarke Freeman at about twenty minutes past one. Now, these ladies were on the stand and swore unequivocally that they left the factory for the last time that day at 11:45 A. M., or, in other words, an hour and thirty-five minutes before the hour given by Conley, and they furthermore swore that when they left there remained in the factory Arthur White, Mrs. White, Mrs. May Barrett, Mrs. Barrett's daughter, Henry Denham, the stenographer, and myself. Now, why should the jury take the negro's word in preference to that of these white women on a simple question of fact? There was no chance for a mistake on their part. It was a square issue between them and the negro, their oath against his oath. And if Conley was lying on this point how can any part of his story be believed for a moment?

Then take Miss Helen Kern's testimony. She testified that at 1:10 P. M. she saw me at the corner of Whitehall and Alabama Streets, the very moment when Conley swore he was helping me dispose of the body.

Miss Rebecca Carson testified: "On Monday morning I said to Jim Conley, 'Where were you on Saturday? Were you in the factory?' He said: 'I was so drunk I don't know where I was or what I did.' I also overheard a conversation that he had with my mother when he said 'Mr. Frank is just as innocent as an angel.'"

Conley testified: "I didn't tell Miss Carson on Monday that I was drunk all day Saturday. I didn't see her at all on Monday. I don't remember telling Miss Carson on May 1 that Mr. Frank was innocent."

Miss Mary Pirk testified: "I talked with Jim Conley Monday morning after the murder. I accused him of the murder. He took his broom and walked right out of the office, and I have never seen him since."

Conley testified: "I didn't have any conversation with Miss Mary Pirk on April 28, and she didn't say that I committed the crime, and I didn't shoot out of the metal room after she said that."

Miss Dora Small testified: "I saw Jim Conley Tuesday. He was worrying me to get money from me to buy a newspaper, and he often would come and ask me for copies of the paper before I got through reading them. They were extras. He would even get two of the same edition. He would take it and run over there and sit on a box by the elevator and read it. He told me Mr. Frank is just as innocent as you are."

Conley testified: "I didn't ask Miss Small on Monday what the extra had in it, and I didn't say Mr. Frank is just as innocent as you are."

Miss Julia Fuss testified: "I talked with Jim Conley Wednesday morning after the murder. He was sweeping around there, and asked me to see the newspaper. He told me he believed Mr. Frank was just as innocent as the angels from heaven."

Conley testified: "I didn't ask Miss Fuss on Wednesday for an extra. I didn't tell her that I thought Mr. Frank was as innocent as the angels in heaven."

I say to the people of Atlanta that if the jury had not been intimidated by the fear of death and been left free to express its convictions it would never have rejected the testimony of these eight white women in favor of that of a negro. Let it be admitted that most of these ladies were in the employ of the National Pencil Factory, would that circumstance make the word of a negro more reliable than theirs and more worthy to be believed by twelve white men, a negro who was trying to save his own neck? No wonder Judge Roan declared he was not convinced of my guilt.

FOR BRANCH BANKS IN EAST.

McAdoo Wants Them, Despite Williams—$77,548,500 Subscribed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—It became known to-day that Secretary McAdoo of the Treasury disagrees with John Skelton Williams, Controller of the Currency, in his opposition to the establishment of branch banks of the new regional system in cities east of the Mississippi. Mr. Williams, it is understood, adheres to his original position that branch cities in the East, where railroad communication is rapid, will merely mean an increased expenditure without proportionate increase in efficiency.

Mr. Williams's opposition to branch banks some time ago was so pronounced that the impression got abroad that the Treasury Department was definitely set against any branch banks east of the Mississippi. But now, whether Mr. Williams changes his view or not, Mr. McAdoo is determined to use his influence for the establishment of branches where they will do most good.

Mr. McAdoo's decision in favor of Eastern branches will probably mean that all large cities will ultimately have branches. Baltimore will probably benefit from Mr. McAdoo's support, and Louisville, Ky., is known to be another likely beneficiary.

BOSCA PLEADS GUILTY.

Hempstead Town Treasurer Loaned Public Funds to Himself.

Notwithstanding his vehement denial of any wrongdoing in connection with the handling of Hempstead Town funds, former ex-Town Treasurer Ernest E. Bosca of East Rockaway yesterday pleaded guilty before County Judge James P. Niemann at Mineola. Judge Niemann set Saturday, May 9, as the date for pronouncing sentence. Bosca is liable to a fine of $500 and imprisonment for one year, but it was rumored after his confession that sentence will probably be suspended, in view of the fact that the two mortgages which he made with town money will shortly be due, and that they will be paid.

Bosca loaned $35,000 of money belonging to the town of Hempstead to himself, giving as security mortgages upon the White Cannon Inn, at East Rockaway, a road house whose assessed valuation was far below the mortgages' face.

IN NEW JERSEY.

BAYONNE.—After falling three stories while walking in her sleep, Mary Matuskofsky, 11 years old, of 493 Broadway, was found to have sustained only a slight injury to her right foot. This is the second time that the girl has fallen out of a window while sleep-walking.

MONTCLAIR.—Chairman David Henney of the Finance Committee said to-day that if the present method of issuing bonds continues, at the end of the next thirty years, when the last issue of $460,000 in school bonds becomes due, there will be a surplus of $961,000. Mr. Henney makes the suggestion that this amount, or at least a part of it, be used in permanent improvements on the main thoroughfares.

MORRISTOWN.—Only six ballots were cast on Wednesday at the annual school election, when appropriations amounting to $50,000 were voted upon and carried.

TRENTON.—According to Commissioner Joseph P. Byers of the Department of Charities and Correction, New Jersey will be saved thousands of dollars annually by the Legislature's appropriation of $12,500 to carry out the law which permits the deportation of aliens who become State wards. Because of lack of funds, this has not been done in the past, the State havisg to pay about $300 each a year for their care.

TRENTON.—The Grand Lodge of New Jersey Free and Accepted Masons will lay the cornerstone of the William M. Lanning Memorial School in Ewing Township on May 13. Ex-Gov. E. C. Stokes will make the principal address.

MAYS LANDING.—County Game Warden William Lodier and Protector Howard Mathis, in company with William A. Faunce, member of the State Fish and Game Commission, and Assemblyman Carlton Godfrey liberated 1,500 rainbow trout yesterday in Lake Lenape. The fish were brought here in cans from the Hackettstown hatchery and were in fine condition, some weighing over one pound.

BURLINGTON.—James O'Grady, four years old, wondered how Santa Claus and a pack of toys could get through so small a chimney as that on a new building near his house, and he climbed to the roof to investigate. He was peering down the chimney when he lost his balance and fell in head first, landing in an open fireplace on the first floor. He is unconscious from concussion of the brain, and doctors say his condition is critical.

CHICAGO PAPERS MAY UNITE

Report That Record-Herald Reorganization Will Take In Inter Ocean.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The Chicago Record-Herald and The Chicago Inter Ocean, according to a report current here, may be consolidated. The Record-Herald Company, virtually controlled by Victor F. Lawson, who holds $3,000,000 of the stock, has failed to meet the interest of $40,000 due on its bonds. It is asserted that Mr. Lawson has made an offer of his stock to the other 35 stockholders if they would devise a way to place the property on its feet and relieve him of further responsibility. The Chicago Inter Ocean has been in the hands of receivers for some time and the property is to be sold at public auction on Tuesday next.

Plans for the reorganization of the Chicago Record-Herald and the passing of the control of the newspaper, it was said to-night, would be announced next Wednesday by the bondholders of the Record-Herald Company. At a meeting of the bondholders to-day, a committee made up of Charles L. Hutchinson, A. A. Sprague, 3d., and Walter L. Wilson announced that reorganization plans were being considered. Mr. Lawson, who it was said expressed his intention of retiring from control of the newspaper at once, announced that he would take no action until the committee had prepared its report.

For two weeks the Record-Herald bondholders have been considering several plans, one of which was said to include the purchase of The Inter Ocean and the consolidation of the two newspapers.

George Wheeler Hinman, former publisher of The Inter Ocean, said he had heard of the amalgamation plans, but refused to discuss them.

The fact that new plans for The Record-Herald will be announced one day after The Inter Ocean sale is scheduled to take place gave strength to the consolidation rumors, although members of the committee refused to discuss that phase of the matter.

H. H. Kohlsaat, one of The Record-Herald bondholders and at present publisher and receiver for The Inter Ocean, did not attend the meeting.

"Mr. Lawson will not retire from control of The Record-Herald until the committee is ready to report," said Mr. Hutchinson to-day.

GILLETT WILL SUSTAINED.

Philadelphian's Widow Entitled to Income on $400,000 Estate.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The will of Alfred S. Gillett of Philadelphia was sustained to-day by a jury in Justice Gould's branch of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, after a trial lasting nine weeks.

Mr. Gillett left a will providing that his wife should receive interest for life on the bulk of his estate, amounting to about $400,000, the fortune to go to the Washington Asylum and the Home for the Aged in this city. A brother and nephews and nieces contested the will on the ground of undue influence, and that Mr. Gillett was mentally unsound. The jury held that Mr. Gillett was in possession of his mental faculties when the will was made, and that there was no undue influence.

Mrs. Gillett, who was married to Mr. Gillett in 1883, when he was 65 and she 28, was Miss Ella Gratz of Philadelphia, and is said to be a descendant of the original "Rebecca" of Sir Walter Scott's "Ivanhoe."

Mr. Gillett was founder and President of the Gillett Fire Insurance Company of Philadelphia.

ANTIS' STATE CONVENTION.

Pennsylvania Women Opposing Suffrage Start Vigorous Campaign.

HARRISBURG, Penn., April 30.—Pennsylvania women opposed to equal suffrage held their first State convention here late to-day, and after planning a vigorous campaign against the adoption of the suffrage amendment to the State Constitution by the next Legislature, held a mass meeting, which was attended by a delegation of active workers for suffrage.

About 175 women from various parts of the State attended the convention, which was the first of the kind to be held in the country. Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge of New York, President of the National Association, presided, and outlined the scope of the campaign. It was arranged to-night that the campaign in Pennsylvania should be conducted in every county, and that legislative candidates should be asked as to their stand.

The speakers at the night meeting included Mrs. Dodge, Mrs. Frank J. Goodwin, New York, and Mrs. D. O. Oliphant, New Jersey.

THEATRICAL FOLK TO SAIL.

Actors, Ballet and Tango Dancers and Indians on Philadelphia.

The America Line steamship Philadelphia sails to-day for Southampton with the principal members of the "Milestones" company, the entire ballet of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, and some of the members of "Grumpy" and the "Rule of Three" companies.

There are also eight tango dancers, including Miss D. Evelyn, Mrs. Newton Adams and James Lounsberry, on the way to teach dancing in Paris.

In the steerage of the Philadelphia there will be more than fifty American Indians, who are going to London to take part in the "Wild West" show at the Anglo-American exposition by the 101 Ranch. Chief Yellow Thunder will be in charge of the Indians, among whom are Red Shirt, Little Bull, Spotted Weasel, Running Horse, and Spotted Horse.

DEATH REVEALS A WEDDING.

Jersey City School Teacher is Widow of George S. Hastings.

It became known yesterday, through a death notice published in a Jersey City newspaper, that George Sidney Hastings, who died last Sunday at the Washington Heights Hospital, in this city, was married on Dec. 27 to Miss Christine Anderson, a teacher in the Jersey City schools. The wedding was kept secret, because the regulations of the Jersey City Board of Education prohibit the employment of married women as teachers.

Mr. Hastings was employed in the Yardmaster's Department of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, and lived at 243 Second Street, Jersey City.

RICH MEN ON LIST FOR BECKER'S JURY

Bankers, Brokers, and Members of Professions Preponderate in Special Panel of 300.

SECRET INQUIRY BEING MADE

One Becker and One Rosenthal Among Those to Appear Before Justice Seabury on Wednesday.

The special panel of 300 talesmen for the second murder trial of Charles Becker has been drawn, and a secret investigation of every man on the panel is being made by District Attorney Whitman. Subpoenas were issued yesterday to each of the talesman, commanding their appearance in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court before Justice Seabury at 10:30 A. M. on Wednesday. There seemed to be no doubt that the trial would begin on scredule time.

Thomas Allison, Commissioner of Jurors, drew heavily on the Wall Street section for the special panel; also on the wealthy residential sections of Fifth, Park, and Madison Avenues, and Riverside Drive. There is a preponderance of bankers, brokers, real estate men, publishers, and men of all of the branches of engineering, but the lesser occupations are not unrepresented.

The list includes several authors and artists, one student, one undertaker, oue sexton, and a farmer. There are several chauffeurs and many salesmen, accountants, clerks, and buyers. There is one Becker on the panel, and one Rosenthal. George C. Boldt, proprietor of the Waldorf-Astoria, is the only hotel man.

Here are some of the names on the panel, as taken from the original list in the possession of Commissioner of Jurors Allison:

The law providing for special panels for criminal cases has been in force for twelve years. During that time, Commissioner Allison pointed out there was an average of fifty cases a year in which juries were selected from special panels, and there were only sven disagreements. This argued well for the special-panel law, the Commissioner said.

There has been only one case on the criminal docket this year in which a special panel of 300 talesmen has been necessary. That was in the second murder trial of Hans Schmidt, the priest. Eight other murder cases which were tried in January required only seventy-five special talesmen each. The average for a murder trial is seventy-five.

There is some doubt among those who have followed the Becker case closely whether 300 talesmen will suffice for the drawing of a jury. If the names run out the Commissioner of Jurors, by law, can be called on for more names without advance notice. In the police graft cases an average of 150 special talesmen were called for each of the trials, but the juries were drawn on an average from sets of sixty talesmen. In the case of ex-City Chamberlain Charles H. Hyde a special panel of 200 was drawn and there was much fear that it would not suffice. In that case only forty-five men were examined.

Assistant District Attorney Delehanty, who, with Assistant District Attorney Groehl, will assist Mr. Whitman in the trial of Becker, said that the State's case was ready. Martin T. Manton, attorney for Becker, has said that he is ready and that the defense will not seek a delay.

There were rumors that a big defense fund had been solicited by Becker agents among the restaurateurs and saloon men of the upper and lower Tenderloin. The rumors arose from a single complain, which reached the District Attorney's office, it was understood. This complaint was that a friend of ex-Lieut. Becker had asked a saloon and hotel man for $500. This particular saloon man was out of the city yesterday. He is known as a man who suffered financial loss indirectly through the Rosenthal murder. According to the complaint, the Becker agent's request was flatly refused. Mr. Manton, on behalf of Becker, declined to discuss the story of the defense fund.

DIAMONDS SEWN TO SHIRT.

Customs Men Find Uncut Gems on Passenger Landing at Hoboken.

Mayer Barzelay, a second-cabin passenger arriving yester on the Hamburg-American steamship President Grant from Hamburg, was asked by special customs men if he had any diamonds. He declared that he had nothing dutiable. After an examination of the baggage the customs men informed Barzelay that he would be searched and he refused to submit to what he termed a gross indignity. The officials telephoned to Collector Malone, who instructed them to make the search.

Barzelay was taken back to the President Grant and searched. A package of uncut diamonds was found sewn to his shirt. He said they had been intrusted to him by a diamond dealer in Amsterdam to sell on commission in this country. The immigration authorities detained Barzelay at Ellis Island. If he is prosecuted for smuggling Barzelay will be arraigned in Hoboken and tried at Trenton.

Collector Malone said the value of the diamonds seized from August Fischer and Emil Propele, who arrived on the Cunarder Mauretania from Liverpool on April 24, was $57,498.17. The Collector will at once request United States Attorney Marshall to institute forfeiture proceedings.

W. L. WEMPLE RESIGNS.

Assistant Attorney General Quits to Make Way for a Democrat.

William L. Wemple, Assistant Attorney General, in charge of the Government's customs litigation, with offices in this city, resigned yesterday as the result of an intimation from Washington that President Wilson desired to fill his place by the appointment of a Democrat. Mr. Wemple, who is a Republican, was formerly an assistant to Henry A. Wise, ex-District Attorney for the Southern District of New York.

Mr. Wemple said yesterday that at the beginning o fthe Demicratic Administration in Washington he informed Attorney General McReynolds the place was at the disposal of the President. While considerable pressure has been exerted on the President to name a Democrat for the position, which pays $10,000, it is understood that Mr. McReynolds has been unwilling up to this time to lose Mr. Wemple's services owing to his expert knowledge of tariff law.

HELMICK, MUSIC MAN, JOINS HIS DEAD WIFE

Wrote "Have Found the Lost Directions, My Darling," and Ended His Life.

ASKED FRIEND TO WAKE HIM

Latter, Calling to Do So, Found Him Dead on the Floor, Wife's Picture by His Side.

Frederick W. Helmick, a music dealer at Broadway and Twenty-eighth Street, widely known for many years in the theatrical profession as a purveyor of songs and scores for the stage, killed himself with gas yesterday in his apartment at 160 West Seventeenth Street, where he had lived alone since the death of his wife a year ago. Business troubles and grief for his wife are supposed to have caused his suicide.

When he parted from several of his old friends late on Wednesday night he promised to join them the following morning for a fishing trip. To George Botty, one of these friends, he said as he started for home:

"If I don't show up early, come around and wake me."

At 6 A. M. yesterday Botty went to Helmick's apartment and found him dead, one end of a rubber tube in his mouth, the other end affixed to a gas jet. On the floor near him was a photograph of his wife. On a table was a blank sheet of paper, a pencil, and a knife, indicating that he had intended to write. Among some papers was found this penciled scrawl:

"Have found the lost directions, my darling, after all my hunt."

Whether this had any connection with his suicide the police were unable to determine. Near by was a book containing the names of hundreds of actors and actresses to whom he had at some time sold songs. Helmick was 64 years old. His age was shown by two small life insurance policies in the Metropolitan. He paid premiums on them on April 14, and on the same day he had pawned a piece of jewelry for $3, as shown by the ticket among his effects.

Mrs. Louise B. Helmick, his wife, was killed by falling down the stairway from their flat on the second floor. Her wedding and engagement rings were found in Helmick's purse, together with the receipt for her grave in Mount Hope Cemetery. The police took charge of these and some other pieces of jewelry and a watch and chain. Only a small amount of money was in the dead man's clothing, but the apartment was well furnished. Helmick was forced out of business recently, and since then had been employed by the Globe Music Company, at 1,198 Broadway.

On a photograph he had received on Christmas was written "Clara Fehrman, 3,608 Dawson Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio. Your Niece." She is supposed to be the daughter of Helmick's sister. They are his only known relatives. The Detective Bureau telegraphed to that address last night.

RUDOLF SECKEL A SUICIDE.

Dealer in Paintings Had Sold to H. C. Frick and J. P. Morgan.

Rudolf Seckel, a dealer in paintings at 31 East Twelfth Street, was found dead in his studio, on the second floor there, yesterday, a suicide by gas asphixiation. When he closed his office on Wednesday night he did not go to his home in Bronxville, where he lived with his wife, whom he marired a year ago, but remained at the office, sorting over correspondence and tearing up letters until he prepared to take his life. His stenographer, Miss Newfield, saw the body of her employer when she arrived and opened the office door yesterday morning. The Coroner decided he had been dead ten hours.

Paul Wenzel, father-in-law of Seckel, who is in business on the ground floor of the same building, said Seckel appeared to be in good health and spirits when they parted after luncheon on Wednesday. Seckel was doing a prosperous business, amountnig to $30,000 a year, he said, and he was unable to give any motive that would cause him to take his life. Among Seckel's patrons were Henry C. Frick, the late J. P. Morgan, and other wealthy men. Seckel was 37 years old. He was the sonof a banker at Frankfort, Germany, and was a graduate of a German university.

CLANCY STAYS AT SING SING.

Warden's Retirement Delayed, as Successor Is Not Chosen.

Although Warden Clancy of Sing Sing Prison recently tendered his resignation, effective May 1, he would not leave to-day, oJhn B. Riley, Superintendent of Prisons, said last night. Clancy will remain until his successor is chosen. Several names are under consideration.

Riley explained in a statement that he thought Clancy should remain at his post until he had carried into effect certain reforms instituted by him, and until several buildings at Sing Sing were completed. Convicts are doing the work.

Since Oct. 1, 1913, the statement added, the population of the State Prisons had increased by 500. Of a total of 5,024 persons, there were 1,601 confined in Sing Sing.

$10 FOR PISTOL PERMIT.

Aldermen Think Proposed Ordinance Will Bring In $25,000.

If an ordinance which is to be introduced in the Board of Aldermen next Tuesday is passed, those persons who wish to obtain a permit from a Magistrate to carry a revolver will have to pay $10, while those who wish merely to keep a revolver in their homes will have to pay $2.

At the last session of the Legislature a bill was passed to amend the charter by giving the Aldermen the power to fix the fee for pistol permits, and it is now a law. The revenue, which is expected to reach $25,000, is to be turned over to the Police Pension Fund, which needs assistance.

GIRL FROM UP-STATE ROBBED

Falls Into Hands of "Hudson Dusters" on Landing from Steamboat.

A young woman in Jefferson Market Court yesterday told Magistrate Appleon one day's experiences following an up-State girl's arrival aline in the city. She was Lillian Coleman, a glovemaker from Golversville and Albany, who came here with the promise of a position and landed from a Hudson River boat at Houston Street on Wednesday evening.

The girl asked a stranger about an eating place and as a result found herself later in the company of four young men, members of the Hudson Dusters' gang, in the rear room of a saloon at Christopher Street and Waverly Place, to which she had been decoyed by a ruse. When the rom was empty for a moment one of the men suddenly seized her from behind and held her fast, stifling her cries and subduing her struggles. They wrenched from her fingers two rings, seized hed gold watch and chain, and tore from her hands a silver mesh bag containing $4 in bills and some change. They they threw her to the foor and escped out of the back door.

The bartender and the proprietor took her to the Charles Street Police Station and there she told her story to Detectives Kelly and Curtin. Through Miss Smith, probation officer at the Night Court, she was sent to the Florence Crittenden Home in West Thirteenth Street, where she spent the night.

Detectives Kelly and Curtin went to the home of Charles Mongello at 28 Jones Street. They said they caught him on the fire escape as he was trying to get away. He was arrested and taken to the Jefferson Market Court. When he was lined up with other men in the court room Miss Coleman failed to identify him, though she said later that he was the man who had robbed her while another held her. He was held in $5,000 bail for examination today. The girl returned to the home pending the outcome of the trial.

INFECTED BY MANICURING.

Many Persons Contract Felons in Shops, Says Dr. E. W. Lee.

Dr. Edward Wallace Lee told the members of the Medical Society of the State of New York at their convention at the Hotel Astor yesterday that many felons and other infections of the hand could be traced to careless work at some manicure shops in New York.

"I have had over 100 cases in my own experience that I can trace to the careless use of manicure instruments," he said. "The Board of Health should supervise every manicure shop. The barbers are doing fairly well, and most of them are now aware of the importance of sanitation in their shops and the absolute sterility of their instruments. There are a great many manicurists, however, who have no idea of the importance of these things and who are so unskilled and careless in the use of their instruments that it is a wonder the cases of infection are not more numerous."

Papers were read by Dr. Charles L. Dana, Dr. Walter A. Bastedo, and Dr. Leon T. Le Wald.

Seventy-fice delegates visited the Quarantine station and were entertained by Health Officer Joseph J. O'Connell, who met them at the pier with the cutter Governor Flower. Later these delegates were taken to Hoffman and Swinburne Islands, and inspected the hospitals and detention pavilions. Another party inspected North Brother Island, Ward's Island, and Blackwell's Island.

KAISER'S MARSHAL HERE.

German Count Saw the Panama Canal with Gov. Goethals.

Count von Henkel-Donnersmark, Marshal of the Court of the German Emperor, arrived at the Ritz-Carlton yesterday from a trip around South America and a visit to the Panama Canal. Count von Henkel-Donnersmark went from Germany to Buenos Aires, then across the Andes to Chile, and then up the Pacific Coast to Panama.

While he was on the Isthmus, Gov. Goethals personally showed him over the canal, much to the Count's pleasure. From Colon the Count came to New Orleans by steamer, and from there journeyed to Chicago, and then to La Salle, Ill., to visit a friend, who showed him over some coal and zinc mines there. The Count expects to remain here three or four days, and will make a brief visit to Washington before sailing on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria next week.

Escorted by J. E. Engel of the Hamburg-American Line, the Count spent a short time yesterday morning viewing the financial district, and in the afternoon saw other parts of the city. He expects to get a good idea of New York by the time he sails.

Among the guests will be Mrs. A. Starr Best, founder of the Drama League of America; Miss Frances Starr, Miss Fola La Follette, Prof. William E. Bohn, Walter Prichard Eaton, John D. Williams, George Middleton, and Robert Campbell. Roland Holt will preside.

ORGANIST AND ALTO SUE FOR YEAR'S PAY

IN ROCKEFELLER CHURCH

Harry Rowe Shelley, Fifth Avenue Baptist Choirmaster, Is a Composer of Note.

Two members of the choir of the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church began suit in the Supreme Court yesterday against Horace W. Fish, Chairman of the Music Committee. They are Harry Rowe Shelley and Edith Magee. Their complaints, say, in effect that the custom of churches is to notify members of the choir in December whether they are to be re-engaged for another year beginning on May 1, and that every assurance was held out to them by Mr. Fish that their terms of service were to be continued for another year while he knew that it was really the intention of the Board of Trustees to dispense with their services.

Mr. Shelley has fame as an organist and choir director. He was born in New Haven in 1858 and obtained all of his musical training in this country. His teachers were Gustav J. Stoeckel, Dudley Buck, Max Gogrich and Anton Dvorak. He served as organist in the Church of the Pilgrims, Plymouth Church, and the First Church of New Haven. People talked about his ability as a musician and the success that attended his work as a teacher of composition and orchestration in the Metropolitan College of this city.

The Fifth Avenue Baptist Church heard of him and tendered him the place of organist and choir director at assiry of $2,000 a year. John D. Rockefeller and his son enjoyed Mr. Shelley's work as the singing and music master of the church. In this branch of the church work Mr. Shelley and Mr. Rockefeller junior came often into contact and they got along nicely together.

Mr. Shelley has done serious and lasting work in the matter of writing overtures, symphonic poems, and suites for orchestra. He is the author of a concerto for violin and orchestra and of a chorus for female voices that gained a prize for him from the Appollo Club of Chicago. All of the members of the Rockefeller family knew of the standing of Mr. Shelley in the musical world. They knew that he had composed many anthems and other church music pieces, many of them being still popular.

So far as Mr. Shelley knew, his work for the Rockefeller church was satisfactory to all of the men who made the church conspicuous. In his complaint he says that Mr. Fish and the Music Committee of the church were familiar with the custom of notifying the members of the choir in December whether they were to continue in the service for another year, beginning with the following May, and that Mr. Fish, to whom the choir members looked for information on this point, had deceived him into believing that he would be retained for another year. Because of this statement, made "with the intent to deceive the plaintiff" and to conceal from him the real situation, Mr. Shelley demands that Mr. Fish pay him a year's salary of $2,000.

Edith Magee, who is suing Mr. Fish for a year's pay of $950, has been the contralto soloist of the choir for three years. She says in her complaint that on the first Sunday in December she was assured by Mr. Fish that she would be re-engaged. She says Mr. Fish knew this statement was false.

The Fifth Avenue Baptit Church was recently consolidated with the Calvary Baptist Church, and it was suggested that the dropping of some of the members of the choir was due to the decision to retain part of the choir of each of the churches.

FINDS MAHONEY INSANE.

Crank Told Dr. Gregory He Was Sorry He Missed Mayor Mitchel.

John B. Cosby, Phoenix Ingraham and John J. Haggerty, who were appointed by Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions as a committee to inquire into the sanity of Michael P. Mahoney, who attempted to shoot Mayor Mitchel, finished their examinations yesterday. They will probably report to-day or tomorrow that Mahoney is insane, and will recommend his commitment to Matteawan.

Mahoney told Dr. Menas S. Gregory, who examined him, that he once tried to kill Andrew Carnegie. He said he was sorry he missed Mayor Mitchel, and that he had three other high officials marked.

GENTLE SUFFRAGISTS ONLY.

No Amazonian Guard at Celebration in Parks To-morrow.

Word had gone out that Mrs. Stanton Blatch was to have twenty-five amazons to augment the regular police force and held keep the peace at the Mall, in Central Park, where the Women's Political Union is to have its special part of the big suffrage day celebration tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. Blatch denies this emphatically.

"Amazons? Never!" she cried. "We women, whose motherliness extends even to the tender blades of young grass, are so much afraid that the Mall may be overrun by an excited crowd on Saturday—especially if there are worried anti-suffragists in the throng—that we have arranged to have twenty-five of our gentlest and most tactful suffragists on the ground to delicately insinuate that concrete was put down to be walked on and with gentle, feminine, indirect influence to keep all of the great crowd off the grass."

Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, whose organization will be in charge at Grant's Tombs and at Riverside Drive on Saturday, will have out more gentle and ladylike suffragists to protect the tender blades of young Spring grass in that neighborhood.

The special need of women's gentle, feminine influence to keep the crowds off the grass on Saturday is due, it seems, to the objection made to the crowds by different civic organizations. Commissioner Ward had no sooner given the women permission to use the parks than he was bombarded with letters from these civic organizations. It was not that they loved suffrage less or anti-suffrage more, but their hearts were filled with sadness at the thought of the destruction that would follow to the park greens.

GRAND UNION'S PICTURES GO

Removed, with Old Prints, Preliminary to Closing of Hotel.

The Grand Union Hotel had a dreary appearance yesterday. All of the old New York prints had been removed from the corridors and the walls of the lunchrooms, and in the main part of the house nearly all of the art collection had disappeared. The hotel is to close to-morrow at midnight.

Simeon Ford strolled through the restaurant during noon hour and was asked what had become of the pictpres. With a weary smile he said:

"Well, you are about the eleventh thousand person that has asked me that question. I simply removed them because I felt it was dangerous to let them hang any longer on the walls. The only mistake I made was in announcing the time for the close of the house. I have been noticing for the last week that the souvenir hunters are getting busy, and I didn't want my New York prints to be too much of a temptation to the old patrons. The art works belong to Mr. Shaw. I don't know what disposition he is going to make of them, but they are not going to be sold."

Mr. Ford said that later in the season his collection of rare views of old New York would be exhibited in the New York Public Library. Never since he began collecting, in 1883, when Mr. Ford went to the Grand Union, has he lost one of his engravings. They were screwed tight to the walls, and it would have been difficult to remove them. There were more than 200 New York views and more than 100 old English sporting engravings.

"No," said Mr. Ford, when asked if anything special would mark the formal closing of the famous hotel, "we will just cmlose the doors and say good-night."

THE VERY NEWEST
WAR PHOTOGRAPHS
The Pictorial Section of The Sunday New York Times is supreme in the immediate presentation of news events in photographs. Next Sunday this section will have three full pages of Mexican war pictures; photographs which reached The New York Times from Vera Cruz on Wednesday of this week; sharpshooters on the battleships with rifles trained on Vera Cruz; marines taking "snipers" to jail; jackies busy with their machine guns; the landing at Vera Cruz; U. S. sailors behind temporary breastworks guarding provisions, and others protecting Vera Cruz railway terminal; regulars under Gen. Funston embarking at Galveston; whaleboats loaded with sailors landing at the docks in Vera Cruz; the almost impassable mountain gorges along the railway between Vera Cruz and the City of Mexico; Huerta's crack cavalry regiment; and a new half-length photograph of Huerta in a defiant pose.
VANDERBILT PAINTINGS
The full-page picture by Bouguereau entitled "Going to the Bath" is one of the most beautiful art reproductions ever given by The New York Times to its readers. Thousands of people will frame this picture, and thousands of others when they see it will regret that they failed to order The Sunday New York Times. The collection for next Sunday will include ten other pictures, all reproduced in rotogravure from original paintings in the Cornelius Vanderbilt collection in the Metropolitan Museum. There are pictures by Rosa Bonheur, Millet, Millais, Israels, and others.

FIND 50 BODIES IN WRECKED MINE

SEARCH FOR REMAINING 122

Retarded by Tangle of Rock and Timbers—Many Victims Probably Under Debris.

ECCLES, West Va., April 30.—Hope that any of the 172 men caught in Mine No. 5 of the New River Collieries Company, wrecked by a gas and dust explosion Tuesday, were alive was abandoned absolutely to-night by Government and State experts.

At 9 o'clock fifty bodies had been located in the mine, and it is expected that all of these will be brought to the surface before daylight. A blacksmith shop near the mine tipple has been turned into a temporary morgue.

A majority of the bodies are said to be badly burned and to have the appearance of having been blown by the explosion from the mine interior to the main passage leading to the shaft.

It is believed that no additional bodies will be found near the mouth of the mine, and that many of the other victims are buried under heavy débris.

A thorough search of the mine is being retarded by falls of rock and mine timbers, while water from broken lines covers the mine at points to a depth of three feet. Electrical pumps are being installed as rapidly as possible to clear away the water.

As rescue parties penetrated the mine to-day their hopes of taking out any of the men alive dwindled rapidly. The condition of the bodies located, the water in the mine and the wreckage that blocked passages and mine rooms made it evident that all the miners had perished.

When the word spread that rescue parties had succeeded in entering the mine and that many bodies were being found the whole population of Eccles and hundreds of persons from surrounding communities rushed to the scene. Several attempts were made to break through the ropes, and miners, sworn in as Deputy Sheriffs, held back the crowd with difficulty.

Driven Back by Gas.

Two crews from the Government rescue cars equipped with oxygen tanks went into the mine to-night to make a complete search of the operation. It was said that they did not intend to return to the surface until they had explored the entire mine or had been forced by exhaustion to quit.

After spending four and a half hours in the mine the two Government rescue crews were forced to seek the surface on account of gases. A canary bird which was taken into the mine was killed by gas, and the safety lamps went out.

The crews explored a distance of 2,000 feet. Several additional bodies were located, but the rescuers did not go into the rooms where most of the miners worked.

The shaft was cleared early to-day, and State Chief Mine Inspector Henry and his men, after finding that the cages could be operated, withdrew to the top and prepared to explore the mine. They had discovered that little gas had gathered in the entries leading from the foot of the shaft, but the water had risen, making progress beyond that point difficult. Workmen had been repairing the pumps broken by the explosion, and soon the water was lowered enough to allow a party of Government men, headed by Chief Engineer J. S. Paul of the Pittsburgh station, to enter.

The glimmering light of their safety lamps revealed the presence of half a dozen bodies, frightfully burned, near the bottom, and further exploration showed that other miners had died near by.

The work was hampered throughout the entire day by the water, but sufficient progress was made to prove that the mine was badly wrecked and much work was required to clear even the main galleries of fallen rocks and timber.

Many more bodies were located as the explorers made their way through the mine, but it was decided not to remove them until a temporary morgue had been arranged and preparations made to care for them after they were taken to the surface.

Oxygen Helmets and Canaries.

The rescuers worked in two-hour shifts, but progress was slow. All the men were equipped with oxygen helmets, and some of them carried canary birds to more readily detect the presence of gas in the inner workings. The air, however, was reported to be very good and no danger from that direction was anticipated, although Director Holmes would not allow the men to take unnecessary risks.

Charles P. Neill, ex-Commissioner of Labor, arrived from New York to-day. He is in charge of welfare work for the Guggenheim interests and has arranged to give permanent relief to the dependents of the men killed.

President F. J. Guiterman of the New River Company also reached the mine to-day, and at once told Chief Henry that he would do all in his power to aid in the work.

MINE A MODEL ONE.

No Expense Spared to Insure Safety, Says Director Ritchie.

Hope for the safety of at least a small number of the 172 miners entombed in the workings of Shaft No. 5 of the New River Collieries Company at Eccles, West Va., was still held out late yesterday afternoon by S. R. Ritchie, Vice President of the company, at its offices, 165 Broadway.

"This disaster has been a terrible blow to us," he said. "It was the last thing that we thought could happen, as we had spared no expense to make the mine the model of the district. We were often criticised for wasting money for the sake of safety by other operators in the district. We employed three fire bosses instead of one or two, as is usually found. Although the mine is a wet mine, with the pumps always going, less than sixty days ago a complete spraying system was installed. This was used to wet down any places that had dried out, with the chance of making dust.

"Every week the Superintendent called a safety meeting. All the shift, timber, and fire bosses from both shifts attended the meeting, and precautions for safety were discussed. Only three months ago great signs were placed all over the mine with a white arrow on a black background pointing to the way out in case of danger. Lights were always burning over these, and they were placed every few feet along the tunnels and drifts. A report of these meetings was always forwarded to this office and are on file now. Any recommendation made for greater safety was always agreed to, and the money needed to carry it out immediately provided.

"The same methods are followed at our Sun mine in the same district. Only last month 1,000 tons of dust was removed from this mine for safety's sake. This had accumulated and was wet down each day, but we decided that it would be safer to remove it. This cost nearly $1,000 and could have been saved by continuing the wetting down process, which is considered safe enough in most mines. Then the timbering was done in a most thorough manner. At least one-third more timber was used than is usual, and the extra cost was charged to the safety account. The ventilation equipment was the best and latest model and had been commented on with approval by State Mine Chief Henry many times. In fact, the mine was the model mine of the district.

"Besides providing for the safest mine, we had built up the most homelike and pleasant camp in the West Virginia fields. The houses were new and clean, with neatly painted fences and little gardens. We had sanitary inspectors who kept close watch, and the medical department was the best that we could create. There was also a woman home inspector who went about showing the miners' wives how to live and be comfortable. On Washington's Birthday, the new school, a two-story building costing $8,000, was dedicated. A pool room and reading room is being finished now. The store was carefully inspected every week, and only the best food at the lowest prices was sold.

"The result is that we have probably the best class of miners in the district, most of them native-born Americans. Every effort was made to make the camp a permanent village of homes. Every miner was made to feel that he was located in his home town, and they reciprocated and were proud of their camp. The regular output of the mine was 1,000 tons daily, and this was maintained without hardship to the miners or danger to the mine."

SENATE MOVE FOR SUFFRAGE

Resolution to Hasten State Action Is Favorably Reported.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Though the Senate a few months ago rejected a proposed Constitutional amendment granting the suffrage to women, the subject was revived to-day, when Mr. Owen of Oklahoma reported favorably the Shafroth resolution to hasten action by the States.

The resolution is in the form of a Constitutional amendment which would compel the Legislature of any State to submit the suffrage question to the voters upon petition of not less than 8 per cent. of the voters at the last preceding election. If the voters decided for suffrage, such a provision would automatically be declared a part of the State Constitution.

Mr. Shafroth's resolution is regarded merely as a way to keep the subject in agitation. It was drafted by leaders of the suffrage movement.

Auto Dodges Mother, Kills Child.

Mollie Mallor, 4 years old, daughter of Mrs. Sadie Mallor, 518 Bergen Avenue, Jersey City, was killed early last evening, when she was struck by an automobile belonging to Harold Cummings of Montclair at Bergen and Harrison Avenues. The child was crossing the street with her mother. Cummings was held on a charge of manslaughter. He said he had not seen the child and ran into her while trying to avoid hitting the mother.

Levi P. Morton Returns, Better.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Former Vice President and Mrs. Levi P. Morton, who have been spending the Winter in Washington, left to-day for New York on their way to their country home at Ellerslie-on-Hudson. Mr. Morton's health has been greatly benefited by his stay here and he is regaining his strength, according to his physician.

Rothwell Gets Class Honor.

The Alumni Association Prize, given each year by the seniors of Columbia to the most faithful and deserving student of the class, was voted yesterday to Albert C. Rothwell, who has pulled an oar in the Columbia 'Varsity crew for two years. Rothwell's home is in Wyoming. His class competitor for the honor was Adelbert F. Smithers, editor in chief of The Spectator.

CONVENTION VOTED BY MARGIN OF 1,353

Nine Counties, Including New York, For Constitutional Gathering by 56,965 Majority.

56 COUNTIES UNFAVORABLE

Casting 111,660 Opposition Votes—Total Poll Was: For, 153,322; Against, 151,969.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, April 30.—Nine counties having majorities aggregating 56,965 in favor of holding the next State Constitutional Convention in 1915 carried the proposal by 1,353 majority. The total vote of these counties—New York, Kings, Queens, Richmond, Bronx, Westchester, Erie, Onondaga, and Hamilton—was 97,274 in favor of the question and 40,309 against. The remaining fifty-three counties cast a vote of 56,048 for and 111,660 against. The total vote cast in the entire State was: For, 153,322; against, 151,969. There were 3,146 blank and 2,007 void ballots.

The State Board of Canvassers canvassed the vote to-day and announced the result as above. Secretary of State May will proceed immediately to prepare for the election of delegates at large and from the various districts at the Fall election. It is expected that the convention will last about two months.

The vote cast at the special election on April 7 was less than one-fifth of that polled at the last election for Governor in 1912.

As returned by the sixty-two counties the vote:

Contracts for Museum Wings.

The contract for the building of two new wings of the Metropolitan Museum of Art in which the art collections of J. Pierpont Morgan and the late Benjamin Altman are to be housed, was let yesterday by the Park Board to the P. F. Kenny Company of 33 Old Broadway, which submitted a bid of $624,995. The work is to be started in about two months. The contract for the heating plants in the new wings was awarded to Osborne, Rea & Co. of 241 West Forty-first Street, which bid $6,386.

Mrs. Molineux Left $37,000.

HOTEL MAIL CHUTE JAMMED.

Lone Man Struggled While Crowd in Skirts Made Suggestions.

The bustle, shaved eyebrows, side snake curls, and all other feminine fads and fancies of the moment, even including suffrage, were forgotten for a time night before last on the feminine floor of the McAlpin, when an excited crowd in skirts gathered in front of the mail chute and watched a man pound on the metal side of the carrier to dislodge a mass of letters that had got stuck in transit from the upper regions of the hotel.

You could read the addresses on many of the letters, because they were exposed inside the glass front of the contraption. Some of the women were interested in the post cards bearing pictures of Grant's Tomb, the Battery, and the Woolworth Building, and also a few words of writing over which the curious strained their necks in an effort to spell out tender messages.

The lone man who was doing almost everything else to the chute except shooting it—the letters having dammed it for him—received many suggestions. One woman said a hatpin would remedy the situation. Another suggested that the electrician get a piece of wire and run it down the chute from the floor above. The electrician said it couldn't be done, because the Post Office Department wouldn't stand for anybody's touching the mail after it had been put in the chute.

"Nonsense!" replied the suggester, and sailed away with nose uplifted.

Just as the electrician was about to give up the job and telephone to the nearest postal station to send its mail-saving brigade, one of the souvenir postals was seen to move just a tiny bit. More pounding, which dislodged the fancy bronze work, induced what looked like a bountiful love letter to join in the downlift movement, and the mass scattered. Then the assemblage looked at one another, said "Well!" and followed suit.

CITY SALARIES PAID IN CASH

New Plan Tried with Employes of the Municipal Building.

Under the new plan started by Controller Prendergast to pay the employes of the Municipal Building in cash rather than by check, which went into effect yesterday, $136,376.19 was paid out in the afternoon. The Controller made arrangements with Frank A. Vanderlip, President of the National City Bank, for an unlimited supply of cash, and $300,000 in bills of $10 and less was sent to the Municipal Building under a strong police guard.

A temporary office was rigged up on the second floor and the employes were paid according to the floor occupied by their department. The employes of the Finance Department were taken care of first, and all expressed great satisfaction at the new method. Deputy Controller Charles S. Hervey drew the largest amount, $625.

It is the plan of the Controller to pay cash to all city employes, and in all probability permanent branch pay offices will be established throughout the city.

TO BRING THE QUEEN HERE.

Caspar to Sail Next Week, Returning with Eleanora of Bulgaria.

William Caspar, the personal representative of Queen Eleanora of Bulgaria, who is at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, making arrangements for the Queen's visit to this country, will sail next Thursday on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria for Hamburg, to escort the Queen to New York on the return voyage of the steamer. Mr. Caspar said yesterday that he placed no credence in the reports cabled over from Europe that Queen Eleanora had been advised to postpone her trip to the United States. He has not received any dispatch from Sofia countermanding the arrangements he has made for her.

"I shall sail on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria for Hamburg on May 7 and proceed direct to Sofia, where I shall remain one day, to attend to some business affairs, and then start on the following day for Hamburg with the Queen and embark on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria for New York on May 21, as previously arranged," said Mr. Caspar, who added that he could not understand how the reports that Queen Eleanora was not coming had originated.

Faculty Dines Dean Stoddard.

BRANDEIS ADMITS NEEDS OF RAILWAYS

SEES WASTAGE IN REVENUES

Wade H. Ellis, for Coal Shippers, Hints That This Has Caused Advanced Rate Proposal.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—"The net income and operating revenues of Eastern railroads are smaller than is consistent with their assured prosperity and the welfare of the community," said Louis D. Brandeis of Boston, counsel for the Interstate Commerce Commission, in to-day's hearing on the 5 per cent. advance rate case. He maintained, however, that to make a horizontal advance in all freight rates, as proposed by the railroads, was illegal and beyond the powers of the commission.

Mr. Brandeis said steps should be taken as soon as possible to increase the carriers' revenues, and suggested that testimony given at the commission's hearings had shown how that might be done without advancing rates. He referred to the elimination of special allowances to shippers, free or spotting, and other free service now performed by the roads.

Clifford Thorne of Iowa, representing eight Middle Western States in opposition to the proposed advance, maintained that "the carriers have been making more gross and more net income during the last four years than in any previous four years in their history." He not only contended that the railroads were receiving adequate revenues and making a fair return on their stock, but that their credit was as good or better than that of other industries, as proved by their ability to dispose of hundreds of millions of securities in the last four years.

William A. Glasgow, Jr., of Philadelphia, counsel for cement and coke producers, said that such an advance of freight rates as proposed was a matter of public policy, and could be dealt with only by Congress, and that the commission had no powers to authorize or sanction a horizontal advance, its authority being limited to the determination of the reasonableness of particular rates, after hearing all the facts. He urged that the reasonableness of particular rates could not be determined merely by a showing that the roads needed more revenue.

Judge Henderson of the Iowa Railway Commission argued against the proposed increase from the standpoint of independent producers in Iowa of starch, glucose, dextrine, corn oil, &c. He insisted that there had been no evidence offered by the carriers that the present rates were unreasonable.

The unreasonableness of any increase in the freight rates of low-grade commodities, including coal, coke, iron ore, sand and gravel, was advanced by Wade H. Ellis, who appeared on behalf of coal and coke shippers.

Mr. Ellis maintained that none of the commodities named could stand a penny of rate increase, and asked that they be eliminated from the proposed advance and have consideration in a separate proceeding.

"The carriers have entirely reversed their position since the 1910 case," said Mr. Ellis, "when they admitted that low-grade products were bearing more than their share of the cost of transportation. To-day they propose to add to that cost for the purpose of equalizing conditions, and this despite the fact that the low-grade freight is being transported under a steadily decreasing cost."

"It has been urged," concluded Mr. Ellis, "that the railroads need more money. Admitting this to be true, then there must be either wastage of the enormous revenues, maladministration, or the passenger or some other class of traffic is absorbing the receipts. If they need the revenue, low-grade commodities must be carried at a loss; but there is now power in the commission to tax one class of freight to make up the loss on another. Not even Congress, under the Constitution, could pass any such law and have it stand the test of equity."

TO WEIGH MAIL YEARLY.

Railroads Submit Recommendations for a New System.

Ralph Peters, Chairman of the Committee on Railway Mail Pay, representing 264 railroads, has submitted to Congress a formal recommendation as to a definite system to be followed in paying railroads for carrying mail. Mr. Peters says the railroads feel that every day's delay in rectifying existing conditions is an accumulative injustice. The plan suggested embodies these four main principles:

That the mails should be weighed annually (instead of quadrennially, as at present) and payment made for the weight and distance carried.

That mail apartments in railroad cars fitted up as traveling Post Offices should be paid for.

That side and terminal messenger service between railroad stations and Post Offices and other special services should be paid for.

That all rates of pay and conditions of service should be definite and not subject to the discretion of employes of the Post Office Department.

In an announcement of the railroads' suggestion Mr. Peters said:

"It is the belief of the railroad managers that the adoption of these general principles and establishing fair units of pay will remove this complicated subject from public controversy. It would also result in payment for carrying the parcel post. The present situation is unjust and ought to be corrected.

"Carrying the mails has always been an important detail of railroading. The great development of the country has increased the volume and tonnage of the mails enormously, and has correspondingly intensified the burdens and responsibilities. It is the feeling of railroad managers that as soon as the American people realize the anomalous and inequitable conditions under which the railroads now carry the mails prompt action will be forthcoming from Congress to provide adequate compensation for the services performed."

COL. PERKINS RESTORED.

Senate Puts Retired Marine Officer Back in the Service.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Senate to-day restored to active service in the Marine Corps Lieut. Col. Constantine M. Perkins, who was retired about six years ago under the finding of an examining board that he was suffering from "mental instability." The action of the Senate was based on a letter from Secretary Daniels, asserting that the findings of the examining board had not been supported by the evidence. The Judge Advocate General also disapproved of the findings at the time, and a committee of the House not long ago asserted that the retirement of Col. Perkins "was not voluntary, but was procured by duress and fraud."

The enmity of certain surgeons, it was said, largely effected the Colonel's retirement.

9,000 on Ship's Bermuda Voyages.

Capt. F. H. M. Custance of the Royal Mail steam packet Arcadian, which arrived yesterday from Bermuda, said that his ship had carried nearly 9,000 first-class passengers between New York and Bermuda in the sixteen round trips just completed. The Arcadian sails for Southampton via Bermuda to-morrow with a full list of passengers.

COURT AIDS NEEDY MOTHER.

Finds Shelter for Woman and Infant She Deserted.

When Mary Staveski, who was discharged from the Maternity Hospital a week ago, was arraigned yesterday in the Yorkville Court on a charge of having deserted her three-week-old boy in the stable of James Curtain, at 408 East Sixty-eighth Street, Magistrate House not only refused to punish the woman, but co-operated with Agent Falk of the Children's Society in obtaining a temporary shelter for her and her child at the Foundling Asylum.

Mrs. Staveski, who is 29 years old, told the Magistrate that she had no home, and when she was released from the hospital did not know where to find food and shelter for the baby. She had left him in the stable, she said, in the hope that some kind-hearted person would find him.

YACHT U. S. TAX SUITS ENDED

Discontinued on Payments by C. Vanderbilt and H. A. C. Taylor.

Judge Hough signed an order yesterday in the Federal District Court discontinuing the suits brought by the Government against Cornelius Vanderbilt as owner of the yacht the North Star and Henry A C. Taylor as owner of the yact the Wanderer for the taxes assessed on these vessels as foreign-built yachts.

Both Mr. Vanderbilt and Mr. Taylor had contested the validity of these taxes, which were repealed last year. Mr. Vanderbilt had declined to pay them during the entire period that they were imposed, and Mr. Taylor had refused payment for the years 1909 and 1910. The Supreme Court has now, however, decided that they were valid and constitutional, and so both owners have settled with the Government.

NET CASH FOR EXTRAS.

Hotel Manager Interested in a Curious Business Enterprise.

"I watched the progress of a curious enterprise last Sunday during the rain," said a hotel manager who lives up in the neighborhood of 150th Street and Convent Avenue. "I was so interested that I followed the undertaking to its successful conclusion in the back room of a saloon in Amsterdam Avenue.

"First I noticed two men who bore all the signs of 'bums,' who were hustling about and shouting at the top of their lungs the jargon that nowadays denotes 'Extra! Special Extra!' Each bore under his arm what looked like a bundle of afternoon newspapers, but which a sale revealed to consist of only one rolled in such a fashion as to give the impression of numbers. Every time one of them would make a sale his stock woud be handed over, and he would run swiftly to an alleyway and reappear with another 'bundle' to make another sale, and another disappearance. When a housemaid poked her head out of a window and demanded two copies of the paper the man who spplied her had to run back to the alley to get the second.

"My curiosity led me to take a look at the source whence came the supply of the two tramps. I found in the alley a well-dressed young man who had evidently come to the conclusion that he could make money more easily by being a boss than by being a laborer. I guessed that he had picked the two men up in the street or had got them from a saloon, and it was evident that he would trust them for only one paper at a time. As soon as each appeared with the nickel he had got for his last copy he would get another. When all the stock was sold the three adjourned to the saloon where, I have no doubt, the laborers received their share of the profits from the capitalist."

DENIES MONOPOLY IN LEHIGH COAL SUIT

Lehigh Valley Coal Sales Co. Files Reply to Government Anti-Trust Action.

EXPLAINS ITS CONTRACTS

No Special Favors Granted by Lehigh Railroad, It Is Declared—Admits Reaping Large Profits.

The Lehigh Valley Coal Sales Company filed in the Federal District Court yesterday its answer to the equity suit brought against it under the Sherman Anti-Trust act by the Government. It sets forth facts concerning its business relations with the Lehigh Valley Railway Company, the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, and other corporations which were also named as defendants, to disprove the allegation that it is so closely united with the railroad company and its coal-land holding subsidiary, the Coal Company, as to constitute an illegal monopoly.

The Lehigh Valley Coal Sales Company was formed on Jan. 22, 1912, after the Supreme Court had handed down a decision against a railroad owning the coal mines of which it carried the produce. The company has always represented itself to be a corporation under a completely distinct Directorate from that of the railroad and with an entirely separate list of stockholders. It is this contention which the Government has attacked and which the Coal Sales Company is trying to substantiate.

After a general denial on the part of the defendants of any intention to monopolize the coal trade, the answer traces the history of the company and emphasizes the fact that there are constant changes in its list of stockholders and the stock is widely distributed. On April 9, it asserts, there were 338 stock accounts, representing 7,600 full shares, and on that date 1,490 shareholders, or 42 per cent. of the entire number, were women.

The Coal Sales Company goes into detail concerning its business relations with the Lehigh Coal Company, Coxe Bros. & Co., Incorporated, and other firms. It takes up the contention that its contract with the Coal Company has been so drawn with regard to the price of coal at New York harbor as to be a bar to the reduction of freight rates, and points out that the amount of coal it handled in the fiscal year ending April 1 last in New York harbor, was only 816,053 tons, out of its total business of about 10,000,000 tons. Moreover, it quotes the Anthracite Mine Inspectors' report for 1912, to show that far from possessing a virtual monopoly it has to face vigorous competition. While it handled about 10,000,000 tons of coal, 3,343,714 tons were sold in competition with it.

Denial is entered of any special favors granted to the defendant by the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, and it is asserted that since June 1, last, the relations between the Coal Sales Company and Coxe Brothers & Co., of which the Government has complained, have been subject to no formal contract, and could be terminated at thirty days' notice. Moreover, the Coal Sales Company denies that it has been purchasing coal from substantially the same independent operators as the Lehigh Coal Company has.

With regard to the G. B. Markle Company, which controls a specially high grade of coal, the whole of which the Government accuses the Coal Sales Company of monopolizing, the company says there is nothing in the contract to limit the transportation of this particular coal to the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, and that all the agreement does is to create the Coal Sales Company, the selling agency of the colliery on a commission basis. The Markle Company, it is said, is constantly giving the Coal Sales Company orders as to prices at which its products are to be sold, and they are actually sold in competition with the other coal handled by the defendant.

The arrangement with the Markle Company, it is contended, is in line with the best business methods. On the one hand, the Markle Company desired a reliable selling agency; on the other, the Coal Sales Company, since it had to guarantee all sales, asked exclusive rights to compensate it for its responsibilities. If the Markle coal is carried over the Lehigh Valley lines it is merely because they are convenient.

The Coal Sales Company gives a list of the storage plants, the coal trestles, and so on, that it leases from the Lehigh Coal Company, and says that it took them over at a fair businesslike appraisal of their rental values.

After denying that it has a monopoly of the sale in interstate or foreign commerce of anthracite mined along the route of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, or that it is in any sense a subsidiary of the railroad company, the Coal Sales Company recounts the incidents connected with its incorporation in January, 1912. It asserts that, although a large majority of the railroad stockholders availed themselves of their right to subscribe for Sales Company shares, and although its first officers were also officers of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company's sales agency force and its Directors were also on the boards of either the railroad or the Coal Company, it was always an entirely independent organization, the sole object of which was to disassociate the Coal Company from any interest in the anthracite business other than the actual mining and the sale of the coal at the mines in Pennsylvania.

The Coal Sales Company defends its arrangement with the Coal Company contending that it does not receive any special favors as to the price of storing coal and that, if it has paid the Coal Company somewhat less for its coal than for the coal of Coxe Brothers & Co. and other concerns, it was because a temporary reduction in price was reasonable, in that most of its business was to be the sale of the Coal Company's products and it had to develop new markets perhaps at no profit, possibly at a loss.

The defendant admits that its profits have been large in the two years of its existance, but the general suspension in the anthracite region in April and May, 1912, caused a great shortage and fear of possible shortages in the following Winter. The gross business in 1912 amounted to $33,202,159, and in 1913 to $40,018,724, but it is said conditions in the opening months of 1914 warrant no expectation of abnormal profits for the current year.

The answer of the Coal Sales Company closes with a general denial of any control over its acts by the railroad company or the enjoyment on its part of any special privileges from the railroad. It also defends its contract with the Coal Company as being founded on sound business principles, and it is denied that if it lost this contract it would lose its sole business. The contract, it is also asserted, does not prevent the railroad from fixing any freight tariff it pleases or the Coal Sales Company from charging any prices for its coal. Consequently the contract is in no sense in restraint of interstate trade and commerce.

So the Coal Sales Company, after also citing various technical defenses in case it should wish to avail itself of them, prays that the petition of the Government as against it be dismissed with costs. The answer of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company will be filed in a few days.

EARNED JOBS AT ELECTION.

President Mathewson Makes Four Bronx Appointments.

Borough President Douglas Mathewson of the Bronx made four appointments to his staff yesterday. Frederick C. Humphrys was appointed Assistant Commissioner of Public Works, at a salary of $4,000 a year. Mr. Humphrys was formerly Tammany leader of the Thirty-second Assembly District, south, but, with Eugene J. McGuire, he broke away from Tammany control, and last year organized the Jeffersonian Union which supported Mr. Mathewson's candidacy last Fall.

Emanuel Friedlich was made secretary to the Borough President, at salary of $4,000. He is a public accountant, and a Republican. John J. Knewitz was appointed Assistant Superintendent of Buildings, at $3,000. He is Chairman of the Republican County Committee of the Bronx. The Republicans, under Mr. Knewitz, supported Mr. Mathewson, but bolted the rest of the Fusion ticket.

Jacob C. Vreeland was made Chief Inspector of Buildings, at $4,000. He is the Progressive leader of the Thirty-fifth Assembly District, and worked personally for Mr. Mathewson's election.

GRIEVING, ENDS LIFE AT 80.

H. C. E. Niemeyer, Retired Pilot, Found Dead by Daughter.

Grief over the death of his wife three months ago caused Herman C. E. Niemeyer, a retired broker and pilot, to commit suicide yesterday by inhaling illuminating gas in his room at 51 Lenox Road, Flatbush. He was 80 years old. His family say he piloted the first Hamburg-American steamship to cross the ocean. The vessel was the Ariadna.

A few weeks ago Mr. Niemeyer arranged to break up his home and go to live with his daughter, Mrs. Martha Koehn, in Chicago. He sold his house, and Mrs. Koehn went to Brooklyn to assist him.

While moving vans waited outside to take away his furniture he failed to appear, and his daughter went upstairs to his room. She found him dead upon his bed. He left a note giving his daughter full charge of his belongings.

E. C. FOGG IN THE BRESLIN.

Will Divide His Time Between Here and the Copley Plaza.

Edward C. Fogg, who left a place as assistant manager of the Belmont to go to Boston last year as manager of the Copley Plaza, is coming back to New York, partly, at least. Mr. Fogg, who has been very successful in conducting the Boston hotel, has been elected Vice President and Managing Director of the Breslin Hotel Company, and while making his headquarters in Boston, will assume the supervision of the New York hotel. He will take charge to-day.

Mr. Fogg will be able to devote only a small portion of his time to the hotel in New York. David B. Mulligan, who has been in charge of the Breslin for several years, remains as manager, it is understood.

ANARCHISTS MENACE MAY DAY PARADERS

Plan Demonstration in Union Square After the Unions and Socialists March.

REBUKE TO I. W. W. RANKS

Workers to Manifest Desire to be Let Alone — War and Mine Strike Stir Paraders.

May 1, which has been celebrated by parades and mass meetings of the Socialist Party and the east side trade unions for many years, will see more parades than usual to-day for several reasons. One of these is the excitement caused by the unemployed demonstrations, another the situation among the mine workers, a third the feeling over the Mexican crisis, and a fourth is that the socialists and the unions wish to let the I. W. W. and the anarchists know that workers want to run their own demonstrations.

The anarchists have planned a demonstration which, if the police are not vigilant, may lead to a clash at the meeting in Union Square, which will follow the parade of the socialists and the unions.

The socialist end of to-day's parade will start from the vicinity of Seventeenth, Eighteenth and Nineteenth Streets, Irving Place and Third Avenue, and besides the socialistic trade unions will have in line the Lettish, German, Finnish, Hungarian, Slovak, Polish, Scandinavian, Bohemian and Italian branches of the Socialist Party and a delegation from the "Church of the Revolution," organized recently.

There will also be in line in this parade a large number of unions in the building and miscellaneous trades, whose members are all or nearly all socialists. The parade will start at 1 P. M., and will march from Nineteenth Street to Second Avenue, to Fourth Street, to University Place, to Washington Square, to Fifth Avenue, to Twenty-second Street, to Fourth Avenue, to Seventeenth Street and to Union Square, where the mass meeting will be held and speeches made in various languages.

A parade of the unions in the United Hebrew Trades will start from Rutgers Square at 1 P. M., and marching through the east side join the uptown parade at Fourth Street, marching with it to Union Square to join in the mass meeting.

The socialists and trade unionists in the Brownsville District of Brooklyn will parade, starting from the Labor Lyceum, Willoughby Avenue, Brooklyn, 25,000 strong, according to Frank Leventhal, who will be grand marshal. The parade will consist principally of unions of garment workers, with unions in other trades, the Consumers' League and other organizations. About 1,000 members of the Socialist Party will be in line. The line of march will take in the streets where there are most factories.

The Bronx Socialists will celebrate by holding open-air meetings at Bathgate and Tremont Avenues, Prospect Avenue and 163d Street, Bergen Avenue and 149th Street, and Washington Avenue and Clermont Parkway.

May Day will be celebrated by the children of the Socialist schools in the form of an outing at Sulzer's Park, 127th Street and Second Avenue, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The children will parade to the park from the Labor Temple in East Eighty-fourth Street and other points. They will have games and a luncheon.

The Anti-Militarist League of the anarchists plans to meet at Mulberry Bend Park in the forenoon, later at Union Square, and at night in Cooper Union, and will pass resolutions declaring against any war but a war between labor and capital.

Max Kasimirsky, organizer of the United Hebrew Trades, said last night that he did not expect any attempt on the part of the I. W. W. or the anarchists to interfere with the May Day demonstration of the United Hebrew Trades and the Socialist Party.

"We will have police protection, and the I. W. W. and the anarchists will have to confine themselves to their own demonstration," he said. "All anti-American flag transparencies will be barred from our parade."

VERDICT FOR PAQUINS.

Schuyler Van Cortlandt Hamilton and Mrs. Virginia Hamilton Lose.

Mme. Paquin, Limited, Parisian dealers in gowns, won an $817 judgment by default yesterday in the suit brought for that amount in the City Court against Schuyler Van Cortlandt Hamilton of 1,028 Fifth Avenue and Mrs. Virginia Hamilton. The defendants, according to the complaint, failed to pay for gowns which they purchased in the Summer of 1911. They were subpoenaed on April 22, but did not defend the suit.

Mrs. Schuyler Hamilton is a daughter-in-law of the Baroness de Graffenreid. A judgment for $3,209 was obtained against her in 1911 by Frank W. Duryea & Co., brokers, who sued for money due as margin. Schuyler Hamilton is a grandson of the late Gen. Schuyler Hamilton. His mother was Gertrude Van Cortlandt.

MRS. CLAUSSEN BACK IN JAIL

Court Refuses to Fix Bail and Her Trial is Set for Tuesday.

Mrs. Ida Claussen pleaded not guilty yesterday before Judge Mulqueen in General Sessions when arraigned to answer to the charge of writing a threatening letter to Charles Strauss, President of the Board of Water Supply. Judge Mulqueen set the trial for Tuesday before Judge Rosalsky, and committed Mrs. Claussen to the Tombs without bail.

Mrs. Claussen later appeared before Justice Davis in the Supreme Court on a writ of habeas corpus, in an application for bail pending her trial on the criminal charge. After hearing arguments of her lawyer and a representative of the District Attorney's office, Justice Davis refused to fix bail, and Mrs. Claussen was returned to the Tombs.

POLICE HORSES ISOLATED.

Show Symptoms of Rabies — Dog Which Bit Them Had Disease.

The two police horses, Douglas and Larry, which were bitten on Wednesday by a dog at Riverside Drive and 193d Street, were treated yesterday by Police Surgeon Edward Maloney and placed in isolated stalls at the stables near the West 152d Street Police Station. The horses showed symptoms of the rabies. The body of the dog, which was shot, showed the disease. The dog had bitten another dog before it attacked the horses, and this second dog was found yesterday and taken to the West 152d Street Station.

James E. Ferris of 4,054 Broadway reported to the police that he had been bitten by a fox terrier at Amsterdam Avenue and 172d Street. The dog, which is owned by George Duenjes of 500 West 173d Street, was caught. Ferris went to the Washington Heights Hospital for treatment.

SKELLEY IS ACQUITTED.

Policeman Accused by Alice Walker Cheered in Court.

The jury in the case of Policeman John J. Skelley, charged with taking a bribe in August, 1912, from Alice Walker, keeper of a disorderly resort, returned a verdict late last night of not guilty.

Several relatives and friends of the accused policeman cheered when the Foreman made the announcement.

$15,000 for Shock at Telephone.

EXETER, N. H., April 30.—An electric shock, caused by crossed wires, cost the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company $15,000 in Superior Court to-day. This sum was awarded to John A. McAdam, who was disabled for more than a year by a shock received while telephoning in 1911.

YUAN SHIH-KAI AS ABSOLUTE DICTATOR

Chinese "Constitution," Promulgated To-day, Gives Power of a Despot to the President.

CAN VETO ALL LEGISLATION

Even If Re-Passed by Three-Fourths Majority—Document Work of the Constitutional Convention.

PEKING, April 30.—The amended Constitution for the Republic of China, which is to be formally promulgated to-morrow, is notable for the wide powers that is given to the President.

The document, as it now stands, is the work of the Constitutional Canvention, which has been laboring here since the middle of March.

The President is empowered to convoke, open, suspend, close, and dissolve the Legislature; submit to it the budget as well as other bills, and refer back to the Legislature for reconsideration bills already passed by it. If such measures are re-passed by a three-fourths majority the President may, with the approval of the Administrative Council, still withhold his consent to their promulgation.

The President obtains sole power to appoint and dismiss civil and military officials, to declare war and conclude peace, and he will be in complete control of the army and navy as well as of all expenditures for these branches of the Government.

FIGHTING IN SANTO DOMINGO

Commander of Wheeling Reports Severe Firing at Puerto Plata.

SANTO DOMINGO, April 30.—The Government troops to-day continued to press their attack on the rebels in Puerto Plata, and are gradually gaining ground.

It is reported that discord has started among the rebels, two of whose leaders, Felix Arias and Leonte Vasquez, have proclaimed themselves President.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—A dispatch to the Navy Department to-day from the Wheeling, stationed at Santo Domingo, reports that severe firing continued on April 27 at Puerto Plata, and that on the same day there were slight disturbances at Barahona.

On the evening of April 28 shots were fired back of the Customs House in Santo Domingo City, apparently during a dispute of some kind, which, however, so far as is known, had no political significance.

EXONERATES LORD MURRAY.

But Committee Finds That He Committed Errors of Judgment.

LONDON, April 30.—The committee of the House of Lords appointed to investigate the dealings of Lord Murray of Elibank, formerly Chief Liberal Whip, in American Marconi shares to-day issued its report, which finds that he committed "errors of judgment." There was, however, nothing in his conduct "which reflects upon his personal honor."

The committee recommends that "there should henceforth be an inflexible rule to preclude those who hold any public office from entering upon any speculative transactions in stocks or shares under any circumstances whatever."

Lord Murray when he was Chief Liberal Whip was said to have invested some of the funds of the Liberal Party in Marconi shares.

Distinguished Visitors to Canal.

PANAMA, April 30.—Dr. Joseph Hill White, Senior Surgeon of the Public Health Service of the United States, arrived here to-day to undertake a study of the conditions in regard to hookworm in Panama. He came at the request of the Panama authorities. Count Jacques de Lesseps, a relative of the late Ferdinand de Lesseps, the original creator of the scheme for cutting through the Isthmus, also arrived here to-day on a visit of inspection of the canal.

OLD SILVER AT CHRISTIE'S.

Irish Potato-Rings Bring $3,260 — $930 for a Commonwealth Dish.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

LONDON, April 30.—At Christie's to-day a Commonwealth silver-gilt porringer and cover weighing 32 ounces 18 pennyweights was sold for $930. It is said that Oliver Cromwell presented the porringer to his daughter on the occasion of her marriage to Viscount Falconberg.

Four Irish potato-rings brought $3,260.

A Queen Anne cup and cover weighing 26 ounces 9 pennyweights, presented by Queen Anne to Admiral Sir John Leake as a token of appreciation of his services in the battle against the French fleet off Malaga, brought $1,720.

SEEKS RADIO COMPETITION.

Postmaster General Tells Parliament of Existing Situation.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 30. — Postmaster General Hobhouse, in introducing the Post Office budget in the House of Commons to-day, referred to the progress in the construction of the imperial wireless chain. He admitted frankly that he would welcome competition with the Marconi syndicate. He said he felt that there was not enough competition in wireless telegraphy with the Marconi Company and that it was very difficult to obtain competition.

The Marconi Company, said Mr. Hobhouse, was closely related with nearly every other wireless corporation, and the consequence was that in whatever direction one looked for competition, one found one's self up against a very extensive and powerful corporation.

There was, the Postmaster General added, only one serious competitor of the Marconi Company in this country, the Poulsen Company, which had a station in County Kerry, Ireland, and he understood that it had obtained a contract with the Canadian Government to supply a service at the rate of 400 words a minute.

If, said Mr. Hobhouse, the Poulsen Company could demonstrate its ability to give an efficient service, the Post Office would gladly give it a license to utilize its service. He was waiting, as he had been waiting ever since he became Postmaster General, to get a test that would be satisfactory to the Post Office of the Poulson Company's ability to carry on such a service. It had always been promised, but the promise had never been fulfilled.

H. C. FITZGERALD SUICIDE.

American Kills Himself by Shooting in a London Hotel.

LONDON, April 30.—An American, Henry C. Fitzgerald, who had lived abroad for ten years and was known as Major Fitzgerald, shot himself in the head at the Charing Cross Hotel today and died from his wound shortly after he had been removed to a hospital.

Fitzgerald, who was about fifty years old, and always dressed and lived well, had spent the past year in France. He arrived in London on Tuesday and registered at the hotel together with an English friend, William Merant, who today said that he thought Fitzgerald's suicide was the result of financial difficulties.

The antecedents and claim to the rank of Major of Fitzgerald are unknown. An inquest is to be held on Friday.

SHIPPING MEN MEETING.

Belief That an Agreement on Atlantic Rates Will Be Reached.

COLOGNE, April 30.—Representatives of the great international steamship companies arrived here to-day for the resumption to-morrow of the shipping pool negotiations, which were suspended at the conference in Berlin on March 20.

In shipping circles it is generally believed that an agreement will be reached.

SIDE SHOWS AT BALL OF VACATION GIRLS

Gypsy Camp and Moving Pictures Were Attractions "On the Pike."

DANCE MASQUE ON STAGE

Professionals Did the Newest Steps and the Dancers Vied with Them When the Floor Was Cleared.

The Vacation Savings Fund Committee gave its annual ball at the Grand Central Palace last evening, with great crowds present and more side shows than a circus. All the girls of the Vacation Committee went to the ball, a good many of them brought their families, and still more of them brought their best young men. It was the most exciting ball that the committee has ever had, and just barrels of fun.

The evening began with a play which the girls gave themselves and which was, appropriately enough, a vacation play. A nice girl wearing a middy blouse was the heroine of the play, and at the Summer camp she sleeps in the open air and has fascinating and interesting dreams about nymphs and fauns, imps, and goblins, who come and ask the girl not to let the hunters kill the live things of the forest or to let the other people destroy the growing things. There were many pretty scenes, a chorus at the end of each, and, finally, a procession of the campers armed with mops, brooms, and household implements, danced around the sleeper. There was no dialogue, for "Vacation Dreams,"—the name of the play—was a "dance masque."

The "Pike," which was the important feature of the ball, was even more exciting than the play, which not every one in the big hall of the Palace was able to see. The "Pike" was on the upper floor, and everything was contributed, and the committee made a generous sum for its work. There was a restaurant, with all sorts of good things to eat and grape juice. In the moving-picture show, to which there was a special admission fee, the girls saw the most attractive pictures—3,000 of themselves going over the Imperator with Miss Anne Morgan.

If anything could be more exciting than that it was the gypsy camp, which was chock full of thrills. In the first place, it had wild-looking young men bandits for barkers. They wore gay-colored headdresses and broad scarfs, and inside there were fortune telling, Hungarian dancing and music, a gypsy wedding, with tents and wagons and beautiful gypsy girls in beautiful embroidered gowns such as no gypsy girl would ever think or wearing, and much more attractive. Miss Anne Tracy had a special show with her police dog Luche, the champion of the world. There was a contest of police dogs. They climbed nine-foot walls and captured evil-looking villains who were only saved from unpleasant realistic effects by well-wadded suits.

There was dancing all the evening after the play, and the girls and young men danced the tango, hesitation, Maxixe, and one-step, and professionals at intervals gave the same dances as they should be given, while the vacation girls looked on breathless and tried to give the same little kicks with the same grace later.

Business was not neglected, though it was a ball, and "on the Pike" there was a stand where one could give in her name to a Vacation Committee member, and also select her vacation place. This latter might include a trip to Europe if the girl was rich enough and not an expensive trip—$190 for a month, everything included. "What would you spend if you stayed at home?" asked the vacation people.

Miss Anne Morgan was in all parts of the ball at once and nothing would have gone as it should without Timothy Healy, the able Chairman of the Floor Committee, who gave out notices with a beautiful brogue and a megaphone. Mrs. James Speyer was in one of the boxes with friends, and others at the ball were:

Curtis, Miss Eleanor Lamson, Miss Mercedes de Acosta, Miss Audrey Osborn, Miss Marion Clark, Miss May Harriman, Louis Anspacher, R. Davey, Waldridge Taft, Thomas H. Ellett, Arundel Nicholls, Jack Mabbet, Grosvenor Atterbury, Julian R. Speyer, and Thomas Onativia.

ADMISSIONS BY COUNTESS.

Was Too Familiar with Orderly She Killed, But Recovered Her Dignity.

By Marconi Transatlantic Wireless Telegraph to The New York Times.

ROME, April 30.—Countess Tiepolo-Oggioni, a member of a noble Venetian family, accused of the murder last Nov. 8 of Polimenti, the orderly of her husband, Capt. Oggioni, was to-day placed on the stand at Oneglia, near Genoa, where the assizes are being held.

The Countess was questioned at considerable length as to her relations with Polimenti. She admitted that during a "period of physical weakness" she allowed Polimenti, who had a reputation as a Don Juan, to become too familiar with her. She confessed that she even sent postcards to him.

The Countess said that after a few months' rest at Venice she "recovered her dignity," and when Polimenti seized her brutally she fired at him, but without intending to kill him.

There are about 100 witnesses. The verdict is not expected before three or four days.

INTERRUPT M. P.'S WEDDING.

Suffragists Cause Disturbance — Militant Hurls Petition at King.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 30.—Suffragettes caused a disturbance at the wedding at St. James's Church, Piccadilly, to-day of Noel Buxton, M. P., and Miss Lucy Pelham Burn. Many society persons and political friends of the couple were present.

While a clergyman was reading the service a well-dressed woman shouted: "Mr. Noel Buxton, will you promise to treat this woman you are about to marry properly and insist that she has a vote?"

Almost simultaneously a man interrupted the service. Both woman and man were promptly removed from the church by other members of the congregation.

LONDON, April 30. — While King George was driving in a motor car through Cambridge to-day a suffragette approached his automobile and threw at his Majesty a petition calling for "votes for women."

The package struck the chauffeur of the King's car.

An Anglo-American Engagement.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 30.—The engagement is announced of Capt. Henry Hammond Shott of the Royal Berkshire Regiment and Hazel Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brown of 245 North Broadway, Yonkers, New York.

An Impertinent Question.

The news that Col. Bryan is wearing a silken skull cap permeates the remote sections by way of the telegraph. The skull cap is a sartorial accessory which arouses neither our enthusiasm nor our interest. What we'd like to know is whether Bryan has ever had his pants pressed. They hadn't been pressed the last time we saw him, but that was quite a spell ago.—Topeka Capital.

NOBLE'S WRECK A PUZZLE.

Lake Vessel Came to Grief When Near a Safe Harbor.

DULUTH, Minn., April 30.—No more wreckage from the lost steamer Benjamin Noble came ashore to-day, nor were any bodies seen. The lake was placid. Lake sailors are puzzled by the disappearance of the Noble, but they think that she attempted to reach Duluth Harbor. Because the red light on the south entrance pier was extinguished and the fog horn was silent, they believe that she struck side-on against the sand bank that forms Park Point, upset and slid into deep water. Most of the members of the crew, it is believed, were below.

Incoming steamers report that they saw the Noble making her way toward Duluth. The freighter Norwalk fought the seas alongside the Noble all the way from the Soo. The Noble was making a good fight, although she shipped huge waves. Near Duluth the Norwalk lost sight of the Noble's lights.

Capt. R. C. Patterson of the steamer Minneapolis, which withstood the storm, had a narrow escape. He, too, missed the light he expected to find and, turning sharply, veered off in time. All overdue vessels were accounted for this morning.

SAULT STE MARIE, Mich., April 30. —The steamer Buffalo, down bound with flour, which ran aground in upper St. Mary's River on Tuesday, was released to-day. Her lightered cargo will be put aboard the vessel below the locks and she will proceed to her destination.

MINISTERS' PENSION FUND.

Methodist Bishops Indorse the Plan of the Church to Raise $5,000,000.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30. — The Board of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which is holding its semi-annual meeting here, to-day approved the plan of the church throughout the world to raise $5,000,000 for the support of superannuated clergymen and their widows.

It is proposed to hold two conventions, one in this city and the other in Chicago, in an effort to raise money for the fund.

If the plan is carried out 6,000 ministers who are on the superannuated list will receive increases of 50 per cent. on the amount which they now receive annually from Conference funds for their support. The most that any superannuated minister now receives is said to be $605, and the minimum is said to be $105.

SEVEN DIE IN LAKE STORM.

Vessel Founders in Ontario and Only One Is Saved.

ROCHESTER, April 30.—The schooner William Jamieson, bound from Oswego for Napanee, Ont., is reported to have sunk in mid-lake in the great storm which raged yesterday. Capt. John McCullough, his wife and son, the mate and his wife, and two of the crew were drowned. The cook, a colored man, it is reported, escaped.

The Captain and crew of the William Jamieson were from Kingston. The schooner took on a cargo of 400 tons of coal at Oswego.

While seeking refuge from the storm the schooners Keewatin and Julia B. Merrill collided head-on in the upper gap of the Bay of Quinte. The Keewatin was beached and the Merrill was towed to Kingston, badly damaged. The tug Umbria went ashore at the foot of Carlton Island.

MARY GARDEN ART BUYER.

Pays $375 for Chippendale Table at Crawford Sale—Bedstead, $1,800.

Mary Garden was again a purchaser at the Crawford sale at the American Art Galleries yesterday afternoon, paying $375 for a beautiful oblong, square-cornered Chippendale table, 5 feet 3 by 3 feet 7, with carved legs and claw feet, the curtain elaborately carved in festoons and birds. A handsome carved Georgian mantel mirror of mahogany and with three panels went to Miss Garden for $125, and she paid $50 for an original Chippendale mahogany side table with carved back and ball and claw feet, upholstered in old green damask.

The highest price of the day was $1,800, given by Bernet, Agent, for an extremely rare Chippendale four-post bedstead in mahogany, richly carved and with magnificent claw feet, with the draperies of yellow brocade and an antique bedspread. This bedstead was exhibited in London for a number of years as the most wonderful of its kind. To Bernet, Agent, went a remarkable Chippendale long-case clock, made by Walker of London, for $810, and he paid $500 for a set of Georgian mahogany dining room chairs, nine side and one arm chairs, with elaborately carved backs.

A set of original Chippendale mahogany dining room chairs went to H. C. Matthews for $800; Lorenz, Agent, paid $500 for a Chippendale side table with elaborately carved curtain and legs, and $500 for a set of carved Georgian mahogany dining room chairs. Mrs. Charles A. Munn, Jr. gave $900 for a set of rare old Queen Anne furniture, two settees, and two arm chairs upholstered in hand-tooled leather. Hugh L. Murray paid $660 for a pair of rare William and Mary two-back settees carved and inlaid and covered with original needlework. A rare Chippendale mahogany wardrobe and a break-front Chippendale bookcase went to Peter Lauckhardt for $1,900.

The returns for the day were $32,233, and the total to date $52,845. The sale will be concluded this afternoon.

FOUNDER'S DAY PRIZES.

Painting by George W. Bellows of New York Wins at Pittsburgh.

PITTSBURGH, April 30.—Andrew Carnegie was the principal speaker today at the eighteenth annual founders' day celebration of Carnegie Institute. The prize winning paintings and the amounts of the prizes in the International Art Exhibition of 1914, a founders' day event, follow:

First—"The Village in Winter," by Edward W. Redfield, of Center Bridge, Pa., $1,500.

Second—"The String Quartet," by Richard Jack of London, England, $1,000.

Third—"Cliff Dwellers," by George W. Bellows of New York City, $500.

POISONED HIMSELF BY OVEREATING

The overcrowded intestines give ample warning to the heavy eater. Not by sharp griping pain, but by gradually approaching signs of old age. It becomes hard to walk upstairs, to get up in the morning, to stay up late and keep the brain clear. If the average man made it a practice to flush out the system with natural mild Hercules Water twice a week, he would remove the poisonous matter from his body. Hercules Water can be secured at all drugigsts and is the finest natural laxative imported into this country. Eisner-Mendelson Co., New York.

The inefficiency of square pegs in round holes

The inefficiency of a square peg in a round hole consists in the unadaptibility of the hole to the peg.

For example, a tenant who, owing to the impracticability of the space he occupies, is compelled to lease more space than he actually needs, is literally a square peg in a round hole, occupying waste space which he cannot use but is compelled to pay for.

Space in the Equitable Building is built on the square, sold on the square and free from waste and can be leased to dovetail into your requirements with cog-like accuracy.

Leases now being made from May 1, 1915. The building, however, is due to be completed 2 or 3 months ahead of that date.

Brooklyn's Great May Sale of Undermuslins Begins To-Day

THE ABRAHAM AND STRAUS SALE is held at this time each year, at the entrance of the Summer season, to permit preparations to be made in time for the sojourn in the country, and to buy the undermuslins and other wear needs for the Summer generally.

It is at once an exhibition of the new and beautiful and a great economy occasion, unmatched in Greater New York.

It shows the exquisite work of Paris, Berlin, London and Vienna in Lingerie, and the better kind of domestic handiwork—extraordinary in its scope, practical in its variety, unparalleled in its underpricing.

Its range of prices is well illustrated by its imported Lingerie, which runs from dainty Gowns at $1.48 to elaborate Bridal Trousseaux at $74.98—each remarkable in its underpricing.

Many new ideas are shown, such as the dainty pink batiste wear, so cool and popular for summer—a charming collection of Crepe Underwear, perfect for traveling, as it needs no ironing—and other novelties.

A Notable Picture Section

Page by page the Pictorial Section of next Sunday's Times will make a broad, strong appeal. It will contain seven full pages of the newest and best pictures to be obtained in a market as extensive as the world itself. Three pages will be devoted to the stirring, often inspiring, scenes connected with our trouble with Mexico, including the departure of our troops for Vera Cruz, and, first in the thought of the people, the best photographs obtainable of the dramatic American seizure of Vera Cruz. There is nothing of tropical drowse in any of these pictures. Vera Cruz, for once, is wide awake.

Other pictures of wide interest include the prize winning paintings of the International Exhibition of the Carnegie Institute, prominent New York brides in their wedding gowns, a page of well-known actors and actresses, professional and amateur, and a page of interest to every woman, showing the Paris interpretation of the pannier skirt in its newest form.

Ask your dealer to see that you get a copy of next Sunday's Times.

TRAVIS WINS TEST ROUND AT LAKEWOOD

Veteran Golfer Leads Qualifying Field with 74—Marston Second.

With a score of 74, which led a field of eighty-two starters, Walter J. Travis of Garden City won the qualifying medal the first day of the annual Spring golf tournament of the Country Club of Lakewood yesterday. He needed 41 strokes on the outward trip, but settled down returning, and he had to, for Max R. Marston of Baltusrol was on hand with 76.

Scores in the first flight of sixteen were well bunched, for at 78 were Maurice E. Risley of Atlantic City, who might have won the medal if his putting had been in order, and H. A. Steiner of Inwood. At 80 were Horace T. Cook of Trenton, who got down to the final round against Travis at Lakewood last year, and Gardiner W. White of Flushing, who has announced his intention of competing in all events of this kind this year. White could not get going on the first nine holes, and required 43 strokes to go out. Scores of 85 just got in the chief set.

Dr. Theodore Senseman of Atlantic City, who won the principal cup at that place last week was unable to gain a place in the first sixteen. He had to be content with a 92. One of the surprises was the failure of Hamilton K. Kerr of South Shore to gain a position in the first flight. He needed 85, because of a very indifferent outward journey.

The draw for match play, which begins to-day, is as follows: Gardner vs. Marston, Travis vs. Cook, Proal vs. Robbins, De Forest vs. Forrest, Maxwell vs. Sprague, Risley vs. White, McClure vs. Ashley, Steiner vs. Van Vleck. The scores:

First sixteen.—Walter J. Travis, Garden City, 74; Max R. Marston, Baltusrol, 76; Maurice E. Risley, Atlantic City, 78; H. A. Steiner, Inwood, 78; Horace T. Cook, Trenton, 80; Gardiner W. White, Flushing, 80; H. M. Forrest, Lakewood, 81; P. A. Proal, Rumson, 82; C. H. Maxwell, Trenton, 82; Arden M. Robbins, Garden City, 83; S. K. de Forest, Lakewood, 84; C. E. Van Vleck, Jr., Baltusrol, 84; A. J. McClure, Montclair, 84; N. E. Sprague, Inwood, 84; T. A. Ashley, Woodland, 84; Dr. C. H. Gardner, Agawam, 85.

Second sixteen.—F. C. Jennings, Nassau, 86; James G. Batterson, Fox Hills, 86; P. W. Kendall, Deal, 86; Morton L. Feary, Richmond County, 86; G. A. Warner, Naugatuck, 87; Chester R. Gillett, Wykagyl, 87, (withdrew;) C. Gilbert Waldo, Brooklawn, 88; R. C. Maxwell, Trenton, 88; A. C. Camovito, Lakewood, 88; F. J. Ross, Dunwoodie, 88; J. H. Ottley, Nassau, 89; Hamilton K. Kerr, South Shore, 89; H. S. Jennings, Twaalfskill, 89; A. C. Pratt, Montclair, 89; Frederick A. Potts, Lakewood, 89; S. Y. Ramage, Oil City, 89; C. A. Spofford, Garden City, 90.

Third sixteen.—H. W. Doughton, Merion, 90; J. D. Armstrong, Buffalo, 91; W. H. Young, Deal, 91; Clarence M. Cohen, Inwood, 91; Harry W. Leeds, Atlantic City, 92; T. U. Lyman, Hartford, 92; F. Schasoir, Wee Burn, 92; Dr. Theodore Senseman, Atlantic City, 92; Henry McSweeney, Sea View, 93; A. F. Houston, Merion, 93; H. C. Kayser, Scarsdale, 93; Dr. A. W. Westney, Atlantic City, 93; A. E. Whitney, Atlantic City, 93; Alexander M. Linnett, Forest Hill, 93; F. M. Kerr, Ekwanok, 94; W. V. Booth, St. Andrews, 94.

Fourth sixteen.—Prestley S. Maclaughlin, Scarsdale, 94; William S. Leeds, Fox Hills, 94; John F. Gillespie, Moorestown, 94; E. H. Wiswell, Montclair, 95; C. L. Tappin, Westbrook, 95; E. L. Byrne, Deal, 96; Walter Swedley, Atlantic City, 96; John McGoey, Wykagyl, 96; W. L. Maltby, Royal Montreal, 96; W. A. Engeman, Plainfield, 96; A. L. Lenz, Inwood, 97; A. F. Southerland, Apawamis, 98; E. G. Fraser, Deal, 98; George A. Allsoft, Baltusrol, 98; W. Bagley, Trenton, 100; E. L. Schofield, Wee Burn, 101.

Whittle to Open Golf Links To-day.

Thomas W. Whittle, Park Commissioner of the Bronx, will drive off the first ball to-day at Van Cortlandt Park when the public golf links will be opened for the season. The opening ceremonies are being conducted under the auspices of the New York Newspaper Golf Club.

With the formal opening this year goes into effect the first restriction that has ever been placed upon playing over the course. It is necessary now that a player have a permit from the Park Commissioner, for which a fee of $1 is charged, and already about 900 have been issued. And a remarkable fact is that there has not been even the slightest objection to the new order; in fact, some of those who made application wondered why the permit fee had not been made $5, or even $10. Commissioner Whittle estimates that 1,500 permits will have been given out before the season is very far advanced. To care for this large number of golfers it is hoped to be able to open the new links, which are in course of construction, during the last of July.

Schaefer in Exhibition Game.

Young Jacob Schaefer played an exhibition game of 14.1 billiards with Sylvester Levy at Fuller's, Broadway and 110th Street, last night and defeated his opponent 300 to 111. Schaefer made an average of 18 12-16, which is better than his average in the 14.1 championship tournament just finished. Levy, Schaefer's opponent, was one of the two referees in the tournament.

OUIMET IN POOR FORM.

American Ties for Only Sixteenth Place in Sunningdale Golf.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, April 30.—Francis Ouimet, United States open golf champion, to-day at Sunningdale underwent the baptismal fire of his first appearance in a big English golf contest. Golf Illustrated gold vase is one of the most coveted trophies among the amateurs and attracted 120 players. Chief interest centred in Ouimet, who with his partner, Harold Hilton, practically monopolized the attention of 1,500 spectators. Ouimet's score for thirty-six holes was 166. Hilton played the two rounds in 151.

Ouimet in games played in this country impressed English experts as being a fine golfer when in form, but to-day was not his day, he being unable to do better than tie with another player for sixteenth place. He seemed nervous, which surprised Englishmen, as to-day's ordeal was not nearly so trying as that through which he came triumphantly when he beat Vardon and Ray.

To be measured against Hilton, whose golfing temperament always is ice-cold, was, however, a severe enough ordeal. Ouimet made an inauspicious start, giving his first ball a prodigious hook, which landed the ball in trouble, the hole finally costing him 7, and the second hole was not much better, he missing a yard putt for a 5. From this disastrous beginning he never recovered, taking 83 for his first round and the same number for the second. Hilton, on the other hand, was in fine form, returning a score of 74 for the first round and 77 for the second, thus winning the contest and finishing fifteen strokes better than Ouimet.

Women's "Met" Golf Ticket.

The Nominating Committee of the Women's Eastern Golf Association made public last night its selections for the coming year, which will be submitted to the annual meeting of the association during the championship at Greenwich the first week in June. There is no change. The committee consisted of Mrs. Lawrence Swift, New York; Mrs. E. H. Fitler, Philadelphia, and Miss Elizabeth Porter, Boston. The ticket follows: President—Mrs. Caleb F. Fox, Huntingdon Valley; Vice President—Miss Maud K. Wetmore, Newport; Secretary—Miss Louisa A. Wells, the Country Club, Brookline; Treasurer—Miss Florence McNeely, Merion; Executive Committee—Mrs. Myra D. Paterson, Baltusrol; Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, Merion; Mrs. W. S. Hilles, Huntingdon Valley; Mrs. E. C. Wheeler, Jr., Wollaston; Miss Frances Griscom, Merion; Miss Georgianna M. Bishop, Brocklawn, and Miss Harriott S. Curtis, Essex County, Mass.

The annual championship tournament of the New York Athletic Club will be played on June 25, 26, and 27 at Fox Hills on Staten Island.

Dates for Woman's Eastern Golf.

BOSTON, April 30.—Arrangements for the woman's Eastern golf championship and the play for the Griscom Cup at the Greenwich (Conn.) Country Club during the first week in June were made public to-day by Louis A. A. Wells, Secretary of the Woman's Eastern Golf Association. The championship event will be at thirty-six holes, medal play, eighteen holes each on June 1 and 2. The matches for the Griscom Cup, open to teams representing New York, Philadelphia, and Boston, will be played June 3, 4, and 5, with singles in the forenoon and foursomes in the afternoon of each day.

Chess Leader Loses to Capablanca.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 30.—In the sixth round of the international chess tourney now in progress in this city Capablanca to-day beat Alechine, Blackburne beat Gunsberg, Tarrasch and Marshall drew, while Bernstein and Rubinstein and Janowski and Niemzowitsch adjourned their games. The scores of the leaders are: Alechine, 4; Lasker, Capablanca, and Tarrasch, 3½ each; Bernstein and Marshall, 3 each.

Stanford Tennis Team Coming.

STAMFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., April 30.—R. Lindsay Murray and Herbert L. Hahn have been chosen to represent Stanford against nine Eastern and Middle West universities in tennis this Summer, and to take part in the Longwood tournament. Murray, who is a graduate student and captained the 1912 'Varsity team, holds the intercollegiate championship for the Pacific Coast.

Bucknell at Fordham To-day.

SEATTLE MOTOR RACES.

General Manager Lowry Here to Get Sanction for Meet in July.

Frank Lowry, Vice President and General Manager of the Seattle Motor Speedway, who has come East in connection with the automobile races that are to be held on the new track on July 18 and 19, left yesterday for Norfolk, Va., to act as starter for the races there to-day and to-morrow.

"We are offering $20,000 in prizes for drivers," said Mr. Lowry. "I came to New York to procure the sanction of the A. A. A. for the racing, and also to persuade Fred J. Wagner, the starter, to come out and conduct the races. They occur the closing days of our Potlatch festival, which is a great event out there, and form its crowning feature. On preceding days there will be motor boat races, and what they call Lipton's Cup races.

"We are building our Speedway of dirt, because that is the easiest road material on tires, and the work is being done after the most approved method. The track will be a mile and a quarter around an oval.

"The tire bill of the drivers and teams in the big classics this year is going to be enormous. But, you know, there is a tremendous sum offered in prizes this year. It totals more than $200,000 in cash from Speedway and track promoters alone, and not including the bonuses to be given by manufacturers of accessories, which will probably reach $25,000."

Spotts Second in Trap Shooting.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—Charles Newcomb of this city won the two-day tourney of the Keystone Shooting Association, which ended here to-day, by breaking 340 targets out of a possible 350. Ralph L. Spotts of New York, national amateur champion, was second, with 339 breaks. William Foord of Wilmington was third, with a total of 333 targets broken. Daniel F. McMahon of the New York Athletic Club led the field in the opening events to-day, when he broke 95 straight.

TIGERS' HANDICAP MEET.

College and Club Athletes to Compete at Princeton on May 16.

College and A. A. U. Club athletes will compete at the first open handicap meet of the Princeton University Track Association at Princeton, N. J., Saturday, May 16. It is the first time in many years that an athletic meet has been held under the auspices of a college or university in which club athletes have been invited to compete against collegians, and it is expected that many of the leading athletic clubs in the East will be represented.

The meet is attracting the attention of Metropolitan A. A. U. clubs, and a number of entries will be received from the New York, Irish-American, and other athletic clubs, as it will be the only opportunity for comparison between the college and club athlete, and, in addition, it will afford a chance to size up the athletic material for the intercollegiate championships.

Thirteen events are scheduled for open competition and two relay races confined to Princeton athletes. The events are: 100-yard dash, 220-yard, quarter-mile run, 120 low hurdles, 220 high hurdles, half-mile run, one-mile run, two-mile run, running broad jump, running high jump, pole vault, hammer throw, and shot-putt. Princeton gold, silver, and bronze medals will be given in all the events, and entries close Tuesday, May 12.

Harvard May Row Oxford.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 30.—Harvard and Oxford have not arranged to row against each other in England this Summer, as was reported yesterday. Harvard wants to row and R. T. Herrick, Chairman of the Rowing Committee here, has written to Oxford asking if a race can be arranged. Harvard, however, under no circumstances, will go to England unless it wins against Yale at New London in June. No reply has been received from Oxford to the proposition.

The Harvard interclass boat race was fixed to-day for May 6. The senior, junior, and sophomore crews will participate, and the winner will meet the winning crew of the Yale interclass event.

McDermott's Swimming Title.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Michael McDermott, world's champion breast stroke swimmer, won his fifth national A. A. U. championship here last night in the 200-yard breast stroke competition in the tank of the Chicago Athletic Association. E. Chapman, of the University of Illinois, was second, and A. J. Heraty of the University of Pennsylvania, was third. Time, 2:43.

Appleby Wins Billiard Game.

M. Isaacs proved unequal to the task of overcoming a handicap of twenty points last night in the Manhattan amateur handicap 18.2 balk-line billiard tournament at the Morningside Billiard Academy, 125th Street and Lenox Avenue, and was defeated by E. T. Appleby, the Columbia student, by the score of 200 to 173. Isaacs was playing at 220 points, while his opponent was handicapped at 200. Appleby displayed excellent form from the start, completing his string of 200 points in forty-two innings, for an average of 4 32-42. He made high runs of 31, 21, and 17. Isaacs's best runs were two of 19 points each and one of 21, with an average of 4 5-42.

Indians and Navy Tie at Lacrosse.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 30.—The Naval Academy and Carlisle tied, 3 to 3, in a fiercely contested lacrosse game to-day.

AMERICA'S CUP DEFENDER YACHTS---NEW YORK BALL TEAMS IDLE

WRESTLER JUNGE LOSES HIS TITLE

Wm. Droege Defeats Champion in Fast Bout in Metropolitan A. A. U. Championships.

With a single exception, metropolitan wrestling champions successfully defended their titles last night at the annual wrestling championships of the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union in the game room of the Boys' Club, Avenue A and Tenth Street. Only competitors in preliminary bouts took place, and on account of so many of the bouts being so long drawn out it was long after midnight before they were concluded. From a scientific display, William Droege, Boys' Club, and George Junge, National Turn Verein, put up the most interesting contest of the evening, the former winning on points. Junge, who was the 115-pound champion, was compelled to go outside of his class, owing to overweight

In the two bantamweight contests no fall was recorded, the decisions being obtained on mat work. Junge was not required to wrestle in the first round of the 115-pound class, as he drew a bye. Two of the competitors were overweight and transferred to the 125-pound class. John Fields, East Side Y. M. C. A., who was too heavy for the 115, proved an easy victim for Carl Lilyshult, Bronx Church House, in the heavier class, the latter securing the fall in 1:42. V. V. Vosen, another Bronx Church House wrestler, qualified in the 125-pound class by earning the decision on work over Joseph Westray, Norwegian-American A. C. Summary:

108-Pound Class.—S. Florentino, Boy's Club, defeated James J. Hunckley, Bronx Church House; judge's decision. Time, 10:00; George Taylor National Turn Verein defeated Karl Benson, Swedish American Athletic Club; judge's decision. Time, 10:00.

BOSTON BULLTERRIER SHOW

Ryan's Little Boy Victor Winner in Class for Male Dogs.

The interest of all lovers and owners of Boston bull terriers was centred on the first monthly show held last night at the Hotel Gregorian under the auspices of the Boston Terrier Breeders' Association of New York. Twenty-six classes of dogs, varying mostly from 22 to 28 pounds, constituted the programme.

In the winners' class for male dogs M. Ryans' Ryans's Little Boy was awarded first prize by Judge Harry Bacco from a classy bunch of entrants. W. Frankenburg's Billy Boy received second prize, while Monte Carlo, J. Faugman's entry, carried off the ribbon for the third best.

In the heavyweight class Harry I. Alexander's Bud De Oar followed up his blue ribbon victory, awarded to him by Judge Mortimer at the Woodmere show, by taking first place again last night in this special class and three others. J. Faugman's Lady Delmar made a clean sweep in all the classes she was entered in, taking the blue ribbon and the Schactel trophy for the best of the winning bitches.

Miss A. Simpson's midget Ringmaster carried off a double honor, being awarded first prize for the best bred bitch and best toy dog.

Campi Beats Young Fox.

Eddie Campi, the bantamweight champion boxer of California, decisively bested Joe Fox, the English champion of the same class, in a ten-round bout at the Stadium Athletic Club last night. Campi had the better of every round of the ten and left no doubt of his superiority. He showed quite a deal of dexterity against the slower Fox, but his punches lacked a lot of steam. Young Brown, the local lightweight, had the better of Walter Hennessy in the other ten-rounder, though he had six pounds the better of the weights.

Berkeley Oval for Schoolboys.

Through the courtesy of George W. Taylor, President of the realty company which owns Berkeley Oval, the Board of Education has been able to establish an after-school athletic centre for the boys of the west side of the Bronx on the site. Dr. C. Ward Crampton, Director of Physical Training, Department of Education, has appointed teachers to take charge of the work at this centre, whose duties will be to coach the boys in all forms of athletics. The boys will be divided into squads, and tournament games in basket ball and baseball will be conducted every afternoon from Monday to Friday. Special attention will be given to track and field sports two afternoons a week.

Chief Meyers Signs for Three Years.

BOSTON, April 30.—Chief Meyers, first string catcher of the New York Giants, has signed a three-year contract to play with that team, according to an announcement to-day by Secretary John B. Foster. The contract included the present season, overlapping a two-year agreement under which Meyers had played one year. All the prominent members of the New York team are now under long-term contracts.

Crane Wins at Court Tennis.

LONDON, April 30.—Joshua Crane, Jr., of Boston, Mass., won an easy victory to-day over C. Agar in the third round of the British amateur court tennis championship now in progress at Queen's Club. The score was 6—3, 6—1, 6—0.

A COMPARISON OF SAIL PLANS

VANITIE'S MEN AT NEWPORT.

Capt. Dennis and 36 Men Arrive on City of Stamford.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., April 30.—The steam tender City of Stamford, Capt. Edward Raymond, with the racing crew for the cup defender yacht candidate Vanitie, arrived to-night from Greenport, having on board Capt. William S. Dennis, two mates, and a racing crew of thirty-four men who will sail the Vanitie, being built by Alexander S. Cochrane of New York at Neponsett, Mass.

As the Steamboat Inspectors at Greenport directed Capt. Raymond not to sail the tender around the water of Cape Cod, arrangements were made to-night to have a sea-going tender meet the City of Stamford before she reached Cape Cod.

The tender is a fine craft 140 feet long, and 30 feet beam. Capt. Dennis is one of the best known racing skippers in Eastern waters, having sailed the noted schooner yacht Elena and Elmina. The majority of the crew selected for the Vanitie have been with Capt. Dennis on these schooners, the majority of whom are Swedes. It is expected the Vanitie will be launched about May 5. After tuning up about Marblehead, she will sail to Glen Cove for the races of the New York Yacht Club, arriving here in July for the special races of the three cup defender candidates.

RESOLUTE'S FIRST TRIAL.

Cup Defender to Sail Against Schooner Katoura To-morrow.

BRISTOL, R. I., April 30.—The flag officers' sloop Resolute will have her first racing test next Saturday, in preparation for her America's Cup elimination trials. She will be tried out against the new schooner yacht Katoura, which was recently launched for Commodore Robert E. Tod of the New York Yacht Club. According to plans announced to-night, the two yachts will go out through the East Passage at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and stretch away to the southwest for a four or five hours' spin. The Katoura is about forty feet longer on the waterline than the Resolute.

Sloop Defiance Measured.

BATH, Me., April 30.—The racing sloop Defiance of the International Cup class was measured to-day by Prof. Harold A. Everett of Massachusetts Institute of Technology to obtain her rating for her owners, the Tri-City Syndicate. Work is being rushed on the steel mast. Two extra spars will be received in a day or two, making a total of eleven already made for the Defiance. The sails also are here and everything is practically ready to be assembled as soon as the sloop goes overboard, a week from next Monday.

Amateur Racing Season Opening.

The 1914 amateur racing season will be inaugurated to-morrow with the hunter and pony races of the Rockaway Hunting Club at Hewlett Bay Park, Long Island. Forty-one horses have been nominated for the six events on the day's card, all but two of which are limited to gentlemen riders. According to custom the names of the riders will not be announced in advance. Among the well-known gentlemen riders who will have mounts are Philip Stevenson, Fred Alpers, C. L. Appleton, J. Coogan, Jr., Evan Tucker, L. T. Martin, A. J. Davie, H. L. Bell, Richard Mortimer, and John Tucker. The course at Hewlett Bay Park, used for the first time last year, is in excellent condition. The outter course provides a two-mile circuit, with brush and water jumps for the steeplechase events and rail fences for the hunting races. The inner course is a mile circuit on the flat. The stands and parking spaces are on a hillside and command a view of the entire course, which is one of the most picturesque in the world.

PASSES NEARLY COST TIGERS A VICTORY

Chicago Gets One Hit, but Scores Three of Four Runs on Bases on Balls.

DETROIT, Mich., April 30.—Although Chicago made only one hit, three Detroit pitchers were necessary to enable the Tigers to win the third straight game of the series from the White Sox here to-day. The score was 5 to 4. After Demmitt, the first man up doubled off Hall in the first inning, the Detroit pitcher was invincible until the ninth. Then he went to pieces and walked batters almost as fast as they came to the plate. With one out and the bases filled with men whom Hall had passed, Dauss was substituted. He walked Collins, forcing in Alcock who had run for Bodie, a pinch hitter. Dauss then pitched two balls to Weaver and Manager Jennings sent Covaleskie, a southpaw to the mound. Weaver, usually a left-handed batter, switched to the other side of the plate and also was passed. That scored Lord. Daly, batting for Fournier, drove a high foul which Stanage caught while leaning against the press stand. Covaleskie then passed Blackburne, Chase scoring. With Reynolds warming up to replace Covaleskie, Schaik ended the game by dropping a roller in front of the plate and was retired by Stanage's throw to first.

Detroit scored its runs by bunching hits off Benz in the fourth and eighth innings. Demmitt's double and an infield out gave the White Sox their first tally. The score:

Cleveland Ties St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 30.—A triple steal in the ninth inning, in which Graney crossed the plate and Olson and Carisch each advanced a base this afternoon, counted the run that tied the score and held off defeat for Cleveland in the game with St. Louis. When Umpire Chill called the game at the end of the twelfth inning because of darkness the score still was tied at 3 to 3. The score:

HARVARD WINS, 3-2, IN THE FIRST INNING

Virginia Unable to Score Until Near End, Then Falls Short of Victory.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 30.—University of Virginia was beaten by Harvard to-day 3 to 2, the Crimson getting all its runs in the first inning, when it bunched singles by Wingate, Clark, and Ayres, with a two-bagger by Right Fielder Gannett. Colloway, who succeeded James, allowed Harvard only five hits for the remainder of the game and was not scored against.

Hitchcock pitched for Harvard and was good except in two innings. He was hit safely three times in the fourth, but poor baserunning cost the visitors a run. In the eighth Hitchcock started by hitting Colloway, and then a single by Paschall and a pass to Phillips filled the bases with only one out. Then Harvard retired the next three batters, making no attempt to get the two Virginia runners at the plate. The score:

Princeton Wins Listless Game.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 30.—The Tigers took a 3 to 2 baseball victory from the University of North Carolina this afternoon after nine innings of listless and loose playing. The only feature was a one-handed running catch by H. Bailey of Carolina in centre field of a long fly by Cook. The visitors led in batting, but inability to time the hits, coupled with sharp fielding by Princeton, cut off impending scores. Princeton showed much improvement in opportune hitting, Law's single, scoring two runs, and an error by K. Bailey of Carolina letting in the other. The score:

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., April 30.—After an uphill fight Seton Hall College won from Bucknell University at Setonia Field here to-day by the score of 11 to 7. The visitors started out like certain winners, getting five tallies in the first inning by bunching three hits. Bobby Ralston, on the mound for Seton Hall, did not give a hit after the first inning until the seventh. Seton Hall batters took to Magee's offerings in the third and four runs were scored. Six more were annexed in the fourth and sixth innings. The score:

Brooklyn Breaks Tie and Wins in Ninth at Kansas City.

Special to The New York Times.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 30.—A batting rally in the eleventh inning of the final game with the Brooklyn Feds gave that club four runs and an 8-to-4 victory over Kansas City to-day. In the final inning, after an error, a walk, and a single had filled the bases, Evans cleared them with a double. Delehanty's triple scored Evans. Lafitte, after the first few innings, pitched fine ball, and improved as the game progressed, while Henning weakened toward the end. The score:

CHICAGO, April 30.—Chicago shut out St. Louis, 7 to 0, to-day. The locals made a total of thirteen hits off Sallee and Hopper, two of which were triples by Bresnahan and Saier, and two doubles by Saier and Zimmerman. Cheney held the visitors to five scattered hits. Sweeney had an "off day," being charged with four fumbles. The score:

Mr. E. A. Stattler,
Sales Manager, Overman Tire Company,
250 West 54th Street, New York City.

Dear Sir:—

Referring to yours of February 24th. I have two Overman Pneumatic Tires on the rear wheels of my 60 horse-power Alco limousine car. The car weighs something over 5,000 pounds and the tires have made 4,000 miles, without punctures or any tire troubles whatsoever. Their present condition is very good. I do not believe the non-skidding qualities have deteriorated at all. I have not used a chain on these tires this Winter, with the exception of the last week, on account of the snow in the country.

Yours truly,

The original of this letter is on file in our office.

OVERMAN
Cushion-Tread Pneumatic
TIRES

The Overman Cushion-Tread Pneumatic Tire is a new tire. It is constructed on a new principle, a principle which the severest tests have shown to be scientific in theory and sound in practice.

In offering this tire to the Public, our claims for it are based not on what we believe the tire will do, but upon what it actually has done and is doing in daily use on the cars of hundreds of private owners.

DURABILITY—We guarantee the Overman Tire for 5,000 miles. If any Overman Tire fails to give that mileage, we will make good the difference to the purchaser. 5,000 miles is what we guarantee, but the Tire itself is better than our guarantee, and with any kind of proper care will give greater mileage.

RELIABILITY—While not absolutely puncture-proof, punctures with the Overman Tires are very rare occurrences, so rare indeed that this fundamental and disagreeable weakness of all pneumatic tires has been reduced to a minimum. In fact, it has been almost eliminated. Blow-outs and rim-cuts are practically unknown.

AMENDING THE TOLLS BILL.

We suppose that Senator SIMMONS of North Carolina, who has had charge of the bill to repeal the privilege to the coastwise shipping of the United States, has sufficient reason for proposing the amendment which was put on the bill before it was reported to the Senate, but it is purely one of expediency, and, as it seems, of doubtful expediency. It runs as follows:

> Provided that neither the passage of this act, nor anything therein contained, shall be construed or held as waiving, impairing, or affecting any treaty or other right possessed by the United States.

When the Toll Exemption bill was passed it was based distinctly on the assumption that it did not violate the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, and was, in effect and in intention, the assertion of our right to exempt our coastwise shipping. The President has urged on Congress the repeal of this clause, on the ground that at best it could only be explained by a strained and doubtful interpretation of our treaty obligations and that it would aid him greatly in dealing with foreign Governments if Congress would abandon such interpretation, repeal the exemption, and confirm the reputation of our Government for scrupulous and hearty observance of the national faith.

He asked for unconditional repeal, and though he is reported to have assented to this amendment, it would be far better that it should not be made. In the most favorable light it is but a quibbling and pettifogging declaration with no real substance, but with just enough appearance of substance to embarrass us in the future. The sentiment that would be placated by it in the Congress is one that should be repressed rather than encouraged. We trust that the Senate will yield to the rising opinion of the country on the prime question of national honor and pass the repeal as it came from the House.

COMMISSIONER THORNE'S POOR ARGUMENTS.

Commissioner THORNE's arguments before the Interstate Commerce Commission against the advance of railway rates are prejudiced by his personality. As the reputed spokesman for the Commissioners of eight Granger States his words reveal such a portentous mixture of misinformation and malice that the prospect for any advance of rates seems postponed until after a change of political sentiment in the West. But the States concerned are understood to repudiate the Commissioner for Iowa, although he has said that they paid his expenses, and it may be that Iowa itself may disown its own son. The citizens of Iowa are too honest to allow themselves to be represented by an official who flies false colors, and that charge has been made publicly against Commissioner THORNE. As the Chairman of the Iowa Commission he obviously is the representative of the taxpayers, and would be in a false position as the representative of shippers. Mr. THORNE's explanation of his appearance in behalf of the American Live Stock Association and the National Council of the Grain Dealers' Association is that he represents them only by courtesy. They boast that their membership is representative of every State west of the Mississippi, and as the representative of that membership Mr. THORNE cuts a great figure. However, if he does not represent those associations, and does not represent even Iowa, he may be dismissed from consideration.

The Greater Des Moines Association is one of the bodies of citizens which have been applying themselves to stopping the depopulation of Iowa. It addressed letters to the officials of many cities asking them to promote opinion against the railways making cheap excursion rates out of Iowa, on the idea that Iowans would stay at home if it were made more expensive to travel. The replies received were eye-openers to those who regard railways as destroyers of prosperity. One answer was that excursion tickets carried people both ways, and that those who thought Iowa a good place to live in stayed there. The real trouble, said one of these letters, was that the railway reformers had secured a reduction in rates to Chicago, and thus had produced discrimination against Iowa's home industries by removing factories nearer to the markets. The following quotation is from the reply of the Mayor of Fort Madison, adopted unanimously by the Board of Aldermen:

> Now we find the same gentleman chasing up and down the country advocating all sorts of socialist ideas, such as Government ownership of railroads, and showing all kinds of statistics and compilation of figures. GOD knows where he gets them. Certainly not from anything that has transpired on earth, for neither his talk nor his figures represent the true conditions either in this country or foreign countries where Government ownership has been tried, and invariably has been proved a failure.

We lament that it is not possible to reproduce the letter in full, so racy is it, and so destructive of the idea that the way to make Iowa—or the United States—prosperous is to put blinders on Americans regarding the causes of depression, and to give them farsighted glasses regarding the promised prosperity. It ought to be enough to demonstrate these things once. In fact, this is the second demonstration to Iowa. It had the anti-railway craze a generation ago, and is one of the States which repealed the statutes that were to cause prosperity, but actually caused adversity. Now the situation has arisen again, and there is a fresh crop of Socialists and demagogues to get rid of. It would seem that each generation needs to have its own experience. The Constitution prevented the Thornes of the seventies from confiscating the railways, but at the cost of saddling the country with the doctrine that the rate which stops just this side of confiscation is a reasonable rate. Rates since have been lower than the rates which the courts then would have declared unconstitutional, but now we find a Federal Commission listening to the Thornes of to-day to argue that rates should be made unremunerative expressly in order to promote Government ownership.

A PROTOCOL OF PEACE AT THE COLORADO MINES.

The re-establishment of outward order in Colorado by the Federal troops may be made the signal for effecting a permanent peace with the workers in the mines. The point of meeting between the opposed forces should lie somewhere between these two expressions of principle, the first uttered by Mr. JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, Jr., as Director of the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, the other by Mr. WILLIAM E. GREEN, Secretary and Treasurer of the United Mine Workers of America:

> We do not question the right of any workmen to freely associate themselves in unions for the furtherance of their common and legitimate interests, but we do assert the equal right of an individual to work independently of a union if he so elects. We are contending against the right of unions to impose themselves upon an industry by force, by assault and murder, and not against the right of men to organize for their mutual benefit.

> If Mr. ROCKEFELLER's representatives in Colorado will meet the representatives of their employés, either directly or indirectly, hear and adjust the well-founded grievances which they have to present, enter into an agreement by which individual grievances can be adjusted as they may arise in the future, peace and tranquillity can be established in the Colorado coal fields.

There is no essential conflict between these two statements. Mr. ROCKEFELLER does not oppose unionizing, if it be voluntary. He has already admitted that the "open shop" has one vital defect. The garmentmakers of this city found that the open shop was the shop where ETTOR, GIOVANNETTI, HAYWOOD, and ROSE PASTOR STOKES might come in at any time and raise trouble. Mr. ROCKEFELLER has found his "open-shop" mines open to similar invasion. As a protective measure the garmentmakers encouraged the voluntary organizing of their employés, while LOUIS D. BRANDEIS conceived the principle of the "preferential union," a union which affords the employer perfect freedom in selecting his workers, admits them to its ranks, and forms a responsible body for the maintenance of discipline and the orderly adjustment of grievances.

That is neither the open shop nor the closed shop. It is the "open union." It has worked well here with bodies of employés made up largely of foreign immigrants, previously unstable and ungovernable and subject to methods of intimidation. The arrangement has lately withstood the hardest tests, with resultant profit to the employers and their workers. It is reasonable to suppose that a union that selects its own representatives will do better for its members and for its employers than the men can do individually. Organization is the best principle. Mr. ROCKEFELLER knows that. Will he not amend his statement by saying not only that he does not oppose the forming of a union among his employés, but that he will encourage their organizing by all proper means? He has a model of action in the successful "protocols of peace" in the garment industries of New York and Chicago.

PEACE FOR ULSTER.

Although the reports as to the prospects of a peaceful settlement of the troubles in Ireland are a little confused and contradictory, they are on the whole extremely encouraging. What seems to be beyond doubt in the reports is that Mr. ASQUITH has indorsed the speech of Mr. CHURCHILL, the head of the Navy Department. Mr. CHURCHILL had invited Sir EDWARD CARSON to define the amendments to the Home Rule bill which would make it satisfactory to the Ulster men, and had especially suggested the exclusion of Ulster from home rule until the general question of federation had been settled. Sir EDWARD had replied in a remarkably moderate fashion, and had said that if Ulster could be left out until the Parliament definitely resolved that it must come in, he would lay the proposition before the Ulster Convention. He added that if Ulster could be left out until the settlement of general federation, he would use all his influence to secure the acceptance of that plan. Here plainly is a basis of negotiation, and the essential thing about it is that the Government has apparently abandoned the notion of a time limit at the end of which Ulster must automatically come under the Irish Parliament. That has been the crux of the Ulster position ever since Mr. ASQUITH made his proposals in the Commons.

Unquestionably this is a distinct triumph for Ulster. It is an indirect but substantial recognition of the principle of the integrity of Ulster. And it can hardly be denied that it has been extorted from the Government by the firm and threatening attitude of the Ulster Covenanters. The point had been reached where the Government should proceed to the use of force, or should yield in some form the right of Ulster to remain under the British Parliament. What particular form the final arrangement shall take is of little consequence.

On the other hand, it must be noted that on the part of Sir EDWARD CARSON and on that of Mr. BALFOUR there has been a remarkable and splendid manifestation of patriotism dominating party feeling. The former, in expressing his assent to negotiation, declared that it was his hope that the Dublin Parliament would so conduct itself that Ulster could ultimately come under it. Mr. BALFOUR in a speech of rare eloquence confessed that home rule was bound to come, and, though he had contended against it and for quite another solution, he was ready to do all that he could now to promote it under conditions safe and honorable for the United Kingdom. He disclaimed with profound earnestness any intention to derive advantage for his party from the present situation, and no one who has followed his career can doubt his sincerity. If the measures for peace which we have recounted prove as effective as they seem likely to, the English people will have given another proof of their great capacity for sound and orderly and just settlement of even the most serious difficulties of democratic life.

REFORM IN CAP AND BELLS.

It does not so much matter that next year's convention for revising the Constitution was ordered by a majority of only 1,353 in the vote taken on April 7. Mr. CLEVELAND's New York plurality in 1884 was less than that, but it was enough to make him President. The rank absurdity of the thing lies in the fact that with at least 1,787,983 voters in the State, that number of votes having been cast in the Presidential election of 1912, this convention was ordered by the vote of the 153,322 who cast affirmative ballots. That is, a good deal less than one-tenth of the electorate has decreed that the organic law of the State shall be revised next year. If 700 of these affirmative votes had been cast the other way, no convention would have been held. If 1,400 careless and indifferent voters who paid no attention to the appeal made to them to vote against the proposal had done so, there would have been no convention.

It is too late for all that. Tammany has ordered this convention, for New York County gave a majority of 26,000 affirmative votes. It does not follow that Tammany will organize the convention, for the delegates are to be chosen at the general election this Fall, and present expectations will be disappointed if the Republicans do not make a much better showing this year than in the past four years. The advocates of direct primaries, however, must be very blind indeed if they do not read the lesson of this Constitutional Convention vote. Tammany, always organized, always alert when there is political work to be done, will easily control the primaries next September. Your highly intelligent, upright voter, who goes in for pure politics, uplift, rebuking corruption and downing the machine, will pay no attention to the primary. It will interest him no more than the special election on April 7, which the highly intelligent voter permitted to go by default. Tammany will attend the primaries and make the nominations. The special election of April 7 has shown how reform can make a fool of itself. There will be another demonstration in September.

DANGEROUS FALSEHOODS.

Baron Munchausen, Young Wilding, and Becky Warder were both respectable and amateurish disseminators of falsehood in comparison with the person with an Italian name, or pseudonym, who has been "representing" The London Daily Telegraph in Mexico. THE TIMES has reproduced some of Mr. LUIGI BARZINI's amazing cable dispatches to that newspaper since the warships of the United States reached Vera Cruz, in which he has reported the landing of American troops at Salina Cruz, the slaughter of 800 at Vera Cruz, the union of the forces of VILLA and HUERTA and their joint invasion of Texas, an uprising of Japanese residents of Mexico against Americans, and other startling incidents which never occurred. This sort of falsifying is astonishing but harmless, as ample disproof of all of BARZINI's assertions appeared simultaneously in the other dispatches to his newspaper. But BARZINI also contributes mailed letters to The Telegraph, and the mendacity displayed in these is too violent to justify the belief that he has been misled by false information. He seems to have an alert mind and his descriptive passages are admirable. His interpretation of recent Mexican history, however, is obviously inspired by a desire to create strong anti-American feeling in England.

In a letter dated Mexico City, Jan. 20, but only lately published, he describes the rule of PORFIRIO DIAZ, and ascribes the downfall of that able administrator to the hostility of the United States, caused, first, by his friendship for ZELAYA, whose rule in Nicaragua, according to this historian, was crushed by the Washington Government because he would not submit to American dictation; secondly, to the refusal of DIAZ to permit the United States to establish a naval station on Magdalena Bay; thirdly, by the development of the Tehuantepec Railway, which, he gravely assumes, is a really dangerous rival to the Panama Canal, and finally to the influence of the Standard Oil Company, which he infers is paramount in this country. This sort of falsifying is not so easily refuted. Of course, everybody in this country knows that DIAZ was never antagonized by the United States. On the contrary, our Government was accused by various concessionaires of being unduly friendly to him at the outbreak of MADERO's revolution. Whatever friendly feelings DIAZ may have entertained for ZELAYA never influenced his relations with this country. The Latin American policy of the United States, to be sure, puzzled many Americans in those days. It has often been confusing and ineffective. But, excepting in the quite obvious sympathy of President WILSON and Secretary BRYAN with the avowed objects of the Carranza revolution, there has not been reasonable excuse for any charge against our Government of unduly favoring any party in Mexico since the abdication of LERDO DE TEJADA in 1876. BARZINI's statements are all false and their publication in a journal so respectable as The Daily Telegraph of London is not understandable.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Everybody Then Was Cruel.

For the terribly unsanitary conditions found in the old fortress of San Juan de Ulloa when the Americans took possession of it, and for the fact that several hundred prisoners were found there whose only crime was real or suspected antagonism to HUERTA, the Dictator's Government can, of course, be held to as much of responsibility as can be placed upon it for anything. It is rather hard, though, that the existence in the castle of some particularly horrible, but long unused dungeons, in which confinement would mean constant torture and speedy death, both fully intended, should be taken as proving abnormal cruelty on the part of the Spanish builders.

There is, indeed, no doubt that Spaniards of the time when San Juan de Ulloa was erected at such enormous expense were a barbarous lot, from the modern standpoint, or that, if they didn't delight in inflicting pain on persons for one or another reason considered obnoxious, at least they had no compunctions about doing it and exercised much ingenuity in making the pain severe. In this characteristic, however, the Dons were not much, if any, different from their neighbors of that day, all of whom believed as firmly as they in both the efficacy and the propriety of torture, and resorted to it as frequently for both political and ecclesiastical ends.

That the Spaniards have a worse reputation in this respect than the French or Germans or Italians or English is largely due to two causes. One of them is that the literature dealing with their acts as atrocious villainies is much larger and more accessible to us than is what they themselves wrote in the same vein about their enemies. The other can be found in the fact that wherever the Spaniards went they built of enduring material great structures like the fort of Vera Cruz, and these have lasted till this day to bear witness as to the mediaeval treatment of rebels, heretics, and private foes by those in power. The really old "monuments" in either America are almost all of Spanish construction, and hardly anything is left to remind us that Englishmen and Frenchmen, too, could be and were no laggard rivals of the Spanish in either slaughter or torture.

For further information on this subject one should read about what happened to the men of Spain when wrecked on the Irish coast after the dispersion of the Armada.

Responsibility Far from Burdensome.

About as queer criticism—and about as severe—as a newspaper ever received is contained in a letter from a reader who protests vehemently against the practice of sending to HUERTA and other Mexican leaders telegrams asking them about their opinions and purposes.

To do that, according to this troubled correspondent, is a deplorably, even terribly, wrong thing to do while delicate negotiations for the restoration of peace are in progress. The reason for the wrongness, it seems, is that these inquiries compel the Mexican chieftains to return magniloquent replies—replies in which they take firm and haughty positions and to which later personal pride and the fear of popular condemnation as cowardly or vacillating make them stick when otherwise they might yield to official and secret pressure exerted from the friends of peace in Washington and elsewhere.

There is a certain superficial plausibility in this contention, but nothing in experience confirms the theory and much refutes it.

As a matter of fact, the Mexican Generals do not take their own noble poses as much more than an attitude adjusted to the exigencies of the moment. They, or their secretaries, share the Spanish facility for eloquent expression in a language particularly supple and sonorous, and they are as ready as the rest of us, as situations and influences change, to revise declarations of what they will and won't do. The several statements from HUERTA, CARRANZA, VILLA, and the rest that THE TIMES has been able to secure have seemed to it to be valuable contributions to the common fund of information concerning Mexican events and happenings. Their tendency, on the whole, has been distinctly calming, in that they showed these men, not as rude and savage, but as decidedly polished and adroit diplomatists, quite able and willing, at least so far as words go, to discuss public affairs with civilized dignity and force.

This is no surprise to anybody who knows Mexico or the Mexicans, but it may be to those who do not remember the training they have had. The current negotiations will go on as little affected by these telegrams as would be the ownership of a Mexican's home after he had welcomed a guest with the accustomed phrase, "The house is yours!" He means it, in a way, but the title doesn't pass.

Inefficiency Caused by Fatigue.

Whatever of antagonism—and it is not a little—there may be in labor circles to the new "efficiency," its methods and its standards, is based, at least avowedly, on the contention that it increases production without regard to the effects of faster and harder work on those doing it. Of course efficiency so secured is no more scientific than it is humane, and it would not in the end be profitable to the employers.

One boss who evidently knows this is the Superintendent of a Connecticut brass works who contributes an interesting little story to The Iron Age. At these works there was recently constructed a long incline up which heavy loads were to be wheeled in barrows, and premiums were offered to the men who did or exceeded a certain amount of this labor. They attempted it vigorously, but none succeeded in earning any of the extra money, instead they all fell considerably below the fixed task.

Prompt investigation by an expert disclosed that the trouble lay in the fact that the men were working without sufficiently frequent periods of rest. Thereupon a foreman was stationed by a clock, and every twelve minutes he blew a whistle. At the sound every barrowman stopped where he was, sat down on his barrow, and rested for three minutes. The first hour after that was done showed a remarkable change for the better in accomplishment; the second day the men all made a premium allowance by doing more than what had been too much, and on the third day the minimum compensation had risen, on the average, 40 per cent., with no complaints of overdriving from any of the force.

The resulting profits, whether fairly shared or not between employers and employed, did not, as the enemies of "efficiency schemes" often assert, go wholly to the boss. A possibly weak point in the tale is that it does not tell how long the plan continued to work to the satisfaction of all concerned.

QUARANTINE INSPECTION.

Dr. O'Connell Explains Why It Must Be Done Before Sunset.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In reply to a letter signed by a number of passengers, including myself, in the nature of a protest at the detention of the Hamburg-American Line steamship Amerika until the following morning at Quarantine, where we arrived Saturday evening a few minutes after sundown, I received the inclosed letter from the Health Officer, Joseph J. O'Connell, M. D., which I think is a most reasonable answer. Since the other passengers will not otherwise see it, and since I think it expresses so clearly the necessity for such delay under the circumstances, I think it would be a good idea that it should be published in your paper.

GEORGE WHITEFIELD BETTS, Jr.

April 23, 1914.

Mr. George Whitefield Betts, Jr.,
165 Broadway, New York City.

My dear Sir: Gov. Glynn has referred to me for reply your letter of April 21, calling his attention to the fact that the steamship Amerika, arriving a few minutes after sundown, was not visited and inspected until the following morning, and inclosing for his consideration a protest signed by certain other passengers predicated upon this circumstance.

I thank you very much for having written this letter, as it gives to me an opportunity of clearing up a little confusion which apparently exists in your own mind and in the minds of the other passengers as to the meaning and wisdom of the law which limits the period of visitation and inspection to the hours between sunrise and sunset.

You say that it is a hardship that 350 people should be kept in the bay overnight when arriving before dark. I know it is a hardship, and the gentlemen who were behind the enactment of the public health law of this State undoubtedly knew it would be a hardship. After a transatlantic voyage, even when the weather has been pleasant, there is a yearning to set foot on land which is impatient of any opposition, and this notwithstanding the quarters occupied by the cabin passengers are as comfortable as could be obtained in any first-class hotel. The food is excellent, and the landlocked harbor removes all possible anxiety as to the safety of the ship and its passengers.

The 350 passengers to whom you refer would appear to be the first and second cabin passengers. May I call your attention to the fact that in addition to these there were on board your vessel 977 steerage passengers, who occupied quarters much less luxurious. These steerage passengers are the ones that give sanitary authorities the most concern. Each of them had to be examined for signs of quarantinable disease. Under the most favorable circumstances an adequate examination of a thousand passengers would be difficult to make in less than an hour's time. It was already twilight when the Amerika arrived in the harbor. Before the steerage could be mustered it would be dark.

Laymen do not understand what is perfectly well known to all modern sanitary authorities that for the discovery of symptoms of quarantinable disease in the muster of steerage passengers on shipboard natural light is absolutely necessary. The circumstances at the present time are not the most favorable. Since Jan. 7 of this year this department has removed from incoming transatlantic lines eighteen cases of typhus fever, not to mention smallpox and epidemic cerebro-spinal meningitis cases. These cases have not been confined to vessels in the Asiatic or Mediterranean service, but have been encountered on all the great North European lines, even a vessel of the Anchor Line, which leaves Glasgow and touches at Moville only, having been found to carry a case of typhus. In the full light of day the slight rash and congested eyeballs which indicate typhus in its initial stage are difficult enough to discern. By artificial light it would be absolutely impossible to recognize it. Consequently in dealing with cases such as the one now under discussion it is my duty to weigh the convenience or impatience of cabin passengers against the possibility of introducing to this country epidemic diseases of great violence. The epidemicity of the present typhus visitation is quite marked in countries in which it has gained a foothold. In the week ended April 5, for instance, 1,750 cases, with a death rate of 12 per cent., were reported from the City of Tokio.

In protecting the public health we must very often interfere with the pleasure of seagoing people, and sometimes even with the profit of steamship companies, but this is never done unnecessarily.

Health Officer, Port of New York.

A B C MEDIATION

May Cost This Country the Confidence of South America.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The country seems to agree with Senator Shively, acting Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, that the acceptance of the South American mediation offer may do good, and can do no harm. It may do good; but if so it may be in a manner not generally in mind. And it may do harm—immeasurable harm. Let me go back a little to make myself clear.

The President was right in my judgment in refusing to recognize Huerta as the de facto Government of Mexico, for the simple reason that Huerta's Government was not then, and has not since become, the Government in fact of Mexico. He had turned out Madero; he occupied the capital; he had physical possession of the palace, the department offices, and the other paraphernalia of Government. But had Jefferson Davis taken Washington in our own civil war—Lincoln retiring to Philadelphia—would that have made Davis's Government the de facto Government of the United States? The only difference is that Madero did not escape to Sonora—was prevented from so doing by being treacherously captured and more than treacherously murdered; and that the Mexican Congress under Huerta's guns—when it recovered its courage it, too, was turned out—went through the form of putting Huerta in power. In these circumstances the President could not conscientiously say that Huerta's Government was the Government of Mexico—was, in fact, the Government of more of Mexico than that portion of Mexico actually occupied by him.

What then was his duty? Plainly it seems to me not to recognize Huerta beyond the fact, for that would have been to have put the moral support of the United States, carrying financial support, behind an untruth, (and an ugly untruth at that,) but to recognize both him and Carranza to the extent that each in fact occupied with their Governments their respective territory; and then either by intervention to have brought about a Constitutional Government or to have let them fight it out on equal terms of neutrality. For some reason the President missed this, thus putting our Government in a wholly illogical position; and for some reason he took Huerta as an individual to task for the Tampico incident, demanding, however, an apology as if he were the Government, thus putting us again into a wholly illogical position.

And now comes the acceptance of mediation. Do not let us overlook what that means. It means that the moral aspect of the situation—what under all circumstances is right and what wrong, what justifiable and what unjustifiable—is transferred from our judgment to the judgment of the representatives of Argentina, Brazil, and Chile. It will be for their representatives now to formulate what is right and what is wrong, and for Huerta, Carranza, and ourselves to accept or reject the judgment thus formulated; but at the cost of winning or losing thereby the moral support of South America; for in South America, at least, the judgment so formulated will be accepted as final.

Of course, if that judgment is that Huerta should eliminate himself, and he either does or does not eliminate himself, it will be to our advantage, for even in the latter case he will have gone contrary to the judgment of Latin America. But suppose that judgment is that the Mexican people should be left free, either by decisive war or by constitutional ballot, to choose their own Government—should be left free to choose Huerta if they please—and we are the party to reject it, shall we not then have completely lost the moral support of our sister republics? Can we ask them in that case, after accepting mediation, to reject their view of our duty and substitute our own?

No man can think so. To go on in the face of a judgment thus invited, even though that be necessary to enforce the present view of our Administration, would be to isolate us completely, and for a century to come, from any influence with or confidence of the South American republics. Should we even by superior armed force succeed in enforcing our view, as against their view, it would be regarded by them as the triumph of force and not of right. That is what I mean when I say that this acceptance of mediation, if it does us any good, may be in a manner not generally in mind, to wit, the change of our own policy; and if it does us harm, will do us immeasurable harm. And if that be the case, it seems to me that the business men of the country, and the press of the country, should be engaged in presenting to the President that he may, now that mediation is accepted, have to change what has heretofore been his own policy, accordingly.

WOMAN'S FOOLISH GARB.

A Hartford Critic Sees Little Progress Toward Reform.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In a recent letter in THE TIMES, entitled "Sensible Men's Clothes," Mr. Levy seems to hold the opinion that women dress more sensibly than men. I wonder if another man can be found who shares his opinion.

I had supposed that all men, and all sensible women, looked with disfavor upon the manner in which the fair sex now chooses to garb itself. It is certainly true, as Mr. Levy asserts, that of late years women have removed a great deal of clothing, but how about what remains? Dainty footwear, of no use to stand on or walk in, stockings which are sheer nonsense, a skirt which wraps them close, like a mummy, and leaves them about as helpless, topped off by a waist cut to invite bronchitis.

And then the "poise," with shoulders contracted like a consumptive, and a wry neck, like that of an old and faithful bookkeeper—or cobbler. To aid in holding the head thus gracefully, a long string of croquet balls is worn about the neck.

The ensemble is a caricature on creation, which might be excused in the wives of a barbarian chieftain, but cannot be reconciled with the "progress of modern woman toward the light" of which we are now compelled to hear so much.

European Art Museums.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I noticed in your issue of the 29th inst. a letter signed "S. J. P.," which is singularly inaccurate. Your correspondent says that "all European art galleries" charge for admission. Last year I visited the principal galleries in London, Paris, Rome, Florence, Naples, and many other cities, and in none of them did I pay a cent for admission. It is true that there are days in which payment may be made, but some, if not all, days are free. I refer, of course, to national institutions, not to private galleries. How any one could make such a statement as that of "S. J. P." passes my comprehension.

NIGHT WORK OF WOMEN

Harmful Because Sleep During Day Is Difficult.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

THE TIMES has so often given its powerful support to important labor legislation for women that I venture to ask space for a reply to your comment this morning upon the night-work case now pending in our courts. This case is to determine the constitutionality of the law prohibiting employment of women in factories between 10 P. M. and 6 A. M.

You state that if the law under consideration were in the category of those which make for "racial welfare," "not a reasonable word is to be said against it." But night work seems to you harmless.

Any one who reads the report of the New York Factory Investigating Commission on the night work of women in this State, in response to which the law was enacted last year, must be convinced that such work is not conducive to racial welfare.

Regarding over one hundred women working regularly on night shift in one mill, this is what the commission's investigators found:

> The married women who work at night had on an average about four and one-half hours of sleep in the daytime; they prepared three meals each day, including breakfast * * * They also did all the washing for their families. Many of them returned to their homes after 10 hours of work at night * * * to nurse their babies in the morning and during the daytime.
>
> Ignorant women can scarcely be expected to realize the dangers, not only to their own health, but to that of the next generation from such inhuman usage. But it is precisely to prevent such conditions of toil as threaten the welfare of society that labor laws are designed.

The law recommended by the commission was intended not only to stop such practices, but also to check the excessive prolongation of day work. Investigation has proved that in places such as laundries, bookbinding establishments and seasonable trades, women have been found employed continuously from early morning until after midnight.

The commission recognized that the only way to control such excessive overtime is to set a definite closing hour after which all night work is prohibited. This was no new or visionary proposal. The commission modeled their law upon one which has been in force in Massachusetts for twenty-four years. Indeed, since 1907, in the great and prosperous textile industry of Massachusetts, the closing hour for women has been set as early as 6 P. M. The commission also availed themselves of the recorded experience of the fourteen European nations who in 1906 met in Berne, Switzerland, to sign an international treaty prohibiting night work for women in industrial establishments between 10 P. M. and 6 A. M., and requiring eleven uninterrupted hours of rest at night. This treaty, ratified after extended legislative debates by each of the powers represented, except one, came into effect in February, 1912. The principle of protecting women from night work was recognized in the very first statute regulating women's hours of labor enacted in England in 1844.

You state that "the old belief that sleeping to be beneficial, or most beneficial, must come in the hours of darkness * * * is an exploded superstition." But even if that statement agreed with the testimony of physicians and scientists who have studied the physiological effects of night work, experience proves that women who work at night have neither the privacy nor quiet to make up adequate sleep by day. For them the loss of night sleep is uncompensated.

Assistant District Attorney De Ford ably defended this case before the Court of Special Sessions last Monday. He filed a brief on the legal aspects of the case and also one dealing with the physical, moral and economic facts at issue. He pointed out that these facts were not brought to the attention of the New York Court of Appeals when it threw out a night work law for women in 1907. Since that time the Supreme Court of the United States and the highest courts of various States have upheld legislation regulating hours of labor for women as a legitimate exercise of the police powers of the State, to preserve the public health and welfare.

The National Consumers' League, at the request of the State authorities, has in six previous cases furnished briefs showing "the world's experience" upon which such legislation is based, and, as is well-known, Louis D. Brandeis has given his services in defense of these cases. The establishment of the legal closing hour is in our opinion an essential part of such laws, both to provide an adequate period of rest at night for working women, and as an essential aid in the enforcement of the ten hours a day.

Stage Profanity Increasing.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

As a result of seeing many plays this season I think I have discovered one reason why the theatres are suffering—they singularly fail to advertise their chief attraction.

Why do we not find in their advertisements something like this:

Thrills, laughter, and profanity.
The play with the profanity.
The comedy with the curse.
An oath every minute.
The swearing sensation!

In the plays of some years back an oath was used at very rare intervals to indicate some tense state of mind in a trying situation. To-day it is introduced simply for its uproarious humor, its laugh-producing power! And, particularly, the blasphemy of the vulgar, common, illiterate stage character appears to be welcome.

A Theme for Song Writers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The only trouble with the Mexican situation is that not one of our talented poular song writers has as yet favored us with a tune having the catchy title of "All Aboard for Tampico Bay." It's time our ragging rhymesters got on the job and showed us what they can do. Such a golden opportunity should not be permitted to slip by.

JEALOUSY.

Can you see 'em, Old Abe, in the sky,
Big birds that are flying so high?
They are War Birds, they say—
Not like those in your day—
They can't stride a cannon, they're not built that way,
And their screech does not keep soldiers gay!

Can you see 'em, Old Abe? Do you care
That these bigger birds sail through the air
And watch o'er the fray,
As you did in your day—
Up there at safe distance—not where the guns play?
Speak up, Abe, and say out your say!

Old Abe, you are jealous, I fear,
And, well, it's not 'specially queer!
A game bird were you—
Your old heart was so true!
A soldier, a fighter, you were, thro' and thro'!
So who cares what these bigger birds do?

DR. ABBOTT WRITES OF HIS WIFE'S HELP

Tribute to Her Part in His Career in The Outlook Editor's Reminiscences.

SHE NEVER LOST FAITH

"Her Ambition for Me Keeps Me Young at Seventy-eight; Her Faith Still Inspires," He Says.

Included in the fourth chapter of the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott's "Reminiscences," published in the current issue of The Outlook, of which he is editor in chief, is a striking tribute to his wife. He writes:

> The cares of the household which in most families are assumed by the husband she took from me. When I was asked, "Are you boarding or keeping house?" I was accustomed to reply, "My wife keeps house, and I board with her." When my workshop was in my home, we agreed that during my working hours she would bring no problem to me unless it was of such immediate importance that if I had been a merchant she would summon me from my store or office to deal with it. She was eager for children, welcomed them when they came, and never turned them over to a nursery maid to mother them, though when our means were adequate she used a nursery maid to supplement her own mothering.
> She made an amateur's study of medicine, became an unprofessional nurse before the days of the professional nurse, and when sickness came dropped every other engagement to devote herself to the patient. She never imagined herself a substitute for the doctor, but called him at the first warning and worked loyally under him when he came.
>
> When I was a lawyer she helped me with my briefs, and I tried on her beforehand the arguments with which I hoped to convince the court or the jury, and by her shrewd comments discovered their weak spots. When I was in the ministry, she was copastor, and by her tact saved me from many an entanglement which my absentmindedness would have caused. When I was editor, she was my keenest critic. How often has she stopped me at the close of a paragraph and asked me, "Exactly what do you mean by that?" and when I had explained its meaning, responded cheerfully, "Why not put it that way for common folks like me?"
>
> I am often told that my style is notable for its clearness. If that is the case, the fact is largely due to what I inherited from my father and learned from my wife. How many of my books have been a joint product, not in formal composition, but in preparatory thought, neither I nor she could have told.
>
> Macaulay in a characteristic antithesis notes the distinction between those who are temperamentally drawn in opposite directions, one by the charm of habit, the other by the charm of novelty—the conservative and the radical. My wife's conservatism tempered my radicalism, and to my reverence both for her sentiments and for her judgment I owe the fact that I have been able to move forward with a progressive age without disrespect for or embittered conflict with the men and women of more conservative temper. In times of success her ambition for her husband, always outrunning his achievement, has served to temper if not wholly to prevent my self-conceit. In time of failure, when I have wholly lost faith in myself, she never lost faith in me, and her courage forbade my discouragement.
>
> She died in Germany in 1907, six weeks before a golden anniversary would have been celebrated. Her dust reposes in the well-ordered cemetery at Hildesheim, shaded by trees and covered with the carefully tended flowers which she loved so well. The monument we have chosen for her in this country is a cut-leaf maple, planted on our golden wedding day in our home grounds among the trees all of which were selected by her and planted under her direction. Only a living thing could memorize one so full of life.
>
> I do not think her dead, nor have I lost her companionship. Her ambition for me keeps me young at 78; her faith in me still inspires me with faith in myself. And in every serious question which arises in my life I ask myself, first, what would Jesus Christ counsel me to do, and, second, what would my wife counsel, and my answer to the second question helps me to get the desired answer to the first.
>
> When the news of her death reached America by cable, the children met and read together the last twenty-one verses of the thirty-first chapter of Proverbs. Nowhere in literature could they have found so true a portrait. She was alike averse to fame for herself and ambitous of fame for her husband. The public criticisms which often amused me stung her, and she habitually wondered whether I could not have avoided the offense without disregarding a principle. But unreasonably proud as she was of her husband, she would never allow me to dedicate publicly any of my writings to her; I have to be content with a private dedication in an edition especially bound for her, which she kept among her treasures.
>
> In these reminiscences I shall respect her wish; shall leave her in the retirement which she always coveted; but shall hope that the reader, enlightened by this paragraph, will recognize that the story of my life from 1855, when we were engaged, is the story of our joint lives, as inseparable in my thought as in Tennyson's interpretative verse:
>

DICTATION BY UNIONS.

Mr. Rockefeller Praised for His Stand in the Colorado Strike.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

No unbiased, thinking man can read the statement of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and fail to be impressed by the lucidity, straightforwardness, and accuracy of its exposition of the situation in Colorado as it actually is to-day.

There is one issue there, and one alone: Shall the labor unions in this country be permitted absolutely to dictate what free American labor shall do? In a word, shall they be allowed, under the aegis of the law, to establish a monopoly compared with which the much-berated ones of the so-called "vested interests" pale into utter insignificance?

As Mr. Rockefeller very properly observes, it is now (as it always has been) the duty of the State or Federal authorities to see that the laws are obeyed. The majority of the offenders out there, I venture to say, will not be found among the non-union men.

In my humble opinion, Mr. Rockefeller deserves the thanks and cordial support of every conservative man in this country for his courageous and patriotic stand.

If absolute individual freedom (within the law) is to be forever shackled, the foundations of our great republic will not only be undermined, but its superstructure will crumble into lamentable and permanent decay.

Vegetarian Philosophy.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The protest against the slaughter of wild animals for food, signed Evelyn Foster, will awaken response in the minds of many who for every reason must regret Dr. Grenfell's action.

When the fact that meat is not needed for food is once accepted and acted upon it puts an end to all the other considerations which arise—the debasing office of the butcher, the abominations that ensue upon trade in meat—these are wiped out of existence, and happily the number of thoughtful people who live wholly without meat and are strong and well is constantly increasing. Following this higher law of life they are themselves the best illustrations of its value. Willingness to live upon what costs suffering is an inhumanity; therefore every word that leads people to think for themselves is a blessing.

VINCENT ASTOR WEDS HELEN HUNTINGTON

Pallid from Illness, but Active in the Festivities After the Ceremony

AT HOPELAND, STAATSBURG

Only Fifty Present at Marriage of Richest Young American — Bride Wears His Gift of Rope of Pearls.

Vincent Astor, son of the late John Jacob Astor, and, following the death of his father in the Titanic disaster, head of the vast Astor estates, was married to Miss Helen Dinsmore Huntington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Huntington, at 12:30 o'clock yesterday at Hopeland House, the Staatsburg (N. Y.) country place of the bride's parents, which overlooks the picturesque Hudson. The wedding was attended by the utmost simplicity and informality, and the guests included only the immediate relatives and a few intimate friends, numbering about fifty.

To insure the strictest privacy, owing to Mr. Astor's recent illness, guards were posted at the several entrances to the Huntington estate, and from early morning until late in the afternoon only those whose credentials were unquestioned were admitted to the grounds.

The assembled guests saw nothing to indicate that Mr. Astor had just passed through a serious illness except a certain pallor. He was in gay spirits, and took an active part in the wedding festivities, which lasted until after 4 o'clock. It was about 4:30 o'clock when he hurried from the house with his bride, under a heavy shower of rice and old slippers, and they were whirled away in a closed motor through a rear exit from the estate to the State road, on their way to Ferncliffe, Mr. Astor's estate at Rhinebeck, N. Y., where they will remain until Mr. Astor has entirely recovered.

Mists Clear After Ceremony.

The day dawned gray and muggy, and when the ceremony was performed a fine rain was falling. Half an hour later the mists cleared away and the sun shone down brilliantly from a clear sky. It was cool enough to have a log fire going in one of the living rooms of the house, which is a huge structure of red brick, two stories high, built in the Tudor style.

A picturesque incident of the wedding, perhaps the only unusual feature, was when all the Huntington dogs, about ten of them, all pets of the bride, were let loose from their kennels, after a morning of mysterious imprisonment to them, and allowed to enter the house. Their collars were adorned with streamers of white satin ribbon, and they all raced down the "long room" of Hopeland House among the guests, never pausing until they found their mistress, who welcomed them in her bridal finery.

The guests began arriving shortly before noon, the majority of them coming in their motors from the neighboring estates. The guests from New York occupied a special car, which was attached to the train which left the Grand Central Station at 9:40 o'clock, and which by special arrangement stopped at Staatsburg, arriving there at 12:07. They were met by a battery of cameras, and a moving picture operator, and although it was pouring rain, the operator ground out films of the approaching train and of the alighting guests, who were whisked away to Hopeland House in private conveyances.

Blocked by Deputy Sheriffs.

This was about the only scene that the photographers succeeded in making a pictorial record of, for when they arrived at the entrance to the Huntington estate, a good mile from the station, they were met by Deputy Sheriffs, headed by Sheriff Fred Hornbeck of Dutchess County, who seemed to rise from behind every tree and hedge, blocking further progress, with orders that no one was to be allowed on the grounds but the invited guests.

Meantime a harpist, concealed in the hall of Hopeland House, was playing Mendelssohn's "Spring Song," accompanied by a large string orchestra. Spring was in evidence everywhere, both within and without the Tudor mansion. The jonquils were blooming on the lawn, the blackbirds were making themselves heard in the cedar trees, and the great stretches of grass seemed to be growing by inches under the soft rain. The lower floor of the house was also abloom with the flowers of Spring, and the costumes of the guests reflected all the pastel shades of Springtime, palest green, azure blue, and soft yellow and purple.

Spring flowers were also entwined about the great staircase of cream-colored marble in the reception hall, down which the bridal party descended, just as the sonorous tones of a grandfather's clock chimed the appointed hour. The bride leaned on the arm of her father. Walking before them were the flower girls, Alice Astor, the young sister of the bridegroom, and Margaret Dows, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Dows, who live at Foxhollow Farm at Rhinebeck, and Miss Alice Huntington, the young sister of the bride, who acted as maid of honor.

The bridal party passed through the long room, where the bride's ancestors look down from the walls, into the library, a large, cheery room at the southwest corner of the house, paneled in dark oak, to the marble mantelpiece, banked with rambler roses, where Mr. Astor and his best man, Hermann Oelrichs, awaited their coming. The strains of the "Lohengrin" march died away and the Episcopal marriage service was read by the Rev. Charles H. Duncan, rector of St. Margaret's Church at Staatsburg, where Mr. and Mrs. Huntington, the bride's parents, were married twenty-two years ago. The couple knelt before a white satin and gold prie dieu. Framed above them in flowers and set in the wall above the mantelpiece was a large painting in oil of a scene in the Austrian Tyrol.

Bride's Gown Simply Made.

The bride's gown was very simply made, a creation of rare old lace and tulle. The flounces of lace and also the lace om her bridal veil were worn by her grandmother, Mrs. William B. Dinsmore, Sr., and by her mother, at their nuptials. The train was of satin, and fell from the shoulders, being edged with a ruche of tulle. She wore real orange blossoms, which bloomed in the Huntington conservatory, coming to full bloom on the morning of the wedding, and she carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids.

The only ornament woru by the bride was the magnificent rope of pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, a long strand of graduated pearls.

The maid of honor wore a girlish frock of corn-colored taffeta, with a tunic of dotted net and lace, and a wide sash of nattier blue, topped with a wide brim garden hat trimmed with a wreath of tiny rosebuds and ruching. The flower girls wore frocks of corn-colored chiffon and net, with blue sashes and garden hats. The attendants all carried old-fashioned bouquets of small flowers such as their grandmothers carried years ago.

After the ceremony Mr. Astor and his bride received the congratulations of their relatives and friends before the mantelpiece which Mr. and Mrs. Huntington brought from Rome several years ago. The library was artictically decorated with field daisies, apple blossoms, and lilacs. Mrs. Huntington, who received the guests as they arrived, wore a gown of hydrangea blue taffeta, with a straw hat of light tete de neige, topped with ostrich plumes of a lighter shade of hydrangea blue, and a superb necklace of pearls.

Mrs. John Astor, the bridegroom's mother, was in white and black. Her gift to the bride was a corsage ornament of diamonds, fashioned after a rose. The bride received many handsome gifts, but they were not displayed, most of them being taken immediately to the safe deposit vaults in a Poughkeepsie bank.

The Bridal Breakfast.

Shortly after the ceremony, a bridal breakfast was served by Sherry. The tables for the guests, seating eight people, were spread in the conservatory, which opens off the library, and from which a splendid view is had of the Hudson, over the grounds of the estate, which descend from a wide terrace to the river. The conservatory was abloom with hydrangeas, sweet peas and daisies.

The bride's table was placed in the library, owing to the protection that was necessary for Mr. Astor, who had not been out of the house since he was taken ill with an abscess of the lungs more than three weeks ago. The tables were all decorated with Spring flowers. There was a great deal of jollity attending the cutting of the bride's cake, which was a surprise cake, mounted with a miniature bride and bridegroom under a wedding bell and containing gold favors.

The ring in the cake was drawn by Miss Anna Wright, who, according to old wives' tales, is now destined to be the next bride. No one seemed to know, or would confess, who got the thimble, which is for the old maid, or the bachelor button.

During the breakfast the screened orchestra played popular songs. Other selections included "O Perfect Love," "The Swan," by Saint-Saens; Dvorak's "Humoresque"; selections from "Mme. Butterfly," "Thais," and "La Bohême." Several of the selections were violin and 'cello solos. There was no dancing.

Many of the guests had left when Mr. Astor and his bride ran the gantlet of rice. The bride's going-away dress was a dark blue serge with a black hat with black wings. The basket-bodied cab which bore them away fairly raced against time, and although the Deputy Sheriffs were standing sentinel everywhere, there was no protest against exceeding the speed limit, only expressions of good luck.

A holiday was declared at both the Huntington and Astor estates in celebration of the wedding, and for the disappointed servants who did not witness the ceremony a special luncheon was served. Many of the employes of the Huntington estate were pressed into guard duty for a few hours.

Eighteen hundred wedding announcements were issued yesterday after the ceremony, the guests who attended being invited by informal notes, or verbally. The plan for an elaborate church wedding was postponed owing to Mr. Astor's illness.

May Go to Europe Later.

Mr. Astor's yacht is anchored in the Hudson at Rhinecliff, but it is hardly likely that he and his bride will make a cruise in it for some time. If his health permits, perhaps in a month's time they will sail for Europe, and will go to the Mediterranean during the Summer, where they will board the yacht for a cruise. The bridegroom's mother is sailing for London with her daughter to-morrow. The lease which Mr. Astor holds on the Hollins residence at 12 West Fifty-sixth Street expires the last of May. The young widow of Col. Astor, who was Miss Madeleine Force, although invited, did not attend, as she is at present in the Virginia mountains.

The Wedding Guests.

Those at the wedding, on the Huntington side, besides the bride's parents and sister, were her young brother, Robert D. Huntington, who is attending school at Concord, N. H.; Ford Huntington, an uncle of the bride, who met the guests from New York at the station, and Mrs. Robert P. Huntington, Sr., the bride's grandmother. Besides Mrs. John Astor and her daughter, Alice Astor, the Astor side was represented by Richard Peters, a cousin of the bridegroom; Nicholas Biddle, one of the executors of the Astor estate, and Mrs. Biddle; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cass Ledyard, Jr., and William A. Dobbyn, secretary of the Astor estate.

The Dinsmore family present included Mrs. William B. Dinsmore, the bride's grandmother on the maternal side, whose estate, The Locusts, adjoins the Huntington place; Mr. and Mrs. William B. Dinsmore, Jr., Mrs. Clarence Gray Dinsmore, a great-aunt of the bride; Miss Clara Dinsmore, W. B. Dinsmore, 3d, and Miss Madeleine Dinsmore. The two aunts of the bride from Boston, Mass., were present, Mrs. Waldo Adams and Mrs. Edward Adams, and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Goodrich, also from Boston.

Others present included Mr. and Mrs. Tracy Dows, Master Olin Dows, Mrs. M. Lewis Clark of Louisville, Ky., a cousin of Mrs. Huntington; J. Roosevelt Roosevelt, an uncle of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Rogers of Hyde Park, N. Y., and their daughter, Miss Anne P. Rogers, and her fiancé, Griswold Webb; Edmund Rogers, Thornton Wilson, cousin of the bridegroom; John J. Chapman, Beekman Hoppin, Arthur P. Sturges, Oliver S. Campbell, Mrs. Charles H. Duncan, and the Rev. and Mrs. Little of Rhinebeck.

Also Miss Elizabeth Lynch and Mrs. Hosking, neighbors of the Huntingtons; Supt. Harmon of the Hopeland House estate and Mrs. Harmon, Supt. Pinkham of the Astor estate, Supt. Herrick, who has been with the Dinsmore estate for fifty-five years, and Thomas Emerson, the head gardener at the Huntington place, and Mrs. Emerson.

Unites Families of Great Wealth.

As Mr. Astor has known his bride since childhood a touch of romance was added to their union. The bride spent her early childhood at the old Huntington estate at Rhinebeck, which adjoins the Astor's. The wedding marked the uniting of two families of great wealth. Mr. Astor, following his father's death, came into the possession of estates valued at $65,000,000, and his bride is the granddaughter of the late William B. Dinsmore, a multi-millionaire. She is a descendant of Samuel Huntington of Norwich, Conn., a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and on the Huntington side of the family two of her ancestors were Justices of the United States Supreme Court. Her grandfather on the maternal side was Alvin Adams, founder of the Adams Express Company.

The bride has spent most of her life in the country, and is fond of country life and athletics, being an expert horsewoman, caring more for the serious things of life than for the frivolities of society.

Mr. Astor will be 23 on next Nov. 15. As a child he was delicate, and the outdoor life prescribed by his physicians became a habit to which he still adheres.

He received most of his early schooling from private tutors, and was for a time a student at Eton in England. He entered Harvard, but the death of his father caused him to leave the university. Since becoming, at the age of 21, the head of the Astor family in the United States, he has interested himself in philanthropic work. He has taken a keen interest in the welfare of the men in the Fire and Police Departments and is a member of the Honor Board of Police. An evidence of the appreciation of his kindness is found in the fact that during his recent illness all sorts of remedies were sent to him by those he had assisted, as well as little wedding gifts. His engagement to Miss Huntington was announced in November of last year.

Nature's Remedy For Constipation

Nature has provided an ideal Laxative Water that will purify your blood, keep your stomach and intestines clear and promptly relieve Constipation. Don't take a drastic Purgative water which drains you and makes you feel weak and listless. Take a mild, gentle and pleasant natural laxative which gently stimulates and effectively operates without bad effects.

Hunyadi János Water

is bottled at the Springs in Hungary in its original state. It has just the right composition, needs no adulteration, is not concentrated, not fortified; just natural; otherwise the Government would not permit the word "natural" on the label. Physicians all over the world prescribe it. Don't let any one persuade you to take a laxative water which is artificial, irritating and harmful. The Label is your protection. Look for the word Natural thereon. Buy a bottle to-day at your Druggist's. Be sure to get what you ask for.

WED UNDER ARCH OF ROSES.

Walter C. Bettinson and Miss Grace L. Kerr Married—The Attendants.

The wedding of Walter Charles Bettinson and Miss Grace Lothian Kerr took place yesterday afternoon at the residence of the bride's brother, John C. Kerr, 135 Central Park West, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Dr. Henry Swentzel of St. Luke's Church, Brooklyn. Spring flowers decorated the apartment.

The ceremony took place in the drawing room under an arch of pink Rambler roses, four friends of the bride, carrying daisies and holding ribbons, outlining a short aisle, through which the bridal party passed. The four girls were the Misses Winifred Marshall of Brooklyn, Jessie Benedict and Ida Guerrin of New York, and Mary Tecla Romadka of Milwaukee.

The bride walked with her brother, who gave her in marriage. She wore a white satin gown having a court train. The bodice had a Medici collar of Venetian point, and a thistle in Honiton lace was caught on one sleeve, the bride's family being Scotch. The tulle veil was held with orange blossoms. She carried lilies of the valley and Winter orchids. The maid of honor was Miss Helen Culbertson Kerr, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kerr and a niece of the bride. She wore an embroidered white chiffon frock and carried pink wild roses. The bridesmaids were the Misses Marjorie Hunt Prentiss of Brooklyn, Alice Robertson of Milwaukee, and Louise Hodsdon and Louise Klipstein of New York. All wore frocks of white embroidered net, with pink satin girdles with butterfly bows, and carried cherry blossoms.

Mr. Bettinson's best man was Clarence Mann Sherwood, and the ushers, all of whom live in Upper Montclair, N. J., were Kirk Newell, Henry McGraw, C. Vann Ness Person, and Warren Ayres. A small reception followed the ceremony. Mrs. Kerr, who also received, wore black velvet and Venetian lace.

On their return from their honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Bettinson will live in Upper Montclair.

NORDICA REPORTED DYING IN JAVA

Physicians Give Up All Hope of the Famous Singer's Recovery.

ADVISED NOT TO TRAVEL

But Insisted on Leaving Thursday Island, Where She Suffered from Pneumonia After Shipwreck.

BATAVIA, April 30.—Mme. Lillian Nordica, who arrived here quite ill nearly a month ago, has suffered a relapse and is sinking.

The doctors give up all hope of Mme. Nordica's recovery.

Mme. Nordica had engaged passage for Genoa, where her husband, George W. Young, of New York, expected to meet her.

Mme. Nordica has been ill ever since the experience she encountered while she was a passenger on the Dutch steamer Tasman, which went ashore on Bramble Cay, in the Gulf of Papua, last Dec. 28.

She first suffered from nervous prostration, which developed into pneumonia.

The Tasman was floated two days after the accident and was towed to Thursday Island. When the ship arrived there Mme. Nordica was placed under the care of a physician, who attended her until April 1, when she left Thursday Island for Batavia on the steamer Houtman, against the advice of the doctor.

On Dec. 31 Mme. Nordica sent a wireless dispatch to The Associated Press by way of Cooktown, Queensland, in which she said:

"All on board the Tasman speak highly of the splendid behavior of her Captain, her officers, and her wireless operator. The vessel struck on Saturday night, and much uncertainty prevailed as to the possibility of refloating her. She had gone ashore on Bramble Cay Reef, from which she was towed off only yesterday by a Japanese collier.

"The exact amount of damage sustained has not been ascertained, but the pumps are now keeping the water well under, and the Tasman is proceeding to Thursday Island under her own steam for repairs, after which she will continue her voyage to Batavia."

The accident to the Tasman occurred while Mme. Nordica and her company of singers were on a world tour. They sailed from New York in April, 1913.

WEDS MISS QUACKENBUSH.

Francis Minot, Grandson of Ex-Secretary Olney, a Bridegroom.

The marriage of Francis Minot, a son of Mrs. George R. Minot of Boston, and a grandson of Richard Olney, at one time Secretary of State, and Miss Isabel Shirley Quackenbush, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham C. Quackenbush of 1,287 Madison Avenue, was celebrated at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the South Church, Park Avenue and Eighty-fifth Street. The church was decorated with palms, with Easter lilies on the altar, and the Rev. Henry Reed Bridges performed the ceremony.

The bride, who walked with her father, who gave her in marriage, wore a white satin gown with a long square train, the skirt with pannier drapings. Point lace coming from the shoulders went down over the corsage and skirt. The short sleeves were of chiffon. Her veil was point applique falling from a cap to match, held with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Miss Vesta Freeman, the bride's cousin, was her maid of honor. Her pink taffeta frock was draped with pink net. Her white Watteau hat was filled in at the raised side with pink ribbon and pink sweet peas wreathed the top. She carried flowers to match.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Katharine H. Miller and Louise A. Smith. Their pink taffeta frocks had white lace bodices with touches of lavender net and lavender net formed the draped sashes. Their flat white hats had pink taffeta at the turned-up side and wreaths of lavender and pink sweet peas on the top. Their bouquets of sweet peas matched the flowers on their hats.

William B. Prescott was Mr. Minot's best man, and the ushers were John Chester Freeman, Brom McL. Quackenbush, Lawrence Richmond, Walter Burnham, James J. Minot, and Henry P. Dunbar.

The reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, which was decorated with Spring flowers and greens. After a wedding trip of several weeks Mr. and Mrs. Minot will return to town. Mr. Minot, who was graduated from Harvard in 1913, is in business in this city.

GIVE A "PATRIOTIC NIGHT."

Army and Navy Men at Winter Garden—President Sends Message.

Last night was "Patriotic Night" at the Winter Garden, where special features were introduced in "The Whirl of the World," in honor of the occasion. About 500 representatives of the army and navy, National Guard, patriotic societies, and veterans' associations were present.

The action of the musical comedy was interrupted at 9 o'clock by a special ceremony on the stage, at which Col. Asa Bird Gardiner made at brief address. Among those present were Lieut. Gov. Wagner and the Governor's staff, Gen. Evans, U. S. A., commanding the Department of the East, and staff; Col. John S. Mallory, commandant Governors Island; Capt. Arthur Gleaves, commander Brooklyn Navy Yard; Col. Daniel Appleton, commanding the Seventh Regiment; Veteran Corps of Artillery, in comandd of Charles Elliott Warren, and many members of the Society of the Cincinnati.

A telegram from President Wilson was received and read from the stage. It ran:

> The White House, Washington, D. C.
> April 30, 1914.
> Messrs. Sam S. and Lee Shubert, Winter Garden, New York City.
> I have learned with interest of the patriotic performance you have planned for this evening. Will you accept my cordial thanks for your sympathetic support of the Administration and my assurance that it is appreciated. WOODROW WILSON.

Upon the conclusion of Col. Gardiner's address the audience joined in singing "The Star Spangled Banner."

MARY GARDEN DENIES BREAK

Says Her Relations with Chicago Opera Company Are Friendly.

Mary Garden, who it is understood will sail for Europe on the Kaiser Wilhelm II on next Tuesday, denied yesterday the report that there had been a serious break between herself and the Philadelphia-Chicago Opera Company. Miss Garden sent word from her apartments at the Ritz-Carlton that her relations with the company were of the best, although she admitted that no plans for her appearance had been arranged for next season.

Her absences from the company while it was on tour and in Chicago have been at the bottom of persistent rumors that she had quarreled with the organization and it has been said that she will not be a member of it next season. Miss Garden has recovered from the illness which made her operatic appearances uncertain.

JANE COWL AS DODO.

Will Have the Leading Role in Owen Johnson's Play.

Selwyn & Co. announced last night that they had obtained the dramatic rights to Owen Johnson's story, "The Salamander," and that they would make a preliminary production of it in Boston in three weeks.

The dramatization has been made by Mr. Johnson himself, and the rôle of Dodo, the Salamander, a girl who asserts that she has the right to "experience life," will be played by Jane Cowl. The piece will not be offered in New York until next season.

The guests included Mrs. William Pratt, Mrs. F. S. Hastings, Mrs. St. Clair Smith, Mrs. Oliver Bridgman, Mrs. Gerrit Smith, Mrs. Henry Chauncey Cryder, Miss Harriet Center, Mrs. William Culbert, Mrs. Buckingham, and Mrs. Cunningham.

President Wilson's Daughters Here.

Miss Margaret Wilson, who has been at the Waldorf-Astoria for several days, was joined there yesterday by her sister, Miss Eleanor Wilson, who is to wed Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo on May 7. Eleanor Wilson gave a small luncheon in the Rose Room of the hotel. The two sisters are here shopping, and will return to Washington late Saturday afternoon.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

Cohan and Harris announced yesterday that they had engaged Grant Mitchell for an important role in "The Miracle Man," which George M. Cohan is dramatizing from the novel by Frank L. Packard. "The Miracle Man" is scheduled for production late in August. Grant Mitchell will be recalled as the original Eddie Lamb in "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford."

Ethel Barrymore gave a box party at Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre yesterday, and saw for the first time the Kinemacolor motion picture of herself and family taken at her home. John Drew was in the party. The picture also shows in moving life Richard Harding Davis and others.

Frank Keenan in "Vindication" will take Arnold Daly's place on the bill at the Colonial Theatre next week. Mr. Keenan will also present his much-discussed sketch at the Orpheum and will go by motor in costume from one theatre to the other.

Five hundred orphan children from the Catholic orphanage at Mount Loretta, Staten Island, were the guests of Miller Bros. and Arlington, owners of the 101 Ranch Wild West Show, at Madison Square Garden yesterday afternoon. The children were in charge of the Rev. M. J. Fitzpatrick, and were led by their own bugle corps and a brass band composed of boys from the home.

Joan Sawyer and John Jarrott will dance together for the last time at the Alhambra Theatre next week.

At the Republic Theatre to-night a new motion picture, billed as a serious and dignified photo appeal for sociological reform, will be shown for the first time before an invited audience. "Protect Us" is the title of the film, which will have its first regular presentation to the public on Saturday, beginning at 2:30 daily and running until 11 P. M.

The twenty-sixth annual production of the Mask and Wig Club of the University of Pennsylvania will be seen at Wallack's Theatre for a matinee and evening on Saturday, May 16. The musical play this year is called "The Royal Arms," the book by Darrell H. Smith and the lyrics by Charles Gilpin.

Early in August the Republic Theatre will reopen under the management of A. H. Woods, with Lew Fields in a new comedy adapted from the German by Frank Mandel, entitled "The High Cost of Loving."

In the Berkeley Theatre to-morrow afternoon Victoria Siddons of Washington, D. C., a great-great-granddaughter of Mrs. Sarah Siddons, the famous English actress, will read Tennyson's "Enoch Arden" to the musical setting of Richard Strauss. At the piano will be Miss Julia Huggins, the accompanist for the Rubinstein Club, the leading singing society of Washington.

One hundred members of the New York Theatre Club, headed by the President of the club, Mrs. Belle de Rievers, attended the performance of "Panthea" at the Booth Theatre yesterday afternoon.

INDIANS AT GRACE CHURCH.

Wild West Performers at Special Service—Sing in Dakota Tongue.

More than 300 Indians, cowboys and cowgirls from the 101 Ranch Wild West Show at Madison Square Garden made up the congregation at Grace Church, Broadway and Eleventh St., yesterday morning, when a special service for their benefit was held by the Rev. C. L. Slattery, assisted by the Rev. J. Howard Mellish, rector of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn.

The Wild West people, headed by J. C. Miller, the ranchman, and the Rev. Robert Rein, chaplain, marched from Madison Square Garden down Broadway to the church. Most of the Indians are members of the Episcopal Church at Pine Ridge, S. D.

Dr. Slattery spoke briefly, addressing himself especially to the Indians, and then administered the rite of communion to three Sioux converts and to thirty other Indian and white members of the Episcopal church. An interesting feature of the service was the singing of the "Rock of Ages" by the Indians in the Dakota tongue. The Sioux chiefs, Iron Tail, Red Shirt and Black Fox, who were among those who took communion, were in the Custer fight.

The announcement was made that next Sunday morning at 9:30 o'clock, the Rev. C. Campbell Walker of St. Anne's P. E. Church, Brooklyn, will talk to the Indians in the arena of Madison Square Garden.

MEMORIAL TO A HYMN.

Daughters of 1812 to Honor "The Star-Spangled Banner."

NEW HAVEN, April 30.—A memorial to "The Star Spangled Banner," to be established by the Daughters of 1812 and to be presented to the nation on the 100th anniversary of the writing of the hymn, was provided for in a resolution adopted to-day by the Associate Council of the society in national session here. Mrs. B. L. Whitney of Detroit offered the resolution, which was based upon the official announcement that the New York Chapter would assume the obligations of the Daughters to contribute $10,000 for a room in the proposed George Washington Memorial Building in Washington, leaving the Daughters free to divert to other purposes the contributions already made by State chapters to the memorial room.

Mrs. Whitney said the contributions to date amounted to only $510, that the proposed memorial would cost $800, and that the remainder could be raised by a 50 cent per capita tax on members in States which had not already contributed.

Franklin A. Green.

Franklin A. Green, Deputy Superintendent of School Buildings, Board of Education, died at his home, 253 West 100th Street, Wednesday evening from an abscess of the brain which an operation had failed to relieve, after an illness of three weeks. Mr. Green was born in Elmira, N. Y., in 1866, being the son of the Rev. A. W. Green of Syracuse. He was graduated from Cornell University, architecture, in 1890, and began practice at Tacoma, Wash. He designed the Tacoma City Hall and his plans for the State Capitol of Washington were accepted in 1892. Mr. Green came to this city in 1899 and was appointed a draughtsman to the Board of Education, and two years ago was elected Deputy Superintendent of School Buildings in charge of the draughting room. He left a wife, a son, and a daughter. Funeral services will be held at St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal Church in West End Avenue at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

George Fox Brown.

George Fox Brown, 79 years old, a well-known Quaker and one of the oldest business men in Rahway, N. J., died at his home, 17 Jaques Avenue, yesterday. He was born in Rahway and lived there all his life. Mr. Brown succeeded his father in the drug business at 136 Main Street fifty-nine years ago. He was the grandnephew of the late Andrew Ellicott, who laid out the city of Washington, and also of Joseph Ellicott, who laid out the city of Buffalo. His great-grandfather, Enoch Moore, introduced the use of drugs into Rahway when herbs alone were used, and owing to his record in the war of 1812 was known as the "Quaker General." Mr. Brown is survived by his widow and a son, First Lieut. A. Ellicott Brown of the United States Army, Professor of Military Tactics at Rutgers College.

Dr. Annie M. Brown.

Dr. Annie M. Brown, 72 years old, 155 Halsey Street, Brooklyn, widow of Benjamin J. Brown, a former hat manufacturer of this city, died at her home yesterday. She had been in ill health for a year. Death was due to heart disease. Dr. Brown was one of the pioneer women doctors of the State. She was graduated from the New York Women's Medical College in 1882, having entered shortly after the institution opened, and had built up a large practice when she retired ten years ago. She was a member of the Kings County Medical Society, Women's Medical Society of New York, and the Peace Circle, an organization founded to advocate universal peace. Dr. Brown was born in Middletown, N. Y., and was a direct descendant of Peter Stuyvesant.

Dr. Eugene F. Pearce.

Dr. Eugene F. Pearce, who had been in general practice in Brooklyn for thirty-one years, died yesterday at his residence, 95 Henry Street. Dr. Pearce was in his fifty-sixth year and was graduated from the New York University and the Long Island College Hospital. He was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa and the Psi Upsilon fraternities, the Kings County Medical Society, State Medical Society, Anthon Lodge, F. and A. M., Long Island Council, R. A., Primrose Lodge, Sons of St. George, and Montauk Lodge, I. O. O. F. He left his widow, three children, and his mother, Mrs. Frederick Pearce.

Obituary Notes.

Miss EUPHEMIA WINANS, an assistant in the order department of the New York Public Library and well known in library and musical circles, died at her home, 419 West 119th Street, on Wednesday, of pneumonia. She was born in this city fifty-three years ago. For a time she engaged in newspaper work in Chicago. She was a daughter of Chauncey Winans.

JOHN CHICHESTER, a veteran of the civil war, died at his home, 195 Woodworth Avenue, Yonkers, on Tuesday. He was formerly a resident of Flushing, and retired from the tobacco business fifteen years ago. He left a widow and a daughter, Mrs. James H. Tagg of Flushing.

Miss MARY CATHERINE GARRETTSON, widely known for her philanthropy in providing means for young women to study at college and for many years a resident of this city, died in Asheville, N. To Holders of Bonds Selling at a Premium

Private investors sometimes overlook the fact that premium bonds are payable at par at maturity. Hence, all other things being equal, the nearer premium bonds approach maturity the more certain they are to gradually decline in market prices, until finally paid off at par at maturity.

So that if you hold bonds now selling at a substantial premium, or premium bonds maturing in the near future, why not exchange them for equally desirable bonds now selling below par? The tendency then would be for the amount of your principal so invested to gradually increase to the extent of at least the difference between cost price and par value of the discount bonds at or before their maturity.

Our Circular No. 1432 describes several issues of sound investment bonds now selling at a discount, and we suggest that you send for a copy.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks, with Few Exceptions, Advance—Hope of Peace in Mexico Increases.

Against very few securities was any selling pressure exerted yesterday, and on trading only a little larger than that of the previous day good net gains were made throughout the list. The Rock Island securities furnished the chief exceptions to the forward movement, although in the early dealings Missouri Pacific also was freely sold. In this case liquidation was somewhat abruptly suspended, and the price rallied rapidly, retaining at the end of the day a net gain of 2 points. Rumor was busy with the possibility of a change in the control of Missouri Pacific as an incident of the financing which is needed to care for the notes which mature a month hence. The expectation of a default on the Rock Island collateral trust 4s, coupled with uncertainty over the bondholders' committee's findings regarding the financial needs of the property, was responsible for the break which carried the 4 per cent. bonds to a new low price. The Rock Island debentures, the junior of the obligations of the Rock Island Railway, also suffered a sharp decline, but the other bond issues of the parent company were not affected.

For the rest the market moved under the impulse of general rather than of specific influences, though from this statement New York Central should, perhaps, be excepted in that its net advance of 1⅞ points was in part at least influenced by the expectation of important advantages from the carrying out of the plan of consolidation which has been put in formal shape by the vote of the Board of Directors. The more cheerful tone at London, as well as at Paris, was a factor which contributed to improvement here, particularly as there were some further repurchases of stock for foreign account. The morning's news that an adjustment of the Ulster problem was in sight seemed to relieve the outlook of a very troublesome as well as acute element of disturbance, and this was helpful here as well as abroad. The news regarding the Mexican situation was also encouraging, for it opened the way for the hope that Constitutionalists would accept mediation at the hands of the three South American republics which are attempting to adjust the differences in Mexico, and so provide a settlement of the matters at issue between ourselves and that country. The mere passage of time without any fresh obstacles in the way of mediation developing was accepted as strengthening the hope that the plan will succeed.

The revulsion from the strain of last week has brought with it a somewhat more optimistic point of view which is finding reflection in the enlarged trading operations on the long side of the stock market, and in the absence of retarding liquidation except in the few quarters where current developments furnish special ground for selling even at the cost of lowered prices. The improvement which has taken place in the bond market, particularly for State and municipal issues, since the recovery from the shock of the news of the seizure of Vera Cruz has not extended to Government bonds. In yesterday's over-the-counter trading Panama 3s sold as low as 100⅝, and the 2s were offered as low as 96½. The market for these issues, however, is very much narrower than it was before the enactment of the legislation looking to the eventual retirement of the bond secured circulation of the national banks. That is a point which is to be taken into consideration in connection with the extent to which prices for United States bonds are currently influenced by either small sales or small purchases.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Light on Arbitrage Dealings.

Fifteen or more hearings on the matter of renewing joint accounts in arbitrage dealings have been held before the special committee of Stock Exchange Governors appointed for the purpose, and the inquiry is not yet ended. The Exchange desired to study the arbitrage business in full detail before a ruling was made. To meet this attitude of the authorities the firms engaged in arbitrage dealings have had foreign brokers appear before the committee to give their views. One of the visitors from London brought information about arbitrage transactions between European markets which impressed his auditors to a marked degree with the possibilities lying in hair-trigger purchases and sales of securities by cable. He told the committee, with figures to back up his statement, that in one month last Fall his firm had done more business between the London and Amsterdam markets in a certain American railroad stock than was transacted in this issue in general trading during the preceding six months on the New York Stock Exchange.

Better Rail Reports.

It needed no improvement in general business to enable the railways to make a better showing for March. The conditions affecting the Eastern lines were so bad in February that nothing more than a change in weather was required to bring about a big improvement in March results, especially so in the matter of net earnings. In February net earnings were almost a negligible quantity on some of the larger systems. The Pennsylvania system, lines East and West, did a gross business of $29,558,000 in March, which was within $170,000 of the revenues for the corresponding month of last year. The operating expenses were actually reduced $821,000, so that the system was able to report a gain of $651,000 in net earnings. The Baltimore & Ohio earned $7,974,000 gross, an increase of $184,000, and reduced expenses by $667,000, so that it, too, was able to make a better exhibit for net earnings with an increase of $851,000. The Southern Pacific had a decrease of $54,000 in gross, and a loss of $436,000 in net after taxes. The Southern Pacific's report was quite different from that of its former associate, the Union Pacific, which lost $117,000 in gross in March but nevertheless managed to show an increase of $95,000 in net.

Cutting Down Maintenance Costs.

It is often possible for a railroad to lift its net earnings by contracting its appropriations for maintenance without injury to the property. The Union Pacific used to pour money into its roadbed when business was good and lower expenses when business was quiet. A certain amount of maintenance work, mostly repairs, must be provided for whether there are any earnings or not, unless the property is to suffer, but other expenditures can sometimes be made as well in one month as another. The Baltimore & Ohio in March reduced its maintenance of way by $375,000 and its upkeep of equipment by $422,000. The combined saving was almost the total amount of the month's gain in net. The reductions were greater than would have appeared had the previous year's expenses been normal, but in 1912 the devastating floods of March and April cost the company approximately $3,500,000 and made the maintenance costs higher for a number of months. The Pennsylvania Railroad spent $92,000 more on its roadbed, but cut maintenance of equipment by $190,000. The Pennsylvania Company took $317,000 from maintenance of way and $119,000 from the expenditure on equipment.

Reading's Lowered Profits.

The dullness in the coal trade, which has kept the earnings of the Reading companies down this year, appears likely to make it impossible for Reading to earn a surplus sufficient for the payment of 8 per cent. on its $70,000,000 of common stock this year. The reports to date indicate that after the preferred dividends, sinking funds, and betterments the company will earn around 7½ per cent. A shortage of half a million dollars for a single year would not cause apprehension among Reading's stockholders, however. The company could make up a deficiency of several times that amount if conditions made it advisable.

Good News from Grain Fields

News from the grain regions, which usually takes precedence with the stock market over other developments at this season of the year has been subordinated to dispatches from Mexico and Colorado. At least the trend of conversation in commission houses gives this impression. In the offices of grain brokers, however, this is not the case. The traders digest the reports sent in from private investigators, and those who favor the declining side of quotations find much pleasing information therein. Men who have kept in touch for years with growing wheat and corn say that never in their experience have conditions been so favorable for great crops. Winter wheat entered the Spring months in an extraordinary state of vigor, and abundant rains have brought the soil into a prime condition for Spring wheat and corn. In the Canadian Northwest it is expected that seeding will be completed a full week earlier than last year.

Waiting on Peace Negotiations.

American corporations doing business in Mexico are counting much on negotiations aimed to bring an end to hostilities. Some of the mining companies stand ready to renew operations on a broad scale just as soon as they feel that they may profitably do so. Meantime they are adhering closely to a policy of watchful waiting, with a readiness to meet whatever developments may arise. The Directors of the Greene-Cananea Copper Company decided yesterday to wait another week before taking action on the dividend usually voted at this time. A statement issued by the board said that the company's finances were ample to justify the usual payment, but that a decision to make the return to shareholders would await news from below the border.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

A very good proportion of the business done in Wall Street was handled on the Consolidated Stock Exchange, where the sales totaled 47,910 shares. Union Pacific was dealt in to the amount of 11,030 shares, which was nearly one-third of the total turnover of that stock in the financial district, while Reading changed hands to the amount of 10,540 shares, which was more than one-quarter of that stock's total turnover. Sales of United States Steel were 11,800 shares. While prices made further headway toward a higher level, there were a number of changes in tone. The absence of any important disturbing developments overnight in the Mexican situation helped to create more confidence on the part of the bulls. Advances were general on the 9:30 o'clock opening call, compared with Wednesday's closing quotations.

BOURSES OF EUROPE

Confident Buying Resumed in London on the Improved Outlook in Mexico and Ulster.

LONDON, April 30.—Money and discount rates were easier to-day.

Confident buying was resumed on the Stock Exchange on the hopeful Ulster and Mexican outlooks. Prices advanced, especially in consols and Mexican and home rails, the former rising half a point. Paris, however, sold De Beers and Rio Tintos in connection with the forced closing out of accounts there, which induced general realizing, but offerings were well absorbed and the market hardened and closed cheerful.

American securities were fairly active during the forenoon. At first prices were unchanged, but later the list advanced under the lead of Canadian Pacific. A reaction followed, but light buying caused a general improvement in the last hour. The closing was steady.

PARIS, April 30.—Prices were firm on the Bourse to-day.

Three per cent. rentes, 87f. 2½c. for the account.

BERLIN, April 30.—Trading was very quiet and prices were rather weak on the Boerse to-day.

BANK SUBSCRIPTIONS GROW.

Nine Have Over Minimum—Total at Present $77,548,500.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Nine of the twelve Federal reserve banks to-day had more of their stock subscribed than the minimum of $4,000,000 fixed by law. The total national bank subscribers in the twelve districts, according to a statement of the Treasury Department, was 4,560, of a membership of 7,497, and the total amount of stock subscribed was $77,548,500.

An amendment to the Federal Reserve Banking act, to enable State banks or trust companies to deposit reserve funds in other State banks or trust companies in States where such action was permitted by State laws, was favorably reported to the Senate to-day by Senator Owen for the Banking and Currency Committee. He stated that the Secretary of the Treasury favored the amendment, and asked for immediate consideration, but objection carried the amendment over a day.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 30.—Counsel for the Regional Reserve Bank Committee of Baltimore addressed a letter to-day to the Reserve Bank Organization Committee of the Federal Reserve Board requesting that it do nothing further toward officially assisting in the organization of the bank at Richmond until the Baltimore committee's application for review was fully heard and decided.

Attention is called to "the fact that the proposed bank at Richmond is using every effort to perfect an organization, so that it will be most difficult for the Federal Reserve Board to effectively review your decision."

RULES ON DEFAULTED BONDS

Stock Exchange Sales Must Be with Unpaid Coupons Attached.

Because no preparation has been made by the companies to pay interest due to-day, the Committee on Securities of the Stock Exchange has ruled that transactions in the 4 per cent. gold bonds, due in 2002, of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Company must carry the May 1 coupon. The same ruling applies to the general lien 5 per cent. gold bonds of the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroad Company and the sinking fund 4½ per cent. bonds of the Institution for the Encouragement of Irrigation Work and Development of Agriculture, Series A.

The last named securities are guaranteed as to principal and interest by the Mexican Government. There are $25,000,000 of the bonds outstanding. Speyer & Co. on Wednesday obtained a writ of attachment against the Nation Bank of Mexico for $235,561, part of the funds forwarded to this city to pay the interest on the bonds. The writ was served on Maitland, Coppell & Co., agents of the Mexican bank. Payment of the money to Speyer & Co. by the agents had been stopped by advices from Mexico City.

APRIL TRANSACTIONS.

Transactions in stocks on the New York Stock Exchange for the month of April aggregated 7,138,354 shares, an increase of 1,276,201 shares, as compared with the previous month, but a decrease of 1,321,064 shares as compared with the corresponding month last year. The largest total was 533,990 shares on the 14th, and the smallest, 106,860, on the 6th. For the Saturday half holiday the maximum total was 349,669 on the 25th and the minimum 64,853 on the 4th.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC ANSWERS U. S. SUIT

Says the Government Has Recognized as Legal Its Control of Central Pacific.

HELPED TO PAY ITS U. S. DEBT

Both Always Under One Ownership and Separation Now Would Work Great Injury to Each.

The Southern Pacific Company filed at Salt Lake City yesterday its answer to the suit brought by the United States Government to compel the separation of the Central Pacific from the Southern Pacific. The answer sets up the novel defense that the Government itself, both through an act of Congress and through the decision of the Supreme Court in the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific merger case, has tacitly recognized the Central Pacific line as an essential part of the Southern Pacific system.

The defendants will be represented by J. P. Blair, general counsel of the Southern Pacific System, and by William F. Herrin, chief counsel on the Pacific Coast, who will be assisted by P. F. Dunne and Garrett W. McEnerney of the San Francisco bar as special counsel.

The defendants make specific denials of the Government's allegations tending to show violation of the Sherman anti-trust law of 1890, and of the Pacific Railroad acts. The company recites the history of the lines owned by the Southern Pacific and Central Pacific to show that all of these lines were constructed under one ownership, and that the lines of the former were built as extensions and connections for the Central Pacific. The lines of the two companies always have been operated by one company, it is contended, and the Central Pacific was the operating company up to April 1, 1885, on which date the Southern Pacific Company took possession of all the lines under a 99-year lease.

It is pointed out that because these lines were under common ownership they were developed as one property. Branch lines from the Central Pacific were built by Southern Pacific, although they had no connection with the main line of the latter. In the joint operation through trains have been run by the most direct line, without reference to ownership. The answer asserts that a separation cannot now be had without great injury to each company and without involving both in the expenditure of great sums for separate terminals.

In connection with the Government grant of a subsidy to Central Pacific, by which it became indebted for $58,000,000, attention is called to the passage in 1898 of an act providing that the Secretary of the Treasury, Secretary of the Interior, and Attorney General should constitute a commission to obtain a settlement. Congress had stipulated that the Central Pacific should be made to pay $5,800,000 a year for ten years to extinguish this debt.

"This sum exceeded many times over any possible net earnings of the Central Pacific that could be applied to the payment of this debt," says the answer, "and it cannot be questioned that Congress intended and understood that this debt could only be paid by the employment of the credit and resources of the Southern Pacific Company.

"The defendants therefore allege that Congress, at the time it enacted the law of July 7, 1898, contemplated and expected such participation by Southern Pacific in the settlement provided for. By reason of the aforesaid transaction with the United States Government the Southern Pacific had the right to believe and rely upon the fact that its relations with Central Pacific, its leases and its acquisition of the stock of said company, were not, nor were any of them, in violation of the law."

It is further said that in the belief that the Government sanctioned the Southern Pacific's control of Central Pacific the former has incurred heavy financial obligations for the benefit of the Central Pacific which it would not otherwise have incurred. For example, in 1911 it unconditionally guaranteed an issue of 250,000,000 francs in 5 per cent. bonds, agreeing that the issue should become payable at once if it disposed of its stock in Central Pacific or if the leases should be terminated.

The Supreme Court's decree in the Harriman merger case is relied upon as a bar to the present suit. In the full knowledge that the Southern Pacific owned the Central Pacific, the lower court dismissed the action to compel a separation of Union Pacific and Southern Pacific. The Supreme Court reversed this decree only upon the point that the Union Pacific's control of Southern Pacific was illegal, saying as to all other matters:

"We find no reason to disturb the action of the court below."

In the process of carrying out the Supreme Court's decree in the earlier case Attorney General McReynolds made earnest efforts to have the Central Pacific transferred to the Union Pacific, for which it furnishes a Western connection from Ogden. The two companies could not come to terms after the California Railroad Commission refused to allow certain advantages to accrue to Union Pacific in connection with the sale, and the dissolution was finally worked out to the exclusion of the proposed Central Pacific sale. Mr. McReynolds thereupon served an ultimatum on the Southern Pacific that it must dispose of Central Pacific or stand another dissolution suit.

M. O. P. RALLIES ON RUMORS.

Report Now Is That Gould May Sell to Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

Heavy transactions in the shares of the Missouri Pacific yesterday first depressed the price to 15¼, at which point it made a new low record for a long term of years, and then brought about an advance of 3¾ points to 19. The close was at 18, at which price the shares had a net gain of 2 points for the day.

It was the first evidence of strength in this issue since heavy selling started in a few weeks ago on the reported breaking off of negotiations for a sale of the Gould holdings in the property to John D. Rockefeller and associates. The upturn resulted from a revival of stories turning on the removal of George Gould from control and the consummation of new banking alliances. It was impossible to get the few persons in touch with the real situation to confirm or deny these reports.

Although the Missouri Pacific has maturing exactly one month from to-day an issue of $25,000,000 three-year notes, which have been very much on the financial community's mind for the past two years, no word has yet come from the Gould offices or from Speyer & Co., who are represented on the board, as to the manner in which the notes will be met. B. F. Bush, President of the Missouri Pacific, has stated that the notes will be cared for, and other officials have let it be known that a plan for extending the issue, with an increase in the interest rate to 6 per cent., the payment of a bonus of $20 on each note and a strengthening of the collateral was under discussion. A high official of the road said that a definite announcement might be looked for about the middle of next week.

It was said yesterday that John F. Stevens, a former Hill operating man, had been engaged in making an investigation of Missouri Pacific on behalf of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and that unless negotiations again fell through Kuhn, Loeb & Co., perhaps, with Blair & Co., would handle the necessary financing in connection with the maturing notes.

A story which gained credence in Wall Street, although no one at Kuhn, Loeb & Co.'s would comment on it, was that George Gould, after selling 50,000 shares of Missouri Pacific stock in the open market in the past month, had tendered the balance of his holdings, supposed to be between 150,000 and 200,000 shares, to Kuhn, Loeb & Co., and that the bankers were having examinations made of the books and property in connection with the offer.

Arrangements were practically concluded with Kuhn, Loeb & Co. for financing the Missouri Pacific about two years ago, when Mr. Gould changed his mind.

D. L. & W. Coal's Special Dividend.

Directors of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western Coal Company declared yesterday a special dividend of 10 per cent., payable on May 15 to stockholders of record on May 5. At this time last year an extra disbursement of 20 per cent. was voted. The company's regular dividend rate is 10 per cent. a year. Earnings applicable to the stock amounted to 31.8 per cent. in 1913 and about 40 per cent. in 1912.

THOMPSON MAKING FEDERAL HOTEL PAY

He Turned Sleuth to Catch Thief—Canal Expected Ready for Operation by July 1.

When Max Thompson suddenly disappeared last November, a thrill of interest was awakened in several hotels, in certain German-American singing circles, among those who frequent steamship piers, and in most of the places where Pilsener flows from the Harlem down to Fourteenth Street. For the first, the only Europäischer Hauptdirektor ever known to have been connected with a local hotel had dropped out of sight. For the second, a possible rival of Berger, known to have designs on the leading German tenor rôles at the Metropolitan Opera House, was among the missing. Those who go down to see the ships mourned the loss of one of the most familiar faces that greeted homecomers. The German restaurants missed a popular patron.

Herr Thompson reappeared on Broadway yesterday, and confirmed certain rumors that spread a few weeks after his sudden disappearance that he had been seen in Panama. Yet he is no longer an Europäischer Hauptdirektor. He comes back as a Panamaischer Hauptdirektor, being now engaged in managing the Hotel Washington at Colon, Panama, for the United States Government.

It was while at the Plaza that Herr Thompson established a reputation as an Europäischer Hauptdirektor, and as he had no competitors in that line, he was recognized as premier. So that when he made a trip to Europe a couple of Summers ago, he was able to travel the length and breadth of the Continent without being allowed to spend a cent except for tips. Then he became a steamship agent, and later decided to try grand opera singing. That he might have a lesson whenever he could spare the time, he engaged a teacher to live in his house, and the last report from Herr Thompson before his sudden disappearance was that he was steadily nearing a Metropolitan rôle, and that his "maestro" had predicted wonderful things. Then came a day when the features and the immaculate costume of Herr Thompson were not to be seen at the office he was occupying on the grillroom floor of the Astor, and when one asked where he was one was met with shakes of the head.

Took Over Panama Hotel.

It seems that Herr Thompson yielded to a sudden and strong demand for his services made by the Quartermaster's Department of the Canal Zone. A fine concrete building had been put up at Colon, on Panama land which had been bought by the United States, but it was losing money steadily, and somebody was needed to import a metropolitan atmosphere to the place and reverse the financial results. It was decided that Herr Thompson was the man.

"The hotel had been losing money at the rate of about $3,000 a month," said Herr Thompson yesterday. "The second month I was there we were able to put $700 on the credit side of the ledger, and the third month the profit amounted to $1,700.

"I found the building in a terrible condition as to cleanliness. The first week I was there I spent in the kitchen cleaning up, and for two days I could not bring myself to taste anything prepared in it except tea and toast. The supply of help was inefficient, consisting entirely of Jamaica negroes, who, as compared with our smart colored waiters, are shiftless and inefficient. I had to give my restaurant force a half hour's drill every day in the proper way to set a table and bring on food. However, I got a good American negro and installed him as chef, and we now have a regular New York cuisine and service. Several prominent New York men who have recently visited the Isthmus told me they were delighted to find a metropolitan atmosphere already down there.

"We have not yet introduced the tea dance. In fact, some of the modern dances are rather frowned on by the smarter circles of Colon, composed of Americans living at Christobal and the foreign consuls and their families. But there is a cotillion club which meets every two weeks, and that is the great social occasion in that part of the Isthmus.

"Running a hotel for the Government makes one careful. I thought I would enliven things a bit when one of the German cruising ships touched at Colon, and I hired the ship's band, to discover later that there was no authority for such a procedure, and so I had to pay for the band out of my own pocket.

"About the funniest thing I have heard down there for some time was the exploit of about a dozen men composing a moving picture outfit, sent down there by a German concern to take moving pictures of the canal. They neglected to get permission, and naturally they were arrested and put in jail. When the nature of their mission was explained to the authorities, they were let out with a lecture, and permitted to make more pictures. But they had a scare.

Food from the United States.

"Practically all the food I use comes from the United States. The only exception is fruit, which we get mostly from Jamaica. You cannot get meals as cheaply with us as at the 'line hotels' belonging to the Government along the canal, but we have good table d'hôte dinners and luncheons, as well as à la carte meals. A room with a bath costs $5.

"I had had a lot of trouble in the hotel with articles disappearing from the effects of patrons, but I found when I wanted to get a detective to do some work on the case, the fact that the hotel was in Panama territory prevented me from obtaining an American, and when I made a report to the Panama police they did not seem interested. So I had to become my own sleuth.

"People had been reporting all sorts of losses, and it had seemed impossible to get a trace of anything. What made me desperate was that finally the pocket of a man was picked and $25 taken while he was in bathing, and that could not be explained by a theory of accident. So I determined to take up the matter myself. After I had eliminated a number of possibilities, I finally announced that if the name of the thief, whom I was now convinced was one of the Jamaica negroes, was not given me, I would fire every Jamaican in the hotel. This brought information from a telephone operator that his room-mate had stolen the money. When I made a search of his effects I discovered enough plunder to cover a big table. This was all sent back to the owners. The thief is apt to get anywhere from six to ten years, as theft is a more serious crime in Panama than murder.

"Of course, Americans are the most numerous visitors to the Canal Zone just now, but recently Englishmen and Germans came there. It is now possible to ride on the canal, barges carrying about 300 excursionists are towed every day there is a demand for the service, from the Gatun dam as far as the next inland locks, and the talk when I left was that the canal would be read to operate by July 1."

Sugar Ship Frederika Floated.

The Austro-American steamer Frederika was successfully hauled off the sandbank near Barnegat Inlet at 5:15 P. M. yesterday by the United States revenue cutter Mohawk, and is now being towed to New York by the Merritt-Chapman wrecking tug Relief. She went ashore off Harvey's Cedars on Monday morning in a dense fog as she was on her way to New York from Cienfuegos with 5,000 tons of sugar in her hold. The greater part of her cargo had to be jettisoned before the steamer could be moved out of her sandy bed.

COMMODITIES MARKETS.

WHEAT.

The splendid crop prospects in America have had a bearish influence on sentiment abroad and the foreign markets yesterday were generally lower. Under these influences prices at the start were easy with declines of ¼ to ⅝c, but during the day a steadier tone developed and at the close the market was firm at net unchanged to ¼c. higher.

In the local cash market No. 2 hard Winter wheat was quoted at 1.01 c. i. f. New York; No. 2 red 1.05¼ elevator domestic; No. 1 Nor. Duluth 1.01¾ f. o. b. afloat; No. 1 Nor. Manitoba 1.00¾ f. o. b. afloat.

NEW HAVEN PAID ON DESPITE BIG DEFICIT

$89,000,000 in Dividends in 10 Years While Deficit Ran Up to $60,000,000.

BONDS UP TO $154,000,000

Letter Read at Inquiry Suggests $36,000 for Getting a Pier Be Charged as Repairs on Steamer.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The interstate Commerce Commission to-day heard a great deal of testimony about the various financial transactions of the New Haven system. Frank Fowler, the Commission's examiner into the road's affairs, said that in the past ten years the road's books showed a deficit of $60,000,000, but that in the same time dividends had been paid out to the amount of $89,000,000. In the same period the bonded indebtedness of the road had jumped from $25,000,000 to $179,000,000, and its capitalization from $17,000,000 to $138,000,000.

Stevenson Taylor, President of the Quintard Iron Works, admitted that he was a dummy Director when he acted as a friend of Charles S. Mellen, then President of the New Haven, in organizing the United States Transportation Company, and that he received no compensation for his work.

James P. McDonald told how $375,000 was paid to him to surrender his contract for the construction of the Westchester Road. I. S. Miller, President of the Westchester, told of the road's replaceable value, and George H. Hansel, Oakleigh Thorne's bookkeeper, was another witness.

Mr. Fowler's investigation covered the affairs of the Westchester, Port Chester and Milbrook companies, bringing his narrative down through the Millbrook organization. On the Westchester road alone, said Mr. Fowler, the New Haven's loss in the year ended June 30, 1913, was $1,405,000.

Deal with the Westchester.

In 1904, said Mr. Fowler, the Westchester Company, under contract with one of its stockholders named Charles S. Smith, transferred its right of way and franchise to the City and County Contract Company. In that transaction, according to Mr. Fowler, Mr. Smith received $1,050,000 in cash and $1,500,000 in Westchester stock. The whole was later paid by the New Haven from the $11,000,000 expended for the Port Chester and Westchester roads. It was the next year that Mr. McDonald surrendered his construction contract.

The year following the City and County Company offered Dick & Robinson three $100 shares of Westchester stock for every $1,000 Westchester bond they put upon the market. The bonds, said Mr. Fowler, brought in $4,069,120, and toward the end of that year Oakleigh Thorne bought the City and County Company.

Mr. Fowler could throw little light on the organization of the Port Chester Company, though it was formed in 1901 and William C. Gotshall, he said, appeared as its chief promoter. Mr. Fowler said Mr. Gotshall paid $940,000 for the road, though the selling price advanced to $1,085,000 by the time the New Haven acquired it. Its assets in real estate, according to testimony today, amounted then only to $71,000.

Mr. Hansel said that as Mr. Thorne's bookkeeper he had received money from J. P. Morgan & Co. bearing on the Westchester transaction, and this money went ultimately to Mr. Thorne's personal account. Books showing how that money was spent were turned over to Mr. Thorne, said Mr. Hansel, and Mr. Thorne, according to his own testimony yesterday, destroyed them.

Stevenson Taylor denied steadily that he knew of any improper payments in regard to piers in New York Harbor. Joseph W. Folk, General Counsel and Solicitor for the Interstate Commerce Commission, then offered a letter signed by Mr. Taylor which said in part:

> McKay suggests that his expenses toward getting a pier in New York, $36,000, be charged by Quintard Iron Works as repairs on steamer.

Mr. Taylor said he did not remember the $36,000 or who got it, though he admitted writing the letter. Mr. Folk questioned the witness searchingly as to whether or not he had advised a false entry, but all that Mr. Taylor recalled on that point was that he had forgotten.

"Didn't you ask Mr. Mellen if it was advisable to make a false entry?" persisted Mr. Folk.

But the witness remained silent.

Mr. Taylor said that the McKay referred to in the letter was John H. McKay, then general counsel for Mr. Mellen.

McKay Needed $10,000.

After Mr. Taylor's forgetfulness had been completely established, Mr. Folk produced another letter written by Mr. Taylor to Mr. Mellen on Oct. 26, 1906, which read in part as follows:

> McKay called me on the 'phone this morning and said that he would need early next week $10,000, which he says is about one-third of what will be required soon. He gave me no further particulars. He asked me if I would be ready, and offered if I would not be to furnish the amount required, but I thought it better to raise it myself, and that I will do awaiting the placing with you the note you spoke of Wednesday last. I think it would be well to have something of consequence in the bank for credit.

All that Mr. Taylor could remember about the money was that attacks by the Board of Aldermen had to be offset and the responsibility of the United States Transportation Company maintained.

"At Mr. Mellen's request," questioned Mr. Folk, "you became a dummy in the United States Transportation Company?"

"I'll answer that in my own way or not at all," said Mr. Taylor.

"All right, go ahead," assented Mr. Folk.

"Mr. Mellen," said Mr. Taylor, "told me one day that he wanted a cheap line from New Haven to New York, without reducing rates of his established lines. He asked me to form a new corporation for him and the United States Transportation Company was the result. Neither I nor any officials of the company had any financial interest in it. I don't see anything wrong in that, and would do it over again."

The line was in operation by July, 1907, said Mr. Taylor, but the panic of that year drove it out of existence, and it sank into the New Haven.

NEW OFFICES FOR RICHARDS.

Banking Department to Move to 26th Floor of Adams Building.

The New York office of the State Banking Department, now at 60 Broadway, will remove to the new Adams Building, at 61 Broadway, on May 9, the day E. L. Richards becomes Superintendent of Banks. The removal is due to the need of considerably more space because of the added duties imposed on the Banking Department by the new banking law.

The chief of these is supervision over private bankers and over "loan sharks." Personal loan associations have been heretofore under the Banking Department, but there are only a few of them. Personal loan brokers, of whom there are a great many, especially in this city, have been added to its wards. Private bankers, who will come under its jurisdiction on Nov. 1, are now under the State Controller, but with restricted powers.

A fourth Deputy Superintendent is provided for in the new law, with especial charge of private bankers, and he, as well as the Third Deputy, will be stationed in this city.

The new offices will be on the twenty-sixth floor, and have been leased for a term of years.

ENDS POST OFFICE ACCOUNT

American Exchange Bank Issues Formal Notice of Its Action.

Pursuant to its decision to close its account with the New York Post Office, the American Exchange National Bank notified other banks through the Clearing House that it would cease yesterday to redeem checks or drafts drawn by Postmaster Morgan. The account will be transferred to-day to the Sub-Treasury.

The American Exchange objected to paying interest on uncollected checks and drafts, but was willing to pay 2 per cent. on actual cash balances. By the transfer to the Sub-Treasury the Government will sacrifice the interest on any part of its account.

NEW ASSETS CO. PLANNED.

With a Capital of $3,000,000 It Will Take Over the Old Company.

Plans are being considered by Directors of the Assets Realization Company for a new organization to take over the assets of the old concern and continue its business. The company at present is liquidating some of its assets. The new company will continue this work until a large part of the outstanding indebtedness is cleared away with the proceeds of the sales.

It is expected that the new organization will have $1,000,000 preferred stock and $2,000,000 common. The present company has $10,000,000 stock outstanding, all of one class.

CELEBRATION BY ZIONISTS.

Victory of Hebrew Over German in Palestine Schools Is Cheered.

The Cooper Union auditorium was filled last night by Zionists, who celebrated the victory of Hebrew over German in most of the Jewish schools of Palestine. Prof. Borris Schatz, Superintendent of the Bezalel School of Arts and Crafts in Jerusalem, was received with wild enthusiasm, and his address, which was delivered in Hebrew, was interrupted continually by cheers.

Prof. R. J. H. Gottheil of Columbia University, who presided, declared that the victory of Hebrew was a victory for national culture. This theme was enlarged by Miss Henrietta Sold, the Rev. Dr. Schulman of the Temple Beth-El, and Dr. J. L. Magnes, all of whom spoke in English. Dr. Schulman denied that he was a Zionist, but recognized that the new Palestine was a fact, and declared that he was in favor of it as a home for Jewish people, though not for the Jewish people.

Joseph Barondess spoke in Yiddish, but admitted that that language was a speech of the past, suited to mediaeval conditions, and that Hebrew would be the language of the Jewish nation.

Reports of the money contributed for the Hebrew schools in Palestine showed that of a total of $58,900 the United States had contributed only $1,550, as against $23,800 for Russia, $14,125 for Germany, and $1,475 for Rumania. A vigorous appeal for funds was made, and yearly subscriptions amounting to several hundred dollars were pledged.

COL. GARRARD RETIRES.

Officer Once Reprimanded by Taft Is Out of Army Service.

Special to The New York Times.

EL PASO, Tex., April 30.—Col. Joseph Garrard, formerly stationed at Fort Myer, Va., who caused considerable discussion by refusing to recommend Frank Bloom, an artilleryman, for a commission as a Lieutenant, was retired from the army to-day, having reached the age of 62 years. He has been stationed here in command of the Fifteenth Cavalry since leaving Fort Myer.

Col. Garrard wrote on the application of Frank Bloom that he did not consider him a desirable man for a commission, because his father was a poor tailor and because of his race. The recommendation became public, and President Taft reprimanded Col. Garrard for it. This reprimand, however, was afterward erased from the record of the cavalry commander.

SALE OF STOCKS ENJOINED.

Caribbean Construction Co. and W. R. Grace & Co. Restrained.

Supreme Court Justice Davis granted an injunction yesterday against the Caribbean Construction Company and W. R. Grace & Co., individually and as trustee under a trust indenture between the Caribbean Construction Company, James P. McDonald, and W. R. Grace & Co. The injunction, which was granted upon the application of the Haiti Company, restrains the Caribbean Company and W. R. Grace & Co. from disposing of 35,200 shares of the capital stock and bonds of the par value of $128,095 of the National Railroad Company of Haiti.

Another injunction granted against the same defendants restrains them from disposing of 2,100 shares of Caribbean Construction Company stock, 37,500 West India Development Company preferred stock, and 74,979 of the same company's common stock. The nature of the proceeding in which the injunctions were granted has not been disclosed.

ASKS CLUBWOMEN TO WATCH TRAFFIC

Safety First Society Seeks 1,000 Volunteers to Enforce Eight-Foot Law in Streets.

To bring about a better enforcement of the "eight foot" traffic ordinance in this city, which prohibits vehicles from passing within eight feet of a surface car discharging or taking on passengers, the Safety First Society of Greater New York is enlisting the aid of the Federation of Women's Clubs. A call for a thousand volunteers has been sent to the Federation asking that these volunteers act as representatives of the society in reporting violations of the ordinance.

At a meeting of the Federation to be held at the Hotel Astor to-day the following resolution is to be presented by Mrs. Robert Francis Cartwright, Chairman of the Public Safety Committee of the Federation, which has a membership of 90,000:

Whereas, After thorough investigation the Safety First Society has found that the eight-foot leeway traffic ordinance is in every way practical, and if properly enforced will be a most important factor making for safety in our public thoroughfares; and,

Whereas, Observations have shown that the police have not been wholly successful in enforcing this leeway law; and,

Whereas, Infractions of this ordinance can only be detected by personal observation, the Safety First Society in its effort to co-operate with the police in bringing about a more rigid enforcement of said law asks through the Chairman of Public Safety a thousand or more volunteers from the City Federation of Women's Clubs to act as personal representatives in reporting to the Safety First Society all violations of said law coming under their observations; and,

Whereas, Your Chairman of Public Safety believes that the members of the City Federation of Women's Clubs can be of inestimable assistance to the Safety First Society and the citizens of our city in aiding in this work by reporting to Frederick H. Elliott, General Secretary of the society, 501 Fifth Avenue, on cards which have been prepared and are ready for distribution all instances of vehicles of any character overtaking or passing a street passenger car which has been stopped to receive or discharge passengers without coming to a full stop within eight feet of said car; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the New York City Federation of Women's Clubs, in convention assembled, does hereby indorse the efforts of the Safety First Society to better safeguard and protect the citizens of this city, and pledges its support and co-operation in every possible manner in this direction.

Buying cars and reselling them to its salesmen on the monthly installment plan at a $50 reduction is the novel plan adopted by a real estate company of Detroit. The first order was for two small cars, newcomers of the year, which sell for $395, and shortly after a reorder for six more of these little automobiles was given. According to an officer of the real estate company, when the saving of time is taken into consideration, the automobiles are proving more economical for the use of the salesmen than the street cars.

W. J. ("Senator") Morgan, who has been associated with the automobile industry from its start, who has been advertising manager for the American Motorist, the official organ of the American Automobile Association of late, retires to-day. When the publication moved to Washington, whither the headquarters of the A. A. A. are in process of going, the "Senator" preferred not to go with it. It is probable that he will take up a new line of work in the selling end of the business.

ANDERSON IS ELIMINATED.

Champion Loses in Second Round of National Sabres Event.

The second round of the national sabres championship, which was held at the New York Athletic Club last night, eliminated from further competition A. G. Anderson of the New York A. C., who is the title holder. He did not even put up a strong fight for a place in the semi-finals, winning only one of his bouts. Six men qualified for the semi-final round, two of them from this city—Steddiford Pitt, Jr., of Columbia and the Fencers' Club, and Sherman Hall of the New York A. C. The others to win their way through were A. E. Sauer of the Illinois A. C., Capt. J. A. Lindsey of West Point, F. H. Goodfellow of the Philadelphia Fencers' Club, and P. H. Van Blijenburgh of the New England Division.

There were three West Point officers in the event, Capt. J. A. Lindsey, one of those to qualify; Capt. G. Vidmer, and Lieut. D. D. Pullen, some years ago one of the prominent football players at the Academy. Both of the latter failed to show strongly. The best performances of the evening were by Steddiford Pitt, Jr., of Columbia, and the Fencers' Club, who won all four of his bouts, though two were by the scant margin of one point, and F. H. Goodfellow, who had a clean score on the second strip.

The finals in foils, sabres, and duelling swords and also the finals in the woman's senior championship with foils will be held at the Hotel Astor to-night. The summary:

Second Round, Sabres, Strip 1.—Capt. G. Vidmer, West Point, defeated L. M. Fleisher, Eastern Pennsylvania Division, 7—2, and lost to S. Pitt, Columbia; A. E. Sauer, Illinois A. C., and F. J. Byrne, New York A. C. Won 1, lost 3.

L. M. Fleisher, Eastern Pennsylvania Division, defeated F. J. Byrne, 7—5, and lost to Capt. G. Vidmer, S. Pitt, and A. E. Sauer. Won 1, lost 3.

S. Pitt, Columbia, defeated Capt. G. Vidmer, 7—6; L. M. Fleisher, 7—3; A. E. Sauer, 7—6, and F. J. Byrne, 7—2. Won 4, lost 0.

A. E. Sauer, Illinois A. C., defeated Capt. G. Vidmer, 7—3; L. M. Fleisher, 7—2, and lost to S. Pitt and F. J. Byrne. Won 2, lost 2.

F. J. Byrne, New York A. C., defeated Capt. G. Vidmer, 7—6; A. E. Sauer, 7—5, and lost to L. M. Fleisher and S. Pitt. Won 2, lost 2.

Steddiford Pitt, Jr., Columbia and Fencers Club, and A. E. Sauer, Illinois A. C., qualified for the semi-finals.

Strip No. 2—Capt. J. A. Lindsey, West Point, defeated E. B. Myers, Fencers Club of New York, 7—5; Dr. J. H. Schlinkman, Baltimore A. C., 7—4; A. G. Anderson, New York A. C., 7—6, and lost to F. H. Goodfellow, Philadelphia Fencers Club. Won 3, lost 1.

E. B. Myers, Fencers Club of New York, defeated Dr. J. H. Schlinkman, 7—3; A. G. Anderson, 7—0, and lost to Capt. J. A. Lindsey and F. H. Goodfellow. Won 2, lost 2.

Dr. J. H. Schlinkman, Baltimore A. C., lost to Capt. J. A. Lindsey, E. B. Myers, A. G. Anderson, and F. H. Goodfellow. Won 0, lost 4.

A. G. Anderson, New York A. C., defeated Dr. J. H. Schlinkman, 7—1, and lost to Capt. J. A. Lindsey, E. B. Myers, and F. H. Goodfellow. Won 1, lost 3.

F. H. Goodfellow, Philadelphia Fencers Club, defeated Capt. J. H. Lindsey, 7—6; E. B. Myers, 7—6; Dr. J. H. Schlinkman, 7—2, and A. G. Anderson, 7—2. Won 4, lost 0.

Capt. J. A. Lindsey, West Point, and F. H. Goodfellow, Philadelphia Fencers Club, qualified for the semi-finals.

Strip 3.—Lieut. D. D. Pullen, West Point, defeated P. H. Van Blijenburgh, New England Division, 7—3; O. D. MacLaughlin, unattached, 7—4, and lost to S. Hall, New York A. C., and J. B. B. Parker, Eastern Pennsylvania Division. Won 2, lost 2.

P. H. Van Blijenburgh, New England Division, defeated S. Hall, 7—2; J. B. B. Parker, 7—2; O. D. MacLaughlin, 7—0, and lost to Lieut. D. D. Pullen. Won 3, lost 1.

S. Hall, New York A. C., defeated Lieut. D. D. Pullen, 7—3; J. B. B. Parker, 7—6; O. D. MacLaughlin, 7—4, and lost to P. H. Van Blijenburgh. Won 3, lost 1.

J. B. B. Parker, Eastern Pennsylvania Division, defeated Lieut. D. D. Pullen, 7—5; O. D. MacLaughlin, 7—1, and lost to P. H. Van Blijenburgh and S. Hall.

O. D. MacLaughlin, unattached, lost to Lieut. D. D. Pullen, P. H. Van Blijenburgh, S. Hall, and J. B. B. Parker.

P. H. Van Blijenburgh, New England Division, and S. Hall, New York A. C., qualified for the semi-finals.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Decisions by the Appraisers on a Variety of Articles.

It was decided yesterday by the Board of United States General Appraisers that white chamois skins with scalloped edges, used to apply powder to the face, are properly dutiable under the specific provision in the old tariff for such skins at the rate of 20 per cent. ad valorem and not as manufactures of leather at 40 per cent. duty on account of the extra work done on the edges. The F. W. Woolworth Company, the importers, are sustained.

Advertising matter issued by the Lyons, Paris & Mediterranean Railway Company is not free of duty under the tariff laws as "publications of individuals for gratuitous private circulation." The merchandise comprised books, folder maps, and pictorial and descriptive printed matter of various parts of France. Judge Fischer held that the importations were properly assessed at 25 per cent. ad valorem as printed matter.

The Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company failed in a contention for a tax of 45 per cent. ad valorem on boxes of cardboard covered with surface-coated paper. The Collector took duty at 5 cents a pound and 30 per cent. ad valorem under Paragraph 411 of the old law, which specifies that rate on combination goods of this kind. M. L. Cohn & Co. also was overruled in claims for lower duty on surface-coated boxes. Tubing made of paper imported by Edwards & Riordan was granted entry at 35 per cent. as manufactures of paper. The Collector's assessment at a higher rate as parts of artificial flowers was reversed. Hinged tin boxes used for holding cigarettes were held properly dutiable at 60 per cent. ad valorem as smokers' articles under the old law. The exteriors of the boxes were lithographed, and on this account the Collector took duty at 4 cents a pound and 35 per cent. ad valorem. The Pera Cigarette Company, the importers, was sustained.

Paper imported by the E. Dietzgen Company, New York, in 22-inch rolls was found by the board to be too thick and heavy to be known commercially as writing paper, as returned by the Collector. The action of the authorities in assessing the paper at 3 cents a pound and 15 per cent. ad valorem is reversed, and the rate of 30 per cent. as paper not specially provided for is granted. Hensel, Bruckman & Lorbacher, New York, won in a protest dealing with steel-blue, glazed cardboard. It was taxed at 5 cents a pound as coated paper, and is allowed to enter at 35 per cent. under the provision for cardboard. R. Tuck, Sons & Co., New York, were sustained in a claim for duty at 9 cents a pound on cards lithographically printed. The Collector levied duty at 9¾ cents per pound as being die-cut. The board found that the cards had not been cut as charged by the Government.

Forgings, ground and centred subsequent to the forging process imported by the American Express Company, at New York, were held properly dutiable as assessed, at 45 per cent. ad valorem as manufactures of metal under the act of 1909.

Tea strainers made of metal, wire and wood, imported by the Strobel & Wilken Company, Baltimore, were held dutiable at 40 per cent ad valorem under the old law, as articles in chief value of wire. The Collector's tax of 45 per cent. ad valorem as metal manufactures was reversed.

It was decided that pencil tips of metal and rubber imported by A. J. Hague & Co., New York, may enter at 35 per cent. under the old law, as manufactures of india rubber. The board set aside the Collector's classification under the metal schedule at 45 per cent.

So-called re-form lathes worked by foot power imported by Hammel, Riglander & Co., New York, were denied entry at 30 per cent. as machine tools under the old act. The Collector's assessment at 45 per cent. as metal manufactures was affirmed.

PENDING P. R. R. STEEL DEAL

Road to Sell Holdings in Two Concerns to Frick-Donner Group.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—It was officially admitted to-day that W. H. Donner, President of the Cambria Steel Company, would become a Director of the Pennsylvania Steel Company and Chairman of the board. According to statements of banking interests close to the Cambria Steel, the Pennsylvania Steel, and the Pennsylvania Railroad managements, the appointment of Mr. Donner will be the preliminary step to a consolidation of the two steel companies and a sale of the holdings of the Pennsylvania Railroad in both.

Mr. Donner's election to the Pennsylvania Steel Board, which is ostensibly to fill the vacancy caused by the death of George F. Baer, it is said, will rest on an agreement for the sale of the Pennsylvania Railroad's holdings in Pennsylvania and Cambria Steel to the Frick-Donner Pittsburgh group.

It is understood that a tacit agreement exists between the Pennsylvania management and the Frick-Donner interests that the railroad will not entertain any other proposal for the purchase of its holdings in the two steel companies.

The purchase price has already been agreed upon, it is said, and will include the Reading Company's interests in Pennsylvania Steel.

CAPE COD CANAL OPEN SOON

Ready for General Traffic in November—Navigable by Midsummer.

BOSTON, April 30.—The Cape Cod Canal will be opened for general business next November, August Belmont, President of the Canal Company, said at a luncheon to the canal officials given by the Boston Chamber of Commerce to-day. Mr. Belmont said that while the canal would be navigable by mid-summer, two or three months would be required to clean it up for large vessels.

"It is our purpose," said Mr. Belmont, "to make the canal practically a river, furnishing a water front where industries can develop and grow. It is doubtful whether the canal would have paid twenty years ago because of the large proportion of sailing vessels at that time. Eighty-eight per cent. of the tonnage to-day is under its own power and can go through the canal without assistance. The toll rates for the use of the canal will be announced within a short time.

Cotton Exchange Candidates.

Candidates for officers of the New York Cotton Exchange include President E. K. Cone, Vice President Henry H. Royce and Treasurer James F. Maury for re-election. These new names have been selected by the Nominating Committee for the Board of Managers: L. Carpenter, Henry Schaefer, Paul Schwartz, Spencer Waters and Robert C. Cairns.

Cotton Manufacturers' Offices.

BOSTON, April 30.—Albert Greene Duncan of this city, Treasurer of the Harmony Mills, was to-day elected President of the National Cotton Manufacturers' Association at the closing sessions of its annual convention. Two Vice Presidents were chosen, William M. Butler of New Bedford and Grosvenor Ely of Jewett City, Conn.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Henry Pearl & Sons Company, formerly located at 74 Murray Street, have taken more commodious quarters at 42 Murray Street.

S. B. Chase, Treasurer of the Tecumseh Mill, Fall River, Mass., will be in this market to-day.

A hearing on the proposal to establish a "free port" at the Port of New York will be given by the Foreign Trade Committee of the Merchants' Association at the headquarters of the association, 233 Broadway, on Tuesday, May 12, at 2 P. M. The purpose of the hearing is to elicit the views of manufacturers and importers on the subject.

The Rubber Club of America, formerly located in the rooms of the Silk Association of America, now has quarters in Room 303 in the Pullman Building at 17 Madison Avenue.

English and Scottish Soccer.

LONDON, April 30.—The last English soccer league games were set for decision to-day, and resulted in no surprises. The new cup holders, Burnley, entertained Bradford City before a large crowd, where an even game ended, 2 to 2, but Liverpool just won an exciting game with Sheffield United by 2 to 1 before their own supporters. Cardiff City journeyed to London to tackle Millwall and did splendidly to share the points. Reading made Queens Park Rangers strain every effort to win a close game by the only goal score. Celtic brought their brilliant season to a close with another victory in the Scottish League, beating Raith Rovers by 2 to 1, and Dundee also got the better of Third Lanark by 3 to 1 on their own ground.

HOLDS GLYNN ERRED IN CULLEN BILL VETO

Dock Commissioner Smith Criticises Action on Measure Affecting Marginal Railroad.

DEFECTS IN PRESENT LAW

Efficient Operation of a City Terminal by Railroad Companies Now Blocked, It is Contended.

R. A. C. Smith, Dock Commissioner, in a letter to Mayor Mitchel yesterday took issue with John G. Saxe, Gov. Glynn's counsel, who recently stated that the reason the Governor vetoed the Cullen bill to permit of railroad operation of the city's marginal railroad was the desire to protect water-front properties against the "rapacity of the railroads." The Governor's action in vetoing the measure, said Commissioner Smith, made it impossible to obtain efficient operation by railroad companies of a city terminal, which was essentially a railroad proposition. In his letter Commissioner Smith said:

"As the statutes stand at the present time there is nothing to prevent the organization of a railroad company to occupy any portion of the water front of the greater city, provided that it can secure the necessary franchises from the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for the occupation of any streets which may be involved in its route. A conspicuous recent example of the truth of this statement is the organization during January of this year of a corporation under the Railroad law to operate the railroad facilities of the important private terminal established by the Degnon Company at Dutch Kills Creek, in the Borough of Queens.

"I would also direct your Honor's attention to the application pending before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment made by the Jay Street Connecting Railroad for an extension of its line over various water-front streets in the Borough of Brooklyn, between Brooklyn Bridge and the Navy Yard. This application, if granted as originally presented, would have given the Jay Street Connecting Railroad absolute control of the water-front terminal facilities of this section.

"The petition is now being carefully studied, and any rights granted will be co-ordinated with the general city plan for the extension of the marginal railroad through this district. At the same time there can be no question as to the legal right of the Board of Estimate to grant the petition in its original form.

"Mr. Saxe quotes with approval the statement of the New York Board of Trade and Transportation that the city already has the power by virtue of the Terminals Act under which the marginal railroad was laid out, and under the so-called 'Home Rule' law, to accomplish what it desires and permit of the lease of the marginal railroad to a company formed by all the trunk line railroads reaching the port. The trouble with this position is the failure to understand that the city's South Brooklyn marginal is not technically and legally a railroad but is a freight terminal.

"The Legislature has provided in the general Transportation-Corporations law for the formation of companies to operate freight terminals and has at the same time provided that no railroads or express companies shall own stock of these corporations. It is this prohibition that the Cullen bill sought to remove so far as Brooklyn and Queens is concerned. The proposed amendment would not have exposed these boroughs to the danger of 'railroad rapacity' any more than they are at present exposed under the provisions of the general railroad law. The veto does, however, make it impossible to secure efficient operation by railroad companies of a city terminal which is essentially a railroad proposition, and where municipal operation, or operation in any other manner than that proposed, would prove entirely unsatisfactory to the commercial interests of the two boroughs affected."

In commenting upon Commissioner Smith's letter, the Mayor said:

"The statement of the Dock Commissioner is quite correct. It states the case exactly and I thoroughly approve of it."

WANTS VANDERBILT RACE.

San Francisco Proposes to Hold Event at Panama-Pacific Exposition

Three representatives of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, William T. Hughson, Hollis B. Cooley, and William Heiglison, are in New York conducting negotiations to have the Vanderbilt Cup race held in San Francisco at the opening of the exposition next year. They have held several conferences with Mr. Vanderbilt and with officers of the Motor Cups Holding Company, which has charge of the trophy. Nothing definite has yet been done in the matter, but it will probably be taken up at a meeting of the Holding Company on Monday, when the exposition representatives will be permitted to make their request in a formal manner.

The exposition people hope to secure the race as a grand opening for the exposition, which would bring people from all the country at the very outset. They promised that every facility will be provided in the way of a course and accommodations for spectators and contestants.

Mr. Cooley, one of the exposition representatives, is a New York man, but is interested in the exposition. Mr. Hughson, who is a director of the exposition, and Mr. Heiglison are both from San Francisco.

Mr. Vanderbilt and the Holding Company officers have not looked unfavorably on the proposal to hold the race in San Francisco, and the exposition representatives are very hopeful that their request will be granted.

SQUASH AND HANDBALL.

Handicap Tournaments at Whitehall Club Decided by Close Scores.

The third annual handicap championship tournaments for squash and handball honors were brought to a close yesterday at the Whitehall Club, 7 Battery Place. All the events were well contested and the final rounds in each competition brought ou protracted struggles. Nearly fifty players took part in the different events, which were conducted under the management of O. Parmer, the gymnasium superintendent, who also acted as handicapper.

In the squash tournament semi-finals G. L. Watkins and C. E. Bedford defeated Walter Kedde and Leo L. Leventritt, respectively. The final round was decided in straight sets, Watkins defeating Bedford, 15—11, 15—8. Bedford made a splendid fight in the first set, but fell away in the second and Watkins won easily.

The handball tournament was divided into two classes, for which first and second prizes were offered. Otto Sternfeld defeated E. Hennignon in the upper half of Class A, and Leo L. Leventritt won from George W. Chandler in the lower brackets. The final round resulted in a victory for Sternfeld who outplayed Leventritt, although the latter made a good rally in the second game. The score was 21—9, 21—17.

David Cook won the Class B division after three hard games with S. F. Barrett. The match was the best contested of the series and required three games to reach a decision. Cook won the first 21—20 after an exciting contest in which the players alternated in the lead. Barrett evened up matters in the second game 21—11, but Cook came back strong in the third and deciding game, winning 21—12. The semi-finalists were J. Sampson and G. H. Mitchell.

Yale Elects Soccer Captain.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., April 30.—The election of Robert H. Gamble of Haverford, Penn., as Captain of the Yale soccer team for next year, is announced to-day.

BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday, 3½@4 per cent. for the best names; Wednesday, 3½@4 per cent. for the best names.

The quotation is for six months paper.

For the Baby's Wardrobe

In the baby's apparel business conditions are good. Maxixie and tango christening caps are going well. For next Winter fancy fur effects, brocaded plushes, and zibilines are the hats that are being favored. Plain wash goods in coats and vests continue to sell.

Showing a Novel Draped Curtain.

One of the prominent concerns manufacturing lace curtains is showing something new in this line. It is a curtain that combines ecru or white net and a colored overdrape in one piece. These curtains, which rejoice in the name of "Redydraped," are said to be easy to hang and to be very effective in appearance. The colored overdrapes, which are fade proof and laundry proof, may be had in blue, brown, green, tan, and several other shades.

Waiting on the Weather.

Retail clothiers are agreed that what is needed to lift business out of the rut it has been in for the last three weeks is a spell of good weather. From opinions obtained in the trade there is little intrinsically wrong in the stocks or methods of the retailers, but the consumer just won't buy and cannot be forced to. No response can be obtained where merchandise is "pushed," and the clothiers have about decided on a policy of "watchful waiting." Results for the beginning of April were fair, but soon fell off, and during the last week sales have slumped badly.

Improvements in Rochester.

The Rochester Chamber of Commerce has issued a report of its activities last year, which include the proposal to construct a Barge Canal harbor at Western Tidewaters, surveys of Rochester industries to help vocational education, reduction of fire losses in Rochester by recommending "clean-up weeks," and the proper representation of the city's advantages. The Chamber's influence has stopped Saturday-night labor at the stores, taxicab rates have been equalized, baggage rates reduced and simplified, and details of transportation features of the city improved.

Gray Goods More Active.

There was a slightly better general demand in the printcloth market yesterday, though most of the day's trading was on scattered lots. There were some good-sized sales of 39-inch 68-72s at 5½ cents for delivery in May, and some fair sales of 38½-inch 60-48s for similar delivery at 4¼ cents. None of the other sales of printcloths was large enough to attract comment. There was some small trading in sheetings, but fancies, save for organdies, were quiet. On organdies a fair amount of business was done. On the whole the tone of the market was said to be a little firmer.

Fall Samples in Dress Goods.

The primary market in dress goods shows little or no change. It is understood, however, that some advances on important lines will be made shortly. The cutters up are engaged for the most part in turning out samples for Fall, and their men will start on the road toward the middle of this month. Only when orders begin to come in will sellers be in a position to determine on just what fabrics the demand will centre. The consensus of opinion, now that most initial buying has been completed, is that broadcloths, gabardines, and poplins will be favored in the order named, but that remains to be seen.

Carpet Opening on May 18.

The largest factor in the carpet business sent last night a notice to its customers that on Monday, May 18, it would place on sale in its several showrooms complete lines of rugs and carpets for Fall season. It is also said in the letter that all discontinued patterns in stock will be offered at that time. Approval credits will carry Sept. 1 dating. It is said that the Fall offerings will contain many improved patterns and a much larger line of new things than usual. The sending of this announcement to the trade is taken to mean that there will be no auction of carpets and rugs this time. Prices on the new goods are not yet ready.

Some Styles in Sweaters.

Sweater manufacturers report that the inclement weather for the last month has rather seriously cut into business. The retailers have had rainy Saturdays to contend with, and, when it is considered that the bulk of their business is done on the last day in the week, it can be readily seen that sales have not been up to normal. The regulation or high rib stitch, and shaker sweaters for men are the styles favored at present, and their growing popularity shows a corresponding decrease in that formerly accorded the heavier or jumbo styles. The V-necked sweater has also superseded the shawl collar effect, owing, it is said, to the fact that the former may be worn under the coat.

The Raw Silk Summary.

There is a fair amount of business passing in the Yokohama raw silk market at steady prices. Stocks are very poorly assorted and the best qualities are missing Sales for the week amounted to 3,690 bales. At Canton the market is quiet and there is a strong upward tendency in prices. Stocks on hand are purely nominal. Crop conditions in Italy are reported very promising, according to cables received from Milan by H. L. Gwalter & Co. Stocks are small there also. The Shanghai market is reported generally unchanged. Local business continues fairly active in the New York market, with the best demand for the better grades of Japanese silks.

Hide Markets Are Quiet.

Domestic packer sorts rule quiet and generally unchanged in the hide market. The branded hides are the ones most in demand, and they are also the strongest in price. Reports have it that the tanners have not been quite so liberal in their purchases of late. European hides appear firmer, despite the prevailing quiet, and it is believed that better prices are in sight on these grades. All grades of calfskin are weak, and it would appear that they are the easiest sorts in the market at present. There is little buying of note going on in the leather trade, but prices are firmly held. Shoe and belting leathers are fairly active but featureless. This condition is reflected in present sales of upholstery stock.

Strong Bidding for Wool.

LONDON, April 30.—There were 12,877 bales offered at the wool auction sales to-day. The selection was of good quality, and strong American bidding against home and Continental spinners advanced greasy merinos and fine cross breds fully 5 per cent, and the other grades hardened over the March rates. The sales follow: New South Wales, 1,400 bales; scoured, 1s 3d@2s 4d.; greasy, 7d@1s 4d. Queensland, 500 bales; scoured, 1s 6d@2s 1d; greasy, 8½d@1s ½d. Victoria, 300 bales; scoured, 1s 4d@2s 1d; greasy, 7½d@1s 6d. South Australia, 900 bales; scoured, 1s 5½d@2s; greasy, 7d@1s 2d. West Australia, 1,900 bales; scoured, 1s 8d@2s 2½d; greasy, 8d@1s 3½d. Tasmania, 100 bales; greasy, 1s 1d@1s 5½d. New Zealand, 7,100 bales; scoured, 1s 4d@2s 1½d; greasy, 8½d@1s 4d. Cape of Good Hope and Natal, 600 bales; scoured, 1s 8d@1s 11d; greasy, 7d@1s ½d.

Raw Wool and Piece Goods Prices.

What makes the situation confronted by the manufacturing clothiers peculiar just now is the seeming lack of all relation between the increased price they must pay for piece goods when the demand for them is less than it has been in some time. If a sudden wave of prosperity should hit the industry clothiers are wondering what they would have to pay for their fabric needs. The manufacturers realize that the raw wool market is governed by the supply on hand with little regard paid to the nature of the demand for the product, but with this knowledge there is some dissatisfaction expressed that the demand should regulate prices more than it does. "Unless some other factor of which we are unaware at present enters into the situation," said one manufacturer, "the poor business we are experiencing and the high prices we must pay for our piece goods seem utterly irreconcilable. It is hard to convince me that one should not have at least some effect on the other."

How Salesmen Are Attended To.

Much has been said of late about the way salesmen are made to wait when they call to see the buyers in the local department stores. According to several buyers seen yesterday, not all of these tales are true. One store has adopted a scheme that reduces waiting to a minimum. It works like this: When the salesman asks to see a buyer he is told to make out a form telling whom he represents and what sort of goods he has to offer. Attached to this form is a slip, which is torn off and given to the salesman when the main portion of the form is sent to the buyer. Both parts of the form are numbered with the same number. The main part of the form is stamped with the time at which it is received from the salesman, and it is again stamped when it comes from the buyer with the reply to the salesman's message. In this way the store executives are in a position to reply to any criticism that is made regarding the way their buyers do business. In case the buyer is not in his office when a salesman calls, he is sought by a messenger. If he says that he will come to the office in a certain time, record of this time is kept on the slip, and record is also kept of when he does come up. On Tuesday of this week 650 salesmen were dealt with by buyers for the forty-two departments of this store, and it is said that on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday an average of 300 salesmen is rapidly handled by this system. No salesmen are seen on Monday, and only in rare cases on Saturday by appointment.

BUSINESS TROUBLES.

WOOLF BROS.—Schedules in the assignment of Woolf Bros., toys and novelties, 119 Fulton Street, show liabilities $7,107. Nominal assets $8,596 and actual assets $3,800.

FOX & WOLGANG.—Schedules in the assignment of Fox & Wolgang, plumbers' supplies, 145 East Houston Street, show liabilities $6,524 and actual assets $1,515.

HARRY STEINBERG, manufacturer of waists at 41 East Twenty-first Street, has filed schedules in bankruptcy which show liabilities $9,268 and assets $2,400.

MORRIS B. MINER, men's furnishings goods, 158 Rivington Street, has settled with creditors at 30 cents on the dollar cash and Judge Hough has dismissed the bankruptcy petition filed against him.

DAVID KAMSLER, jobber in flowers and feathers, at 648 Broadway, has made an assignment to Harry Zalkin, and a petition in bankruptcy was filed against him.

ALEX MAISEL, salesman, 200 Fifth Avenue, has filed a petition, with liabilities of $23,551 and no assets. He was formerly a partner in the firm of Maisel Brothers, skirt manufacturers, and also of the Prizefit Skirt Company. Of the liabilities, $18,564 are possible claims for indorsements of the Prizefit Skirt Company. A petition in bankruptcy was filed against Maisel Brothers on April 28, 1913, which was dismissed in June, 1913, on a promise to pay in full, and a petition was filed against the Prizefit Skirt Company on Oct. 4, 1913.

ALBERT WERDEUSCHLAG, 504 West 148th Street, employed as a butcher, has filed a petition, with liabilities of $411 and assets of $84.

BERNARD J. DEPASSE, 1,215 Gilbert Place, Bronx, has filed a petition, with liabilities of $4,723 and no assets.

S. M. B. RUBBER COMPANY.—Judge Hough has appointed William S. Creevey receiver for the S. M. B. Rubber Company, manufacturer of waterproof fabrics at 160 Fifth Avenue, which has a factory at Keyport, N. J. All the assets are at Keyport. The company has a capital stock of $150,000.

DELMAN BROS.—Judge Hough has appointed Harry Osterman receiver for Delman Bros., manufacturers of women's underwear at 429 Sixth Avenue and 366 Canal Street.

JOSEPH FORD, INC.—Judge Hough has appointed William Henkel, Jr., receiver for Joseph Ford, Inc., dealer in hats and gowns at 9 East Forty-fourth Street.

C. J. SULLIVAN ADVERTISING COMPANY.—Schedules in the assignment of the C. J. Sullivan Advertising Company show liabilities of $180,425, nominal assets of $127,134, and actual assets of $18,495. Among the creditors are the estate of the late T. D. Sullivan, $137,465; committee of T. D. Sullivan, $6,500; Metropolitan Bank, $8,341, and Abraham L. Erlanger, $4,500. In the nominal assets there is a suspense account of Cornelius J. Sullivan of $65,029.

Debt Is $300, Not $1,300.

It was erroneously stated in THE TIMES yesterday, in announcing a bankruptcy petition filed against Morris Beck and Herman Brecher, trading as the Fashion Manufacturing Company, at 656 Broadway, that Sirota & Apteker were creditors to the amount of $1,300. Instead, Sirota & Apteker were creditors for $300.

FOREIGN TRADE OPPORTUNITIES

Further information may be obtained from the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Washington, D. C., or at the branch office, 315 Custom House, by giving the number of the item referred to.

12,997. SURGICAL AND TECHNICAL APPLIANCES.—A firm desires to get in touch with Am. mfrs. of surgical and other technical appliances. This is said to be the largest technical supply house in the city in which it conducts its business, and some excellent orders may be obtained.

12,998. RAILWAY MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES.—During the first six months of 1913 a foreign Govt. expended over $2,500,000 on railway construction, and many lines are still incomplete. An Am. Consul writes that construction work on these lines is to be pushed, and engineers are surveying new lines, which means that there will be a heavy demand for railway supplies and materials for some time to come.

12,999. PINK AND RED SALMON.—A buyer for German Southwest Africa wishes to receive quotations direct from canners of salmon on the Pacific Coast, prices to be given f. o. b., New York. He wishes quotations for both pink and red salmon.

13,000. POSITIONS FINDER AND COMPENSATORS.—A firm in Europe wishes to correspond with the mfrs. of the Lewis positions finder, with Erdmann's compensators, with a view to purchasing a supply of the same for its retail trade.

13,001. IMITATION STONES, JEWELRY, &c.—A person in the Near East is desirous of getting in touch with Am. mfrs. of imitation stones, jewelry, &c.

13,002. COLLAR BUTTONS.—A mfr. of cuff buttons in a European city has furnished an Am. Consular officer with two labels taken from boxes containing collar buttons manufactured in the U. S., with a request that he be given the name of the manufacturer.

13,003. WHARF CONSTRUCTION.—The Am. Consul at Madrid, Spain, reports that bids are requested for the construction of a wharf for passengers at Las Arenas, (near Bilbao,) Spain, the estimated cost of which is not given. Proposals must be transmitted through a local representative to La Secretaria de la Junta del Puerto Bilbao, Calle Alameda de Mazarredo 3, Bilbao, Spain, before May 14, 1914.

13,004. WOODWORKING MACHINERY.—In reply to an inquiry from the U. S., an Am. Consul in Germany writes that the chief wholesale dealer and importer of ply wood in his district, as well as a large mfr., would be interested in Am. woodworking machinery. Two other firms have also requested catalogues of Am. machinery for peeling, gluing, drying, and polishing. These firms should be addressed in German.

13,005. STREET RAILWAY ELECTRIFICATION.—An Am. Consul reports that much industrial work is contemplated in his district during 1914, chief of which is the electrification of the street railway.

13,006. PORTABLE STEAM PUMPS.—Public tenders are invited by the Direccion General de Obras Hidraulicas, Buenos Aires, Argentina, for the supply of two portable steam pumps.

CHINESE WOOL DECISION.

Examiners Differing, It Gets a Third-Class Duty.

The Board of General Appraisers yesterday took action in the protest case of E. T. Seward, a manager of one of the departments of Jardine, Matheson & Co., relating to the classification of Chinese wool which has attracted the attention of the trade in this city, Boston, and Philadelphia. The wool was returned by the Customs Examiner at this port as lamb's wool, washed, and of the first class, duty being taken at the rate of 22 cents per pound, under the old tariff.

The importers, through their counsel, Ely Neumann, appealed to the board, claiming that the wool was of the third class, unwashed, and therefore taxable at only 4 cents a pound. More than twenty-two witnesses from the trade testified at the hearings, among them the wool examiners at Boston and Philadelphia. These latter officials supported the contention of the importers that the wool should have been returned as third class. This contradicted the testimony of the New York Examiner, Mr. Seaver. The trade witnesses also considered the wool of the third class.

The board found that, while there is a small amount of lamb's wool mixed in the importations, its presence is unimportant, and that the Government's classification must be reversed. Mr. Neuman said yesterday that about $11,000 was involved in the particular importation passed upon yesterday, and that since the question arose, several other shipments of the same kind of wool have been returned as of the first class. These, it is expected, will now be released as of the third class. It was said that prior to the Seward case, the Government for many years had accepted this Chinese wool as of the lower class. It is understood that the board was influenced in making a decision in favor of the importers by the argument that, irrespective of whether the wool was lamb's wool or from the sheep, the Government was bound by the official standards deposited by the Secretary of the Treasury.

$45,000,000 FOR BUILDINGS.

Bureau to Standardize Federal Structures Proposed.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—As part of a scheme of practical standardization of Federal buildings the country over, the Public Building Commission in a report presented to Congress to-day recommended the creation of a Federal Bureau of Public Buildings to absorb the supervising architect's office of the Treasury Department. The proposed bureau would include a Board of Estimates and Property.

Congress appointed the commission to investigate and report on the systematizing of the present haphazard method of providing public buildings. It was composed of Secretary McAdoo, Attorney General McReynolds, Postmaster General Burleson, Senators Swanson and Sutherland, Representatives Clark and Austin and Sherman Allen, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. The report is designed as a basis of legislation to correct public building abuses.

The report stated that there is now approximately $45,000,000 of public building work to be placed under construction by the Treasury Department; that in the past twelve years $163,085,431 have been authorized for public building sites and construction and that during the past three years the average expenditure for construction of buildings, maintenance, operation and all other expenses has been $20,000,000 a year.

DANCING HELPS BUSINESS.

Up-State Merchant Says Demand for Music Records Is Active.

"Business up the State is dull," said a merchant from a northern town yesterday. "There is only one line of my trade that is active, and that is growing so fast I can hardly keep up with it. It is due to the craze for dancing.

"I put in a talking machine department some time ago, and business in it has been pretty regular until people began to dance. Lately I have had to increase my force in that department, and it is doing a big trade. The biggest demand is for dancing records. I cannot get them in sufficient quantities to supply the demand."

FOR NORWEGIAN TRADE.

Consuls, Now Here, Tell of Opportunities for Americans.

B. M. Rasmusen and Walter A. Leonard, United States Consuls respectively at Bergen and Stavanger, Norway, reached New York yesterday and will spend the balance of the week at the office of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Room 315, Custom House, where they will be glad to talk with American exporters regarding the opportunities for trade expansion in their districts.

Both Consuls report that the opening last year of a direct steamship service from New York to Norwegian ports is working most advantageously in promoting an exchange of commodities between the two countries without transfer at distant foreign ports. Mr. Rasmusen said that industrial and commercial conditions in the Bergen district show an upward trend in many branches, and that an industrial activity heretofore unknown is apparent on every hand. He added that the foreign trade in fish products has been large in volume the past year, but that the prevailing high prices at the fishing wharves precluded any possibility of profitable business for the exporters.

It appears that during the first six months of the operation of the new direct line, the Norwegian-American, the freight amounted to 29,800 tons, of which 10,400 tons were from Norway to this country, and 19,400 tons from the United States to Norway, while the passengers both ways numbered 8,328. Besides food products shipped from this country to Norway, Mr. Rasmusen's district, he said yesterday, offers an excellent market for American fresh and dried fruits, cotton oil, cotton, leather, petroleum, sewing machines, typewriters, agricultural machinery, hardware, and furniture. American shoes are in demand, and are sold by all first-class stores. A small beginning has been made with American ready-made clothing and men's working clothes, principally jackets, blouses, and overalls, which are giving satisfaction. American machinery is very popular, and hardware and tools would, in the opinion of the Consul, prove equally popular if properly introduced. Bergen has installed a semi-automatic telephone system furnished by an American concern after a competitive bidding.

Consul Leonard commended the method of many American houses in forming syndicates for the purpose of sending representatives abroad to report on conditions and establish connections by taking orders. The system, Mr. Leonard said, is an excellent one, and has produced good results in his district. He suggested that another effective method would seem to be the establishment of agency representation in Christiania, or elsewhere, without first directly entering his district, as in the case of many classes of goods the local demand might not warrant such a procedure.

"The Marconi Company's transatlantic radio-telegraph station being erected outside the city of Stavanger will be an added facility for business relations between the United States and Norway," said Mr. Leonard. "The present cable rate from Stavanger to the zone of New York is 35 cents; the wireless rate will be 24 cents per word. The station is expected to be ready for operation by January 1, next."

Further Cuts in Oil Prices.

PITTSBURGH, April 30.—Pennsylvania crude oil touched $2 to-day at the opening of the market, when prices were announced by the principal purchasing agencies. Another cut of 5 cents a barrel on crude oil was reported from the Kansas-Oklahoma fields, making the price 75 cents a barrel.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—After light rains during the last twenty-four hours, the weather has generally cleared over the eastern half of the country, with a decided fall in temperature over the Ohio Valley and the Middle Atlantic States, and high pressure prevails east of the Rocky Mountains, except in the South Atlantic States and the Southwest, with low temperatures that extend westward into the Middle Plateau.

In the West conditions are unsettled, with rains over interior districts, except the Northwest, and with low temperatures, except in the Coast States.

The principal centre of disturbance is over extreme Western Texas, and it will cause a continuance of the unsettled, rainy weather during the next two days in the Central Rocky Mountain region and the Southwest and its extension during Friday night or Saturday into the East Gulf States, the Missouri and Middle Mississippi Valleys.

Scattered showers are also probable Friday in the southern portion of the South Atlantic States. Elsewhere fair weather will prevail Friday and Saturday.

Low temperatures will continue over the northern and central portions of the country and it will be cooler Friday in the Southeast.

Winds along the north and Middle Atlantic Coasts Friday and Saturday will be gentle to moderate north; South Atlantic Coast, moderate, variable.

FORECASTS: TO-DAY AND SATURDAY.

Eastern New York, New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair, continued cool, Friday and probably Saturday.

New England—Fair, continued cool, Friday and Saturday; gentle to moderate north winds.

Western New York—Fair Friday. Saturday, fair, slightly warmer; gentle to moderate north to east winds.

	1913.	1914.		1913.	1914.
3 A. M.	48	45	4 P. M.	62	47
9 A. M.	47	45	9 P. M.	57	48
12 M.	55	44	11 P. M.	52	48

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 46; for the corresponding date last year it was 54; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 54.

The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 44; at 8 P. M. it was 48. Maximum temperature 50 degrees at 6 P. M.; minimum, 42 degrees at 1:30 P. M. Humidity, 71 per cent. at 8 A. M., 57 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 30.01 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.09 inches.

THE CIVIL SERVICE.

City.

The receipt of applications for attendance or truant officer will be closed at 4 P. M. on May 8. The examination will be open to men and women. The salary is $900 a year. The age limit is from 21 to 45 years.

The Municipal Civil Service Commission has disapproved the request of John A. Roemer for a special examination for inspector of foods. He said that he was taken ill at the regular examination.

The request of the Board of Water Supply for the certification of the entire list of names from which to make ten additional appointments as laborers in Ulster County has been approved.

The commission has also approved the reassignment to duty of Michael Donohue, general foreman in the Department of Public Works, at the expiration of a leave of absence.

United States.

The local board, United States Civil Service Examiners, Fort Hancock, N. J., announces an examination for positions as high-grade toolmaker and as a machinist for immediate and prospective vacancies at the Sandy Hook Proving Ground. For further information apply to Local Board, United States Civil Service Examiners, Fort Hancock, N. J.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces for May 25 an open competitive examination for awningmaker, for men only, to fill a vacancy at $900 a year in the Post Office Department, Washington. Competitors will not be assembled for examination, but will be rated on physical ability, training, and experience.

The duties require the making and repairing of awnings and window shades, the hanging and care of portieres and upholstery work. Applicants must show that they have had not less than one season's experience in both awning and window-shade work. An applicant whose only experience is with canvas will not be admitted. Statements as to training and experience are accepted subject to verification. No applicant will be eligible for appointment who fails to attain a rating of at least 70 per cent. in training and experience. Age, 20 years or over on the date of the examination. Further information may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington.

EDUCATION NOTES.

The bookkeeping section of the High School Teachers' Association will hold a meeting at 10 A. M. to-morrow in the High School of Commerce, 155 West Sixty-fifth Street. Under the leadership of Mortimer L. Schiff, the Committee on Commercial Education of the Chamber of Commerce has been taking an active interest in the study of means to improve the training given to the pupils. It is realized that teachers will be better qualified if opportunity is given them to come more directly into touch with actual business conditions. Lionel Sutro, Chairman of a sub-committee on co-operation between the schools and the Chamber of Commerce, will outline the aims and plans of his committee along these lines. George B. Everitt will discuss the feasibility of continuation courses as a general educational proposition. The teachers of modern languages will meet at 10 A. M. to-morrow at the High School of Commerce. There will be an election of officers and a paper will be presented by Dr. J. B. E. Jonas on "A Course in Reading." Colman Dudley Frank, head of the Department of Romance Languages of the De Witt Clinton High School, will preside.

The Board of Education has appropriated $1,524.18 corporate stock for additional work at Public Schools 170 and 176, Brooklyn; 56, the Bronx, and 169, Manhattan.

It has been decided to decrease the compensation of the janitor of Public School 25, Brooklyn, from $2,100 to $2,052 a year "on account of the removal of a pump."

PROGRESSIVE PARTY TO GIVE NO QUARTER

To Put Full Tickets in Northern States and Make War on Stand-Pat Leaders.

GET WORD FROM ROOSEVELT

Cables to Perkins at Chicago Meeting That He Soon Will Disclose His Campaign Plans.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The National Executive Committee of the Progressive Party, in session at the Hotel La Salle, to-day decreed that no quarter should be shown to the Republican Party so long as it was dominated by its present leaders. To this end it was decided by a unanimous vote to place full State tickets in practically all of the Northern States this year and to centre the fire on Kansas, Illinois, and Pennsylvania, with the hope of electing three United States Senators from these States.

Even Wisconsin is to hear the roar of the Moose artillery this Summer. A full State ticket is to be placed in the field there, and Senator La Follette is to be met in a hand-to-hand conflict.

A cablegram was sent to Theodore Roosevelt at Manaos, Brazil, congratulating him on his return to civilization and incidentally urging him to return at once to the "fighting force."

George W. Perkins said to-night he had received a purely personal cablegram from Col. Roosevelt. It said that within a few days the Colonel would make known what his future plans were to be; that he was in cable touch with his family in New York, and would decide whether he was coming home or going further to explore waterways in South America. Mr. Perkins said he preferred not to give the exact text of the message.

It was said that next Fall Col. Roosevelt would buckle on the armor and take the field in the Northern States wherever the fighting was thickest and toughest. He will pay particular attention to Illinois, Pennsylvania, and Kansas, speaking for Gifford Pinchot in Pennsylvania, Victor Murdock in Kansas, and the candidate to be nominated for the United States Senate in Illinois.

Mr. Perkins, as Chairman of the National Executive Committee, said it was not in the power of the Progressive leaders to amalgamate the party with the Republican party so long as the old organization was dominated by its present leaders.

"There can be no amalgamation of these two forces so long as Penrose, Barnes, Cannon, and such men dominate the Republican party," said Mr. Perkins. "Our fight is not with the rank and file of Republicans. Hundreds of thousands of these men are progressive, and want to do the right thing for the country. It is utterly impossible for them to do this with the present forces in control of their party. In all parties the rank and file are progressively inclined. It is the leader who stands in the way.

"We propose, therefore, to go ahead with this fight. It matters not to us whether we put men in office; it is a principle that is at stake. The principle is decent and stable government and a government responsive to the people who constitute the sovereign power.

"I am thoroughly of the belief that we should go into every northern State and place a full ticket in the field. We will do that, I am certain. In every State where there has been talk of amalgamation it has flattened out. The people will not stand for such a movement until the Republican Party purges itself of its present leaders, such as Penrose and Barnes."

Mr. Perkins was asked what he thought of the idea of Mr. Roosevelt's seeking the Republican nomination in 1916.

"How could he do that successfully unless the Presidential primary laws were extended to most of the States?" he replied. "What would stop the present leaders of the Republican Party form duplicating their act of 1912? There is but one man they could nominate and that would be Mr. Taft. They said in 1912 that he was the one man. They said he stood for the principles they did. Principles don't change. They would have to nominate him again. The Republican Party and the Progressive Party stand far apart. It is useless to talk of amalgamation so long as the present spokesmen for the Republican Party are in control."

The folowing cablegram was sent to Col. Roosevelt at Manaos:

> Central Western State Chairmen, meeting with the Executive Committee here today, rejoice at your safe arrival. Our organizations are stronger in the faith than ever before, and hail your return to our fighting force.

O. K. Davis, Secretary of the National Committee of the Moose forces, said the talk in New York was "Roosevelt for Governor." When asked what the Colonel's friends thought of the idea, Mr. Davis said:

"None of us has taken a stand; we do not know but this is another suggestion from our friends, the Republicans."

LECTURES ON WILD BIRDS.

Mr. Baynes Shows How Readily They Are Attracted to Men.

A lecture on "Wild Birds and How to Attract Them" was delivered at Forest Hills, L. I., last night by Ernest Harold Baynes, under the auspices of the Sage Foundation Homes Company. Mr. Bison and manager of the Meriden Baynes is the founder of The American (N. H.) Bird Club, and his lecture was based upon the results of experiments conducted by the latter organization under his direction.

The address was largely devoted to the means by which the average citizen could most readily take part in the work of bird protection. The best protection which could be given, the lecturer said, would come through an interest in and love for birds themselves, and this love and interest could most readily be created by bringing the birds into the home grounds, the farms, and the orchards, where they would become guests and presently personal friends.

By means of lantern slides Mr. Baynes showed the remarkable results attained in the work of attracting wild birds in his own village by means of food, water, nesting boxes, and by the planting of trees and shrubs and creepers. There were photographs showing hundreds of birds feeding at one time in the dooryards of the village people or perched on the hands, shoulders, and even the lips of the bird-loving members of the Meriden Bird Club. The lecturer showed that similar results had been obtained by the members of a score of other bird clubs organized by him in different parts of the country. It is Mr. Baynes's belief that if a network of such clubs can be spread over the United States they will solve most of the problems connected with wild bird conservation.

Corporal Hurt in Gun Test.

SANDY HOOK, N. J., April 30.—Corporal Reisner of the Ordnance Department was closing the breech block on a four-inch gun which was being tested at the proving grounds to-day, when the gun misfired. The breech block, flying open, struck Reisner in the face, breaking his nose and fracturing his skull. He was taken to the post hospital.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR the Southern District of New York.—In the matter of LESLIE H. RAINES, Bankrupt.—No. 19,322.

Notice is hereby given that Leslie H. Raines, Bankrupt, has filed his petition, dated April 27th, 1914, praying for a discharge from all his debts in bankruptcy, and that all creditors and other persons are ordered to attend at the hearing upon said petition before United States District Judges in the United States Court House and Post Office Building, in the City and County of New York, on Monday, June 1st, 1914, at 10:30 A. M., and then and there show cause, if any they have, why the prayer of said petitioner should not be granted, and also attend the examination of the bankrupt thereon.

STANLEY W. DEXTER,
Referee in Bankruptcy.
Dated April 27th, 1914.

ARTIST WAS A BURGLAR.

Gustav von Samwitz, 27 years old, an artist, was convicted of grand larceny in the first degree yesterday before Judge Wadhams in General Sessions. He will be sentenced next week. He was charged with entering the room of Frank White, at the Park Avenue Hotel on Feb. 9 and stealing jewelry worth $500. At 3 A. M. White saw the burglar and went out in the hallway. There was no way, it was said, for the man to out of White's room except through one of the other rooms.

White then entered a room which had been assigned to a man who registered as "Fred Landor," and found that the bed had not been occupied. Von Samwitz did not deny that he was Landor, but said he did not steal the jewels.

In court von Samwitz drew many pictures, including one of Judge Wadhams, which was offered in evidence. He has never been convicted before, and, it is understood, the District Attorney's office will recommend clemency.

BANKRUPTCY SALES.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT, Southern District of New York.—In the matter of NIAGARA WOOD WORKING COMPANY, Bankrupt.

Notice is hereby given that pursuant to an order of the Hon. Peter B. Olney, Referee in Bankruptcy, bearing date April 17th, 1914, and filed in the office of the said referee, the trustee herein, Thomas J. McCormack, by George W. Bennett, auctioneer, will sell at public auction at the mill of the bankrupt, in Middleport, on Friday, the 15th day of May, 1914, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the entire plant of the bankrupt situated in the Town of Middleport, Niagara County, New York, twenty-five miles from Buffalo, as follows:

About three and one-half acres of land adjoining the New York Central Lines, with a two-hundred-yard spur track or siding.

A well-built two-story and cupola frame mill building, about 80 by 130 feet, located on the above land, together with a boiler building, shaving building, two lumber sheds, dry kiln, and a tank.

A complete equipment of machinery for the manufacture of sash, doors, and interior trim, and first-class boilers, engines, sprinkler system, and office furniture and fixtures.

A large amount of lumber and miscellaneous supplies on hand.

This property is free and clear of any taxes or other lien whatsoever, is ideally located, and must be seen to be appreciated.

All of the personal property, including the machinery, lumber, and fixtures, will be sold in lots, and the real estate and buildings in a separate lot; and thereafter the entire plant, including real estate, buildings, boilers, engines, machinery, furniture, and lumber on hand, will be put up and sold in one lot, the bid to be accepted, provided it exceeds the aggregate of the previous bids; all sales, however, to be made subject to the approval of the Court. Twenty-five per cent. of the bids to be paid down in cash.

Dated New York, April 22d, 1914.

Office and Post Office Address, 37 Wall Street, Manhattan, New York City.

To Katherine Wheeler and the defendants, Arthur G. Wheeler, Kathleen Isabel Wheeler, Helen Sloan Wheeler, Alice Wheeler, Mildred Muriel Wheeler, and all those persons, if any such there be, to the plaintiffs unknown, who may have or claim some interest in or lien upon the undivided share or part of the parcel of real property in the amended complaint herein described of which Julia L. Butterfield, late of the County of Putnam, in the State of New York, died seized, depending upon the existence, production, probate, or establishment of some instrument or instruments other than those in the said amended complaint herein mentioned, as the last will and testament of said Julia L. Butterfield, deceased.

The foregoing amended summons is served upon you by publication, pursuant to an order of the Hon. Alfred R. Page, one of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, dated the 2d day of April, 1914, and filed with the amended complaint in this action in the office of the Clerk of the County of New York, at the County Court House, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, and that the object of this action in which the amended summons is herewith served upon you is to obtain the partition of certain real property situate in the Borough of Manhattan, City, County, and State of New York, and is known as the "Rockingham," below described, or a sale thereof, if actual partition cannot be made, and a division of the proceeds among the parties to this action who are entitled thereto. No personal claim is made against you, but it is sought to have it adjudged that you have no title or interest in the property.

The said real property, with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, is described as follows:

All that certain plot, piece or parcel of land, with the buildings and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying and being in the Borough of Manhattan, of the City of New York, in the County and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at the corner formed by the intersection of the easterly side of Broadway with the southerly side of 56th Street; running thence easterly along the southerly side of 56th Street, 122 feet 7 inches; thence southerly at right angles with the southerly side of 56th Street, 120 feet 2 inches; thence westerly on a diagonal line, 88 feet 7 inches, more or less, to a point on the easterly side of Broadway, distant 75 feet 6 inches northerly from the northeasterly corner of Broadway and 55th Street; and thence northerly along the easterly side of Broadway, 131 feet 9 inches, more or less, to the point or place of beginning.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Institution Buys Bronx Parcel on the Concourse—Activity on Jerome Avenue—Good Dyckman Deals—Friedsam Takes New Fifth Avenue Building—Bowery Sale—Suburban Buyers.

Not in a long time have so many important deals been announced in the Bronx in one day as was the case yesterday. Despite the depressed condition of the market generally realty trading there has been fairly active of late, and judging from the recent sales the outlook for Bronx realty is highly satisfactory.

Jerome Avenue and the Fordham section figured prominently. Of especial interest was the purchase by a public institution, said to be a hospital, of a plot of fourteen lots on the northwest corner of the Grand Boulevard and Concourse and 196th Street, being 200 feet on the avenue and 170 feet on the street. It was bought from Major Richard Dickinson Jewett through the firm of George R. Read & Co., being a cash transaction. The identity of the buyer was not disclosed, but it is said that a large building will be erected in the near future. Another deal in connection with the enterprise is rumored to be pending. The property is three blocks east of Jerome Avenue.

Another large sale on the Concourse in the Fordham district involved the purchase by the Winnie Realty and Construction Company, of which Maurice Muller is President, of twenty-six lots from the John B. Haskin estates, fronting about 370 feet on both the Concourse and Creston Avenue, 128 feet on Fordham Road, and 200 feet on 191st Street. The buyers plan to improve the property in the near future with apartment houses. Porter & Co. acted as the brokers.

In the immediate neighborhood the large house at 2,519 Creston Avenue, between 190th and 191st Streets, with a plot 73 by 150 feet, has been sold by Mrs. Caroline G. Storey to Dr. George H. McGuire. The house is one of the best in Fordham, and was held at $30,000. Richard H. Scobie was the broker.

Buying on Jerome Avenue.

Jerome Avenue property has for several months been growing in demand, evidently influenced by the forthcoming transit improvements. In the vicinity of 176th Street, where a station will be located, several good deals have lately been closed. One of the lorgest, just announced, included the plot at the southwest corner of Jerome Avenue and 176th Street, 138 by 112.4, which has been resold by George W. McAdam to a client of Walter Wilkins. The buyer acquired it about two months ago from John F. Kaiser.

A plot on the west side of the avenue, about 300 feet north of 176th Street, has been sold by Anna S. Watt. It is 75 by 100, and the buyer is said to be Park Commissioner Whittle of the Bronx. Another parcel, on the west side, 175 feet north of 176th Street, also 75 by 100, was sold recently. Title to it was taken about a month ago by Edward C. Cammann. Charles W. Lindsley has sold a plot 50 by 100 on the east side of the avenue, 232 feet south of Tremont Avenue and Edmund Coffin has sold a plot 75 by 100, being 50 feet south of 179th Street. Five lots have also been sold on the east side of the avenue, about 455 feet north of Burnside Avenue.

Two Big Dyckman Deals.

Two important deals in the Dyckman section were closed yesterday, and several others are reported pending. One deal, negotiated by Hall J. How & Co., involved the two-story brick business building, occupying a plot 100 by 100, on the northeast corner of Broadway and 207th Street, recently completed by the owners, the T. G. Galardi Construction Company. The buyer, M. S. Barns, will hold for investment.

The second transaction was announced by Charles W. Smith, who sold for the Vermilyea Realty Company, of which Charles Hensle is President, the northwest corner of Sherman Avenue and 204th Street, a five-story apartment, with seven stores, covering a plot 100 by 55.

This is one of a row of eight houses just completed by the sellers, and is fully rented. The property has been held at $100,000, and shows a rental of $12,420. It was sold subject to a bank mortgage just placed.

In part payment the buyers gave 446 and 448 West 125th Street, two five-story triple flats, with stores, on lots 25 by 100 each, between Amsterdam Avenue and Manhattan Street. This parcel was held at $64,000.

Friedsam Takes 5th Ave. Building.

Michael Friedsam took title yesterday to the new commercial building on the northwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-sixth Street, 31 by 124.10 and irregular, subject to a mortgage of $800,000. Mr. Friedsam was associated with the late Kleck Kahn, head of the Medford Realty Company, the owners of the property, and the transfer, it was said yesterday, is merely a technical one to close up the interests of the late Mr. Kahn.

The Private Dwelling Market.

Among several private house deals reported yesterday was that of 626 West End Avenue, a three-story and basement structure, on a lot 19 by 100, sold by Mrs. Margaret Gulden Titus to J. O'Connor, for occupancy. F. R. Wood, W. H. Dolson Company, in conjunction with O'Conner and Ellison, negotiated the sale.

Daniel Casey has sold for Sallie Leikens to Katherine Hayes 251 East Forty-ninth Street, a three-story dwelling, on lot 18x100.5, near Second Avenue.

Investors Buying Flat Houses.

Charles S. Kohler has sold for Lizzie Ford the five-story triple flat, on plot 30 by 100.11, at 158 West 106th Street, to a client.

The five-story flat on the southeast corner of 133d Street and St. Nicholas Avenue has been sold by Alfred Fecheimer to a client of Max Kayser. The building occupies a lot 25 by 100.

Elias Zenft sold to an investor 108 and 110 East 111th Street a six-story apartment house, on plot 52.6 by 100.11, adjoining the southeast corner of Park Avenue.

$45,000 Bowery Deal.

Bernard and Michael Flynn have purchased for investment from Alfredo De Genevieve 13 Bowery, a six-story lodging house, on a lot 22 by 100 feet. About $45,000 was involved in the transaction, which was negotiated by Jacob Finkelstein. The buyers hold title to several other plots on the Bowery.

Resale on West 48th Street.

Joseph F. Feist has resold the three-story building and store at 546 West Forty-eighth Street, 30 by 100.5, which he bought at auction recently.

Washington E. Connor's Residence Claimed by Trade.

The northward march of trade on Madison Avenue has claimed the residence of Washington E. Connor, a retired banker and former partner of Jay Gould, at the northwest corner of Fifty-fourth Street.

The structure, a fine old five-story brownstone building, occupying a plot 25.5 by 70, has been leased by Connor Lawrence as broker for Mr. Connor and the United States Trust Company, as trustees of the estate of Mrs. Connor to a newly formed corporation represented by S. Morril Banner, attorney, for a period of twenty-one years, with renewal privileges, the rental for the first term aggregating more than $200,000.

The dwelling will be altered immediately into stores and apartments.

Brooklyn Flats in a Trade.

Charles A. Kray purchased from G. F. Holtz the Rohm Poultry Farm at Ramapo Township, Rockland County, N. Y., containing 21 acres.

The buyer gave in part payment two three-story brick and stores flats at 233 and 235 Ralph Avenue, Brooklyn. Martin Taendler negotiated the trade.

Brooklyn.

The Meister & Bache Realty Company has purchased from Dr. George E. Hamlin eight lots on the north side of Seventy-fifth Street, 360 feet west of Twelfth Avenue, Bay Ridge, upon which there will be erected a row of one-family houses. The same firm purchased No. 457 Warren Street, a three-story private dwelling, on a plot 17 by 100.

Long Island.

L'Ecluse, Washburn & Co. have sold to A. Eliot Wilson a house on Orchard Street, Manhasset Park, adjoining the Bloodgood Cutter homestead, which the same firm recently leased to C. B. Reade.

The New York Suburban Land Company has sold in its development at Fourth Ward, Borough of Queens, a plot 40 by 100 on Union Avenue, to Miss A. T. Hilbert, and a plot 60 by 100 on Oxford Place, to Thomas L. Ryan.

New Jersey.

F. J. Goertner of New York City has purchased the country home of James A. Townsend, located on the East Saddle River Road, north of Ridgewood, N. J. The property consists of a modern residence and about fifty acres. Frank M. Stevens and Frederick A. Tetor, of Ridgewood, were the brokers in the transaction.

The New York and Suburban Land Company has sold on its development at Garwood, N. J., a plot 60 by 100 corner of West Street and Willow Avenue to Charles W. Ellis, a plot 40 by 100 on Myrtle Avenue to Daniel J. Leach, and a plot 60 by 100 on Pine Avenue to Robert S. Kelsh.

Sale at New Rochelle.

W. E. & W. I. Brown, have sold for Dr. G. J. Petit, a one-family house on a plot 40 by 122 at the northwest corner of Chauncy Avenue and Clove Road, New Rochelle.

Staten Island.

Cornelius G. Kolff has sold for A. Lincoln Eglinton, a plot of four lots on Prospect Avenue, Arrochar, near the Arrochar station of the Staten Island Rapid Transit to C. Nordenholt of Stapleton, who will improve same with a private residence for his own occupancy.

Downtown Leases Closed.

George R. Read & Co., have leased for the Adams Express Building Company, in the new Adams Building, 61 Broadway, space on the twenty-fourth floor to the Cuban Telephone Company. Also space on the same floor to Rojas-Niese & Co. Also the entire westerly front of the twenty-second floor to the Railway Improvement Company, and the westerly half of the twenty-sixth floor to Kenyon & Kenyon.

The same brokers have leased about 2,000 square feet on the seventeenth floor of the Hanover National Bank Building to Reed, Gwinn & Deming and Horace E. Deming. Also 3,000 square feet on the eighth floor of the building at 130 Fulton Street for Clarence W. Bowen to the American City Publishing Company.

Leases.

The Duross Company has leased the store 242 West Fourteenth Street for A. C. Bechstein to John S. Johnson.

A. E. & D. A. Karelsen have leased, for a term of years, for Mrs. Sophia Hoffman, the family hotel facing the ocean on Dickerson Avenue, Edgemere, L. I., to Mrs. Ray Scheinberg of Arverne.

The M. Morgenthau, Jr., Company has leased the store at 306 Broadway for Christian Luckey to the Western Union Telegraph Company.

The Lewis H. May Company has leased for L. M. Mosauer the ocean-front casino and dance hall, fronting on the boardwalk at Remington Avenue, Arverne, L. I., to the Harred Amusement Company.

Herman Gertner, for many years a waiter in the old Astor House, has leased, for a long term of years, the store and basement in the three-story building under construction at 1,446 Broadway, adjoining the Hotel Continental, at the southeast corner of Forty-first Street.

The lease, which involves a rental of more than $100,000, was negotiated by Daniel Birdsall & Co. for the Saxe Amusement Company, which has a lease of the property from the owner, Henry Youngs.

M. H. Gaillard & Co. have leased to Dennis Sheridan a store at 116 West End Avenue, southeast corner of Sixty-fifth Street; to Frank Rochlin a store at 73 West Eighty-second Street, corner of Columbus Avenue; to E. Doyle a store at 73 West Eighty-second Street, and to the present tenant a renewal at 506 Sixth Avenue, being the store and rear building, at a 20 per cent. increase over the old lease, made three years ago.

Mortgage Loans Placed.

William A. White & Sons have placed for the Adroit Building Company a temporary loan of $81,000 on 32 and 34 East Thirty-first Street, two four-story and basement dwellings, on plot 45 by 98.9. It is the intention of the owners to demolish the old buildings and erect a new modern twelve-story structure in the near future. Also for the McKeon Realty Company, a permanent loan of $375,000 at 5 per cent. for five years on 428 to 438 West Thirty-third Street, a twelve-story structure, on plot 124 by 98.9, occupied by some of the leading printers and lithographers.

Realty Notes.

John Noonan has brought suit against Alfred E. Marling and others as trustees to foreclose a mortgage for $150,000 made by William R. H. Martin on March 1, 1909, on the property at the northeast corner of Sixth Avenue and Thirty-first Street, a plot 20 by 60.

John F. Zerega, lately with Renwick C. Hurry & Co., and the J. P. Whiton-Stuart Company, is now connected with S. Osgood Pell & Co.

CITY LOOKING INTO BURNS BROS.' LEASE

Coal Company Pays Only $3,650 a Year for Valuable Site on Riverside Drive.

PAYS $30,000 ON JERSEY SIDE

Yet M. F. Burns Testified in U. S. Suit Against Coal Roads That Jersey Site Was of Less Value.

The Commissioner of Accounts, at the instance of City Chamberlain Bruere, is making an investigation to ascertain the facts in regard to the lease held by Burns Brothers of city property used for coal-yard purposes on Riverside Drive, near Ninety-sixth Street.

The inquiry is the result of statements made by Michael F. Burns, President of Burns Brothers, as a witness in the Government suit against the Reading and Jersey Central Railroads and their affiliated coal companies. Mr. Burns said that the property, leased from the city for $3,650 a year without taxes, was more valuable than property at Communipaw leased by him from the Jersey Central for $30,000 a year. This testimony came to Mr. Bruere's attention, and he asked the Commissioner of Accounts to report on the facts.

The conditions of the Burns lease from the city were brought out by questions from Jackson E. Reynolds, counsel for the defense in the anthracite suits. The following extracts are from the official stenographic report:

Q.—Some mention was made of your lease. What is the rental you pay for that property you lease from the Central? A.—$30,000 a year.

Q.—Do you lease any property on Manhattan Island for coal yard purposes? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—Do you lease any property from the City of New York? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—Where is that leasehold located, from the City of New York? A.—Ninety-sixth Street and Riverside Drive.

Q.—Has that railroad tracks right beside it? A.—The New York Central.

Q.—So that you could get a rail connection there if you wanted it? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—That, I understand, is right in the heart of New York City? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—Is it more or less valuable from a rental standpoint, in your judgment as a large lessee of properties all over the city, than the property leased to you by the Central Railroad Company of New Jersey? A.—Most emphatically.

Q.—Which? More or less? A.—More, of course.

Q.—Very much more valuable? A.—It is a very valuable piece of property, of course, up around the Drive, right on the river front, and in the section of the city that it reaches a territory almost within a short distance of where the large consumers of coal in New York City are.

Q.—All the big apartment houses along Riverside Drive are in that vicinity? A.—Yes, Sir.

Q.—It is a highly desirable leasehold property? A.—A very desirable property; particularly so.

Q.—Do you have to pay any taxes on that property? A.—No, sir. We pay $3,650 a year rent for that property and no taxes. That is my recollection of it.

Q.—For the Jersey Central property you pay $30,000? A.—Yes, Sir.

The lease of city property was made by the Sinking Fund Commissioners on June 28, 1911, for ten years to the Curtis-Blaisdell Company, and was subsequently taken over by Burns Brothers. The rental was fixed at $3,500 a year for 100 feet of the bulkhead line and 10,000 square feet of upland. Burns Brothers pay an additional sum for certain minor privileges.

BURGLAR IN FLIGHT SHOT.

Two Men Caught After Robbery of Houses in Jersey City.

Jersey City police thought they caught two burglars who have been operating in the fashionable Bergen district of Jersey City when men giving their names as Mike Williams and Lawrence Burns were arrested after a pistol fight last night.

Patrolman Sherman De Clarke said he saw the men loitering about the home of James H. Edwards, 6 Tonnelle Avenue, a contractor. After Mr. and Mrs. Edwards left to attend a theatre in New York, he said, he saw them climb the back yard fence and jimmy a window.

De Clarke and Patrolman Arthur Britton climbed in through the open window. They heard the men run downstairs and jump out of the window and followed them. Several shots were exchanged in the back yard.

Williams was hit in the left arm and a finger of his right hand was shot off. Burns escaped over the fence and was pursued eight blocks by Patrolman Britton. After a lively scuffle, in which the clothes of both were badly torn, he was arrested.

A bag containing gold and silver plate was left in a second-story room and jewelry was scattered about the floor.

Woods Praises Burglar Shooter.

Policeman Anthony Cava of the Fifth Street Station was called to headquarters yesterday and congratulated for excellent work by Commissioner Woods. On Thursday Cava surprised and shot a burglar and recovered loot which had been taken from 175 Allen Street. A thirty-six-hour leave of absence was given him.

Wife Sues on Broken Agreement.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., April 30.—An unusual agreement between a married couple is revealed in the suit for maintenance filed in the Court of Chancery here by Mrs. Laura Kiss against Stephen Kiss. They had agreed that both should work, the wife's earnings to be used for living expenses and the husband's to be deposited in a joint bank account. She has now discovered that he put the money to his own credit and has $880 deposited. In her suit she also charges cruel treatment.

OLUS SHIRTS
TURN YOUR SHIRT-TAILS INTO DRAWERS
What good is a Shirt-tail anyway?

IN OLUS the outside shirt and underdrawers are one garment.
This means that the shirt can't work out of the trousers, that there are no shirt tails to bunch in seat, that the drawers "stay put," to say nothing of the comfort and economy of saving a garment. OLUS is coat cut, opens all the way down—closed crotch, closed back. See illustration.
For golf, tennis and field wear, we recommend the special attached collar OLUS with regular or short sleeves. Extra sizes for very tall or stout men. All shirt fabrics, in smart designs, including silks—$1.50 to $10.00.
OLUS one-piece PAJAMAS for lounging, resting and comfortable sleep. Made on the same principle as OLUS Shirts — coat cut, closed back, closed crotch. No strings to tighten or come loose. $1.50 to $3.50.
Ask your dealer for OLUS. Booklet on request.

And After You Have Bought—
WE never feel that our obligation to you is fulfilled when we deliver your Suit or Overcoat.
In fact it has just begun—for our name and that of Hart, Schaffner & Marx in the garments mean that we both have entered into a contract with you, a contract that is only fulfilled when you say—"I am thoroughly satisfied."
Until you feel that way, whether it be a day, a week, or a year after delivery, your money is on deposit here—you can call for it at any time.
This statement is made in all good faith—for we know that, whether you pay $18, $20, $22.50, $25 or $35,.$40 or $50 for the clothes you buy here, their values are so great that you will be more than satisfied.

Making Dance Tuition An Art
¶ Our methods consider a pupil, not as pliable material to be hammered into shape, but as a being capable of self-expression.
¶ Our Normal Course is always developing new methods—making tuition an art—producing our own instructors.
¶ Our tuition does not merely teach steps—it develops dancing ability and individuality.
¶ You will eventually come to Mr. Wilson—why not now?
Terms most reasonable.
